

Scotia Program Geared to Water Babies - Hopes To Make Small Fry Drownproof

Around 30 youngsters signed up for the Water Babies lessons at the Scotia swimming pool Monday. Lessons for the three to six year old youngsters will start at 11 a.m.

Instructors this year are Mel Shoemaker, Karen Wells, and Karen Jensen.

Purpose of the lessons is to teach the youngsters that swimming can be fun and to avoid their having a fear of the water. By learning simple techniques such as floating and kicking, the beginners grasp the basics of swimming.

Mel Shoemaker (right) worked with Kim Cargill during the opening day lesson teaching her how to float. As with most projects, there were some sidewalk or pool side superintendents (below) willing to lend their expertise, including young Billy Williams.

Registration and Re-Scheduling Dates Selected

The Ord Public Schools have announced the dates for registration of new students for both the high school and elementary school. Tuesday, August 7, and Wednesday, August 8, are the dates set aside for this. For high school students, this will be done in the south office.

Also on these same days, ANY student wanting to make a schedule change must do so at this time. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on both days.

County Officials Return to Lincoln Testify Once More

Valley County Officials gave their assessment of proposed hiked taxes to the State Equalization Board during a meeting in Lincoln Wednesday, July 25. County Assessor Bob Sevenker, and Valley County Supervisors Ken Collins and Dick Bassen appeared before Gov. Charles Thone, Tax Commissioner Fred Harrington, Secretary of State Allen Beauman, State Treasurer Frank Marsh, and State Auditor Ray Johnson.

State authorities had earlier proposed hiking property valuations in Valley County. Rural valuations would jump 68 percent under the proposed tax schedule while most other valuations would be up 39 percent.

County authorities had earlier met with state officials Wednesday, July 18 testifying the proposed increase was unjust and that they would destroy equalization with surrounding counties. State officials have listened so far, but haven't yet taken any official action on their proposed tax hike plan.

New Faces New Places

Ord has some recent newcomers and also some residents who have changed locations.

Michael and Linda Erickson moved here from Kearney. Michael works for the Co-Op Elevator. The Ericksons live at 1220 T Street.

Joan Dilsaver moved here from Burwell. Joan and her children, Michelle, age five, and Scott, age two and a half, live at 820 South 12th. Joan is the future bride of Craig Hansen.

Rev. Robert Thom, Jr. moved to Ord from Memphis, MO. He is the new minister for the Presbyterian Church and is at home at Brown's Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Haas have purchased the old Emil Fafetta house at 1815 M Street. Raleigh is the new probation officer for the Judicial District. Mrs. Haas will be teaching in Arcadia. They have one son.

Residents changing locations include the Rich Cecetkes who moved from 2208 M Street to the former Cudly home at 1918 N St.

Alice Petska, who did live at 225 N 20th, now lives at 501 N 19th.

William Greenway and his wife are now at home at the Presbyterian Manse on 15th and Q. Bill had been living in the apartment at the Ord Memorial Chapel.

Rudolph Long has moved from the county to the Minnie Gilroy home which he purchased.

Other residents the Quiz was unable to contact were RaNae Sharp at 512 South 16th, Noel Wright at Aldrich Apartments, Leo Lauver at 1614 Q Street, and Norma Krelek at 725 S 16th.

Scotia High Alumni Reunion Is Scheduled

Scotia High School alumni will gather at the Ord Elks Club Saturday, August 4 at 7 p.m. Classes ending in the digit nine and the 25 year class of 1954 will be honored.

The Scotia Improvement Council will host an open house at the school building Friday, August 3 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The school will also be open during the day Saturday for those wishing to visit those hallowed halls.

Buck's Bakery Is On American Trail

Buck's Bakery of Burwell was featured on the American Trail series Thursday. The television spots, sponsored by Farmland Industries, highlights unusual or interesting persons and landmarks.

Located in Burwell, Buck's Bakery, owned by Buck Newbury, is the local coffee shop for most of the town. Residents frequently take a break from the daily routine with a cup of coffee and a roll fresh from the oven.

Don Jack, host of the American Trail series, was impressed with the wide range of people frequenting the locally owned business, according to Buck.

The family was living in North Loup at the time. After some soul searching and conferences with state authorities, they decided to start a group foster home.

Central blocks and Burwell were in Burwell to pick up some cement blocks. They noticed the large home at 7th and H Streets. It looked like something they could see and what's more it was for sale.

They also found the town of Burwell attractive.

"There are two doctors here and two schools, both within walking distance of the house," Jesslyn said. The town has a dentist, a drugstore, and other things needed by a growing family.

"And the town has been very supportive," she added. This isn't always the case. A couple wanting to start a similar home in Grand Island met with local opposition, according to Mrs. Weiner.

The Weiners moved to Burwell June 21 of this year. One week later they got a 17 year old girl. Their family grew again three weeks later when another juvenile moved in.

Three more will likely arrive in the near future, she stated. That will cap their family. "Just like the TV show," she quipped, "it's enough." Those plus daughter Laralee and Mr. and

Demos Get Their Knuckles Rapped

The Nebraska Democratic State Central Committee and the Valley County Central Committee violated the election law when they gave more than $5,000 combined to Sen. Ed Zorinsky's 1978 campaign, according to the Federal Election Commission.

According to an Associated Press bulletin, the commissioners voted to take no further action.

According to FEC General Counsel William C. Oldaker, the commissioners had voted to take no further action regarding the Nebraska Democratic State Central Committee's violation.

According to the Federal Election Commission the state and county committees in Nebraska gave Zorinsky a total of $12,068.

The commission rejected suggestions that some of the money might have come from corporate and labor organization contributions, which also would have been illegal.

The state and county party committees contended they were

Turtle Trot Is Scheduled Sunday

Nebraska's newest shell game is scheduled to take place in Ord this Sunday. The Hungry Horse Society again sponsors their Trans-Nebraska Turtle Race at the town baseball diamond.

Contestants will claw their way to victory starting at 2 p.m. This year, there are five species and two age divisions according to race promoter Jim Day of the Hungry Horse. He listed the two age categories as (a) 16 years of age and under and (b) entrants over 16. Turtle categories are Sand, Painted, Snapper, Mud, and Leatherback. An earlier division for Galapagos turtles has been dropped.

Trophies will be awarded winners in both age and species groups along with individuals recognized for having the smallest, largest, and best dressed turtles. There will also

Wheat Harvest Nears Completion

The area wheat harvest has been slowed by rains, but is still near completed. According to Lloyd Zikmund of the ASCS office in Ord, about 90 percent of the 9,000 acres in wheat have been harvested. Most of these acres, he stated, are in the southern and western parts of the county.

Virgil Beneke of the Farmers Co-Op Elevator in Ord placed the crop harvested so far at 80 percent. Average weight, Beneke estimated, was 58 pounds a bushel.

Al Martens said Valley County Extension Agent Al Martens, "It's been tougher harvesting wheat on the ground. The farmers are having to cut the stalk lower and run the straw through combines." This slows the harvest, he contended.

"We're guessing area wheat averages 40 bushels an acre," Martens continued, "with a high of 80 bushels an acre on some ground located 12 miles west of town."

Martens rated the wheat as being "good quality" and weighing 57-60 pounds a bushel. The moisture content has run 11 to 13 percent so far.

Lloyd Zikmund revealed the wheat market has been going down since the harvest began. The national average market price last week was $3.79 a bushel. Here in Valley County the price was $3.30 a bushel Monday morning, 13 cents off the previous price of $3.43 a bushel.

Zikmund placed Valley County's wheat yield at four to five bushels above average. "In light of stalks being knocked to the ground, this is remarkable," he said. "Wheat is a remarkable thing," he continued. "You think you've lost it and it still comes back. You never know."

This year, 49 people in the Ord ASCS office territory had enough problems with wheat to qualify for disaster payments from that office. Crown rot, root rot, and winter kill are just some of the many items that can raise havoc with a wheat crop.

During the interview Zikmund told of seeing a flock of pintail ducks recently. "I sure hope that doesn't mean they're migrating," he shuddered. "That could signal an early frost. With the '79 corn crop behind schedule this could be bad. But that's another crop."

Virgil Beneke, manager of the Farmers Co-Op Elevator in Ord

Valley County wheat may be down but not out. This field is located five miles southwest of Ord on Highway 70, near the Comstock turnoff.

and North Loup said the wheat has "really been moving out." International sales have created a demand for the American product. "As I understand it," Beneke commented, "America is the only place with some to sell."

Crop set-backs in both Russia and China have helped spur the international grain market. Beneke told the Quiz, "People," he observed, "have got to eat."

Supervisors Nix Proposed Sharp Field Purchase Plan

County Supervisors rejected the city drafted airport ownership contract and made a counter-offer of their own Tuesday during a meeting in the Valley County Courthouse. The counter-offer, passed on a 3-2 vote, was that the county accept airport ownership sans the reversion clause.

That clause stated that should the county not maintain the airport or a similar facility within a five mile radius of Sharp Field, ownership would revert back to the city.

The contract containing that clause was drawn up Monday, July 23, during a joint meeting of Supervisors and City Council members in City Hall. Payment of a one dollar fee would pass ownership of Sharp Field, located north of Ord, from the City to the County.

Other contract terms include the county assuming existing liabilities of Sharp Field. These consist largely of funds owed on hanger construction.

That one dollar fee, many thought, would come during the Tuesday, July 31, meeting of County Supervisors. It didn't. The next step in determining the ownership of the local airport could come during a City Council meeting August 6 in City Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

Other action Tuesday came after Dee Sonnenfeld, the Valley County Sheriff's secretary, appeared before the board justifying a proposed pay raise. She was reportedly upset because her claim was held over from the last Supervisors meeting.

Following her appearance Tuesday, Supervisors laxed her salary from $568 to $650 a month. Deputy Don Rogers salary was set at $900 a month. This was a compromise between the $950 suggested by Sheriff Martin Sonnenfeld and the $850 suggested by Supervisors.

Other wage hike requests fared less well. Jail tenders Renae Markvicka and Lela Wietzki wanted their wages raised from $2.65 to $2.90 an hour. Supervisors heard their request but took no action.

Conestoga Roofing Company was awarded the roofing job for the main courthouse and Valley County Hospital. The two contracts cover all of the courthouses except the jail annex and part of the hospital. The job is to be completed within 30 days of the date it is started. When the job will be launched isn't known.

Representatives of the Charles Heider Company and the Baird Bond Company told Supervisors how the fair board could get tax exempt financing for a planned building at the fair grounds.

Estimated to cost $275,000, according to County Clerk Thelma Dulitz, the building will have a show arena and some type of kitchen along with rest rooms. It will be located next to the new show ring, on the south side of the fair grounds. Bids on the planned fair ground addition will be opened August 6.

County dads indicated interest in the tax exempt financing. In other business, Valley County Supervisors:

— gave Klimek TV permission to put poles for cable TV on the county road right of way.

— granted easements to Hackel Farms and Kent Hornickel.

— approved bonds for Robert Sestak and Russel Hackel. Sestak is a member of the Valley County Veterans Service Committee. Hackel is treasurer of the Ord Rural Fire District #2.

Supervisors set the budget hearing date for August 14 in the Valley County Courthouse. An estimated $18,000 had to be slashed from the proposed budget to stay within the seven percent limit.

Ground Water Case Put On Hold; Loup Officials Schedule Another

Lower Loup Natural Resources District Directors granted a continuance in one ground water run-off case Thursday night, and scheduled another one while meeting in Ord.

An attorney's illness put the Roth-Whaley case on hold once more. The dispute involves water run-off in Custer County. It was first heard by Lower Loup heads several months ago.

A similar case in Greeley County surfaced Thursday night.

Ray Dugan vs. Rosemary Dugan and Sons Inc. had apparently been settled in 1977. That was when the Lower Loup drafted an agreement. Thursday, Ray Dugan claimed that agreement was being violated.

The NRD board scheduled a hearing for August 9.

In other business, the board considered purchase applications for culvert pipes. These will be used with road structures in Merrick and Valley Counties. One drop-inlet dam, in Valley County, will be located near the Don Vancura farm 12 miles west of Ord. The other, in Merrick County, will be on the Oeltjen farm, northwest of Palmer.

The board considered staff recommendations for changes in the Nebraska Water Conservation Program (NWCP). The program is funded by the State of Nebraska and administered by the Lower Loup NRD. It is expected the state will soon release $32,000 for conservation practices within the Lower Loup.

Ted Hall, District Engineer with the Lower Loup, reported on progress at the Ocoee Project in Platte County, and the Anselmo and Comstock Projects in Custer County. They involve flood control projects within the city and village limits.

A flood control agreement with the Cities of Ravenna and Anselmo was approved.

Twenty-three applications for the Private Lands Habitat Program got approval. They cover an estimated 320 acres, according to Richard Beran, Lower Loup manager.

Staff members reported 499,097 trees were planted in the district by NRD crews. The trees were

Nebraska's Big One Starts August 9

Nebraska's Big Rodeo, Burwell, will open Aug. 9 and run through Aug. 10, 11 and 12 for its 58th Annual Rodeo. The rodeo will be every day at 1:30 p.m. with entertainment every night along with the Miss Rodeo Nebraska Pageant, a carnival, dance bands, horse shows, horse races and the annual Garfield County Fair.

During the day spectators will be able to see some of America's champion PRCA rodeo riders and bronc busters with top name entertainment at the night shows.

Sunday rodeo goers will have a double treat of excitement after watching the daredevil cowboys all afternoon they will be able to see Ole Anderson's International Auto Daredevils with their dazzling, daring and dangerous stunts. Ole and his daredevils will perform their thrills on wheels, along with their T-Bone crash, carrier jumping and motorcycle jumps. Anderson is one of the few performers today who jumps a car more than 100 feet through the air. He has engineered stunts and performed in many movies that involved stunt car driving skills. His most recent movie was "Gumball Rally."

On Saturday, Nebraska's Big Rodeo Parade, sponsored by the Burwell Chamber of Commerce, will kick off the days events. Saturday evening, Country-

Western music star Jeanne Pruett will step on stage to bring to life many of her top hits. "I'm a Woman" is her latest hit but one of her all-time hits was "Satin Sheets" which earned her nominations for the Country Music Awards for Top Female Artist, Song of the Year, Album of the Year and Single of the Year. In 1973, Jeanne Pruett was named as only the 63rd member

Camelot Home Filled With History And Love

The Camelot Foster Home at 7th and H Streets in Burwell is living history. On land once owned by Ulysses S. Grant, it is a foster home for the Larry Weiner family and four girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Weiner opened the home July 10 but the impetus for the home really began with the birth of their youngest daughter, Laralee in 1966.

The Weiners had had five children before their youngest came along. By the time Laralee was born, her older brothers and sisters had flown the nest. "She was missing out on a whole lot of loving, living, and sharing," Jesslyn (Mrs. Weiner) recalled. "You can't do that alone."

To remedy this situation, Larry and Jesslyn applied to the State Welfare Department for a foster child. They received three sisters in February, 1978.

"They about stood on top of me," Jesslyn chuckled. Wherever she went, her three shadows followed.

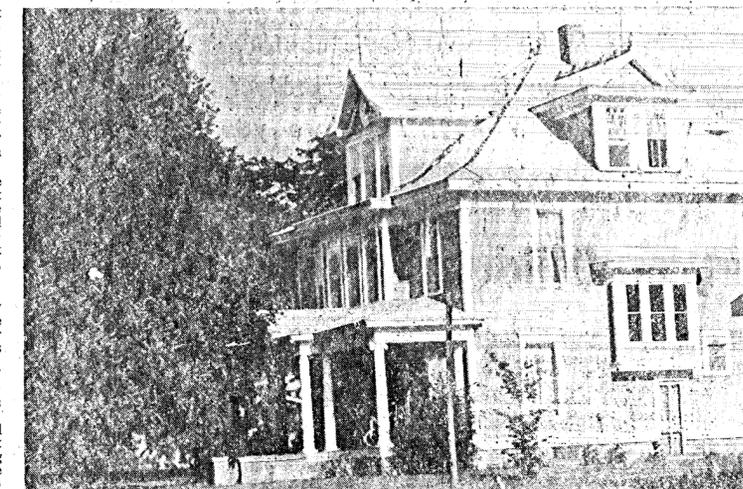

Those three shadows formed the nucleus of the present Camelot Home. "We kept getting calls from Grand Island (office of the State Welfare Department) saying, 'If you had room we could send you another'."

The family was living in North Loup at the time. After some soul searching and conferences with state authorities, they decided to start a group foster home.

Central blocks and Burwell were in Burwell to pick up some cement blocks. They noticed the large home at 7th and H Streets. It looked like something they could see and what's more it was for sale.

They also found the town of Burwell attractive.

"There are two doctors here and two schools, both within walking distance of the house," Jesslyn said. The town has a dentist, a drugstore, and other things needed by a growing family.

"And the town has been very supportive," she added. This isn't always the case. A couple wanting to start a similar home in Grand Island met with local opposition, according to Mrs. Weiner.

The Weiners moved to Burwell June 21 of this year. One week later they got a 17 year old girl. Their family grew again three weeks later when another juvenile moved in.

Three more will likely arrive in the near future, she stated. That will cap their family. "Just like the TV show," she quipped, "it's enough." Those plus daughter Laralee and Mr. and Mrs. Weiner will bring the total household to 11 people.

Welfare referrals can range from 5 to 19 years. All at Camelot so far have worked out "just fine..." in Mrs. Weiner's words.

"Most of our kids have had physical or mental abuse before coming here," she said. She defined "the latter" as "intellectually neglecting a young child."

"The greatest fear most of our children have," she continued, "is getting close to someone." Most have been shuffled around in short stays at various places. Forming a deep, long-lasting relationship under these conditions can be difficult at best, soording to Jesslyn.

This all changes at Camelot. A long-term home, most residents have been placed there until they are 19. Then they're pretty much on their own," Jesslyn said. State child support funds stop at age 19. "But they can still stay here," she was quick to add.

Foster care is nothing new to her husband, Larry. He comes from a family that farmed near Beatrice in the 1930's. His father, William, took in three boys during those hard times. "They stayed with us until they went into the Army during World War Two," he recalled.

What Is A Town?

A town is a group of people

- It is churches.
- It is city government.
- It is schools.
- It is retail businesses.
- It is industry and jobs.

They all have to work together.
All must have the support of the people.

Or there is no town.

Give your local merchant a chance for your business. You shouldn't spend your hard earned money with him unless his selection is adequate and his price competitive. But give him the first opportunity to make the sale.

For the local retailer pays the highest percentage of local taxes. He most often is the civic leader who dedicates his time and talents to his town. He is contacted first for contributions to charitable projects. He provides jobs. Without his store you have no town.

Give the local merchant a fair shake

France WW I

At the Front in France: 1918

Luther Swanson of Oakdale served as a lieutenant in the Army Engineers during the First World War. Some of his letters have been preserved in the State Archives at the Nebraska State Historical Society. The one which follows gives a vivid picture of the constant shellfire and sticky French mud which plagued the soldiers in the front-line trenches.

"At the front (Northern France), "E" Co., 1st U.S. Engrs. Army Expeditionary Force Feb. 24, 1918

"Dear Folk: This is Sunday, but not a day of rest, as we work straight through every day getting ready for the German offensive that is coming. The men have one day off in seven to get cleaned up and rest, but the work has to go on, so one seventh of the men are off each and the officers never.

"Fritz is sending over a few tonight and the sentry in front of our dugout is down in the entrance hugging the wall. Our fair city here has been pretty thoroughly shelled already, and getting more so every day. Every house here is in ruins and nothing left but heaps of stone with a few walls left standing, except for the chateau, which isn't as badly knocked to pieces as the rest of the town. The house next door was all gone but the chimney, which was still standing unharmed up to last night. I was going to get a picture of that chimney, but last evening a shell got it so that's gone too.

"The material yard, we call it the dump, where the little toy railway unloads our material, gets shelled about twice a day. After the storm is over the lieutenant in charge goes out and gets his men out from whatever they're hiding under and starts them at work again. They are pretty well trained in diving for shelter. The yard will be full of men until they hear the whistle of the first shell and then there's nothing to be seen of them except maybe a leg sticking out from under a pile of I-beams or somebody's coat tail visible under the log pile. Fritz has been shelling the material dump pretty lively tonight. Things quieted down for a few minutes and Lt. Robinson started out to see if any damage had been done — and then nearly broke the door getting back in as the shelling started again and one hit just outside.

"I have a detail constructing a shelter 50 feet from the front line trench, where there is brush enough to screen them from sight of the boche trenches. While I was out there today, a shell hit right close, and one of the men who was up on top getting a log over the edge didn't even wait to let go the log. Lt. Swanson left that log hanging in mid-air when he dived head first into the hole, which is about 12 feet deep.

"I have a wagon and pack train working down at the front tonight as usual and have to go down pretty soon to see how things are going. It's a proposition getting material through the mud to the front lines. It all has to be done at night, and some of the work has to be done under cover of the dark, too, so that looking after the day work and the night work don't leave me any more than my share of sleep.

"The way somebody up here, I don't remember who, put it, the artillery are about the only ones who really get any fun out of this game. In the morning our guns try shooting up the boche batteries and don't do Fritz any harm because he's down in his nice deep dugout, so they get tired and quit. Then Fritz climbs out and comes back at our guns, and our men quit playing cards until Fritz gets tired wasting ammunition. By that time it's noon, and they both lay off for lunch and after lunch being tired of shelling shells at each other they both turn to, on the front line trenches and give the infantry hell.

"We, like many of our compatriots (mama and I), are trying to fulfill our duty towards these brave soldiers by keeping up one of the graves, since their parents who are so far away have not the consolation of being able to do it.

"We met recently in the cemetery, an American officer, Captain G. Neeser, who asked us to take charge of another grave, that of a non-commissioned officer whom he loved very much, and which he did not wish to see abandoned. Upon his request mama consented for me to take charge of it.

"Since then, dear mama, I go every day to visit and put flowers on this grave, which is that of your lost son, Sergeant A. L. Gauvreau. I go there for the sake of France, in the name of the fraternity which unites our two nations, but I go there above all to take care of another grave, that of a soldier, since their parents who are so far away have not the consolation of being able to do it.

"I wish I could console you a little, but your grief is such that cannot be consoled. So I simply say to you, have courage, and believe that the place where your dear son lies will never be abandoned by the little French girl who has given her promise to keep it up.

"I hope mama that you will acknowledge receipt of this letter which I am enclosing a little branch of the bush which I have planted around the tomb of your dear son. It will be something from your dear lost one.

"Again accept my condolence for the great loss you have suffered. Yours, respectfully, Charlotte Tremartin, Route Montague, Libourne, Gironde, France."

Of Soldiers and Cemeteries

A brief glance at the newspapers on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society shows that since the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918, countless words of tribute have been written to America's war dead. But perhaps none have been more poignant than the few words scribbled in black pencil on the cross marking the grave of former Creighton University instructor Leo N. Wall, who died on the battlefield at Serzy, France. He met his God like most of the soldiers, killed in action July 31, 1918.

Lieutenant Wall, like so many others, was buried in foreign soil. How difficult it was for the families of American servicemen to accept these burials was sensed by a young French girl. She wrote the following letter (Creighton Chronicle, Feb. 20, 1919) to Mrs. E. P. Gauvreau, mother of Sergeant Alfred L. Gauvreau who died of pneumonia at Bordeaux, France, on November 12, the day after Armistice. (Gauvreau, 26, was a Creighton graduate).

"Madam: I wish by this letter to try to send you a little softening of your terrible grief. I give you the cemetery made here for our American brothers, who died for France.

"We, like many of our compatriots (mama and I), are trying to fulfill our duty towards these brave soldiers by keeping up one of the graves, since their parents who are so far away have not the consolation of being able to do it.

"We met recently in the cemetery, an American officer, Captain G. Neeser, who asked us to take charge of another grave, that of a non-commissioned officer whom he loved very much, and which he did not wish to see abandoned. Upon his request mama consented for me to take charge of it.

"Since then, dear mama, I go every day to visit and put flowers on this grave, which is that of your lost son, Sergeant A. L. Gauvreau. I go there for the sake of France, in the name of the fraternity which unites our two nations, but I go there above all to take care of another grave, that of a soldier, since their parents who are so far away have not the consolation of being able to do it.

"I wish I could console you a little, but your grief is such that cannot be consoled. So I simply say to you, have courage, and believe that the place where your dear son lies will never be abandoned by the little French girl who has given her promise to keep it up.

"I hope mama that you will acknowledge receipt of this letter which I am enclosing a little branch of the bush which I have planted around the tomb of your dear son. It will be something from your dear lost one.

"Again accept my condolence for the great loss you have suffered. Yours, respectfully, Charlotte Tremartin, Route Montague, Libourne, Gironde, France."

"Things are living up a bit now that winter is over. The mud is all it has been said to be, and then some. I won't attempt to describe it. When four horses get stuck with an empty wagon on what is supposed to be a road, you may imagine what it's like other places — but I doubt it. You don't have this kind of mud anywhere in Nebraska. I've seen some in Wyoming just about as sticky, where the chickens even mired down in the front yard, but never in Nebraska. I hope it's a bit drier next summer, but they tell me it always rains here at the front.

"It's time for me to be getting out on the job and wade around, so I'll say good night. — Lu."

Lightning Hazards Can Be Avoided

Although lightning kills more people in the United States than tornadoes, floods or hurricanes, many are not aware of the danger of thunderstorms, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension safety specialist.

Although there are no exact figures on lightning fatalities, there is evidence that lightning causes more direct deaths than any other weather phenomena, he said.

Schneider noted that by following a few safety rules, those who are in the vicinity of a thunderstorm can avoid death or injury from lightning.

Those indoors should avoid using the telephone, except in cases of emergency, he warned.

He advised those getting ready to work or play outside to obtain the latest weather forecast.

"If there is a chance of thunderstorms, take a small battery-operated radio along to get regular updates," Schneider said. "Be ready to seek shelter if a severe thunderstorm watch or warning is announced."

Those outdoors also should develop the habit of keeping a "weather" eye on the sky.

"You don't need an official warning to tell you a thunderstorm is coming," Schneider said. "In almost all cases, you can see the towering thunderhead and occasional flashes of lightning at a half hour in advance."

When a thunderstorm threatens, Schneider said the most important single thing to do is to get inside a home or a large building, or an all-metal vehicle.

Many outdoor recreationists overlook the fact that their all-metal automobile is an excellent lightning shelter," Schneider said. Even if the car is struck, the current is discharged harmlessly into the ground.

When it's impossible to reach shelter, Schneider warned against standing under a natural lightning rod, such as a large tree in an open area.

Those outdoors should avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape, as they would if standing on a hilltop, in an open field, on the beach or fishing from a small boat.

Open water should be avoided, and those caught in the rain should stay away from metal vehicles, fences, pipes, rails and other metallic paths that could carry lightning from some distance away. In a forest, it's best to seek shelter in a low area under a thick growth of small trees.

If one is isolated in a level field or prairie and feels his hair stand on end, and indication that lightning is about to strike, Schneider said the person should drop to his knees, bend forward and put his hands on his knees. In this position, even if lightning strikes the chances of it using the body as a conductor are minimized.

Many people who apparently are "killed" by lightning can be revived if quick action is taken. First aid should be rendered to those not breathing within three minutes or less to prevent irrevocable brain damage, Schneider said. Those with a knowledge of CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) can follow the basic CPR procedure in trying to revive the victim.

The annual Farm and Home show at the Valley County Fair was a moving experience for ten year old Kara Cook. She took advantage of a minitrapline at one of the displays for some fun and relaxation.

PUT ON A HAPPY FACE... National Smile Week is one week planned, I suppose, to show just how wonderful a smile can be and how much good it can do for all of us.

That special time this year to put on your happy face is August 6-11, but that doesn't mean you must look like a grouch on the following day. Smile Week is simply set aside to remind you to wear your happy face all the year through.

Smiling is contagious. The sourest one on earth, when exposed to a genuine smile, will be happier and better equipped to meet and solve his own problems, socially and professionally. That's right, a smile is supposed to be the basis of all successful human relations.

So with that in mind... Smile at people. (It takes 72 muscles to frown, only 14 to smile.)... Speak to people. (A cheerful word of greeting can really make one's day.)... Call people by their own names. (That is sweet music to anyone's ears.)... And please remember praise and let it be generous. (But careful with criticism.)... Be thoughtful and respect the opinions of others. (It has been said over and over again that there are three sides to a controversy: yours, the other fellow's, and the right one.)

Now go ahead and smile a little... a lot.

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: What you are when you are not trying to be anything, is the supreme test of what you are.

The Fowlers... married July 6

Fauss-Fowler Exchange Vows In Afternoon Church Service

An afternoon ceremony July 6 at the Berean Fundamental Church of Burwell united Maxine Fauss of Ord and Dwain Fowler of LaGrange, WY, in marriage. Rev. Daryl Walling of Geneva solemnized the 4:30 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fauss of Ord and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Fowler of Geneva. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length princess style gown with sheer bishop sleeves and a gored skirt which flowed into a train. The profile style head piece crown was lace, pearls and two tiers of veiling edged with lace. The bride's dress was made by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Fowler. Her bouquet was daisies and baby's breath.

Diane Fauss of Grand Island served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Karlou Dockhorn of Comstock and Mrs. Myrle Daws of Burwell, both sisters of the bride. They wore princess style dresses with standup collars and gored skirts made of pink dotted swiss. Embroidered daisies trimmed the high waistedness and collars. They each carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Debbie Wilkins of Geneva, friend of the groom, was the flower girl and Michael Daws of Burwell, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Doug Kuhns of Ohio, friend of the groom, served as best man. Glen Dockhorn of Comstock, the bride's brother-in-law, and Delwin Fowler of Geneva, brother of the groom, were groomsmen. They wore blue tuxedos. Ushers for the wedding were Kenneth Daws of Burwell, the bride's brother-in-law, and Dennis Fauss of Ord, brother of the bride.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Daryl Walling of Geneva on the organ and Ruth Moore of LaGrange, WY, on the piano. Debbie Kinzer of Colome, SD, and Glenna Johnson of LaGrange, WY, sang, "Savior

Like a Shepherd Lead Me," "Take Our Lives," and "Only One Life." Candle lighters were Melissa Fowler of Geneva, sister of the groom, and David Fauss of Ord, brother of the bride.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wilkins of Geneva as host and hostess. Crystal Fowler, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. The cake table attendants were Mary Young, Melodee Jantz, Mrs. Janet Daws, and Mrs. Pat Fowler. Robin Fowler and Shelly Fowler were the servers and the gift room attendants were Janelle Fowler and Laronda Fowler, sisters of the groom.

Special guests were grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bard of Palisade and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fowler of Cairo. After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the couple will be at home in LaGrange, WY, where the groom is employed by LaGrange Steel Company.

Johnson's Move To Seattle One Of His Best Plays Ever

In the crazy world of sports, things aren't always what they seem to be. Take Darrel Johnson. What some viewed as a demotion for him turned into what is apparently one of his best moves ever.

Johnson made the move to the Seattle Mariners in 1976. He came to the then new team following his release from the Boston Red Sox. That followed what some consider the best World Series ever.

The Cincinnati Reds won the '76 series in seven full games. Both teams provided some fantastic ball for fans of both teams. One of the best remembered plays was an interference call at home plate. A Boston catcher went for the ball and, some say, a Cincinnati player got in the way.

Johnson came out of the dugout and had a nose to nose confrontation with the umpire. Whether the play did or didn't involve interference will be discussed for years to come. Regardless of which side of the argument you take, one thing is certain:

The '76 series was fast-moving, colorful, and very interesting.

Then came the surprise. After an apparently successful year, Johnson was released from the Boston team. Some saw his taking the Seattle team post as a demotion. Not Darrel.

Papers have quoted him as saying he has never been happier. His brother, Rollie Johnson, vouched for this during a Quiz interview Friday. Said Darrel,

"He wants to live in Seattle when he retires. He likes it better than anywhere, he's ever been." According to Rollie, Darrel has found the people and climate are agreeable.

The Seattle residents apparently like Darrel, too. They have supported the team "pretty well" in Rollie's words. Spawned in 1976, the Seattle Mariners are slowly building up a roster of skilled players and making the traditional moves associated with a new baseball team.

"He (Darrel) told me last fall they didn't expect to be a contender for five years", Rollie revealed.

In his estimation, Darrel is doing quite well at building the team. One Mariner, Bruce Bouckle, played in the All-Star game earlier this month. That took place at Seattle's home turf, the Kingdome. The largest crowd in the dome's history was there. Attendance was estimated at $9,000.

Asked what Darrel's future plans are, Rollie, quickly replied, "He intends to stay in baseball. It's his life."

He started playing while an Ord resident. According to brother Rollie, Darrel was the smallest member of the Ord American Legion Team. "He was so little", Rollie recalled, "he barely made the starting lineup."

Leaving the Navy in 1945, Darrel joined the Richmond Cardinals, in the San Francisco Bay area. They were managed by brother Rollie.

He switched Darrel from right

Fall Shotgun Turkey Permits

First round applications for fall shotgun turkey permits will be accepted by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission from August 6 to 22.

This application period is open only to Nebraska residents who did not have a 1978 fall shotgun turkey permit. A second round of applications will run from August 29 through September 12, and will be open to all Nebraska hunters including those who held a permit last year.

This year a total of 2,800 shotgun permits will be available, up a total of 625 permits from last year. By units, the Round 1 top unit has 1,500 permits available, Niobrara has 1,000, and the Verdigris unit has 300. Archery permit numbers are unlimited. The archery turkey season runs from October 1 through 26, while the shotgun turkey season runs from October 27 through November 9.

Permit fees are $15 for residents and $35 for non-residents. Permit holders must also have in their possession a $7.50 habitat stamp, which is required for all Nebraska hunting and trapping permits. Application forms are available from hunting license vendors, any district office of the Game and Parks Commission, or the main office at 2200 No. 33rd, Lincoln, NE 68503.

the finals with Sargent Wednesday while South played Arcadia for 3rd. North and Sargent had a split in two previous meetings and #3 was also to be a crowd pleaser. Sargent scored 1st as they turned a triple, double, and a single into 2 runs in the top of the 1st inning. Ord answered back with a big run as Novosad, Meese, Cetak, Pesek, McClravy, Boyce, and Smith crossed the plate. The 2nd inning Sargent was held to 1 hit and no runs while North continued its offensive assault with 6 more runs. Three singles, Mark Pesek, Kevin McClravy, and Tim Boyce sparked the 2nd inning rally. The 3rd inning was scoreless and inning number 4 saw each team a single run. The 5th inning Sargent scored 5 runs in a rally that ended with a loaded base. Final score North 15, Sargent 8.

North had claimed the League Championship after a 4 way regular season tie had necessitated the play-off. The Ord North Ponies were League and Tournament Champions for 1979. The North Pony roster included:

Jeff Augustyn, Inf. Pit. Scott Novosad, Inf. Of. John Smith, Inf. Of. Mark Pesek, Inf. Of. Tim Boyce, Inf. Of. Doug Connor, Pit. Inf. Brian Cetak, 1st Base. Kevin McClravy, Catcher. Scott Duda, Of. Paul Hill, Of. Chuck Meese, Of. C. B. Moudry, Of. Kevin Osestowski, Of. Coach - Chuck Fryzek. Record - 10 wins; 3 losses.

South Ponies Are Third in Regular Season Playoff

The South Ponies took third place with a regular season playoff game by beating Arcadia 7 to 3 Wednesday, July 25. Ord had seven runs, nine hits, and no errors in Arcadia's three runs, two hits, and five errors.

The winning pitcher was Wade Bundy and Phil Fischer was the winning catcher. Holcomb and Lewandowski were the losing pitcher-catcher combination for Arcadia.

Greg Warner was two for four, including a double. Brad Nelson hit a double and Craig Erikson was two for three.

Ord Takes First Round Win in Softball Tourney

The Ord Men's softball team beat North Loup 14-5 to start off the softball tournament in Spalding.

Ord led all the way using strong hitting, including an inside the park home run by Jim Penas and a triple by Jon Miller. Frank Andreesen was the winning pitcher.

Ord Legion Drops Two Final Games

Last Sunday in Grand Island, the Ord Juniors dropped a 3-4 decision to Grand Island Overland. Ord jumped out front 3-0 in the first inning, and with bases loaded, and 1 out, Ord failed to score another run.

Overland came back scoring 1 run in the top of the 2nd and 3 more in the top of the 3rd.

Ord tried to come back when Larry Sears got a base hit and then scored in the top of the fourth to tie the score 4-4. In the top of the 5th Ord started off with a walk by Jim Smith and a base hit by Kurt Kremke, advancing Smith to 3rd base. The Kremke then advanced to 2nd with a stolen base, where he was later picked off for the last out of the game.

Thursday night the Ord Juniors broke out in front of heavily favored Kearney 4-1 after 3 and 24 after 5. Kearney, who has beaten Ord twice this year by the 10 run rule, came back with 9 runs in the 6th and 4 in the 7th to capture the win 12-11.

Ord hit well, outbitting Kearney 10-4 including a 6th inning homerun by Jim Smith that put Ord ahead 11-9. It was Smith's third of the year.

John Dworak got the loss in relief of Bob Beran.

Ord's next game was in tournament action Tuesday in St. Paul against Albion. Ord came out on the losing end being defeated 6 to 0. In other tournament action Broken Bow lost to St. Paul 5 to 4. Ord will face Broken Bow Wednesday evening, August 1.

In Midget play the Ord Midgets dropped two 13-2 to Grand Island; 11-4 to Kearney. The Midgets are hitting well but defensive lapses seem to come at the wrong times and make things tough.

Coach Eldon Mulligan and his team will try to change that when they start District tournaments in St. Paul Friday night against O'Neill.

Ord North Ponies League Champions

The Ord North Ponies won two play-off games to become the Loup Valley Pony League Champions. The North team was victorious in round #1 with a 10 to 3 victory over Ord South Saturday night. The North team struck early with 9 runs in inning #1 as each player scored on his 1st trip to the plate. The South came back with 3 runs in the 3rd inning, before North closed out the scoring with 1 run in the bottom of the 3rd. The winning North pitcher was Doug Connor while Randy Psota took the loss.

Card of Thanks

Words cannot express my feelings when I was crowned Valley County Queen. I wish to thank the Plain Valley Extension Club for sponsoring me and the lovely corsage they gave me. Audrey Novosad for accompanying me for my musical number; the Florette for a beautiful bouquet of roses and the gift from the Loup Valley Agricultural Society.

Also thanks for the cards and words of congratulations.

Conservation Costs Assessed

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in July started evaluating the various soil and water conservation practices to determine if the government is getting the best buy for the dollars invested.

"This nationwide assessment will examine the effects of conservation on erosion rates, long term soil productivity, water use, energy use, and volume of surface runoff. We want to know if the long-range economic effects are giving us a good return on the dollar invested," said Beuly Martin, SCS state conservationist.

"The data we collect for this assessment will be useful in the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977. This act directed the SCS and all U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies to evaluate conservation programs and needs for the future through public involvement. The assessment now getting started will give us the cost and benefit information needed to evaluate the conservation tools like terraces for example, as part of needed programs," said Martin.

The information will also be useful to government and congressional people in the Rural Clean Water Program. A goal of the program is to conserve water and other USDA programs.

"We have not previously had this cost and benefit information available. We have historically reported to Congress, for example, that in Nebraska last year there were 2,000 miles of terraces built. To congressional leaders and many other people this figure doesn't really mean much."

"But if you can determine that those 2,000 miles of terraces protected one-half million acres of farmland and kept 5 million tons of soil from eroding, then you can compare costs and benefits of the money invested," said Martin.

Money for installing conservation practices like terraces, grassed waterways, erosion control dams, windbreaks or livestock watering wells is usually cost-shared between the government and the landowner.

"Some of the data we will be collecting will be the erosion rates before and after installation of a conservation practice, irrigation water applied with or without a conservation practice, sediment reduction estimates, energy savings due to improved irrigation and the total number of acres benefited by the conservation," said Martin.

In Nebraska, the 25 counties that will be taking part in the assessment are: Box Butte, Dawes, Banner, Scotts Bluff, Keya Paha, Blaine, Boyd, Sherman, Greeley, Grant, Knox, Wayne, Colfax, Franklin, Hitchcock, Platte, Buffalo, Nuckolls, Nemaha, Sarpy, Garden, Douglas, Cass and Red Willow.

A blood clot the size of this dot can cause a Heart Attack.

Or a stroke.

Every year, thousands die because of a blood clot. Thousands more become disabled, some permanently. What's being done to stop it? Plenty. We're the American Heart Association. We're giving scientists the chance to find out more about blood clots. How to detect them. How to treat them. How to keep them from happening. We're fighting hard. With new drugs. New kinds of treatment. Better ways to help heart attack and stroke victims return to a normal life. And it's only a part of the total war we're waging against the number one cause of death in this country: heart disease and stroke. But we can't fight without your money. When the Heart Association volunteer asks for your dollars, be generous. The blood clot is small, the problem is enormous.

Please give generously to the American Heart Association. WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

Dan Pishna Rites Held at Chapel

Funeral services for Daniel P. Pishna were held on Monday, July 30, 1979 at 2 p.m. at the Ord Memorial Chapel with Lowell Stidolph and Carl Robinson officiating. Playing the organ was Freda Beerline and Gary Nelson sang "Just Cling" and "Gentle Hands". Pallbearers were Les Nelson, Victor Bodyfield, Robert Cummins, Harold Bulger, Maynard Collier, and Ray Marshall.

Daniel Paul Pishna was born on April 2, 1900 at Pauline to Anton and Maria Rakin Pishna, and died on July 26, 1979 at Ord at the age of 79.

He was raised and received his education in the Pauline and Burwell areas. On May 1, 1929, he was united in marriage to Leona P. Holder in Ord. They lived on a farm until December 1962 when they moved to Ord. Then in November 1966, they moved to Grand Island where they made their home until Daniel's health failed and he entered the Valley County Nursing Home. He was a member of the Church of Truth in Ord.

Survivors include his widow, Leona of Ord; one son, Donald of Lincoln; two granddaughters and one grandson; one brother, John of Benedict; and one half-brother, Louis Pishna of Burwell. He was preceded in death by his parents, two sisters, two half-brothers, and one half-sister. Memorials may be given to the Valley County Nursing Home.

Joseph Holmes Rites in Arcadia

Joseph Edelbert Holmes, the son of Joseph McFarland and Nettie Blakeslee Holmes, died on October 14, 1894 in Valley County near Arcadia, and died July 29, 1979 at the Valley County Nursing Home at the age of 84.

He received his early education at the Glendale Rural School near Arcadia. On Sept. 19, 1924, he was united in marriage to Anna M. Olesen. After marriage they made their home on a farm east of Arcadia until 1946 when they moved to a farm in Custer County. In 1964, he retired from farming and moved to Arcadia. For the last five years he had been a resident of the Valley County Nursing Home. He was a member of the Christian Science Society of Arcadia.

Survivors include his wife, Anna, a resident in Valley County Nursing Home; two daughters, Mrs. Artice Fells of Arcadia and Mrs. Opeta Noll of Omaha; two sons-in-law, Donald Fells and Avery Noll; one brother, K. C. Holmes, Olympia, WA; and three sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Wissler of Storm Lake, IA and Mrs. Catherine Pierce and Mrs. Leonora Wissler, both of Olympia, WA. Preceding him in death were his parents and six brothers.

Graveside services were held Tuesday, July 31, 1979 at 10:30 a.m. at the Arcadia Cemetery after which a memorial service was held at the United Methodist Church in Arcadia at 11 a.m. with Rev. Charles Moore officiating. Burial was in the Garden of the Lord's Prayer, accompanied by Mrs. Ina Woody, Pallbearers were James Holmes, Dillard Hunt, Byron Hunt, George Krahnik, Robert Fells, and Walter Bumgarner. Honorary pallbearers were Earl Holmes, Alvin Holmes, Dale Holmes, Loren Gabriel, Wes Huribart, and Alvin Nelson. Ord Memorial Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Edna D. McGee, age 81, of Long Beach, CA, died Monday, July 30, at a Convalescent Center in Santa Ana, CA. Services are pending and a complete obituary will appear later in the Quiz.

Sheets Has Tax Refund Coming

Fred A. Herrington, Nebraska State Tax Commissioner, has announced that Marty J. Sheets of Ord is one of the people having refunds coming from the Nebraska Department of Revenue. All prior attempts to locate the taxpayers have failed. The last known address of Marty is Ord, Nebraska.

In order to receive the refund, the taxpayer must reply in writing directly to the Nebraska Department of Revenue, Attention: Correspondence Section, P.O. Box 94818, Lincoln, NE 68509, and give their present address, social security number, telephone number and signature.

Sheriff's Report

July 27 — A passerby interrupted a joy ride on a piece of construction equipment nine miles northeast of Ord. The two boys abandoned their vehicle and fled into a cornfield.

July 28 — Three juveniles were cited for alcohol violations at the North Loop Drive in the theatre. Sheriff Sonnenfeld is asking one adult be prosecuted for procuring for minors.

July 28 — Vic Spady was arrested on parole violation charges. His probation officer had issued the pick-up order.

Valley County Sheriff Martin Sonnenfeld is investigating a party held Saturday night and Sunday morning four miles north of Ord. Sonnenfeld said he believes alcohol may have been served juveniles.

July 26 — Two males driving a white car removed about 100 marker flags along a county road two miles east of Arcadia. The flags, over a four mile stretch of road, are used to designate roads needing gravel. Valley County Sheriff Martin Sonnenfeld is searching for those involved.

Turtle Trot

(Continued from page 1) be a travelling trophy for the over-all winner. For that last award, top trotters in all age and specie divisions will be placed in the center ring, top clawer takes all. "I'll be something," Jim speculated, "there being ten turtles in the ring at one time."

Those not having a hardshell of their own can rent a turtle, Jim told the Quiz. An estimated 200 of these animals will be available. These are currently in residence at a turtle training camp. Officials for the shell game Sunday will include four judges, two timers and an announcer. All entrants will be carefully scrutinized. In recent years several contestants have been disqualified for having sharpened claws and grease on the underside of their shell. Another was thrown out of the ring for having liquor on his breath. The judges decision shall be final.

In what some have called "The Turtle Trot" entrants are placed under a basket in the center of a circle. The first slow-speed sprinter to cross the circle edge is declared the winner. Top speed last year was logged at a near supersonic three minutes.

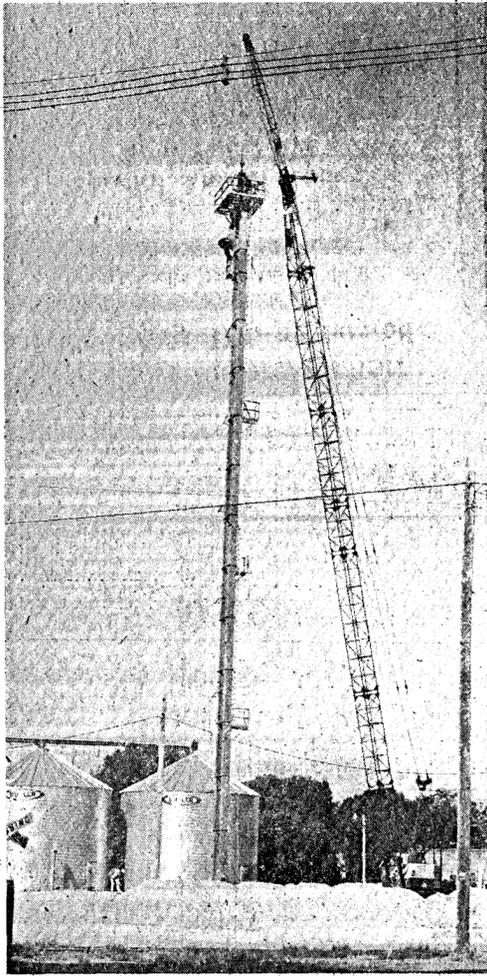

Ground Water

Hank Thoene reported on pumping plant tests conducted in the last 30 days. The results varied widely, according to Beran. Some pump adjustments were made to increase efficiency and save fuel costs.

Bill Anderson Isn't: Real Name Revealed

The Valley County Sheriff's Department learned Wednesday prisoner William Anderson was using an assumed name. Anderson, being held on unlawful use of an automobile charges is really Joseph Duffy of Omaha. Sheriff Martin Sonnenfeld said prisoners heard "Anderson" talking and he indicated what his real name might be. The Sheriff said he found out "Anderson's" real name last Wednesday.

Expansion plans at Boilesen's Grain Company reached an all-time high in altitude and capacity recently. The leg, shown here, and two bins will hike Boilesen's total storage capacity to near one million bushels, according to Gaylord Boilesen. Work on the new addition was started the first part of June and should be completed the first part of September.

New Laws Affecting Taxpayers Are Outlined by County Treasurer

Valley County Treasurer Sharon L. Foth outlined three laws that will affect Valley County taxpayers this year. The three set fees, hike interest, and extend the life of Nebraska license plates.

The three laws are as follows: — LB 84 Revises 77-207. All delinquent taxes shall draw interest at the rate of 11% per annum from the date they become delinquent, and the interest shall be collected the same as the tax upon which the interest accrues. — LB 404 amends 60-326.01 and provides in part that the treasurer shall collect in addition to the registration fees an extra dollar, which $1.00 shall be retained by the county. — LB 583 extends the life of the present license plate from five to six years, which means in essence that new plates will be issued in 1982. Legislative Bills, not carrying the emergency clause, will become effective Aug. 24, 1979.

'Cost of Production' Factor

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M. M. Van Kirk, Director of Information

The "cost of production" factor which is the standard largely considered in establishing target prices and loan rates under the 1977 federal farm law is sure to be debated extensively before Congress has to write a new farm law in 1981.

Few persons, farmers and non-farmers alike, would argue against the contention that an agricultural producer should be able to recover his production costs plus a reasonable profit. So must every business enterprise if it is to remain solvent. But the costs of producing the same crop vary widely from region to region and even from farmer to farmer.

The "national dialogue" called for by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland in the next two years to indicate what the future structure of agricultural programs should be and what the 1981 farm bill should present, will have to struggle with the questions, "whose cost of production?" and "How should cost of production be calculated?"

Cost of production as computed by the USDA, includes not only cash outlays but also allowances for unpaid family labor and management, a return on investments in machinery, and an allowance for the use of operator-owned land. The USDA computes an allowance for management by taking a fixed percentage of the total of variable costs, machinery ownership costs and general farm overhead costs. This means that high-cost producers have higher management allowances than low-cost producers.

Preliminary figures for 1978 by the USDA indicate that the cost of production, excluding land management, was $1.27 for a bushel of corn in the Lake States and Corn Belt and ranged up to a high of $2.16 per bushel in the Southwest. Thus the allocation for management at 10 percent of these costs would mean that the allowance for management would 12.7 cents per bushel in the Corn Belt and 21.6 cents per bushel in the Southwest.

The "cost" of using land for a crop is easy to compute for producers who rent the land, but landowners are interested in more than recovery of the bare costs of owning land. How does one compute an appropriate average return for land that was acquired at different times over many years? The USDA computes per unit costs as a "total, excluding land," calculates separate land allocations based on (1) present land values and (2) average acquisition values, and publishes separate total costs for different types of renters. The result, naturally, is a wide range of total cost of production figures, both for the U.S. and for different geographic regions.

The increased cost of energy and land is going to alter cost of production figures and farming practices and decisions. For example, when diesel fuel could be purchased for 30 cents per gallon, it was economically feasible to sink deep wells and invest in center pivot equipment to develop relatively poor land for production. Now, however, at 85 cents per gallon for diesel fuel and correspondingly high costs for other forms of energy, such decisions may become questionable.

As a matter of government policy, will it make economic sense to hold good Corn Belt land out of production in areas where rainfall is sufficient to produce good crops virtually every year without irrigation, while supporting continued development and intensive cropping of land dependent on declining groundwater resources and costly fuel supplies?

Every farmer can, and should, calculate his own cost of production to provide a basis for management decisions on what to produce. But the task of producing acceptable national estimates of the average cost of production is far more difficult and results in many unforeseen side effects. It's a subject that should be well discussed by farmers before a new farm law is written.

Crop Producers Have Choice in Selecting Seed of Known or Unknown Qualities
Nebraska farmers will seed hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat this fall. And, while they may not be able to choose ideal weather or soil conditions, they do have freedom of choice on seed.

That's the message from Dean Lancaster, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, who notes the many variables affecting the final yield and quality of a crop harvested next summer — planting conditions and timing, soil fertility, cold winter temperatures, hot summer temperatures, adequate or inadequate spring rains and others.

"Desirable yields of good quality wheat also depend, to a large extent, on the quality and varietal purity of the seed planted," Lancaster stated.

The agronomist listed these definite characteristics of good seed:
— A variety with proven performance, adapted to the area where it will be planted.
— Varietally pure and as free as possible from seeds of other crops and weeds.
— Free from seed-borne diseases and possessing the vitality necessary to produce healthy, vigorous plants.

Certified seed meets these criteria, Lancaster said. Producers can select a certified wheat seed supplier from the 1979 Summer Growers Directory, available at all county extension offices.

Pruning Will Aid Evergreens
According to Dennis Adams, District Extension Forester, evergreen trees don't always grow naturally in nice, even, elongated shapes. They may need pruning to prevent them from growing too wide or tall, or to help them develop more dense foliage.

Austrian pine trees can be pruned in June, while Scotch and White pine do best when pruned from mid-June through July. Firs, spruces, cedars, and junipers may be pruned any time of the year, but the best time is usually from October 1 to April.

July 29, crop water use for alfalfa under full cover was 1.17 inches; crop water use for corn was 1.03 inches.

Next week's forecasted crop water use for the week of July 30 through August 5 is estimated to be: 2.0 inches for alfalfa under full cover; 2.0 inches for corn.

Producers please note: Immediately after cutting, water use for alfalfa will be 50% of the figure given; after 10 days, water use will be 75%. At 20 days after cutting, water use is the figure given.

This week I had intended to write about the 208 Water Quality Plan; change my mind; then reversed again when I read an article in the July 24 issue of American Agriculture News — stating how farmers in Nebraska are worried about their water rights because of the recently drafted 208 Water Quality Management Plan.

The Loup Basin Policy Advisory Committee, made up of rural, NRD, city, livestock interests in the Loup River basin, have been involved in the 208 water quality planning business for two years with no, and it repeats, no mention of water rights being in jeopardy.

There is mention in the plan of the link between stream water quality and quantity, and the fact that Nebraska Water Quality Standards recognize fish and wildlife as a beneficial use of surface waters. It goes on to recommend acknowledgment of the inter-relationship between ground and surface water.

While we are on the subject of the 208 plan, we might as well get into the nuts and bolts. The term 208 is the section of the Clean Waters Act (PL-92500) that deals with non-point water quality through best management practices. The river basin PACs were charged with selection of water quality problems and best management practices in their particular area. Eleven problem areas were identified by the 13 committees representing the State of Nebraska.

The final list of water quality related problems included: agricultural runoff; leaching of nitrates, pesticides, and other chemicals into the groundwater; improper operation and maintenance of wastewater treatment plants and insufficient operator training; roadside erosion; streambank erosion; irrigation return flows; construction site runoff; urban runoff; residual waste disposal site contamination of surface and groundwater and land application of wastewater effluent and sludge; feedlots; and septic tanks.

Each problem area was investigated, studied, and evaluated for inclusion in the plan. Some of the problem areas are now the subject of extended field studies involving detailed data-gathering and analysis.

Happy Birthday, Louise

Louise Brown celebrated her first birthday July 25. Curly haired and blue eyed, the young miss from England won instant fame by being the world's first test-tube baby.

Unable to get pregnant, Mrs. Lesley Brown went to gynecologist Dr. Patrick Steptoe and research physiologist Robert Edwards. Louise was conceived in a laboratory and the fertilized egg then implanted in Mrs. Brown's womb. Louise made her debut July 25, 1978.

Her birth was the subject of newspaper articles, radio and television coverage, and fodder for countless magazine articles. Pictures, banner headlines, and interviews with the new parents heralded the instant celebrity status of baby Louise.

The birth of the Dionne quintuplets was a similar instant media event. It was rated one of the top news stories of 1934. Pictures of the five small Canadians ended up on a wide variety of commercial products. Books about the five infants created further revenues. In the jargon of the journalistic trade they were a "hot item" and "good copy."

Allegedly viewed as a commodity and not human beings, the five girls grew up to tell stories of a less than happy childhood. Relationships in the Dionne household, to put it charitably, were strained.

A bard once said, "Those who forget history are bound to repeat it." Using this as a benchmark, we might profit from recalling the five young ladies in Canada, and hope that behind the razzle-dazzle of publicity and wire service stories, members of the media don't forget the Browns have a small child, a human being with an inherent self worth rather than a salable item or the subject for "good copy."

Poor Jimmy

Recently President Jimmy Carter has been catching flack wherever he turns. The press has depicted him as a Christian man sans lust in his heart trying to do his darndest but always falling short of some mark.

This case of ineptitude — real or imagined — has reached the point of hilarity. Jokes about the peanut grower turned President are beginning to crop up. One making the rounds is that it's no wonder Carter gets things done. Just look at that impressive dental display he keeps flashing. Another has observed that Carter has asked for public support so often he is now known as the orthopedic President.

Some claim this public frustration is caused by insurmountable problems. Others maintain it is nothing but natural American cussedness. Whatever the cause, President Carter is being taken to task by numerous special interest groups and sizable segments of the populace at large.

This, what some call mistreatment of an elected official, isn't peculiar to Carter alone. We Americans make the President, and other officials too, the butt of a lot of unfunny jokes. Cartoonists draw unflattering pictures of him. Traditionally the occupant of the White House has been the subject of crude American graffiti.

One such occupant was a fellow Southerner, Harry Truman. Like Carter, he found himself being subjected to some pretty rough handling. Said the Missourian, "The President of the United States should expect it. He owes the right answers to his country. If he can't stand the heat, he should stay out of the kitchen."

President Carter evidently hasn't found the temperature all that unbearable. His recent cabinet reshuffling was reportedly done with an eye to the 1980 election. Some feel the reshuffling will help him survive politically. Others contend the public will call for a whole new deck and a change in players next year.

But that is in the future. Right now Carter is catching bricks from all directions. Some believe we should hold our fire because J. Carter occupies the highest office in the land.

Nonsense! Because he holds the highest office possible is the very reason that we the people should be tough with him. If he doesn't get the job done and follow through on promises made, we should turn him out. That is our system of government, our privilege, and a right we should protect.

We Hear Old Goodies

We had such a fun evening last week when we went to see and hear the New Orleans Preservation Hall Jazz band in concert.

Since it was way downtown from us we drove early and stopped to eat at a very famous hotel. Forget it, our meal was poor, but the evening's fun made up for that in quick order.

The seven-member team average in their 70's, so we felt fortunate to be in their audience. But there was no feeling of age in their performance as each one of the seven demonstrated unusual proficiency and great zest for the crowd at Civic Theatre.

There was leader and trumpeter Percy Humphrey, satisfy-

Thone Will Consider Naming Panel Studying University

CAPITOL NEWS

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association — Lincoln — Gov. Charles Thone has told University of Nebraska President Ronald Roskens he will consider Roskens' request to name a special commission to study NU's financial structure.

Previously, Thone said he would not appoint such a commission, as suggested by the Board of Regents during an early summer meeting. The Governor had said the regents could appoint their own commission if they really thought one was necessary.

In what a gubernatorial aide said was a gesture of courtesy, Thone later agreed to discuss the proposal again with Roskens.

Roskens said the committee that would be appointed would zero in on consideration of the place, role and function of the University of Nebraska for today and tomorrow.

According to the NU president, the study that has been proposed would lift up the university for "a sort of public airing to the general public."

What he wants, Roskens said, is people with "first rate" reputations in various fields to take an in-depth look at the institution's financial posture.

Responding to reporters' questions during a recent news conference, Roskens said it would be difficult to say whether a commission named by the Governor would carry more weight than one selected by the regents.

He guessed a gubernatorial group "probably would have a higher acceptance, if not necessarily more credibility."

Roskens is advocating a 15 percent increase in the university's next budget.

Thone has said that much of an increase would be "over-reaching" and that the university and other state agencies must learn to live within what the state can afford to provide.

This year's university budget of $313 million includes almost $116 million in state tax monies.

The 1979 Legislature upped UN's appropriation by about $9 million over the previous year.

More Valuation Discussions

The most frequently heard complaint about proposed valuation increases is that the plan will disrupt intercounty equalization. Deputy State Tax Commissioner John Decker has said.

He said that point was made many times during a series of meetings during which county spokespersons offered their thoughts on the state Board of Equalization and Assessment's effort to equate property values across the state.

By the time this appears in print, the state Revenue Department, which has reviewed data from the state's 93 counties will have presented its findings to the Board.

The Board must finalize its equalization order by August 15.

Gov. Charles Thone, who serves as chairman of the Board, said no one should expect a miracle from the Board and cautioned, "It isn't going to be an easy job and it isn't going to come overnight. And it isn't going to come without some disruption and controversy."

During the final day of hearings, several attorneys for the state and Nebraska counties questioned the legality of some of the procedures under which the Board was operating, including the designation of Decker as the presiding officer for the hearings.

ing! He directed his friends. There was his brother Willie on clarinet and how he made it talk, how he promenaded and pranced.

Narvin Kimball never let his beautiful banjo get cool, he took no rests. His instrument was a gorgeous sight; in this day of high-priced gold it was rimmed with heavy gold bands that sparkled like his music.

"Sing" Miller played good jazz piano: (we couldn't help but think how Len Cronk would go crazy if he heard him) — he also sang a few ditties.

The drummer was very good, his beat heavy and true, constant. Name of "Cie" Frazier.

We fell in love with the trombonist, a younger musician who loved what he was doing and the crowd perceived this and appreciated it very much.

Alan Jaffe played a big shiny tuba, he was big enough to support it and dance at the same time; the crowd loved it.

The music? As you may guess it was a program of good oldies and the old goodies, all of which you know and I know. The listeners liked it so much. Everywhere I looked there was finger tapping, there was clapping, there was toe-tapping, knee moving, shoulders and heads bobbing to the music. How could anyone not like such an enthusiastic evening?

The capacity crowd? No, it wasn't all old people: neither was it all young jazz buffs. It was mixed.

This band was founded in 1961 to preserve the last of the vitality and charm of the old jazz music. It caught on at once.

This was no fly-by-night outfit, they have become an annual attraction at such festivals as Ravinia, Blossom, Meadow Brook, Wolftrap, Tanglewood. They are favorites in both Europe and Latin America. This is their 13th consecutive cross-country jaunt. They are playing 40 halls in 17 states all within 54 days, a schedule a younger band would find strenuous.

But both individually and collectively "they present one of the few remaining links to the traditional four-beat New Orleans jazz style of about 1900" states the San Diego Union.

They love the sad, sweet and joyful music of the delta region, and yes, they impressively and beautifully played going-to-the-cemetery music. And followed it briefly with the happy music that such a band plays as they depart from the funeral assuming that the deceased is happy in a happy land.

They had a quaint way of getting away from their overly-enthusiastic devotees.

First one, then another came down in the audience playing "When the Saints Come Marching In", signaling the crowd to follow them as they marched up and down the aisles. Meantime the musicians snuck away, one by one, quietly, while the stage filled with dancers.

If I thought they could come play for final services for me maybe I wouldn't be cremated after all. . . .

Irma

development of regulations that would recognize differences in urban and rural health-care needs. According to Dunlap, the small populations served by many rural hospitals make it impossible for them to satisfy guidelines for specific services.

Representatives of the state's nursing home industry have said the certificate-of-need law must be amended before it is acceptable. Their major objection is a section allowing the state to recapture part of its Medicaid payments when a nursing home is sold.

The regulations would require healthcare providers to receive a certificate of need before physical expansion or acquisition of medical equipment expected to cost more than $100,000, or before changing types of medical services offered.

— weekend —

Reading this past week, as I have all summer, of the slump in Nebraska's tourist business, I don't blame the gas shortage as much as I blame the economic conditions. People simply can't afford to travel — especially with families in tow.

Not only is there the "blamed" uncertainty of gas shortages and station closings, but fuel is expensive. And fuel only gets you where you're going. Eating out is also very expensive. Motel and hotel rates average what many once considered first class rates at resort areas.

Plainly and simply, most folks are having a difficult time just making ends meet right at home. The added expenses of leaving home for a few days are more than most budgets can bear.

By the way, the fact that I must travel, on business, I'm one of the few people who would rather stay home on weekends. Not only do I know how expensive it is to take brief sojourns away from home, but I've learned to enjoy the rest and relaxation of our house and yard in a friendly neighborhood of our quiet, small town. I can think of very few things I can't find to enjoy right here at home.

Since moving into our present home quite a number of years back the trees have grown taller and bushier and now the neighborhood is full of songbirds. Shaving, with the bathroom window opened, this weekend, I could hear the many birds chirping and singing in our back yard. Immediately, I remembered my family's Minnesota cabin and the birds singing in the wooded areas. "It's not much different than this," I thought to myself — probably a partial rationalization on my part. Nevertheless, what I was finding at home could be likened only to what I'd once thought we must travel 600 miles to find.

After a few necessary chores were tended to, Saturday morning, I slipped on my swimming suit and sprawled out under the sun on our patio. Unable to forget the lawn that needed mowing, I was soon up and enjoying tending to the grass. Two hours later, with that out of the way, I returned to the patio and the sunbathing.

Later in the afternoon I started the grill and we enjoyed hamburger with fresh garden vegetables given us by neighbors and friends who enjoy the economy of gardening as much as the peace and solitude of working their gardens.

Later in the evening we returned to the patio, as had others in the neighborhood. Families quietly read the evening paper as they walked through the park or to the swimming pool or simply enjoyed the summer evening.

When darkness settled on the community, I turned to the novel I'm presently reading and thought — before opening it — that it had been a perfect day. No where in the world, that I could have been that day, would have provided me with the joy of living that I'd experienced right at home.

When You and I Were Young

Edgar Roe won the grand prize at the Farm and Home Show drawing this week which was a trip for four to Fort Robinson August 17-23.

The proposed dress code for the coming year was presented to the Ord School Board Monday evening by Bob Norton, principal. Among the things that are NOT acceptable for the girls were pant dresses, shorts, jeans or slacks of any kind. For boys, no sweatshirts, no unbuttoned shirts and shirt tails must be tucked in; plus many other do's and don'ts which the board approved.

Mr. and Mrs. George Krajnik and their daughter, Donna, are awaiting the arrival of the foreign exchange student who will make her home with them for the coming year. Jimena Escobar of Chile will arrive in the U.S. on Monday.

First place winners in the talent contest during the fair were Clever Cuties 4-H Club, junior division; Phyllis Babcock of North Loup, high school division; and Dee Meese and Jim Ochsner, young adult division.

FOR A LIFETIME OF SERVICE

A full life is marked, not so much by days and years as by events. Life's turning points—a first date, graduation, marriage, the birth of a child, a new job, a new home, unforgettable travels—these are the eventful moments that give texture to a life.

Not all of life's milestones are happy to be sure. But we can identify with the memorable events of a lifetime. We know and understand the hopes, the joys and the concerns of people. Because we are people. We know what people need. It's more than checking and savings and loans...it's understanding. It's permanence. And we're all the bank you'll ever need.

We're the Bank of a Lifetime.

Mira Valley

By Bertha Clement — 728-3884

Family Night was held at Mira Valley United Methodist Church Sunday evening. Joy Hornickel led in singing from the new church hymnal. Her sister, Cheryl, was accompanist, Mr. and Mrs. Orel Koelling showed pictures and movies of Greece and of their daughter, Jan's wedding, which they attended last spring. The wedding of Jan Koelling and Nicola Liberopoulos was much different than the weddings in our country. Pie ala-mode (home made ice cream) was served during the social hour that followed.

Mrs. Isaac Luoma attended the funeral services of Mrs. Gladys Meyer, 79, at Cotesfield Monday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lange and their daughter, Carolyn, and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Curry, Johnny and Timmy, and grand children, John and Julie Homan, spent a week of visiting and activities which included seeing Fort Hartsuff and Twin Loups Dam area on the Calamus, picnic at Sherman and visiting the Herbert Bradthauer family near Houston Saturday morning. Mrs. John Homan and Lorene Homan of California came from Cedar Rapids Thursday evening to get John and Julie Homan. Ed Lange visited the Langes and guests during the week and was a lunch guest Friday.

Mrs. Lorens Hornickel and Ronda, and Ronda's fiancé, Greg Tucker of California, spent the weekend in Milwaukee visiting Rev. and Mrs. Michael Rodgers and baby son, Luke Aaron.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flemming, Iola, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kreifels during the weekend. The birthday of the two men was celebrated at the Mervin Hornickel home Sunday. One of them is eight hours younger than the other. Mrs. Elma Koelling was also a guest.

Lori Urwiler of Ravenna was a guest of Bonnie Hornickel.

Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Koelling, Grand Island, and son Rodney of Austin, TX, visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hornickel Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Jurgensen, Sr., were Sunday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jurgensen and family. The birthdays of Decon, age seven, and Jenny, age five, Jurgensen, were celebrated.

Dan Stewart Lexington; Donita Hora, Burwell; and Louise Trotter, Hastings, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cook. All went canoeing Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rick Bradthauer, Amy and Chad, were Saturday supper guests of her mother, Mrs. Rita Barnes and Verlon and Russel. They celebrated Verlon's birthday. Afterward all of them visited Mr. and Mrs. Marty Barnes and Jaime.

LEGAL NOTICE

STOWELL & JENSEN, P.C.
Attorneys at Law
NOTICE OF INCORPORATION OF DONALD L. GEWEKE CHARITABLE FOUNDATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned have formed a corporation under the laws of the State of Nebraska as follows:

- The name of the corporation is Donald L. Geweke Charitable Foundation.
- The address of the initial registered office is 1545 M Street, P.O. Box 40, Ord, Nebraska, and the initial registered agent at that address is Robert D. Stowell.
- The Corporation is organized and shall be operated exclusively for charitable, civic and educational purposes. The particular purposes for which the Corporation is organized are:

1. To receive and administer funds for charitable, civic and educational purposes and to that end to take and hold by devise, gift, grant, purchase, lease, or otherwise, either absolutely or jointly with any other person, persons, or incorporation, or any undivided interest therein, without limitation as to amount or value; to sell, convey, or otherwise dispose of any such property and to invest, reinvest, or deal with the principal or the income thereof in such manner, as in the judgment of the directors, will best promote the purposes of the Corporation without limitation, except such limitations, if any, as may be contained in the instrument under which such property is received; these Articles of Incorporation, the Bylaws of the Corporation, or any laws applicable thereto.

2. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, one of the principal purposes of the Corporation shall be the fostering of educational opportunities for the youth of America through the making of grants and loans and through the making of student grants and loan funds and the making of direct grants or loans to individuals to enable them to meet the expenses of higher education.

3. To provide funds for the enhancement of church programs to include but not be limited to building programs and the purchase of capital assets.

4. To provide funds for the enhancement of community and civic programs, particularly for the youth, in general, and to any other acts and things, and to exercise any and all powers which may now or hereafter be lawful for the Corporation to do or exercise under and pursuant to the laws of the State of Nebraska for the purpose of accomplishing any of the purposes of the Corporation to the extent that such acts may be conducted by organizations exempt from Federal Income Tax under I.R.C. § 501(c)(3), as provided therein.

5. The affairs of the corporation shall be conducted by a Board of Directors, and such subordinate officers and agents as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or appointed by the Board of Directors.

6. The office of the corporation shall be located at 1545 M Street, Ord, Nebraska.

7. The Corporation shall have perpetual existence.

8. The Articles of Incorporation with the Bylaws and such subordinate officers and agents as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or appointed by the Board of Directors, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State and it shall have the effect of law.

9. To do everything necessary, proper and convenient for the accomplishment of the purposes hereinafore set forth, and to do all other things incidental thereto or connected therewith which are not forbidden by the laws of the State of Nebraska, or by these Articles of Incorporation. Pecuniary profit, gain or private advantage of any sort is not and shall not hereafter be the object of this Corporation, the incorporators, Board of Directors, or officers.

10. The incorporation commenced existence on the filing and recording of its Articles of Incorporation with the Secretary of State and it shall have perpetual existence.

11. The affairs of the corporation shall be conducted by a Board of Directors, and such subordinate officers and agents as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or appointed by the Board of Directors.

12. The office of the corporation shall be located at 1545 M Street, Ord, Nebraska.

13. The Corporation shall have perpetual existence.

14. The Articles of Incorporation with the Bylaws and such subordinate officers and agents as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or appointed by the Board of Directors, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State and it shall have the effect of law.

15. To do everything necessary, proper and convenient for the accomplishment of the purposes hereinafore set forth, and to do all other things incidental thereto or connected therewith which are not forbidden by the laws of the State of Nebraska, or by these Articles of Incorporation. Pecuniary profit, gain or private advantage of any sort is not and shall not hereafter be the object of this Corporation, the incorporators, Board of Directors, or officers.

New Musical Group Is Formed

A new musical group is making itself heard on the area scene. The Comstock Has Beens most recent engagement was at Sargent Tuesday. The 19 member band is composed of Comstock residents who are former students of Ord's music man, Dr. Glen Auble. He was director of city and school bands at Ord's neighboring town for 26 years. The 37-year-old senior citizen estimated the mileage he accumulated between Ord and Comstock during those times would equal a trip two and a half times around the world. His latest trips have been for the Has Beens. The group was formed last June. Dr. Auble admitted he "didn't expect to find that many" former musicians of his around Comstock. Eight of the 19 band members are women, according to the long-time Ord resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Cook and Mrs. Pearl Baldwin spent from Sunday night until Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Watson. On Tuesday, they were on their way home to Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Beccard of Nebraska City spent from Monday through Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Welniak. John Welniak of Nebraska City has spent two weeks with his grandparents, the Carl Welniaks, but left for home Sunday, July 29.

Mrs. Lee Loseke, Susan and Mark, brought cake for Sam Loseke on his birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bhon of O'Neill spent Wednesday and Thursday with Sam and Inez Loseke.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Payne left last Sunday for a visit with her brother, Laman Sanford, who has been ill in Omaha. While there, they spent some time with Elwin Gaskill and daughter, returning home Tuesday.

Card of Thanks

It is with a great deal of reluctance that any of us watch a loved one wither and gradually slip from us. The concerned inquiries and visits, thoughtful deeds, food and floral offerings make enduring all of this so much easier. We realize the true meaning of friends and family at this time. To all of those so involved with us in our sorrow, we say a "Thank You" and may God add his blessings to each of your lives.

Card of Thanks

I want to thank all my family, friends, and relatives for their prayers, cards, visits, and flowers while I was in the hospital. A special thank you to Dr. Zlomke and Les and to all the nurses for their wonderful care. Also I want to thank the Arcadia firemen for their quick response.

Come To Church

READ JOSHUA 3:7-17
"The apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith." (Luke 17:5) When the Lord led His people out of Egypt, He caused the sea to go back all that night, and made the sea dry land. Their feet did not even sink into moist soil. Why didn't He do the same thing when they came to the Jordan and were preparing to enter the Promised Land? Here He ordered them to step into the water. He allowed them to feel the old waves dashing over their feet before He rolled back the waters and let them "stand firm on dry ground." I believe that God was both challenging and testing their faith. His people had experienced the miracles of the Red Sea crossing, the cloud and the pillar of fire for guidance, the manna, the water from the rock, and all His other loving provisions. It was now time for a step forward in faith. God is never satisfied to have us stand still. He constantly encourages us to go on from past blessings to a deeper relationship with Him. PRAYER: Thank You, Father, for the tests of our faith, which always make us stronger when we have the courage to trust You. May we show our faith in Your greatness. Amen.

Street-Highway Improvements Started

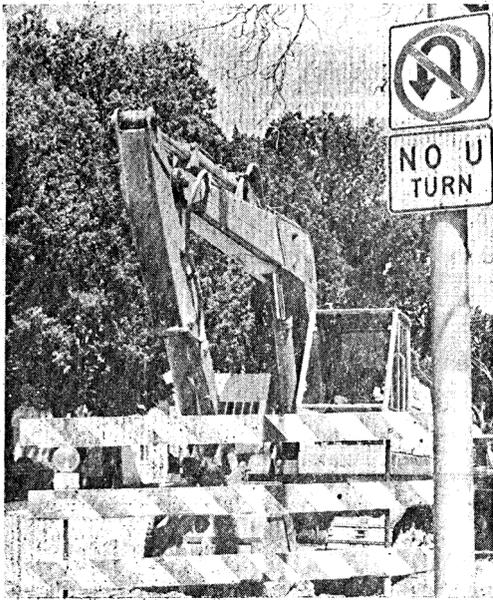

Area street and highway repairs are evident around Ord. Projects include black topping a nine mile stretch of Highway 11 six miles north and east of Ord and laying a storm sewer along L Street in the city.

Biba Project Superintendent, Gordon Fleming said work on the hard paving started about two and half weeks ago. He estimated the project, including installation of curbing along Highway 11, would take until the middle of next month.

In Ord, Great Plains crews are laying a storm sewer line from 12 to 21 street along L Street and are scheduled to complete the job within the next five to six weeks, according to GP project engineer, Rick Richter.

Mid-September is the projected date for street paving in the City of Ord.

Parking is banned along portions of L Street where Great Plains crews are laying sewer pipe. Richter asked local citizens to cooperate.

Judge Confirms Election Results

District Judge Kelly confirmed June 5 election results during a meeting in St. Paul Tuesday, July 31. Balloting last June saw voters approve a water use contract by 64.6 percent, 910 to 498, between the Twin Loups Reclamation District and the Bureau of Reclamation.

That election was one of two the State Supreme Court ordered held. The second election is scheduled for September 11. That will be on a water supply contract between the Twin Loups Reclamation District and the Twin Loups Irrigation District.

Judge Kelly's approval July 31 marks the completion of the first half of the court's directive, according to Henry Lange of the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

The two contracts relate to the Calamus or North Loup Project. The North Loup Project will irrigate an estimated 53,000 acres from a reservoir northwest of Burwell and from a dam on the Calamus River.

Assessments Hiked 12 to 33 Percent By State Board

Valley County taxpayers will be paying more but enjoying it less. The State Equalization Board hiked Valley County property assessments between 12 and 33 percent. County Assessor Bob Sevenser released information Tuesday showing the Equalization Board hiked assessments for:

- irrigated land — 26 percent
- dry land — 26 percent
- range land — 33 percent
- everything else — 12 percent

"Everything else" was defined as "All buildings and improvements, all improvements on leased land, all lots, all site values, feed yard values, gravel pit values. Everything other than land classified as agriculture gets a 12 percent increase," a release given to the Quiz by Sevenser stated.

Some lands, found in Noble Township and Arcadia Township, have the same assessment as before. This will affect only some of the lands in those two areas, according to the release.

While far from good news for area taxpayers, the just released schedule is better than original calculations released by the Equalization Board. They wanted to hike agricultural land assessments 39 percent and everything else 39 percent.

Sevenser and other county officials appeared before the Equalization Board in Lincoln July 25. "Maybe," Sevenser said, "my appearance in Lincoln had some effect."

Scotia High Alumni Recall Old Times

Alumni Reunion Was Held Friday-Saturday

An estimated 175 Scotia High alumni, family and friends gathered in the Ord Elks Club Saturday to recall old times. Honor classes this year were those ending in the digit nine and the 25 year class of 1954.

The two-day alumni reunion was launched Friday by an open house at the old Scotia High. Former students gathered to tour the building and recall times back when they were in the classroom.

Charlie Anderson was one of those recalling how things were during his tour of the building. He and other classmates were amazed at how things had changed. "Now when I was in school," he pointed out, "the seventh and eighth grades and the third grade were here," in the present home economics room. And then he home ce? "Well, I guess that is where the speech room is now," he said.

Bud Layner, class of 1931, remembered his third grade teacher, Eva Hepp, while chatting with former classmates. "I remember she was my second," he added uncertainly. What was certain was that Miss Hepp was in full command of her classroom at all times.

"She drew the line," he said, "and you knew it. She had full control. I didn't say she could, I said she DID."

Bud was mystified that the top floor of his alma mater had apparently shrunk. After comparing notes, he concluded that a partition between the library and a room on the east side of the building didn't exist when he studied his books in the third floor room. "And we had a stage," he recalled. "I guess that's gone."

Sharon Hiatt was another who had attended classes in the building. "There is no way I would trade attending a small school for a big school," she firmly stated. Back when her classes were in session, the school basketball team missed going to regional matches by just a few points. Gladys Meyers, her first grade teacher, passed away just a few days before the Scotia class reunion. Sharon described her, as being "... very kind never equalled at Scotia High," she recalled. The football team that year never scored a point.

When the class of 1939 was introduced, former teacher Charles Ebmeier made a few remarks to his former students. "I'm glad to see you learned your lessons well," he said. "I told all of you never to marry a fence post, and not a one of you did."

He recalled pep sessions for school annual sales. Back then, yearbooks cost $1.50.

Ebmeier admitted doing a little detective work prior to and during the reunion. He boasted of having found out who put the goat on top of Scotia High and finding the culprit who placed a privy in his office several years ago.

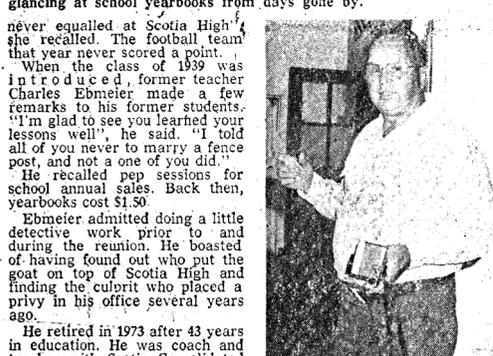

He retired in 1973 after 43 years in education. He was coach and teacher with Scotia Consolidated Schools from 1930-31 and Scotia Superintendent and coach from 1931-42.

Other Teachers present Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haines, both former teachers at Scotia. They met and were married there. Their first child was born in Scotia.

The roll call of classes ended with the year 1959. That was when North Loup and Scotia public schools merged. According to comments made Friday, the merger went comparatively smoothly.

Honors given Saturday went to:

- the oldest male Scotia

Council Makes Second Offer On Airfield Sale

The Ord City Council drew up a second offer on the sale of Sharp Field during their meeting in City Hall Monday night. Terms of the agreement, to be submitted to Valley County Supervisors, are that the county take control of the field sans a reversion clause.

That clause was included in a contract submitted earlier but rejected by County Dads. The reversion clause states the property, Sharp Field, will revert back to the City should the County not maintain the airfield or a similar facility within a five mile radius of the present Sharp Field location.

At a meeting July 31 in the courthouse here, Supervisors rejected that agreement on a 3-2 vote. According to those present during that session, the reversion clause was the main reason for the rejection.

Supervisors will likely vote on the city's latest offer when they meet again August 14 in the Valley County Courthouse in Ord.

Sharp Field, located on the northwest edge of town is named for Evelyn Sharp. A 1937 Ord High graduate, she was the youngest girl in the United States to earn a transport license to fly a plane. She was killed on take off from a Pennsylvania airport in 1944.

John Condon of Olsson and Associates, from Lincoln, presented plans on the pending sewerage treatment plant improvement. Environmental Protection Agency standards forced the city to plan expansion and up-grading of the facility on the north edge of town. Planned plant improvements will include adding two lagoons and improving existing facilities.

According to Condon, construction will cost an estimated $1.1 million. Of this amount, the city will pay $136,750. The rest will come from state and federal funding sources.

Plans approved by the council Monday will go to the EPA for their approval. Condon speculated construction could start next Spring. "If," he said, "EPA acts in a timely manner."

A charge in EPA regulations forced the city to add a sewer use ordinance and a user charge ordinance for the plant. This will cost an additional $2,250 according to the Olsson spokesman. The city will pay $280 of this with various other agencies picking up the rest of the tab.

Another District John Wozab and Bob Moyer petitioned in another paving district during the council meeting. They presented a document signed by two-thirds of the property owners on N Street from 17th to 18th Street. The new district was given the official designation 1979-13.

Both men asked the council if paving on '79-13 could be done this summer. City officials weren't sure.

Steve and Jane Vech gave the city an easement for constructing a drainage system on property in the Sunrise Addition, in east Ord. The easement contained the provision that Vech not be assessed for the improvements.

Ord Mayor Richard Kowbal announced a just received grant involving gasoline. Full details on that story are elsewhere in this issue of the Quiz.

The Council adopted a community forestry plan submitted by Doak Nickerson. It was drawn up by Nickerson, a Lower Loup Natural Resources District forester, and the municipal tree board. Tree board members are Howard Paulsen, chairman; Robert Severson, Ed Bosworth, Hilding Pearson, Marvin Witherwax, and Dave Ender.

The plan controls what types and where trees may be planted along the city right-of-way, ac-ording to councilman Verlin Smith. This will prevent trees being planted where they could grow into power lines, etc.

The City Planning Commission submitted a report suggesting:

- better access to the Riverview Industrial Park in east Ord, and
- opening up tenth street near Kittle's trailer court. City Attorney Greg Jensen said he would write Al Kittle a letter giving him 60 days notice.

Councilman C. J. Klimke sent a note saying City Power Board members were being paid $100 a quarter. A city ordinance, according to Klimke, states they shall serve without pay. After discussion, the council decided to amend the ordinance.

Power Problems

The council voted to pay Worthington's plan submitted by Doak Nickerson. It was drawn up by Nickerson, a Lower Loup Natural Resources District forester, and the municipal tree board. Tree board members are Howard Paulsen, chairman; Robert Severson, Ed Bosworth, Hilding Pearson, Marvin Witherwax, and Dave Ender.

Ericson Shell Game Has Center Stage

An estimated 300 turtles were entered in the Sandhills Shell Game at the turtle races in Erickson Sunday. The Hungry Horse Saloon again sponsored what has become an annual event.

According to Jim Day, Hungry Horse owner, this year's race had added attractions. These included a hot air balloon landing near the turtle race track, the town's baseball field.

Entrants scurrying over the circular raceway included hardshells ranging from a small painted turtle to some snappers weighing in excess of 40 pounds.

Perhaps the most impressive was the 45 pound snapper owned by Dr. Veryl Walstrom of Verdigris. Named Big Boy, his entrant coolly regarded other smaller competitors in the center ring as if contemplating a mid-day snack.

Alas, what Big Boy had in size he lacked in speed. A smaller and faster turtle crossed the circular chalk finish line long before Big Boy ambled from the center ring.

Impressive as he was, Big Boy isn't the biggest of Doc's turtles. His biggest member of the hardshell racing team tips the scales at an impressive 60 pounds. The Verdigris in a sprint and (2) is a terrapin eligible to compete with turtles, or are terrapins in a distinct class.

Official Ruling

After a few seconds meditation, race official, Jim Day, ruled a terrapin could take part as a turtle.

At the conclusion of the race, prizes were awarded turtle contestants in each of ten classes along with an over-all championship trophy. Named best dressed turtle was an entrant by Lisa Walstrom of Verdigris.

Lisa's entry had a toy monkey on the turtle's back.

Dr. Veryl Walstrom and his daughter, Julie, entered the 40 plus pound snapper Big Boy in the turtle race. He and other turtles were placed in the center of a large circle. The first turtle to cross the chalk line was declared the winner. This year there were ten species and age divisions in the turtle race at Erickson.

Temperatures Heat Up; Sun and Wind Combine

Mother Nature fooled forecasters again, this past week, pluming the heat on as temperatures soared and southerly winds had irrigators going full blast. It was the longest consecutive hot spell of the summer, thus far.

A cool front, trying to push down from the north, was expected to make its way into Central Nebraska about mid-week, possibly triggering showers and cooling things off toward the latter part of the week.

At the end of July rainfall in Ord was slightly ahead of normal, by Quiz records, with 3.55 inches of moisture in July bringing the 1979 total accumulation to 18.33 inches. Average high temperature for July was 85.4 and average low was 62.1 for a 73.75 degree median for the month.

The firm will handle farm and ranch sales along with those of homes. Peterson revealed plans to include farm management in his business sometime in the future.

Fire and Rescue

August 6 - Fire truck called to LeRoy Noll farm three miles east of Ord on Springdale road. Workers were using a welding torch on a bin filled with corn. Estimated $300 fire damage to bin and $500 loss of corn, according to Ord Firechief Ivan Sorenson.

August 4 - Ambulance called to 8th and P Streets in east Ord. A 1973 pickup Chevrolet pickup driven by Nick Pelster landed upside down. Passengers Kyle Novosad and Scott Novosad taken to Valley County Hospital. Pelster and passenger, Mike Bartlett were unharmed. The Novosads were treated and released.

August 3 - Ambulance called to John Ryschon farm five miles south of Ord. Daughter Jennifer Ryschon was watching father work in the field. She wandered too near the road, Mrs. Ryschon said, and was hit by a passing motorist. Jennifer was thrown 30 feet. She was taken to Valley County Hospital, kept overnight for observation and released the next day.

August 2 - Ambulance called to Parkview Village. James Grabowski, taken to Valley County Hospital and released Saturday.

Housing in Ord Extremely Tight

A survey unveiled Thursday revealed Ord has a tight housing situation. Rick Noyes of Region 25 offices, told Ord Chamber of Commerce members that of the 1,135 housing units now in Ord, less than one percent are vacant.

The study was started last May. Noyes stated, and completed earlier this month. He praised the Ord Housing Authority, the Ord Chamber of Commerce, the municipal Planning Commission and the Nebraska Community Improvement Program for their assistance.

Figures used in the report stop at 1978 data.

The report further shows that: - 42 percent of all housing units in Ord are occupied by senior citizens. Noyes defined these as persons 60 years of age or older.

- 47 percent of all housing units in Ord are occupied by smaller families, of four or fewer members.

- About 10 percent of all housing units in Ord are occupied by large families of five or more persons.

- About 91 percent of all housing units in Ord are owner occupied.

The remaining 9 percent are rental units.

Noyes stated the report could help guide future decisions involving living quarters in Ord.

During the Chamber meeting Thursday, Guy Drake, area manager, discussed the possibility of starting a Date Carnegie course in Ord sometime in the future.

Card of Thanks

It means so much to have such kind friends, relatives and neighbors. Many thanks to all of you for your thoughts, prayers and kind deeds during my stay in the Good Samaritan hospital and since I've been home. We've appreciated your cards, letters, food, flowers, visits and phone calls. A special thanks to the neighbors who have helped out.

It's comforting to know so many care. God bless you all.
John Kokes

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to our relatives and friends who attended our Mass and dance for our Silver Wedding Anniversary. Your presence helped make it the happy occasion it was.

Thank you for the beautiful cards, gifts and best wishes!

A special thanks to Father Kaminski for offering the Mass and our wonderful children for planning the occasion.

May God bless all of you.

Suminski Rites Held Saturday

Martha Z. Suminski, the eldest daughter of John and Mary Rankowski Zulkoski, was born July 29, 1886 in the state of Missouri, and died August 1, 1979 at St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island at the age of 93. She had been hospitalized prior to this for one week in Valley County Hospital and for two weeks in Grand Island.

At an early age she came with her parents to Valley County and attended rural school. On Feb. 18, 1903, she was united in marriage to Polish Suminski at Elyria. After marriage, they made their home on a farm near Elyria until 1944 when they retired and moved to Ord. For the past six years, she had been a resident of the Ord Rest Home. She was a member of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church as well as the Altar Society.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Steve (Barbara) Papiernik and Mrs. Henry (Martha) Janus, both of Ord, and Mrs. John (Gertrude) Durand, Burwell; two sons, Bernard Gresham, Oregon and Leonard Ord; 22 grandchildren; 29 great grandchildren; five great, great grandchildren; two brothers, Bill Zulkoski, Burwell, and Casper in California; and three sisters, Mrs. Tillie Heaps, Denver, CO, Mrs. Emma Zulkoski, Taylorville, IL, and Mrs. Teresa Guzikowski, Grand Island. Preceding her in death were her parents, husband and two sons, six brothers and two sisters.

Rites In California

Mrs. Edna D. McGee, 81, of Long Beach, CA, died July 30, 1979 at a Convalescent Center in Santa Ana, CA.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at Westminster Park in Westminster, CA, with Pastor Mark Bubeck officiating.

Mrs. McGee was born May 23, 1898 in Valley County, the daughter of Bert and Elsie Jensen Hansen. On March 11, 1916, she married Roy N. McGee at North Loup. For 27 years they farmed in the Davis Creek community south of Ord. In 1943 they moved to Long Beach, CA where Mr. McGee worked at the Richfield Oil Refinery until his retirement.

Mrs. McGee was a member of the First Baptist Church in downtown Long Beach.

Scotia Services For June Horner

Funeral services for June A. Horner were held on Saturday, August 4, 1979 at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church with Rev. Stanley Gorak officiating. Mrs. Nancy Vogeler sang, "Just A Closer Walk With Thee," "Amazing Grace" and "Precious Lord, Take My Hand" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Audrey Novosad. Pallbearers were grandsons, Richard Janus, Ken Durand, Charles Kusek, Adrian Kusek, Mike Zulkoski, and Mark Suminski. Burial was in the Ord Catholic Cemetery. Rosary was recited Friday at 8 p.m. at the Ord Memorial Chapel.

Funeral services for June A. Horner were held on Saturday, August 4, 1979 at 2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Scotia. Officiating was Rev. A. K. Saul with Margaret Williams as organist and Melva Shoemaker singing "How Great Thou Art" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere". Serving as pallbearers were Darrell Vance, Robert Sixel, Albert Anthony, Warren Malmstrom. Burial was in Mount Hope Cemetery in Scotia with Ord Memorial Chapel in charge of arrangements.

June Ann Horner was born on October 27, 1947 in Grand Island to Frank and Evelyn Swanson Heubner, and died August 2, 1979 at Ord, at the age of 31.

June was raised in the Scotia area and attended Glendale grade school and North Loup-Scotia High School, graduating in 1965. She was united in marriage to Ralph Horner on October 9, 1965 in Scotia. They lived in Oklahoma for one year before moving to Lincoln and then back to the Scotia area. June worked as an assistant cook at the North Loup-Scotia Elementary School. She was a member of the United Methodist Church, Woman's Club, Community Club, Legion Auxiliary, and the Merry Mother's Club, all of Scotia.

Survivors include her husband, Ralph of Scotia; three sons, Paul, Gary, and Jeffrey, all at home in Scotia; her parents, Frank and Evelyn Heubner; grandmother, Marguerite Swanson; one sister, Janice Peterson, and one brother, Jerry Heubner, all of Scotia. Memorials may be given to the United Methodist Church of Scotia.

Arcadia Woman Dies at Age 89

Bessie Alice Murray, the daughter of J. A. and Elizabeth Shanks Johnson, was born March 17, 1890 at Constock, and died August 5, 1979 at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Loup City, at the age of 89. She was a resident of Rose Lane Nursing Home in Loup City.

At an early age she moved with her parents to North Platte where she attended public school. In her later teens she was employed and worked in the home of Buffalo Bill. On June 15, 1910, she was united in marriage to Fred Murray at Paplan.

After marriage they made their home on a farm in Custer County, which Mr. Johnson's father had taken as a homestead. They made their home there until 1918 when they moved to a farm in Valley County west of Arcadia and then into town later.

She was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Arcadia and also the American Legion Auxiliary.

Survivors include three sons: Donald of Arcadia, Gerald of Ord and Fred Jr., of Portland, OR; one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Greenland of Lincoln; five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, August 8, 1979 at 10 a.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Arcadia with Rev. Edmund Placek officiating. Mrs. Rae Jean Gogan was the organist. Pallbearers were Allen Masters, Doug Holcomb, Byron Pester, Raymond Owens, Robert Sestak, Marvin Greenland. Interment was at Lee Park Catholic Cemetery.

Rosary was recited Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Ord Memorial Chapel.

Ex-Valley COUNTIAN Dies

John B. Danczak, 80, of Menlo Park, CA died July 30, 1979 after being hospitalized for several weeks.

Services were Thursday, August 2 at St. Dennis Church in Menlo Park with Father Duggan officiating. Burial was at Alta Mesa Cemetery in Palo Alto, CA.

Rosary was recited Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. at the Johnson Colonial Mortuary in Menlo Park.

Mr. Danczak was born May 6, 1899 at Elyria to Lawrence and Veronica (Kocemba) Danczak. Later they moved to a farm north of Loup City where he attended school. He also farmed a few years near Arcadia. He later moved to California where he worked in the Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard as a machinist in Vallejo until his retirement.

He married Luella Martin of California in 1940, and ten years later they moved to Menlo Park. Mrs. Danczak died January 12, 1978.

Survivors include a sister, Anna Goshorn of Omaha; two brothers, Louis of Omaha, Bolish of Loup City, and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, wife, five sisters, one half-sister and four brothers.

New Teachers at North Loup-Scotia

are both avid sports fans.

Jim graduated from the University of Nebraska with a major in Elementary Education in 1972 and completed his student teaching at the elementary level with the Lincoln Public Schools. He has been teaching in the Ord Public Schools at Constock as an elementary teacher for the last three years.

Receiving her Bachelor of Science Degree in August from the University of Nebraska will be Vickie Huskey of Lincoln. In the fall she will join the staff at NLS teaching German and Social Studies.

Vickie spent the summer of 1974 as a Foreign Exchange Student in Germany. She is also active in church related groups and has been a campfire leader. Her husband, Greg will also be a newcomer to the NLS faculty, teaching Biology and Science.

Greg Huskey of Lincoln will be teaching Biology and Science at the NLS Schools this fall. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Nebraska in 1976.

Greg has taught the past two years in Prague, NE where he coached volleyball and girls basketball. He has been active with youth church groups and summer recreational baseball programs.

Gail Dougherty

Teaching P.E. and English for the 79-80 school term at NLS-High School will be Carolyn Green from Gothenburg. She received her Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Nebraska in May.

Father of Sherman Dam Dies Saturday

Peter I. Badura, 82, of Ashton died Saturday at a Loup City Hospital. He was instrumental in bringing the Sherman Dam to reality. Services were Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at St. Francis Catholic Church in Ashton, with the Rev. Andrew Gonda officiating. Burial was in the Ashton Cemetery.

Peter Badura was born May 20, 1897, at Ashton, the son of Frank X. and Eleanor Badura. He received his education and grew up in Ashton. He later attended Creighton University in Omaha.

On June 13, 1920, he married Anna Kwiatkowski at Ashton. Mr. Badura was associated with his father and brother in operating Badura General Store. He later was president of the Ashton State Bank, a position he held at the time of his death.

He was a member of St. Francis parish, the Knights of Columbus, the Ashton School Board and was instrumental in the construction of Ashton public schools. He was past president of the Farwell Irrigation District and the Loup Basin Irrigation District.

City Council

Three years ago, the council decided not to go along with his idea.

After debating the issue, the council made the $89,490 payment. That is most — but not all — of what is owed on a generator overhaul, according to City Utilities Commissioner Gene Baugh.

City Dads chopped a $2,500 appropriation marked for the municipal Golf Board from the city's 1979-80 budget. According to a report read Monday night, the board has over $8,000 in funds now available.

That report sparked debate on what should or should not be done with the city owned links. According to councilmen, the Golf Board hasn't been holding regular scheduled meetings as prescribed by municipal ordinances.

Mayor Richard Rowbal pledged to look into the situation. The funds of $2,500 from the Golf Board were to have come from the city budget approved Monday night. The new budget totals $1,158,714. According to a legal notice in the July 27, 1978 Quizz, last year's budget just ended, was $833,536, $325,178 below the just adopted budget.

No one appeared in opposition to or to support the 1979-80 municipal spending plan.

Rick Estucillo was issued an electrician's license. The council met at 7:30 p.m. and adjourned at 11:25 p.m. Council members C. J. Klimek and Charlene Lola were absent.

Police Report

August 6 — The glass in a gas pump and truck headlight at Carl's Standard Service, 148 South 15th, were broken. Damage estimated at $34.

August 4 — A pickup skidded 193 feet before landing upside down at 8th and P. Nick Pelster of Walnut Creek, CA was going south on 8th Street when he went over the railroad tracks and lost control of the 1973 Chevrolet pickup truck.

Kyle Novosad and Scott Novosad, both passengers, were taken to Valley County Hospital for observation.

Another passenger, Mike Bartlett of Littleton, CO and Pelster escaped injury. Damage was estimated at over $250.

Pelster was charged with careless driving.

Fifty Changing Years

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

By M. M. Van Kirk, Director of Information

The magnitude of the revolution that has occurred in agricultural practices and land use in Nebraska over the last 50 years needs to be reviewed and contemplated by those who are inclined to become discouraged about the state's agricultural future.

Recently the Nebraska Water Resources Center of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, published such a review in illustrated form entitled, "Changing Fields, Agricultural Land Use Changes in Nebraska, 1925-1974." Older farmers whose careers spanned the period would enjoy the review, recalling their personal participation in those changes.

Youthful farmers could well get a copy to renew their outlook and gain a better understanding of why their middle-aged farmer-fathers maintain a steady, optimistic attitude about problems of the present.

The overview of the 1925-74 period notes that four major developments occurred which significantly influenced agricultural land use change in our state: 1. the introduction of corn and sorghum hybrids; 2. a revolution in mechanization; 3. a spectacular growth in the utilization of fertilizers; and 4. the rapid spread of irrigation throughout the state.

In 1925 most of the farming was done by horsepower and most cropland acres were devoted to two basic crops — dryland corn and wheat. Dryland corn was produced on approximately 55 percent of the cropland then. Wheat was produced on about 20 percent of the cropland acres, and this percentage has remained surprisingly stable.

By 1974, irrigated corn average had increased to more than 4 million acres and dryland corn was down to around 12 million acres. Irrigation has stabilized the state's corn production at high levels whereas it had once fluctuated widely with climatic conditions. In the notorious drought years of 1934 and 1936, state corn production dipped to as little as 20 million bushels. By comparison, the severe drought year of 1974 saw the state's corn growers produce around 400 million bushels, thanks to irrigation development.

Even average dryland corn yields are vastly superior to the 20 to 25 bushel per acre averages of the 1920's. With modern technologies, dryland corn averages regularly go to 80 and 90 bushels per acre in good years. Average yields of irrigated corn have increased from the 50-60 bushels per acre of the early 1950's to 110-120 bushels per acre in recent years. The state's winter wheat average is now more than 30 bushels per acre as compared to the 15 to 20 bushel average considered good in the 1920's.

Two major crop developments have taken place since the mid-1950's in the form of sorghum and soybean production. While sorghum had been grown in parts of Nebraska in the 1930's, it was not until the 1950's that it first caught on, mainly in the southwestern and south-central portions of the state. By 1965 sorghum had become a dominant crop in southeastern Nebraska where it represents from 40 to 60 percent of the total cropland acreage in many counties.

There were no soybeans in Nebraska in 1925 and the spectacular rise in soybean acreage did not begin until around 1955, primarily in the dryland corn counties of eastern Nebraska. In many eastern and southeastern Nebraska counties, soybeans now represent 20 to as much as 40 percent of the total cropland acreage. In non-irrigated areas, soybeans and sorghum have proved themselves as cash crops and lifesavers in years of short moisture.

The authors of "Changing Fields" conclude with this comment: "Future land use changes will continue to reflect both the impact of technology and response to federal programs. It is important that we continue to monitor this change so that decisions regarding the utilization of our natural resources will occur with a knowledge and understanding of current, as well as historic, land use."

K-N is offering a 10% pre-season discount on all gas furnaces purchased during the summer. And there are many other good reasons to buy!

New gas furnaces offer more dependability and more total comfort than your old gas furnace ever could. Because they're built better.

They use more efficient burners, energy-saving pilotless ignition and a new heat exchanger/blower system that filters and humidifies while it quietly circulates the air.

There's a new automatic flue damper and heavier insulation, too. And, since new gas furnaces are smaller and more compact, you and your family will have more room for living.

The 1979 Summer Growers Directory, published by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association is now available at the Valley County Extension Office. Wheat producers can eliminate one variable — good seed — by selecting a certified seed wheat supplier from the directory. Certified seed is of a variety with proven performance adapted to the area where it will be planted, variety pure and as free as possible from seeds of weeds or other crop seeds.

Stable and House Fly Control Tips To Give Cattle Relief
Bob Roselle, Extension Entomologist, says that cattle bunched up in a breezy area, stamping, switching their tails and throwing their heads around are familiar signs of annoyance from flies during the summer season.

Cattle in pastures and ranges are pestered primarily by horn flies, stable flies which bite and suck blood, and houseflies, which are annoying, but do not bite. Severe feeding by stable flies is particularly hard on cattle. These flies inflict painful bites, usually on the legs, and draw blood. This causes loss of gain; cattle group up to avoid flies, and refuse to feed normally, causing significant weight losses. Thus, flies are one of the most important cattle pests.

Horn flies are smaller than stable flies or houseflies, and ordinarily congregate on the backs and shoulders of cattle. Horn flies can be controlled with an approved insecticide, usually applied through a backcrubber.

Insecticides must be considered only a supplement to fly control in the case of houseflies and stable flies. Sanitation is more important; these two types of flies breed in almost any decaying vegetable materials — straw manure, spilled feed and expired silage. These materials must be cleaned up and spread on fields, or mounded weekly if control is to be successful.

While chemicals are secondary, they are important, such as mists or fogs of Dibrom or Vapona for cattle, or residuals on fences, walls and vegetation around lots, using Rabon or Cygon. Both methods are good, but last only a short time.

Insecticides must be used with

Lower Loup Natural Resources District

One of the most important tools to obtain maximum agricultural production unfortunately receives the least attention, that being the knowledge of soils, and more importantly, the soil types located in a field.

In order that our producers have the best information available, the Natural Resources District, counties, and the Soil Conservation Service are cooperating on updating standard soil surveys in Nebraska.

We have surveys underway in Rock, Platte, Valley, and Wheeler Counties in this NRD. Future plans call for surveys to begin in Sherman, Greeley, Garfield, and Loup Counties within the next two years.

Soil surveys are completed and published in Howard, Boone, Nance, and Buffalo Counties. The Custer County field work is completed and is being readied for publication.

The field work involved is a time-consuming process of probing, testing, and sampling to determine depth, texture, and soil condition.

Soil survey information is published by the federal government in a soft bound booklet that contains a variety of information that can be used by landowners and operators, real estate interests, engineers, health officials, and counties.

The publication contains a detailed description of every soil in the county, the survey area. The irrigated and dry land crop capability is described, as well as best management practices for production. Average per-acre yields are provided for alfalfa, corn, sorghum, and wheat under different levels of management.

A section is included on engineering classification that can be used for road building and building sites. Such pertinent information on soil depth, density, granular structure, liquid limit, and plasticity are provided to aid in using different soil type in construction.

The agricultural producer can find a world of information on how different soils will react in conjunction with different conservation practices applied. For instance, an irrigator can determine the water-holding capacity for effective irrigation water scheduling. A livestock operation can program range in a permanent and deferred grazing into his operation utilizing the productivity of different soil types.

Knowledge of soils is particularly valuable in selecting the type of mechanical conservation practices suited for different soil types.

The first map in each publication is a general soils map. It is not very detailed but gives the trained eye an indication of drainage and patterns and predominate soil types.

The next reference is index maps of the detailed soil type maps found in the preceding pages.

The following maps are detailed soil delineation maps. One fold-out page covers about 8 sections. One such section in a publication contains 23 different types of soil while another section of bottom ground has only three different soil types.

Soil surveys provide all who are interested in agriculture and construction a valuable tool that will aid in developing long-lasting structures and bountiful agricultural production.

If your county has a completed soil survey, ask the Soil Conservation Service for a free copy and use it. You won't be sorry. If your county does not yet have a published survey, watch for availability dates so that you may take advantage of the valuable information provided.

great caution in dairies to avoid contamination of milk. Here, sanitation is an absolute must to hold fly numbers down.

European Corn Borer

Second brood moths will be flying soon, if not some already are out. There are many half-grown first brood larvae still working, so as usual there will be a long period of second brood egg laying activity. The second brood is famous for egg laying from late July until September, with a peak of egg laying about mid-August. There is no reliable guide for control of second brood, except that adults are attracted to late developing corn. Seed producers should scout fields frequently, and probably apply control measures if egg masses are found on 25% of the plants. The most effective method researched by Dr. John Witkowski in 1978 was an application of granules at 25% egg hatch on August 14, and a second treatment in four days; the second best was a single treatment at 25% egg hatch on August 14. In any case, do not expect much more than 50% control of second brood.

Crop Water Use Details

The following crop water use data is supplied by the Lower Loup Natural Resources District and is published as a public service by the Ord Quiz.

For the week of July 30 through August 5, crop water use for alfalfa under full cover was 1.80 inches; crop water use for corn was 1.70 inches.

Next week's forecasted crop water use for the week of August 6 through August 12 is estimated to be: 1.9 inches for alfalfa under full cover; 1.9 inches for corn. Producers please note: Immediately after cutting, water use for alfalfa will be 50% of the figure given; after 10 days, water use will be 75%. At 20 days after cutting, water use is the figure given.

Horse Judging Team Bound for Nationals

The Valley County Horse Judging team, which placed second at the State 4-H Horse Judging contest held during the State 4-H Horse Exposition in July at Fonner Park, will be competing in national competition the end of this week.

Team members Sharon Kriewald, Ron Richards, Jesse Trotter, and Terina Trotter will compete in the 1979 American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Championship Judging Contest on Friday, August 10 at Tulsa, Oklahoma. The contest will consist of four halter classes and four performance classes including Bridle Path Hack (Hunt Seat), Western Riding, Reining, and Western Pleasure. Oral reasons will be given on four of the classes.

While at Tulsa, the team will be able to watch the AQHA World Championship Show which will be going on Friday and Saturday, August 10 and 11.

Themes Stated

Themes for the two North Loup Popcorn Days parades were announced this week.

"Future Years" is the theme for the main parade which will be held Wednesday, August 29, starting at 2 p.m. The judging will begin at 1 p.m. Prizes will be awarded in five different categories with a first and second place in each. A Grand Prize will be selected from all the floats.

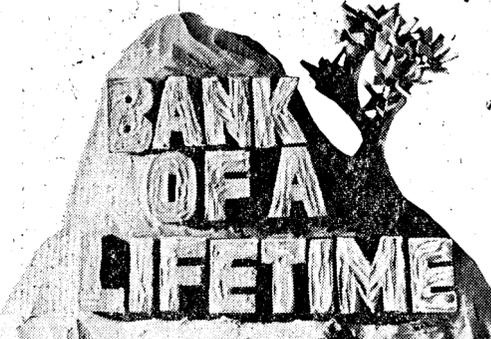

The juvenile parade will be held the previous evening, Aug. 28, at 7 p.m. Its theme will be "Super Heroes".

Something Different

We Get Letters

My mail is so exciting, I do have such inspiring friends. Today for example the mailman brought a long complimentary letter from Dot Kokes Speidel, a favorite young friend and a choice Ord product, daughter of the late Helen and Ed Kokes.

Dot was mentioning all the visits-to-the-kitchen column that I wrote, and the QUIZ cookbook calendars, and notes that the current popularity of 1930 items does not seem to include the sparse recipes that we all worked with in Depression days.

Dot writes admirably of the Ord arts council and the fine programs it has already achieved. She feels that the possibilities for good films, folk arts and crafts, ethnic specialties, "maybe even a wall mural" are well worth our while.

I am only sorry the community programs began about the time I left Ord to spend a great deal of my time in San Diego, so I had nothing to do with helping this work progress in our valley.

Dot's husband, Glen Speidel, has had a notable career in Minneapolis. He was night editor of the Minneapolis STAR for years and has turned down the managing editor job several times as "too time-consuming." He has been quoted in TIME magazine more than once, that distinguished magazine.

It was great to hear from the Speidels. It was also fun to hear from an Omaha couple, Jessie and Deke Bryant; a dear pair who have recently moved into an apartment at 801 South 52nd St., which is a refuge for older Masons and Eastern Stars. They like it there.

Deke's career in Omaha was as a cartoonist on the World-Herald. He is now retired, and Jessie has also quit the schoolroom, a life she enjoyed for a good many years. She was a dedicated teacher.

At Christmas time I particularly love to hear from this little Irish couple, for Deke always dreams up a catchy picture to put on a postcard or letterhead; then Jessie tints it (I think). Such fun, it's always clever.

The Manor is a quiet place accepting only ambulatory residents and providing for all their wants so that they do not need to shop elsewhere.

I am always glad to hear from Kerry and Carol, but he has informed me that I have Carol's daughters all mixed up.

Sheri is the recent NU graduate and Ak-Sar-Ben countess; Shannon is the one in Lincoln. Susie I believe is in Omaha.

Sorry, Carol, but that's what you get for having three such attractive daughters and giving them such pretty names! Girls, I do apologize.

Too Early To Determine Success Of Gas Availability Information Program

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
Lincoln — It is too early to get a reading on the success of a program designed to give the traveling public information on gasoline availability in Nebraska, Larry Bare, acting director of the state Department of Economic Development, said recently.

Toll-free lines will remain open at least through the Labor Day weekend to help motorists learn what the gas supply situation is in the Cornhusker State.

At this writing, advertisements were being prepared for placement in areas around the country described by Bare as "major markets" for Nebraska. Those ads will run in newspapers in a number of cities, including Chicago, Cheyenne, Des Moines, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Denver, San Diego and Los Angeles.

Gov. Charles Thone recently announced establishment of the toll-free system.

Asked how it was working out, Bare said he had not received a telephone bill and couldn't say. He noted the phones are not equipped with a meter.

One encouraging note for motorists, according to Bare, is that the fuel supply situation has brightened in that it is stabilizing. Drivers in Nebraska this month should find fuel readily available, Bare says.

He said he also expects the number of toll-free calls the state will field will probably decline because the national media hasn't been devoting as much attention to the fuel problem as it did earlier this summer.

For those who want the toll-free numbers, either for their own use or for others, here they are:

Out side Nebraska: 800-228-4307; inside Nebraska: 800-742-7595; in Lincoln: 477-9292; in Omaha: 553-5000.

Bill Palmer, director of the state Energy Office, said gasoline supplies in August will be considerably improved over what they were in July. He added diesel fuel allocations will be down but that he expects no serious shortages.

According to Palmer, Nebraska receives 93.9 percent of the gasoline allocation it received last August. The diesel fuel allocation will be 89 percent of what it was in August 1978.

Palmer said Nebraska drivers have reduced their traveling considerably and "as long as they don't go back to their old ways, there should be no problem."

Welfare Department Reorganized
The state Welfare Department is in the midst of a major reorganization that included abolishment of 18 upper- and middle-level jobs.

Department Director John Knight said his objective is to improve coordination and delivery of department services. He also noted the reorganization will save approximately $250,000 annually.

In the revamping, six regional directorships will be eliminated. Knight said that will make workers directly accountable to the central office in Lincoln, no matter where the employees live.

Four traveling teams will be organized to call on county welfare officials to give technical assistance. Those teams are expected to be stationed in Lincoln, Norfolk, North Platte and Grand Island. There will also be two teams assigned permanently to Douglas and Lancaster counties.

The reorganization will give to county welfare officials more of a say about the eligibility of those applying for welfare programs.

Fifty-eight employees will be notified their jobs have been eliminated or changed, but those employees will have first crack at 40 new jobs created by the reorganization.

David Lookingbill of the state Merit System said length of service and quality of work will be considered in the competition for the jobs. A worker who does not qualify for a job at his current level could, however, compete for a job in the department that pays less, Lookingbill said.

He also noted those fired will have priority in future department hiring.

Knight acknowledged the shake-up caused some morale problems and said he expects this to continue for a period until the reorganization has had a chance to function.

Evaluation Board Acts
The state Board of Equalization and Assessment has unanimously approved proposals they said should result in more uniform and thus more equitable property tax assessments across the state.

After a lengthy series of hearings and after taking voluminous amounts of testimony, the board adopted a plan designed to have property assessed at about 30 percent of actual value. Agricultural land would be assessed 20 percent higher than the state's 1976 land valuation manual.

The board also approved, despite protests from railroads, raising the valuation of railroad properties to more than $191 million, an increase of more than 82 percent over 1976.

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, a member of the board, said all of the board's actions were made after it had received better and more data than any other board in history.

He praised the state Revenue Department for the "excellent job" it did in compiling the facts and figures on which the board based its judgments.

Gov. Charles Thone, who serves as chairman of the board, said the board attempted to devise methods of assessment that would insure uniformity, as much as possible.

Herrington said, "All in all, I think we are in good shape to

KERRY ON

— short change —

In Omaha, recently, I had several hours to kill while awaiting my car, which I'd left at a downtown garage for a tune-up and warranty check.

With the demise of downtown Omaha as a shopping center, I usually bide my time between the coffee shop in the Hilton Hotel and a bookstore across the street from the Hilton. At times I'll browse through a men's clothing store. And I sometimes wander into a tobacco store in the basement of the hotel — though I guess it's referred to as "the lower level" and not the basement.

A year or so ago I will killing time looking at pens and pipes in the tobacco shop and got to visiting with the manager — a friendly sort of fellow. He soon recognized me from the conversation, that I was from Central Nebraska and mentioned to me that he was from Spalding and his cousin had married a man that worked at the Quiz.

The cousin, as it turned out, was the late Mary Kay Ringlein, wife of Quiz foreman Cletus Ringlein. I relayed the word to Cletus, on my return, that I'd run into "Fritz," who now managed a shop in the Hilton.

So I'm never too startled about who I run into. But, this past trip I was taken by surprise. I had spent an hour or so in the bookstore and realized it was getting close to noon and if I wanted to beat the office workers to lunch, I'd better hurry back to the Hilton.

Awaiting the light so I could cross the street, a wave of office workers from the Federal building nearby crowded me off the curb. As they passed, someone gripped my shoulder very firmly.

"Keeping out of trouble, Kerry?"

I twirled around to look into the grinning face of the U.S. Marshal, Ron Romans. Ron had broken away from his office companions to tell me hello. We had a brief visit on the street corner and Ron good-naturedly related that he still had the job of Marshal, despite political efforts to replace him with a Democrat during the Carter Administration.

My visit with Ron was fresh in mind when I opened Sunday's Lincoln paper and noted a quarter-page article devoted to Ron's job, while Washington politicians continue bantering the nomination of Clive Short through committees.

I'd spoken to Ron of this same thing. He laughed and said, "A friend told me, just the other day, that the Republicans were going to get Carter out of the White House and about the time that happened, Short's appointment would be approved and it would be my own Republicans who would end up outsting me!"

I didn't know what Ron may think of my puns, but as I thought about what he'd said and what may be in the offing, it occurred to me that might just be the Short of it.

Drive Safely — Save Lives

Geranium Joe Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows must of mulled over all week the discussion the Saturday night before, Leonard Moudry, for instance, usual eats whatever's on his plate and tells himself he likes it. He come to the session at the country store Saturday night with more opinions and bad news than Government than he usual offers in a year. What must of cranked him up was Ed and George's views on Government and people working together.

Leonard said he had give some thought to what he expects of his Government, and he figgers it's too much. The big problem is we want security and protection ever step of the way, but we don't want any meddling, and he was of a mind we can't have it both ways. For instance, he went on, we want to be sure the meat we buy is inspected and declared fit to eat by a agency of Government, but we don't want another agency telling us what we can feed our cattle. We go to a fancy eating place and order a prime steak, and we depend on the Government to make sure we don't get a lower grade. But when we're told we got to cut back on cooling and heating to have enough fuel to go around we gripe about Government running our lives.

General speaking, the fellows sided with Leonard. It was Edwin Vancura that said he noted at breakfast that even the grape jelly he spread on his biscuits was rated Grade A by USDA. The water we drink, the schools we send our children to, the electricity we can't get along without is all provided under some kind of Government control, he said, but when we're told we can save lives and fuel by driving no more than 55, we say Uncle Sam has gone too far. Even the little dab of savings we put aside is protected, like the adds, say, "by a agency of our federal Government," there is two sides to this picture. Having declared, and we got to look at both of them.

Speaking of going too far, Ed said this is what the Environmental Protection Agency is doing, and gripes of all the local Governments in the country don't have anything to do with it. EPA. He said his little town has been trying for 11 years to find out what kind of waste treatment the agency wants. Ever time the plans get drawn, the mayor said, down come new guidelines to meet, and you got to do the whole thing over in the meantime. EPA says the treatment plant the town is using ain't doing the job and has to be shut down. Ed said all this appears to be another OSIA case where the agency loses sight of its job and spends all its effort justifying itself.

Practical speaking, reported George, it cost us nearly $5 billion a year to run all these regulating agencies, and he said he'd have to go with Ed that we could put some of that money to better use. He noted that less control, not more now is being tried on the oil industry, but the jury is still out on who'll get what out of the change.

Your truly,
Geranium Joe

CAROL'S CORNER by Carol Leggett

A DAY IN AUGUST... Did you know there is actually a day set aside in August that is labeled Family Reunion Day?

Anyway, this designated Family Day or Family Reunion Day, whichever you prefer it to be called, will be noted on August 12...

It is not a day for parades or mass gatherings. It is a time to call your own family together around the dinner table of the picnic table.

Or an occasion to telephone family members in other areas of the country.

It can most certainly be an opportunity to renew family ties and to review family history. For families, historically, have been the basic unit of society.

We've all heard doubts as to the continued health of the family unit... some have even termed it obsolete.

This all-important Family Day observance can take on many shapes and forms. Just so long as it brings about a family reunion with the sharing of memories, plans, and hopes, it will be successful.

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: Happy is the family where children heed through love and respect and parents reign through love and regard.

Ordite's Brother Married at Hospital

The third floor waiting room at Josephine General Hospital in Grants Pass, OR, took on a festive atmosphere the evening of July 11 for the wedding of Mary Claire Bradford, 71, and Edgar J. Hollingshead, 82.

Wayne Osborne of Redwood Christian Church performed the ceremony before a small group of relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride, who left her hospital bed only long enough to repeat the wedding vows, was given in marriage by her grandsons, Robert and Richard Metcalf. She wore a white blouse with Chantilly lace insertion and a floor length rose colored skirt.

Attending the couple were Marylou Wood and Jay W. Dixon.

Exchange Student Bound For Brazil

By the time you read this, Miss Sue Bosworth will be on her way to Brazil. The 18 year old Ord High senior, class of '79, will spend one year there under the Rotary Youth Exchange Program.

Being accepted into the program involves a formal application and an interview. "Really," Sue explained, "you have to be accepted twice, once by the sponsoring Rotary District, in her home area and another time by the host district (in the foreign country)."

During her interview in North Platte last January, Sue listed Brazil as her first choice for a host country. Following the interview, she received a letter, saying she had been approved by Rotary District 563 in Nebraska.

The following May notification came stating she was accepted by her host Rotary district in Brazil. Late last month Sue found out her host family would be the Amouiro Amarians. They live in Anapolis, a city of 180,000 people in the central part of the country.

"It's on the plateau, an area just recently developing," Sue said. She compared Brazil's history, geology, and the United States. Discovered within 14 years of each other, both have been settled by multinational groups. "Just like America, Brazil is called the melting pot," she pointed out.

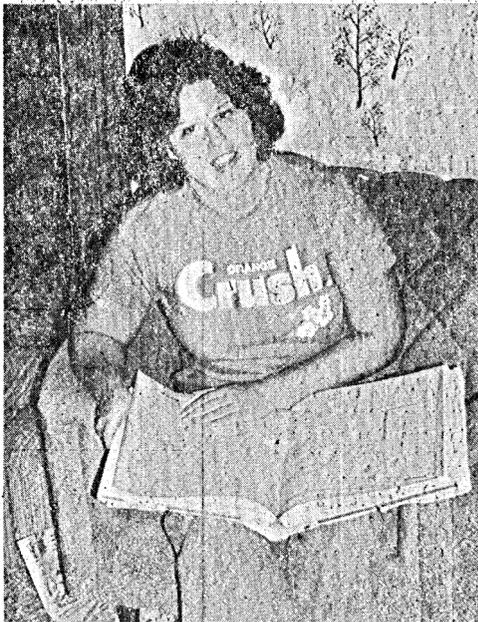

The plateau is roughly equal to the Great Plains, according to Sue. Farming and raising cattle are among the area's main industries. "They supply food for the new capitol," Sue contended.

That capitol, Brazilia, was recently built in the nation's interior as part of a push to develop that part of the country. Highways now under construction will further open up an area that was formerly seldom frequented. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bosworth compared the region to the Great Plains, or called the Great American Desert.

Asked if she had any qualms about her trip, Sue replied, "Well, my main worry is getting through the airports and airlines that will take me there." That chain of events will start August 8 in Omaha. Her schedule calls for airlines running Omaha to Dallas, Dallas to Miami, Miami to Rio de Janeiro, and Rio to Brazilia.

There, she will meet her first host family, the Amarians. They are one of four or five families she will live with during her 12 month stay. "I'm going to attend the Einstein College," she stated, "but it's really a high school."

Plans call for her return to America in June 1980. During the Quiz interview Thursday, Sue revealed she's collecting T-shirts, with an eye toward her trip. "Anything with English words is big down there," she explained.

Sue's Orange Crush T-Shirt is one of many she has collected for her trip. Similarities between her native land and Brazil include the fact that the Portuguese played important roles in discovering each one. Differences between the two include reversed seasons. During June and July Brazilians have their winter. Temperatures dip to the 50's, according to Sue.

Evening of Ballet To Honor Olivers

On Wednesday evening, August 15, Miss Carla Stallings will present an evening of ballet in honor of her grandparents' 60th wedding anniversary. The performance will be in the Ord High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. The general public is invited.

Carla, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oliver of Ord, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stallings of Carmichael, CA, will be in Ord for a week. She is here from New York City where she is a member of the prestigious American Ballet Theatre.

Earlier this summer, Miss Stallings was a participant in the International Ballet Competition held in Jackson, MS. Seventy dancers from all over the world, including Red China, competed for medals in the Olympics of Ballet. She remained in competition through the final round, and was interviewed on NBC's "Today" show.

More recently Miss Stallings has been in Fort Worth, TX where she has been on the summer staff of Southwest Ballet, Inc., both teaching and guest appearing. While there, she danced the part of "Giselle" as well as roles from other ballets.

Miss Stallings will perform variations from "Giselle," "Swan Lake," "Sleeping Beauty," and others. Between dances there will be vocal solos, piano solos, and a flute solo, also dedicated to the Olivers, performed by Larry Stallings and two other daughters, Rachel, 18, and Carolyn, 14.

Freedom House Concert: Freedom House of North Loup will present a national known gospel pianist, Dave Gourley, in concert Aug. 11 at 8 p.m. Everyone is invited to come and join in an evening of family entertainment at the Freedom House, Main Street, North Loup.

School Supply List Revealed

Ord Elementary School personnel have announced the following list of supplies for the '79-'80 school year, with the Quiz Tuesday.

Purpose of this list is to prevent parents from purchasing unnecessary items for their children at the start of the school year. The list, broken down by grade levels, is as follows: Kindergarten - Kindergarten size crayons, 8 to a box, Kleenex, 12 grades 1-2-3 - Colors, at least 12 Kleenex.

Grade 4 - 1 Bic red ball point pen, 1 Big Chief tablet, 2 pencils, 1 box of 8 colored pencils, 1 medium size set of crayons, 1 soft eraser, 1 small box of Kleenex (as needed), 1 very small Elmers glue, 1 12 inch ruler.

Grade 5 & 6 - 1 Bic (red) pen, 2 Bic (black or blue) pens, 2 pencils #2 or #3 lead, 1 Portfolio (9 1/2 x 12) to hold note paper, note paper (wide line) 1 or 2 pads, colors, 1 ruler with inches and millimeters. No spiral notebooks or ring notebooks - PLEASE.

Another Life Saved: Although he did not have surgery, Charles Svoboda learned the value of blood when he received six pints of blood May 21 and 22 at the Valley County Hospital. He had spent two weeks in the hospital in January and one week in May. He is back on the job at his machine shop and thanks the Red Cross Blood donors that furnished the blood that saved his life.

The Bloodmobile will be in Ord on Tuesday, August 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Veterans Club. Anyone in good health between the ages of 17 and 66 can donate. Teenagers and college students are urged to help meet the goal of 150 units. Walk-in donors are also welcome.

The Extension Clubs will do the calling for donors and the Jolly Neighbors Club will serve the dinner for the workers. The American Legion and VFW Auxiliaries will furnish and serve the orange juice, coffee, sandwiches and cookies to the donors. A baby sitter will be furnished. Many new donors will be needed to meet the goal, so plan now to donate and "Save a Life".

The Ord baseball diamond has been selected for the first time at the site for the 1979 Class B Midget State Baseball tournament. The tournament will consist of 7 district champions and the host team Ord. It will be played Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Aug. 11, 12 and 13.

Saturday, four first round games will be played, followed by two semi-final games on Sunday, and a championship game on Monday.

In Legion action, the Ord juniors were eliminated in district play, ending their two year streak of state tourney trips.

Greeley Marathon Results Posted

Results of the Greeley Marathon were released earlier this week. The 6.2 mile event, held Saturday, saw 60 runners leave the starting line. Six were from Ord.

They were Gregg Linke, Dan Klimek, Marcia Mason, Jimmy Linke, Danny Klimek, and Greg Warner.

Larry Curran of Greeley took first in 34:08. Mike O'Brien took second in 35:30.

Mary Torsen of Greeley was the first woman to cross the line in 42 minutes and 9 seconds. Roxie Ericson of Ericson took second in 46:48.

The first two places in each division are:

Dymonettes Finish Season at Arcadia

Darrel Heisners Dymonettes ended their '79 softball season in Arcadia as Sargent whitewashed Ord 21-11 in 5 innings. Ord errors at the wrong times contributed greatly to the losing cause as well as a lack of hitting. The only bright point may have been the two hits by Jane Gogan.

Although the season may be over for most of the team, Jane Gogan, Kelly Scofield, Judy Gotlob, and Anne Smith will play in the all-star game in Burwell August 14.

The teams for the allstar game are divided this way: Ord Dymonettes, Comstock, Arcadia Women, and half of the Taylor girls vs. Sargent, Burwell, Arcadia Girls, and the other half of the Taylor girls.

Jan Goodsell First in Gals' Singles Tourney

Jan Goodsell won first place trophy in the women's over 30 singles tennis tournament last weekend in Norfolk. Jan won 4-6, 6-4, 6-0 to take first place over Linda Uher of Norfolk, formerly of Ord.

Top-seeded in this event of the tourney was Jan Ringler of Norfolk.

Judy Beran of Ashland and formerly of Ord, the Jan Goodsell took fourth place in the women's doubles tourney.

Shrine Super Bowl Will Be Televised August 18

"Shrine Super Bowl", coverage of the 21st Annual Shrine Bowl All-Star Game, will be broadcast August 18 at 3 p.m. in Nebraska Educational Television Network.

The two-hour program will also include videotaped coverage of the Shrine parade through Lincoln on August 11, pre-game

Town Team Stays Alive in Sherman-Howard Tourney

First inning home runs by Troy Witherspoon on the second pitch of the game and later in the inning by Lyle Vancura sparked Ord over Gibbon 5-4.

Strong hitting and pitching held Ord over upset-minded Gibbon as the two home runs and a ground rule double by Jamie Switzer in the first inning were necessary to survive the Gibbon hit picking. Gibbon came back with two home runs in the 4th; one run in the 6th and one in the 7th to fall one point short of Ord when Ord managed to get one run on a Gibbon error in the sixth.

It was the third time this year Ord has defeated Gibbon and so Ord will advance to play the winner of Wolbach and North Loup-Scotia Saturday, August 11 at 8:15 p.m. with the winner playing in the Championship game Sunday, August 12.

Grid Scouts Eye Gilroy Grandson

Proudly gripping a copy of "The Big Eight," a 1979 football forecast magazine, Mrs. Clayton Gilroy of Ord opened the colorful publication to a picture of Rob Stuckey of Lexington — picked as an Offensive Team "Schoolboy Super Star" by editors.

"That's my grandson," she grinned. "He's Katherine's son." Stuckey, a 6-3 senior at Lexington, weighs in at 230 and has a 4.9 speed in the 40-yard dash. A tackle for the Minutemen, Coach Dennis Thorell says of Stuckey, "I think he's an outstanding college prospect" — and Thorell, himself, is a former Cornhusker great.

One college recruiter referred to young Rob as the best prospect in Nebraska. Coach Thorell adds, Stuckey "wants to be big-time college football player and he has all the potential to be one." Rob starts on both offense and defense for the Minutemen and will be watched closely by college recruiters this fall.

The son of the Harold Stuckeys of Lexington, Rob's mother — Katherine — graduated from Ord in 1956 and is the daughter of Lucinda and the late Clayton Gilroy.

activities, half-time activities, and glimpses of the teams' visit to the Shrine Hospital in Minneapolis on August 4.

Lincoln radio personality Don Gill hosts the program, assisted by University of Nebraska assistant football coach Milt Tenopir.

The annual all-star game is staged by The Shrine Bowl of Nebraska, Inc., with all proceeds going to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled and Burned Children in Minneapolis.

The North team, under Head Coach Jed Rood of Columbus High, started training at Midland College in Fremont, Wednesday, August 1, and the South team, under Head Coach Stan Macatis of Omaha Gross High School began training Tuesday, July 31, at Doane College in Crete.

The program is a production of the University of Nebraska Television special projects unit with Tom Howe as producer-director.

All-Star Game Is Scheduled August 14

Sports enthusiasts will see top players from area teams during the Central Eight All-Star game in Burwell, August 14. Game time is 8 p.m. Teams from the towns of Burwell, Arcadia, Sargent, Comstock, Taylor, and Ord will participate.

The Ord Dymonettes voted Friday, August 3 to have Kelly Scofield, Jane Gogan, Judy Gotlob, and Anne Smith represent Ord. Nancy Gogan was named an alternate.

Players from the six towns will be split into North and South squads.

Both Men's Softball Teams Lose in Tourney

Benda's defeated Ord Men's softball team 12-11 in a nick and tuck game in Spalding Tuesday night.

Ord men's softball team kept it close at 3-3 in the first and 8-7 in the second. Ord Men's then went ahead of favored Benda's 9-8 in the fourth. But Benda's was not to be denied, as they scored one run in the fourth to tie the ballgame for the next two innings at 9 all. Benda's then scored three runs in the sixth and held Ord Men to two runs in the 7th to make the final score 12-11.

Benda's was then upset the next evening by Scotia to end their season as well.

Ord Rotarians Hear of Japan

Gary Garnick, Ord's newest Rotarian, was special speaker at Rotary Monday evening. Mr. Garnick was one of six Nebraskans who recently spent six weeks in Japan as a part of Rotary's group study tour program to foster international understanding and goodwill.

Mr. Garnick showed the Ord Rotarians and their Rotary Arms approximately 100 of several hundred slides he took while there and described the Japanese people as most courteous, friendly and shrewd business people.

Approximately 145 million people live in a country the size of the state of California. Even though it is highly crowded, it is very clean.

The average Japanese person spends 40% of his disposable income for food. This compares with 18% for the average American.

The average Japanese eats very little meat and instead eats a lot of soybeans grown in Nebraska.

Since Japan is over-crowded, recreation which takes space, is very expensive. For example, a round of golf would cost $65-$70. The land to build an average home would alone cost $50,000.

The Japanese emphasize education, begin pre-school at a very early age and limit extra-curricular sports to one per child.

Over-crowding and gasoline shortages combine to produce one of the most sophisticated mass transit systems in the world. The

Come To Church

READ PSALM 32:6-11
"You are my hiding place; you will save me from trouble. I sing aloud of your salvation, because you protect me." (Psalm 32:7 TEV)
My hopes and expectations were high! Relaxation and enjoyment was the order of the day, to be spent 150 miles away at a famous amusement park with my two children and a good friend. This day had been planned for months.
Confident that the Lord would surely bless us with sunshine in answer to my prayer for a dry day, we happily set off. Upon our arrival, we dashed through the gates. No sooner had we entered than it hit - a terrific storm with high winds and torrents of rain. I cried out, "Lord, what's happening? You've disappointed me!"
During that seemingly untimely storm, I experienced unending wonder at how God had given us good shelter with His perfect timing. Then two hours later, when the sun began to shine, I realized how much more precious to me the sun was than if the storm never existed. Once again I realized that real joy and awareness of God's presence are experienced most powerfully as He leads us through a storm and into the light ahead.
PRAYER: O Lord, teach us not to seek exemption from the storms of life, but to seek You in the midst of them. In Jesus' name. Amen.
THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
God's deliverance comes to those who seek it.

The Ord Quiz presented Ord Scouts with a $200 check to aid in continuing their flag project. On patriotic holidays and other special occasions Scouts fly state flags around the courthouse square in downtown Ord, and line Highway 11 in Ord with American flags.

The money is part of an Ak-Sar-Ben Award the Quiz won last Spring at the Nebraska Press Association convention in Lincoln. Ak-Sar-Ben selected the Quiz for its Newspaper Community Service Award for its efforts promoting the paving of Ord streets and adding storm sewers.

The Quiz received a plaque and a $200 check to go to the project of its choice.

Bloodmobile Goal To Be 150 Pints

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Ord, Tuesday, August 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Veterans Club, shooting for a goal of 150 pints.

Ninety pints of blood have been used at the Valley County Hospital since the last bloodmobile in May. Five of these were walk-in donors, Rodney Adams, Frank Anderson, Ed Bosworth, Dan Hersh and Tom Pierce.

George Sperling received nine pints of blood while in the Valley County Hospital May 31 to June 6. He was transferred to St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island where he spent another eight days. Mr. Sperling says he hopes the people of Valley County continue to donate blood and realize that blood really saves lives.

County Dads Nix Fairground Plan

Valley County Supervisors turned thumbs down on a proposed fairground building project and accepted the city's latest offer on Sharp Field during a meeting in the Valley County Courthouse Tuesday afternoon.

Plans for the proposed fairground project were rejected on a 4-2 vote. It had been estimated to cost $275,000. When bids from contractors were opened last week, low bid was $366,000 according to County Clerk Thelma Dulitz. Five bids were submitted.

The building was to have contained a show arena and some type of kitchen facilities along with rest rooms. It was to be located next to the new show ring, on the south side of the fairgrounds.

Happy Landing!

A unanimous vote by County Dads ended an on-again off-again affair with the City Council when Supervisors accepted the City's latest offer on Sharp Field. That offer is that for payment of one dollar, the County shall take over the airport located on the northwest edge of Ord.

The deal isn't final until approval is received from the State Department of Aeronautics.

Budget

After a hearing on the 1979-80 county budget, supervisors passed the new financial plan. That totals $1,525,138, up $33,507 from last year's budget of $1,491,631.

More on that next week.

Emacements were granted Larry White and Rev. M. S. Anderson.

Correction

Highway 70 — not Highway 11 — is being resurfaced. It was misidentified in last week's Ord Quiz.

Sen. Wagner On Briefing List

State Senator Don Wagner of Ord is one of those included on a list submitted by Senator Ed Zorinsky to the White House of Nebraska to be invited to attend an August 16 briefing on the SALT II treaty (Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty).

President Jimmy Carter, National Security Advisory Dr. Zbigniew Brzezinski, and others are scheduled to speak in favor of ratification. The briefing is one step in the White House campaign to obtain the 67 Senate votes required for ratification of the SALT II Treaty.

Senator Zorinsky, who remains indeterminate as to his vote on SALT II, sits on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which currently has the Treaty under review.

Paving Passed in Early Bird City Council Session

The City Council passed two ordinances and took in another paving district during an early-bird session Monday morning. The two ordinances are:

— Ordinance 300. Allowing taxation and other fund raising methods to pay for the 1979-80 municipal budget. For the fiscal year ending July 31, 1980, the new budget totals $1,188,714.

— Ordinance 301. Allowing Power Board members to be paid. The previous ordinance had stated board members served sans pay. This was amended allowing them to receive compensation.

They currently receive $100 a quarter per board member.

Paving Districts

Another paving district petitioned in Monday. Titled District 1978-14, the district includes 22nd Street from G to F and on G Street paving from 21st to 22nd Street.

The petition had been brought to City Clerk Wilma Kroeger's office earlier.

Ord Student Conduct Code Receives Board Approval

Ord School Board members approved a student conduct code during their meeting Friday at Ord High. Officially billed as "Areas of Prohibited Conduct", on the agenda, the code states students will be dismissed from school subject to expulsion for:

— Use of explosives of any kind within school buildings.

— Abuse of a teacher — verbal abuse, physical abuse, or abuse of teachers' possessions.

— Causing severe physical injury to another student through fights or brutality.

— Use of a weapon such as a knife or gun.

— Any exceptional or unusual behavior by a student that would cause severe disruption to the school and/or student body.

The board went on record as disapproving unauthorized skip or sneak days. The penalty for said sneak days varies with the number of truancies a student may have.

Fights, destruction of a teacher's property, an unofficial sneak day, and the use of firecrackers in school buildings by students last year likely prompted the new regulations.

The fourth article of the new code was amended after discussion by board members Friday. According to school officials, a number of students are carrying knives to school with their parents' permission.

As first proposed, the fourth article would have read: "Possession by board members of a weapon such as a knife or gun."

Reports from standing committees were heard. These included:

— Finance, Merrill Mason. The board president noted the 1979-80 school year budget was approved at a previous meeting. "It's going to be interesting to see what happens in Omaha," he said. Voters there were scheduled to vote on a local bid bill Tuesday.

— Building and Grounds, Ed Vancura. He was going to the grade school in the near future to see how things are going. Roof repairs and other improvements were scheduled for this summer by board members earlier this year.

The purchase of an overhead sliding door costing around $900 and a tile job, both at Ord High, were the center of discussion by the board. Some board members wondered if the door was really needed. The floor tile installation in the newer part of Ord High drew criticism from board members. They claimed it wasn't up to their standards.

Transportation, Bob Dworak told fellow board members quite a few bus repairs have been completed.

Carl's Standard Service of Ord will supply school vehicles with gasoline for the coming school year. Station owner Carl Schauer verified this Monday, and added his gasoline allocation has been cut 30 percent. "But," he pointed out, "government figures show the public has cut its driving 25 percent so what we have is only a five percent difference."

School Superintendent Dr. Bill Gogan suggested transportation committee members meet with school principals and figure out how to conserve gasoline.

K. Vidal was officially hired as the Ord Elementary principal for the coming school year. She was the subject of a July 26 Quiz news story. A full line-up on new teachers will be found elsewhere in this Quiz issue.

Bids for the Ord Public Schools bus fleet were opened. Apparent low bidder was State Farm Insurance for $1,671.22. Other bids came from:

— Farm Bureau Insurance — $2,141.20.

— Ord Insurance Agency — $2,478.00.

Lunch

School lunches were hiked a nickel, from 55 cents to 60 cents. Board members waded through a multi-part questionnaire on state aid to education. Put out by the Nebraska State School Board Association, the document was to get the feeling on the attitudes of school boards around the state, in the word of board president, Merrill Mason.

Board member Ed Vancura brought up the subject of school activities. According to him, summer school activities start in July. "That's too early," he said, and suggested setting a different starting date and reducing the number of activities.

After 45 minutes discussion on what should or should not or what can or can not be done and who is responsible for what, the board moved on to other matters. The suggestion was made that a committee be established to review the number of school activities.

Activities director, Don Nekuda stated there were about 170 activities during the last school year, excluding state tournaments, district competition, and other like events. There were 28 separate school athletic programs or activities, he told board members.

Bus Policy

Board members changed their bus use policy. Non-profit organizations can now use the bus for trips within 100 miles of Ord. They had previously been limited to a 50-mile distance. All such trips will have to have board approval.

Dr. Gogan told board members — $250 has been offered for the school's trampoline. It is for sale because insurance on its use by students is becoming harder to get and more expensive.

— new student registrations, so far, won't significantly influence student body numbers. According to Dr. Gogan, Ord Public Schools lost eight students and have gained nine.

These numbers are not official, however.

Visitors at the board meeting were Wade Misko, Ord High principal Bob Shannon, Activities Director Don Nekuda, Guidance Counselor Elton Buoy, K. Vidal, Dave Larkins, and Gaylord Boleson.

Board member Ruth Powers was absent.

Paving Raises City Budget

Planned paving improvements were the major reason the 1979-80 city budget jumped $22,808 according to City Accountant Rocky Severson. The just approved 1979-80 municipal budget of $1,188,714 is a jump of $322,908 above last year's budget of $865,806.

Paving expenses will come from the Public Works division of the municipal budget. Last year that totaled $771,444. This year, that total is $1,102,349.

Last year there were what Severson called "substantial allocations" for paving in the time city officials thought city street paving projects would start that year. They budgeted accordingly.

Storm sewer projects were launched during the 1978-79 fiscal year, but planned paving projects didn't come to pass. According to Severson, $600,000 had been budgeted for storm sewer work at that time.

Under the just approved municipal budget, both storm sewer and paving are underway. Severson estimated these would cost $971,714. When completed, project costs will be shared by both property owners and the city. An exact breakdown of cost divisions isn't known at this time.

Other sections of the just approved municipal spending plan are:

The General Fund — Last year it totaled $62,270. This year it is $41,027. Most of last year's allocation went for improvements on the city-leased Masonic Building, 232 South 16th Street in Ord.

Culture and Recreation — Last year it totaled $51,786. This year $56,563 has been allocated. The main reasons for the increase, Severson stated, are improvements on the city park in city. (Continued on page 6)

Baggy Pants and a Painted Smile Could Save a Rodeo Cowboy's Life

You can bet no bull rider will ever tell Quail Dobbs that clowning around, for if Dobbs did it might mean that cowboy's life.

Sporting baggy pants and painted smile, Dobbs risks his life to save the lives of hundreds of Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association bull riders each year and, at the same time, entertains thousands of spectators who turn out to watch cowboys compete for top prize money awards on the PRCA circuit.

"Sure, we're out there to entertain people, but when you get to the bottom line, our job is to keep the bulls from hurting somebody bad," says Dobbs, who was selected "PRCA Rodeo Clown of the Year" during the PRCA convention in Denver last year.

In bull riding, cowboys use a rope rigging wrapped just behind the bull's shoulders to hang on, but the rope can become a trap. The rider's hand can become caught in the rope when he is bucked off, leaving him at the mercy of the bull.

"Getting hung up and stepped on are the most dangerous things for the cowboys, and it is up to the clowns to try to free a man and get him away from the bull," said Dobbs, who worked the 1972 and 1978 National Finals Rodeos.

"I got to get the man loose without getting both of us in a wreck. You've got to use your head — you don't just beat into the bull without knowing what you're going to do."

Knowing doesn't make the job much safer. If they are lucky, clowns are able to reach in and pull the cowboy's hand free. But with a bad bull, one that keeps hooking with his horns or spinning in an effort to get the cowboy pinned, the clowns will risk their own lives to get to a rider's hand.

"We work the bulls all the time, so we may make it look easy to the people in the stands," Dobbs said. But if we make that one bad mistake, it's over."

The little clown from Coahoma, Tex., speaks from experience. In 17 years of clowning, his major injuries include a broken leg, a burst ear duct and a broken nose, all caused by run-ins with bulls.

"After my leg got busted, the docs didn't think I could rodeo any more but here I am," he said.

For Dobbs, clowning is more than just a job. The cowboys are his friends, and he takes a personal interest in their safety.

"I don't like to see my friends get hurt. If a man gets busted up, he could be laid up for months," he says. "Rodeo is the only way most of these boys have to make a living, and when they're hurt there's no money coming in to feed their families."

Dobbs started rodeoing in high school, then turned professional as a bareback bronc rider.

"My riding wasn't the greatest in the world," he recalls. "I looked like I was putting on a clown act when I rode, so I decided maybe that was the way to go."

Dobbs works about 35 rodeos a year, and in many of them he does a specialty act with an old car that rears up, falls apart and bursts into sheets of flame. But he says that protecting bull riders is why he does the job.

"In a way, clowning is like playing football. A clown has got to go into the arena knowing in his own mind he can do the job — really wanting to do it," he notes. "When we are working right, when we get a cowboy out of a bad spot, it's like scoring a touchdown. It's a feeling no money can buy."

Quail plans to go on clowning around for another 13 years. "It's been my goal to go 30 years," he said. "If my body can take it and if I can get in the barrel."

His wife, Judy, and their two youngsters join him during the summer. In Burwell, they watched from the sidelines as Quail played his matador-comic role in the arena.

"It's a challenge to them," she said of her husband's business. "They (the clowns) don't have a boss telling them what to do."

Both Quail and his wife come from rodeo families. She has accepted the necessary risks. "The biggest strain to me," she told the Quiz, "is staying home while he's on the road and I'm running the house."

A well-padded barrel is one essential ingredient to rodeo clowning, according to Quail. During the interview he quipped, "You'd be amazed how fast you can get inside that thing."

Holdrege Rallies To Win Tourney

By Jim Smith

The 1979 State Class B Midget tournaments came to a close Monday night with Holdrege defeating Gering 5-4 in a last-inning rally.

Gering advanced to the finals by defeating Central City in first round action 1-0 despite the no-hitter pitched by Central City pitcher Dana Shulte.

In semi-final play Gering defeated early favorite West Point 13-8 which put them in the finals against Holdrege.

Holdrege advanced to the finals by defeating host Ord 23-7 in the quarter final round and edging a fine Blair team 7-4, paving their way to the Championship.

In the championship game it looked as though Gering would run away with it. They jumped to a 5-0 lead including 3 runs in the 1st, one in the 2nd and one in the 3rd. But from then on they were held scoreless, and Holdrege made its move.

In the bottom of the fourth, Holdrege bats came alive bringing Holdrege back in the game. Holdrege bats went stale again for the next two innings until the do-or-die inning, the bottom of the 7th.

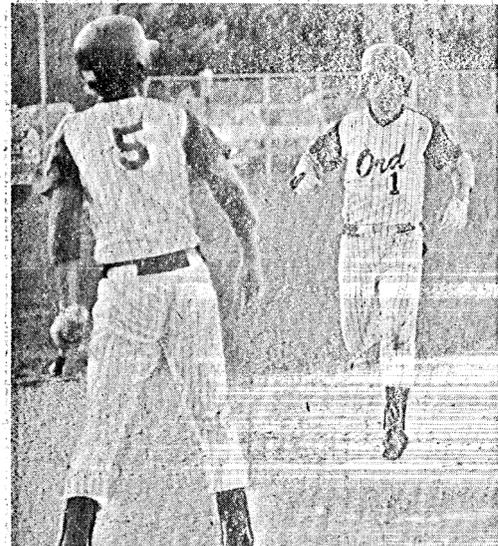

Holdrege needed two runs to tie, or three to win, and so they went to work. Leading off the inning was third baseman, Scott Strasburger who got a base hit. Then came catcher Jim Betcher who slammed a double, scoring Strasburger. With Betcher on second and no outs, Shane Isaacson grounded out to the pitcher for the first out. Next was Chris Buttner who hit a single scoring Betcher from second and tying the score at 5-5. The next pitch was to Holdrege; center fielder, Brian Anderson and while he was watching a ball Buttner stole second base. Anderson then flew out to center field but on the tag Buttner advanced to third base. It was now up to Holdrege short stop Mark Swanson, and with two down, Buttner on third and Gering pitcher Steve Grasmick with other ideas in his mind, Swanson hit a single on the very first pitch to score Chris Buttner and give Holdrege the victory and the right to be called the best Class B Midget team in Nebraska.

Mike Workman got the win on the mound for Holdrege who ended their season with a 23-8 record. Steve Grasmick was the loser for Gering as they ended with an impressive 24-9 season record and a very respectable second place in Class B Midget State Tournament play.

Jerry Woodgate, on third, contemplates home plate. Seconds later he reached that destination, hiking Ord's score to 5-3 in the first inning of the Ord Legion tournament game.

Chad Bundy comes home on a hit by Randy Hanson.

Randy Hanson connects on a base hit in first inning play in the Legion tournament.

Ord Town Team Rated Number One

By Jim Smith

Coach Edwin Vancura could not say enough as his Sherman-Howard team convinced a packed house that they are No. 1.

Ord advanced to the S-H tourney finals by bombarding Wolbach 21-8. In that ball game the bats made the difference including the homerun bat of Rick Estadillo. Lyle Vancura was the winning pitcher.

Sunday night was the night. Ord was matched to play Boelus for the championship of the Sherman-Howard League tournament. Boelus had defeated Ord twice during regular season.

Ord fell behind early 2-0 but wasn't out of the game. In the 5th inning Jamie Switzer and Mike Urbanowski started off with base hits giving Lyle Vancura no choice but to hit 3-run homers so he did, giving Ord the lead 3-2.

In the 7th inning Ord catcher, Tom Clement, decided to equal Vancura's hitting strength so he smashed a solo homerun to give Ord a 4-2 lead.

Boelus could not score on the Ord defense and pitching arm of ace Dean Vancura so Ord did some more scoring of their own.

In the top of the ninth, hits by Switzer, Wright and Zulkoski gave Ord a 6-2 margin and left the game in Dean Vancura's left arm and he held it by throwing 10 pitches including nine strikes to end the ball game and finally give Ord a win over Boelus, a team that has won 5 of 6 semi-pro tournaments.

Are the Ord players really that good? I would say yes! With a pitcher like Dean Vancura who in the final game of the year against Boelus for the championship pitched 15 strike outs and gave up only 6 hits you can't go wrong. And how 'bout that throwing sensation in centerfield, Rick Estadillo, the California native is no doubt the best outfielder in the league. And speaking of best fielders, Coach Vancura said without hesitation that Tom Clement is by far the best catcher in the league. And that's not all! Coach Vancura also stated that Troy Witherwax and Jamie Switzer are the best short stop and second base combination around and if you've ever seen them you'll undoubtedly agree.

Have we left out any one? Oh ya. Coach Vancura also says he will match the pitching arms of Lyle and Dean Vancura against any team in the league. They're the little speedsters every team has - on Ord's team, Harry Zulkoski and Jim Wright, both outfielders and both very good. As a matter of fact, Coach Edwin Vancura commented that Jim Wright was the most improved player on the Ord club this season and with a team like Ord's, that's quite an accomplishment.

There was one newcomer on the team this summer, Doug Wickerson. Ed Vancura says he has the potential of being a great hitter.

Finally, what about next year? Coach Vancura recalled that last year Ord finished fourth in league play and fourth in the playoffs and this year they finished second in the league and first in the playoffs. So for next year Vancura said, "Keep this group and pick up a few Legion boys", well, you know what he has in mind.

Ord ended the season with 13 wins and four losses. Three of those losses were by one run and two were to Boelus.

With all this going for the Ord town team, they will be the team to beat, but they will be the team that will win.

Hail Storm Losses Are 20-50 Percent

An August 1 hailstorm ripped through sections of North Loup Township causing severe damage to corn, alfalfa, and soybean crops. Last week USDA Emergency Disaster Committee members placed crop losses at 20 to 50 percent or more.

Under law, the Committee can't examine fields until seven days after the storm. Committee members in this area are Lloyd Zikmund of the ASCS office in Ord, Sam Gailey Jr. of the Farmers Home Administration, Howard Paulsen of the Soil Conservation Service, and Valley County Agent Al Martens. Benedict Zach, Assistant for Emergency Loans, helped team members estimate crop losses.

Hardest hit by the hailstorm, Zikmund told the Quiz, was the Kenneth Williams farm, one mile north Loup. During a ride through the hard-hit area Thursday, the ASCS official estimated 50 percent of the Williams' corn crop was wiped out.

"Of course, it's really hard to say this year's crop is just starting to mature and it could go either way in a case like this."

Those "either way" options include the crop drying or hanging on and maturing.

The best thing a farmer can do, in Zikmund's estimation, is hope for moderate weather and irrigate the distressed crop.

Corn wasn't the only crop riddled by hailstones August 1. The storm put a real dent in the 88.8 acres of soybeans owned by Lee Kreple, five miles north of North Loup.

The loss there was "at least 50 percent" in Zikmund's words. Walking the fields, he estimated soybean plants were knocked down a foot or more.

"Soybeans," he said, "are a relatively new crop in this area. And this year for the first time in U.S. history, more soybeans were planted for harvest than corn," Zikmund noted.

The versatile bean is used in cooking oil, protein supplements, alfalfa crops, and soybean plants cut to pieces, are not a pretty sight.

The hail storm sliced corn on the Kenneth Williams farm to ribbons. The once tall and proud cornstalks took a bad beating.

We got back in Zikmund's car, headed south over back county roads. "Just look at that alfalfa," he exclaimed. "When it was as tall as it was and is now so short, you know it really got hit."

He placed the potential loss in the passing field at 30 to 40 percent.

Riddled corn fields, stunted alfalfa crops, and soybean plants cut to pieces, are not a pretty sight.

Johnson Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Minnie M. Johnson were held on Tuesday, August 14, 1979 at 11 a.m. at the United Methodist Church in the Arcadia with Rev. Charles Moore officiating. Organist was Ina Woody and Shelley Schmidt played the special selections, "How Great Thou Art" and "I'm Following Jesus." Pallbearers were Lynn Ritz, Max Staab, Harold Elliott, Rolen Sell, Hugh Evans, and Jesse Waddell. Burial was in the Almeria Cemetery in Almeria with Ord Memorial Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Minnie May Johnson was born on April 28, 1893 in Loup County to John and Elvira Strohl Beals, and died on August 11, 1979 at Ord at the age of 86. She was raised in the Almeria and Taylor areas and attended and graduated from Almeria school. On June 14, 1911, she was united in marriage to Charles Johnson at Taylor. She worked as a telephone operator at Arcadia for a number of years and in 1937 they moved to Arcadia. She was a member of the United Methodist Church in Arcadia and a member of the United Methodist Women.

Leininger Rites Held in Arcadia

Funeral services for Myrtle B. Leininger were held on Monday, August 13, 1979 at 2 p.m. at the Calvary Baptist Church in Arcadia with Rev. John McNeil and Rev. Ralph Larson officiating. Organist was Mrs. Betty Landon and Mrs. Florence Landon sang "I Shall Know Him" and "Then Jesus Came". Pallbearers were Allen Leininger, Con Shultz, Keith Heaton, Jay Leininger, Ben Mathecht, and Dennis Faulkner. Burial was in the Arcadia Cemetery with Ord Memorial Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Myrtle Belle Leininger was born May 12, 1895 at Arcadia, to Andrew and Dorothy Helmeier, and died August 10, 1979 at Ord at the age of 84. She was raised in the Arcadia area and attended country school south of Arcadia. On March 4, 1913, she was united in marriage to Robert Leroy Leininger at Loup City. They lived south of Arcadia before moving to Kearney in 1958. Myrtle worked in various nursing homes in Kearney. She was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church in Arcadia.

Survivors include three sons, Gerald and Earl of Arcadia and Dale of Oakton, VA; one daughter, Mrs. Roy (Donna) Crawford of Kearney; 11 grandchildren; 22 great grandchildren; one sister, Nancy Mills of Golden, CO; and numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents, husband, eight brothers, two sisters, and one granddaughter.

Paving Raises

Public Health and Safety — Last year this section of the city plan was $91,067. This year it jumped to $121,381. About $23,900 was allocated for the newly completed communications center at police headquarters and City Hall. Most funds are for wages.

General Obligation Debt Service — Last year it totaled $17,423. This year it has risen to $19,475. Funds will go for paving and city swimming pool bonds.

Taxes required for the just approved budget will total $128,632, up from the 1978-79 amount of $99,778.

The new budget falls within the seven percent bid bill by $18,000. Based on a $10 million dollar valuation, the mill levy will likely total 13.75 mills, according to Severson. Last year's mill levy was 12.86.

Valuation of property within the City of Ord has jumped from $5 million to $10 million. Severson said the recent state-wide revaluation is largely responsible for the hike in millage.

The 13.75 mill levy breaks down into 12.99 mills for the general purpose fund and .76 mills for the debt service.

Former Ordite Dies

Word was received this week of the death of a former Ordite, Chester Tatlow. Chester died July 23, 1979 at a hospital in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, at the age of 75. He was born in Valley County on December 29, 1903.

Survivors include his wife, Mary, of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada; one son, Harry, of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada; one daughter, Doris Coit of Banning, CA; four brothers, Bill, Frank, Art, and Floyd; and two grandsons, Garry and Dale. He was preceded in death by a sister, Mabel, and two brothers, Sam and Roy.

St. Mary's Classes Will Start August 23

Classes at St. Mary's school in Ord will start their 1979-80 school year August 23. Enrollment this year totals 85, according to principal Sister Mary Diane, down six from last year.

- Grades 1-2, 17 students, Sister Mary Michaeline is the teacher.
- Grades 3-4, 24 students, Fern Waldmann is the teacher.
- Grades 5-6, 20 students, JoAnn Rathbone is the teacher.
- Grades 7-8, 24 students, Sister Mary Diane, St. Mary's principal is the teacher.

Official clerk this year is Marie Iwanski. Betty Smedra is the teachers' aide.

The new part time music and gym teacher this year is Mrs. Gretchen Rischling.

Sheriff's Report

A two-car crash ten miles south of Ord Saturday sent four persons to the Valley County Hospital. Injured were Gilbert and Lillian Nagorski and Francis and Robert Fines.

Gilbert Nagorski was going west on Highway 22. According to Valley County Sheriff Martin Sonnenfeld, Nagorski, 62, of rural Arcadia, failed to stop at a stop sign.

He crossed the Highway 70 and 22 junction, pulling into the path of a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Francis Fines of Loup City. The Fines vehicle was struck by Nagorski's 1974 Ford pickup on the right rear side, Sonnenfeld described damage as "every heavy" to both vehicles.

Mr. and Mrs. Nagorski were hospitalized as were Mr. and Mrs. Fines. The three Fines children, Robert, David, and Patty, were treated for minor cuts and released.

Mrs. Fines was eight months pregnant at the time of the accident.

Shannon Outlines Ord Schools Student Attendance Regulations

(Ord High principal, Bob Shannon, gave the Quiz this verbatim administration policy on student attendance. Believing it is of interest to students and parents alike, the Quiz agreed to include it in this issue of the paper.)

Ord Junior-Senior High School Administrative Policy: Student Attendance

The Ord Public School's philosophy regarding attendance advocates regular and punctual attendance of students. General guidelines are spelled out and describe instances of student absence from school or classes as approved, unapproved, or truant.

In order to treat students fairly and to provide due process, an outline of the following of various definitions of attendance status as well as penalty measures that may be administered to students who violate the attendance policy. These penalties are designed to provide for student improvement, parent involvement, equal treatment, and individual counseling. The penalties described in this policy should be interpreted to apply for each individual class in which a student is enrolled.

The following outline describes school attendance situations:

I. Approved Absences will be cases in which students may receive credit for the nonattendance time. The makeup work will be at the initiative of the student and should be completed in advance of the absence when possible. Examples of absences that are generally approved:

- Students who are ill or injured.
- Students who have a medical or dental appointment.
- Students who have experienced a family death or tragedy.
- Students who are involved in a school activity.
- Students who are requested to appear in court.
- Students who are on extended trips with family.
- Students who are working at the request of parents in a family owned or related business.
- Students who have unique special reasons approved by the principal.

II. Unapproved Absences will be cases in which teachers are not expected to provide special makeup work or credit for nonattendance time. Examples of things that are generally unapproved:

- Students who are shopping in Ord or nearby cities during the school day.
- Students who are engaged in business activities that are not family owned or related.
- Students who attend athletic or school events not involving Ord Public Schools.
- Students who attend social events not considered to be of special educational value.

III. Truancy will be cases in which both the parents and the school are unaware and disapprove of student absences. (This will include any sneak or skip days that are unauthorized by the school.) When truantries are verified, parents will be notified by the school office. Possible penalties:

- If the truancy is repeated, and the child is under sixteen years of age, the county attorney will be notified.
- The following sequence of steps will be used:

First Truancy: — The student will be called into the office for a conference. — The attendance policy will be explained to the student. — Parents will be notified by mail telephone. The student will be assigned makeup time equal to the time missed from school. The makeup time and place will be supervised by the classroom teacher.

Second Truancy: — The student will be called into the office for a conference. — The attendance policy will be explained to the student. — The consequences of a third truancy will be communicated to both the parents and the student by mail telephone. A conference may be arranged at this point. — The student will be assigned makeup time double the time missed from school. The makeup time and place will be supervised by the classroom teacher.

Third Truancy: — The student will be called into the office for a conference. — The student's violation of the attendance policy will be verified. — The student will be dropped from the class that has been missed for the third time and assigned to a study hall for that period. — Parents will be notified of the student's change in class status. — The student will be moved to the next offense status if he/she fails to comply with the terms of first and second truancy offenses.

IV. Total Absence Limit

The Ord Board of Education policy on student attendance states that, "Students not in attendance at least 90% of the school days may lose class credits" with 180 total attendance days for students, absence in excess of 9 semester will place the student in violation status. (The principal may allow special absence consideration for medical and school activity reasons.)

Students and parents will be warned of excessive absenteeism in the following manner:

1. After the 5th absence in a semester, the parents will receive a letter from the principal notifying of the absences and reminding them of the policy.
2. After the 8th absence in a semester, the parents will receive a letter telephoned call from the principal.
3. Following the 9th absence in one semester, at the determination of the principal, the student will be withdrawn from the class or classes in which the absence has exceeded 9 semester. Parents will be notified of the student's change in status.

Swimming Apparel Out; Woolen Sweaters Back

The cool air, trying last week to enter Nebraska, finally made it — and early this week had residents finding sweaters to keep warm during the chilly evenings. Tuesday's high of 61 was reminiscent of Fall, though warmer air was expected the latter part of this week, along with a few showers possible into Saturday.

Storm clouds last Thursday brought some damaging hail and varied amounts of rainfall. The Quiz rain gauge, here in Ord, measured 1.1-inch from the Aug. 9 precipitation.

Ord Direct Dial Phone Service Just Completed

A project was recently completed in the Ord switching office which provides greater convenience when direct dialed calls are made from the exchange, according to Kay N. Bauman, district manager for General Telephone.

"When you dial direct from the Ord exchange, the call will be completed without an operator asking for your telephone number," Bauman said. This equipment automatically records the calling number. Not only can the call be placed faster, but with greater accuracy in gathering billing information.

This service is called automatic number identification, he added.

This project is part of General Telephone's continuing construction and expansion program, Bauman said.

Fire and Rescue

August 11 — Rescue unit called to junction of Highways 70 and 22 ten miles south of Ord. A two vehicle crash. Gilbert and Lillian Nagorski and Francis and Robert Fines were taken to Valley County Hospital. Firemen would like to thank doctors and nurses at Valley County Hospital for their quick response.

August 12 — Fire call two miles northeast of Elroy. Haystacks on fire at the Floyd Iwanski farm. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have caused the fire. Six stacks of around 40 tons total were involved.

August 13 — Rescue unit to Parkview Village.

Small Claims Docket

Fred's Car and Truck Service vs. Ron Shoemaker, $222.78 sought for repair parts and labor allegedly furnished by defendant. Darroll L. Heiser d/b/a Ord Grain Company vs. Bernice Porter, $15 sought for purchases allegedly made.

An item in last week's Small Claims items should have been deleted. The suit of Northwest Electric Motor vs. Circle S Irrigation, $630.21 and $170.94 interest was too large a sum for the Small Claims Court.

'Hedging' Helps Some

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M. M. Van Kirk, Director of Information

The number of farmers and ranchers who are using the futures market as a "tool" to hedge the marketing of their farm production is gradually increasing.

There is general lack of understanding of the commodity futures market and widespread suspicion in the minds of many who see it simply as a speculative medium. It will never be a marketing tool for every commodity producer but for those who understand both its opportunities and limitations and use it wisely, it can at times provide the difference between a profitable year or a loss year.

In recent years, some banks, farm credit groups, farm organizations and the state's major farm broadcast station have sponsored informational meetings and programs to make farmers and ranchers more aware of the commodity futures market and the role it plays in agricultural marketing. But as one farmer who has used the futures in his marketing program explains, "Until one actually uses the futures a few times, he doesn't really comprehend how it works."

Recently the Chicago Board of Trade sponsored an informational panel session in Lincoln for news media representatives. Members of the panel included a Nebraska irrigated farmer who has been using the futures market for the past 3 years; a representative of a Chicago brokerage firm; the operator of a Nebraska elevator; and the manager of a Production Credit Association unit.

The farmer, who farms 700 acres in one of the state's most productive areas and has a 120-cow beef herd, became interested in the futures market after attending a PCA-sponsored seminar on "hedging." Following are some of his personal observations and admonitions:

— Know your production costs in detail. He figures those costs and builds a chart on his costs and price prospects which he keeps for his own use and places a copy also with his broker. He makes a legal arrangement with his banker to cover "margin calls" if such an eventuality becomes necessary.

— His hedges 50 to 60 percent of his estimated production and sells in 1,000-bushel futures units. He says he has found he makes more money by hedging than by "forward contracting," and he has more flexibility.

— Have a good understanding of the futures market before you start. It helps for your broker to understand your individual operation and situation. For some producers, there is a danger of panicking if the market drops and "margin calls" develop. Some farmers should not participate "because they would worry about it too much."

— This farmer carries minimum hail coverage but says one shouldn't worry excessively about hail. Since he has "locked in a profit," if he had a serious hail loss, he would call his broker and liquidate his futures contracts.

— This year his cost figures indicated he had prospects for "locking in" a $35 per acre profit on corn or $112 per acre on soybeans, so for the first time he has more acres in soybeans than in corn.

— Avoid speculating. If you speculate, then establish a separate account for that purpose... credit sources would insist upon this anyway.

The small elevator operator explained that when he buys grain, he hedges it immediately to protect himself against price declines. He said country elevators are just getting into hedging but he finds it gives him more flexibility than forward contracting.

The Production Credit representative estimated that 10 to 12 percent of his member-customers are hedging with futures as compared to about 2 percent a couple of years ago. This would indicate that more farmers will use the futures in their marketing as they understand the system better.

Five members of the Ord FFA attended a two-day leadership camp in Aurora last week. Activities during the 48 hour session were parliamentary procedure, an FFA spellingdown, and table etiquette. National FFA president Mark Sandborn addressed the group. Among the 68 FFA members attending the Leadership Camp were (left to right) Steve Setlik, Randy Psota, Craig Vancura, Conner, and Sterling Ritz.

Horse Colic Means Pain
According to Duane N. Rice, Extension Veterinarian, the term colic means pain in the horse. It usually refers to abdominal pain emanating from the digestive tract, such as the stomach, intestines, caecum or colon.

The causes, some induced by improper horse management, are generally due to excess gas accumulation, diarrhea problems, partial or complete blockage by ingested material and the effects of internal parasites.

Of these, the internal parasite (worms) is probably the most common cause of colic. Thus, it's a good practice to worm your horses routinely at least twice a year. Consult your veterinarian about details of this procedure.

To aid in prevention of feed-or water-induced colics, one must feed quality feeds and provide quality water in the right amounts, with discretion on timing to avoid digestive processes from being involved during heavy exercises.

For handling colic, whether from parasites or the other causes mentioned above, it's necessary to call your veterinarian if the pain or discomfort persists longer than one hour.

Beef Research Results Reported
Results of three beef cattle experiments were reported recently by scientists at the Roman L. Hruska U.S. Meat Animal Research Center, Clay Center.

1. Breed Type Affects Efficiency of Feedlot Gains by

2. Adding Cement Dust to Steer and Pig Rations Gives Variable Results — Research results are still coming in, but they are mixed and inconclusive at this point on the benefits of feeding kiln dust from a cement plant to pigs and beef cattle.

3. Value of Feed Grade Limestone for Steer Rations Defined — Feed grade limestone added to a high-grain finishing ration for steers functions about like the tablet you take to neutralize excess stomach acid. And in steers, the result can be more complete use of the feed they eat and higher gains.

But the sources and physical form of the limestone affect its value as an additive in steer rations. A laboratory test has been developed to indicate the usefulness of different limestones in steer rations by measuring the speed of its neutralizing action — the rate of buffer reactivity.

Crop Water Use Details

The following crop water use data is supplied by the Lower Loup Natural Resources District and is published as a public service by the Ord Quiz.

For the week of August 6, through August 12, crop water use for alfalfa under full cover was 2.13 inches; crop water use for corn was 2.00 inches.

Next week's forecasted crop water use for the week of August 13 through August 19 is estimated to be: 1.85 inches for alfalfa under full cover; 1.85 inches for corn.

Producers please note: Immediately after cutting water use for alfalfa will be 50% of the figure given; after 10 days, water use will be 75%. At 20 days after cutting, water use is the figure given.

An update is provided Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and is made available through a toll-free Hot Line Number 1-800-652-9329.

Ag Production A Mixed Picture

Corn production on August 1 is forecast at 30.3 million bushels, up from the July 1 forecast according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Total production, if realized, would be 1% below last year's record crop. The yield is forecast at 109 bushels per acre, up 10 bushels from the previous month but 4 bushels below last year's record high yield. Acres intended for grain harvest totaled 6.7 million, an increase of 2% from last year's total.

Dryland corn production is forecast at 150.8 million bushels, 9% below last year. Farmers intend to harvest 1.95 million acres of dryland corn for grain, the same as last year. Yield is forecast at 77.3 bushels per acre, up 7.4 bushels from 1978. Corn development remained behind last year and normal.

Irrigated corn production is forecast at 59.5 million bushels, up 1% from a year ago. Farmers intend to harvest 4.75 million acres, an increase of 3% over 1978. This acreage represents nearly 3/4 of the acres to be harvested for grain. Yield is forecast at 122 bushels per acre, 3 bushels less than last year's total.

Production of sorghum grain is forecast at 128.1 million bushels, down 7% from the 1978 crop. Forecasted yield per acre stands at 70 bushels, 5 bushels below 1978. Acreage for harvest is the same as last year at 1.83 million.

Soybean production is forecast at 54.4 million bushels, up 28% from the 1978 crop. The yield is the same as last year at 34 bushels per acre. Acreage for harvest is the largest on record at 1.6 million, or 28% above last year.

The Nebraska wheat crop is estimated at 85.8 million bushels. This forecast increased 6% from the previous month and is 5% above 1978's production. Yield per acre stands at 33 bushels, up 1 bushel from last year.

Oats production is estimated at 20.8 million bushels, 2% less than the 1978 crop. The average yield of 32 bushels per acre is up 5 bushels from last year.

Hay production in Nebraska is forecast at 7.5 million tons, virtually the same as last year.

Compliance Cancels Planned Water Hearing

Section Two THE Ord Quiz

Estab. April, 1882. Ord, Nebr., Thurs., Aug. 16, 1979. Vol. 98, No. 25 2 Sects.

By Richard Beran

One would think that the multitude of problems facing irrigators today, namely fuel shortage, high energy costs, declining groundwater supplies, and yes of course, the price of commodities being produced, would be enough.

Something new is looming on the horizon: that being land subsidence. That's right, in some areas land subsidence is becoming a concern.

In Texas, and I guess that's where everything starts, they have been kicking this issue around for some time. The Texas Supreme Court finally settled the matter, at least temporarily.

"Land subsidence is a problem of increasing concern in several areas of the world, including Tokyo, Mexico City, and California's San Joaquin Valley. In Texas, land in the Houston and Galveston coastal areas has sunk as much as eight feet in some places, causing flooding of streets and homes during high tides. Overdrafting of groundwater is the principal cause of the problem."

The Texas Supreme Court has written its first opinion on liability for subsidence of land caused by the withdrawal of groundwater. In Friendswood Development Company v. Smith-Southwest Industries, S.W. 2d — (Tex. 1978), the Court prospectively modified the long-standing English rule of absolute ownership of groundwater as applied to suits for damages caused by subsidence. This rule, which has been Texas law since 1904, establishes that a landowner has an absolute right to percolating groundwater so long as he does not maliciously take the water for the sole purpose of injuring his neighbor, or wantonly and willfully waste it. In Friendswood, the Court has added negligence as a ground of recovery for future subsidence proximately caused by future withdrawals of groundwater from wells which are either produced or drilled in a negligent manner after the date this opinion becomes final.

... in the future. If the landowner's manner of withdrawing groundwater from his land is negligent, willfully wasteful, or for the purpose of malicious injury, and such conduct is a proximate cause of the subsidence of the land or others, he will be liable for the consequences of his conduct.

"Two justices dissented on the grounds that the case did not involve the English rule but rather the common law right of landowners to subjacent support for their land. The proper inquiry, they said, was not as to the water but whether the adjoining owner actually causes the loss of support."

"The decision has been hailed by the recently created Harris-Galveston Coastal Subsidence District as a loud and powerful voice telling the subsidence district to go full steam ahead with its business." The decision is also sure to result in an increased reliance on the diminishing surface water supplies in the state.

The above material was borrowed from the August issue of Groundwater Management District's Newsletter, published at Fort Collins, Colorado.

Rolland Essman Nominated for Honorary American Farmer Degree

Rolland Essman, vocational agriculture instructor and FFA Advisor at the North Loup-Scotia Schools has been nominated to receive the FFA's Honorary American Farmer Degree.

Essman was nominated for the Degree by the Nebraska FFA Association and the nomination was approved by the National FFA Board of Directors which recently met in Alexandria, VA. The Honorary American Farmer Degree is the highest honorary degree presented by the FFA.

This year 73 teachers of vocational agriculture were nominated to receive the degree during the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO, November 7-9.

Rolland Essman has been a vocational agriculture teacher at the North Loup-Scotia Schools for 28 years. During that time he has had two students who earned the American Farmer Degree. They were Larry White in 1959 and Arnold Moody in 1973. He has had 27 students who earned the State Farmer or State Agriculturalist Degree and three students who earned state proficiency awards. He has had 11 state winning soils judging teams and one National winning soils judging team. Also, there has been approximately 25 other state winning teams in various areas of competition.

Each year at least 50 of the 12,000 teachers of vocational agriculture in the nation are awarded the Honorary American Farmer Degree. The Degree is awarded on the basis of points scored by a teacher for his accomplishments as a vocational agriculture instructor, FFA Advisor, and as a participant in professional agriculture teachers' organizations.

Teachers are awarded points for each student supervised in earning state and national FFA awards. Teachers also receive points for serving as officers and committee members of the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers' Association and for their participation in national meetings of the FFA and other professional associations.

Rolland Essman is one of two vocational agriculture teachers from Nebraska to be nominated for the Honorary American Farmer Degree this year. He plans to attend the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO on November 7-9 where he will present the degree pending final approval of the nomination by the student FFA delegates who must vote on all honorary presentations of the National FFA Organization. The degree is presented during the Thursday afternoon session of the convention.

State Tax Cut Would Violate Agreement of Solons-Thone

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Lincoln — There has been some talk in political circles that Nebraska's tax rates should be lowered in view of the healthy surplus that has been built up in the state treasury.

But several state senators say a cut in the sales and income tax rates would violate a tacit understanding between the state's lawmakers and Gov. Charles Thone.

According to Sens. Don Wesley of Lincoln and John DeCamp of Neligh, Thone and the lawmakers had an understanding that if the Legislature submitting a budget of no more than 7 percent over the previous year's budget, Thone, as chairman of the Board of Equalization and Assessment, would not move to lower the rates.

Some of the senators believe the difficult spending choices they made last legislative session, created the healthy condition of the treasury and that the surplus money should be waiting for them when they return to the Legislature in January.

Lawmakers with that point of view say after their frugal spending decisions, the governor should not be able to enjoy the extra benefits that would accompany reduction in taxes.

Wesley put it this way: "We planted the fruit (with an austere budget) and Thone should not be the one to get to pick it."

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herndon, one of the Board of Equalization's five members, said he has met with Thone to talk about the possibility of lowering tax rates if tax revenues continue to exceed projections.

DeCamp said he has a fairly clear recollection of what was going through the senatorial minds while the tight budget was being hammered out earlier this year. The Neligh lawmaker said there was an unwritten understanding that the tax rates would not be lowered this year.

Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee, said there was an agreement with the governor. But Warner said the presumption was tax receipts would reflect projections. And the Waverly lawmaker said if receipts continue to exceed greatly the projections over a period of months, Thone and the board could lower taxes without violating the agreement.

Warner said he believes any action by the board, based on two months' figures, would be inadvisable.

Sen. Gerald Koch of Ralston is among senators who want the treasury balance to continue to grow until the 1980 legislative session. It was Koch who tried to increase state aid to schools by $10 million this year. It appears the increase could have been accommodated easily, he said.

Koch said he would like to allow the treasury funds to accumulate so the next Legislature could increase state aid as well as state reimbursement to local governments to offset personal property exemptions the Legislature has given to businesses.

Exon Vacations in Nebraska
Sen. J. J. Exon, saying he was glad to escape the oppressive heat of a Washington summer, told a Lincoln news conference he has thought for more than a year that President Carter will not be his party's nominee in next year's election.

Exon said if the president runs, he will have a great difficulty. The senator told reporters that as a Democrat he would campaign for Carter if the president is nominated "but I suspect he would not be nominated."

Exon said he would not and would not vote for the Democratic candidate if that turned out to be California Gov. Jerry Brown, "who blows with the wind, whichever way it is blowing." Brown simply could not gain the confidence of the majority of the people, the senator said.

Exon said he does not expect Sen. Ted Kennedy to be a candidate, although he admitted there was a possibility the Massachusetts senator could be pushed into it by becoming a candidate.

While he said he admired Kennedy for his great talent, hard work and respect on both sides of the aisle in the Senate, Exon said he has no doubt that Kennedy is the head of the ticket would be successful.

He said Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington is in good standing with major elements of the party and that Vice President Mondale would make a good candidate but would not get involved unless Carter stepped aside.

Brennan Dies
State Sen. William Brennan

died recently after having been hospitalized more than two weeks following emergency surgery.

Brennan, who was president of the Nebraska AFL-CIO, was admitted to an Omaha hospital July 21 for surgery involving an aneurysm in an important blood vessel between the heart and legs.

Brennan was elected to the Legislature in 1976 and had been expected to seek a second term next year.

Early during the 1979 legislative session, the Omaha lawmaker had been hospitalized for tests. He returned to the legislative chamber after having been ordered by doctors to watch his diet and quit smoking.

Brennan was the second lawmaker to die this year. Sen. William Hasselbrock of West Point died shortly before the end of the session this summer.

Refuses to Close Hearing
There have been several cases in Nebraska recently in which judges have closed preliminary hearings in criminal cases.

But the most recent request for a hearing closed to the press and public was turned down in Lancaster County Court when Judge Robert Camp said, "There are reasons to close a preliminary hearing, but I don't think this is the case to do it."

A motion of this kind (for a closed hearing) would give the case more publicity.

A representative of the Lancaster County public defender's office, who asked the pretrial hearing be closed, argued that only a closed hearing would permit the defendant the right to a fair trial.

The defendant is accused of first-degree sexual assault.

At Jefferson, attorneys representing Media of Nebraska described Camp's decision as a healthy precedent, much appreciated by the public and press.

Geranium Joe

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers were remarking during the session at the country store Saturday night how this country is progressing rapidly into the 19th century. Walt Cronk said he has studied the situation up one side and down the other, and he is of a mind that it's a case of the hurrier we go the behinder we git. With all our technical advance, Walt declared, he won't be surprised if the next shortages will be candle taller and buggy springs.

He said signs pointing to the way things were before they got worse are popping up all around. The scientists say we got enough crude oil to last seven years, enough gas for 10 and enough coal for 600. Our President says we got to go back to coal for the big jobs like generating electricity, but to Walt's way of thinking this is fer starters. We got to convert the oil fired furnaces in our mills to gas to buy three more years, and the train is the thing for transportation as well as freight. There ain't much sense in switching to gas fer three years only to switch to coal, he said, so why not go from diesel trains and oil heat straight to coal. This way we can pick up right where we left off at the start of the 20th century.

Furthermore, he went on, the sooner we git folks back on buggies and horseback we can give the police a fair chance with the crooks. He said he had saw where cops in some cities already are git buggies while the bad guys still are in cars. Fer sure, he declared, crooks will be the last to run out of guns and gasoline. Do away with cars altogether, put the good guys and the bad guys on roller skates and git 'em out of town. It was Walt's idea, if everybody progresses backward at the same pace, he said, nobody will have the edge. If the pulkman has to go back to the horse, it's only right that where the iceman give up his truck.

General speaking, the fellers didn't take Walt serious. Junior Meese said it don't make sense to have a civilization as advanced as this one retreat into caves because its gas tank run dry. Junior was of a mind if we're smart enough to git this far we're smart enough to git farther. He said people have got to adjust their goals and git on with finding other ways to git things done. He said his reading on this matter shows that the sun, the wind and the ocean have enough energy to run the world as long

— flag waving —

Last week I had the opportunity of presenting the Ord Scouts with a $200 check to aid in the continuance of their Flag Project.

The presentation brought me in contact with a very nice group of young men — and brought back memories of my own experiences with scouting.

The check wasn't money from the Quiz. It was a stipend from Ak-Sar-Ben and part of a first place award to this newspaper for our efforts on the street improvement districts now under construction in the city.

Ak-Sar-Ben annually sponsors a contest for newspapers. The winners get — in addition to a plaque — a check to the charity or community service organization of the newspaper's choice.

After careful consideration it was decided to give the Ord Scouts the money for use in repair and maintenance of their holiday flag display along the highways and around the courthouse square. Flags, poles, flag anchors, etc., need repair and replacement from time to time. The Quiz could think of no better project at this time, along the lines of community service.

Representative Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts accepting the check were very much gentlemen — as bespeaks their Scouting Oath and Promise. I was glad we'd decided to give the money to this worthy project and these deserving and appreciative young men.

Knowing the job these boys and their leaders must do, getting up early on holidays to get the flags in place and being around at the end of the day to take them in, I wondered how many others would forego a holiday or out-of-town trip just to continue a project such as this.

Top, the flag project has received sharp criticism at times or two. There were World War II veterans critical of the display when Ord hosted a group of Japanese visitors.

I'm sure the boys didn't understand the painful memories of the veterans. Nor could the veterans understand the innocence of youth — kids too young to have known bitterness and bloodshed.

Regardless of one's feelings about the continuing Flag Display, I think the Scouts are to be commended for not letting the project fall by the wayside when it would be more comfortable to "sleep in" on those days set aside to remind us of our heritage.

Learn to do the simple things perfectly. That will enable you to do the more difficult things easily.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

Necessity - The Mother of Inspiration

Some things never change. Like the first robin of spring, death, taxes and the leaky roof at the grade school, certain landmarks of our existence remain permanently fixed.

Like the school activities question. It came up again Friday at the school board meeting. As always, someone suggested there were too many activities, and that the number of extra-curricular events should be curtailed.

The person mentioning the subject this time was school board member, Ed Vancura. He added a new note to this well-known litany by stating the extra-curricular proliferation has spread into summer. According to him the first event on the summer activities schedule starts in July. According to Vancura, the number of summer scheduled school events interferes with baseball, summer vacations, and other things too.

We know what he means. On more than one occasion this paper has suggested that while extra-curricular activities are worthwhile, they are too numerous. Others, including school board members, have stated the same idea.

Meetings have been called, the public surveyed, and much time devoted to a subject that somehow quietly fades away, unsolved and unresolved. All agree there is a problem, but no one seemingly knows what to do. Everyone wants the number of school events reduced, provided their own special interests don't get the axe.

This well-worn scenario could change in the near future. Gasoline is fast approaching a dollar a gallon and may go even higher. This could provide an inspiration for school officials to make some hard nosed decisions about who shall and shall not use school vehicles for what.

In the past students have been bussed to everything from zoos to Mexican food restaurants in the name of higher education. This could change.

It could be that economic necessity is the mother of inspiration in this case. Higher fuel prices could force school officials to make some hard decisions that likely should have been made a long time ago.

Something Different

Wild, Weird, Wonderful

California is a wild, weird country in so many ways. We are continually amazed and astounded at what we see and learn.

For a while skateboards were a big dangerous thing here, and there were a good many of them, enough to be a hazard to the pedestrian.

Now I understand skates, the kind with shoes attached and polystyrene wheels, have taken over. With the coming of the gas shortage the skates are going to the grocery, whizzing through the park, circling the lake.

Bicycles have always been popular here: right after jogging. Everyone jogs. Now bicycles have a great new shot of popularity. And so do motorcycles and mopeds, they are everywhere.

For months we watched mysterious diggings go in about three blocks from us. We saw a gob of cement cemented in there as ditch joined ditch. Still we couldn't figure out what on earth the circular contraption was. But it developed and a few thousand gallons of water went in some of the ditches and rubber boats appeared on the surface of the water. At the same time a baseball-throwing machine was installed in the center of this wire screened fun park. And putting greens for golf showed up.

All this to the immense pleasure of young sailors and coast guards far from home. The place boiled with activity at night, suddenly.

Or I could tell you about my lively neighbor across the street. There never was a harder-working girl, yet when she gets ready to go some place she really gets gussied up.

After scrubbing her fingernails off on her house, her windows, her rugs... THEN she makes an appointment to have long sculptured fingernails put on! This costs a mere matter of $50. Or if you find a cheap place, make it $25. She pays this gladly to have her fingernails protrude three-quarters of an inch past her finger tips, fashionably.

Then she's so beautiful that she can't close the icebox door. She can't pick up the dishes. She must wear rubber gloves nearly all the time.

If one of these fingernails breaks off or splits, she goes into a repair syndrome. She tries to fix it herself by adding bits of tissue, layers of polish, wrapping and gluing here and there. Or if absolutely necessary she goes back to the Fingernail Palace. Yes, of course, she comes out looking like the Empress of China in 1,000 A.D.

On the other hand I can't believe the flowers. Alongside the Penney store this morning I saw flowering maple, lantana, columbine, all heavy with flowers on bushes as big as Ord's spirea. Three colors of oleanders!

So much to see and learn here.

Dear Mr. Editor,

I found your front page article on "governmental affairs" quite interesting, but it left me somewhat confused. I do agree with Mr. Collins when he says that the County Board sets department budgets, but I do not entirely agree when he says that department heads decide how to allocate the funds. This would seem to imply that a department head would be able to take a thirty thousand dollar budget and simply funnel it all into someone's salary. That would make it awfully hard to run the rest of the department and would also be illegal in my way of thinking. The legislators must have felt about the same way because a couple of safeguards have been built into the system. One of these is the "line item budget". As I understand it, this means that department heads should budget according to department needs in each of several areas such as wages, postage, supplies, etc. It is also my understanding that we should limit our expenditures to that amount line-itemed in each area of the budget. Secondly, any increase in wages must be submitted to the board in the form of a claim. The board either approves or disapproves the claim after considering such factors as merit, money available, etc. Obviously, my approval for any wage increase is there, or I would not have signed the claim that went in, but my signature will not cause a check to be issued. Only approval by the board can cause a check to be issued, and any amount of action on my part will do no good if the board votes it down.

We all know that the buck has to stop somewhere and this one stops at the county board. I do not know and will not guess which factors, facts, or evidence the board considered in making their decision as I was not there for the discussion. I do know that the board did vote to give Dee a raise and also added money to the budget to cover the raise which had previously been cut from the budget. The board did nothing wrong, in fact I applaud their decision to pay a fair wage to someone who has to deal so closely with the criminal element of a daily basis, but am disturbed that the responsibility for their actions was put on me. I was elected Sheriff and I accept full responsibility for that office. Supervisors are elected to handle the fiscal affairs of the county and should accept responsibility for their actions in that area.

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC AND THE NEBRASKA PUBLIC POWER DISTRICT RETAIL CUSTOMERS

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING. By virtue of Public Law 95-617, Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (PURPA), the Nebraska Public Power District is required to consider and determine the appropriateness of the Standards set forth in PURPA as applied to NPPD operations.

The purposes of PURPA are to encourage: (1) conservation of energy supplied by electric utilities; (2) the optimization of the efficiency of use of facilities and resources by electric utilities; and

(3) equitable rates to electric consumers. Federal Standards to be considered, and the appropriateness of adoption or implementation are: (1) Cost of Service; (2) Declining Block Rates; (3) Timber-Dray Rates; (4) Seasonal Rates; (5) Interruptible Rates; (6) Management Techniques; (7) Master Metering; (8) Advertising; (9) Information to Consumers; (10) Procedures for Termination of Service; (11) Automatic Adjustment Clauses; and in addition, Life Line Rates will be considered.

PURPA SHOULD BE EXAMINED FOR DETAILS OF EACH OF THE FOREGOING.

A public hearing will be held at the following locations on the dates and times indicated in order to aid the Board of Directors of NPPD in a determination of the appropriateness of implementing or adopting, as the case may be, each of the foregoing 11 Standards and Life Line Rates as they may affect NPPD for PURPA purposes.

Date, Place, Time (1) Monday, September 10, 1979, York City Auditorium, York Nebraska, 10 a.m. & 7:30 p.m.

(2) Thursday, September 13, 1979, City Council Chamber, Norfolk, Nebraska, 10 a.m. & 7:30 p.m.

(3) Monday, September 17, 1979, Kearney City Library, Kearney, Nebraska, 10 a.m. & 7:30 p.m.

(4) Thursday, September 20, 1979, City Council Chambers, Scottsbluff, Nebraska, 10 a.m. & 7:30 p.m.

All public hearings will be conducted by a Hearing Officer and will be transcribed by a Court Reporter. All interested persons may appear at the hearings, submit written statements, either before or during the hearings and are encouraged to appoint spokesmen or present written statements for purposes of brevity. Procedural aspects of the hearings will be announced at the opening of each hearing. Transcripts of the proceedings will be available at cost of reproduction.

NPPD staff will prepare a report detailing its opinion of the advantages and disadvantages of each Standard and NPPD's present practice. Such report shall be available to the public in each NPPD office. Interested persons who intend to appear and make oral statements are encouraged to contact Margaret Krings, NPPD, P.O. Box 499, Columbus, Nebraska 68601 or call (402) 562-5404 at least 5 days before the hearing to indicate the time needed for presentation. Depending on the number of testifiers, time allocations may be necessary. Presentation will be scheduled accordingly.

NPPD staff will prepare a summary of the hearing with copies filed in the various NPPD offices approximately 20 days after the close of the last hearing.

After consideration of all data and testimony received at the hearings, the NPPD Board of Directors shall determine whether or not to implement or adopt any or all of the 11 Standards and Life Line Rates.

NOTE: These public hearings are not to discuss retail rate increases, decreases, or billing problems.

Alum Has Career Spanning From Scotia to Outer Space

Harold Reck has gone from Scotia High to outer space since graduating from the school in 1949. As chief of the Plans Division of the Missile Test Center at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, he has played a major role in launching test missiles and satellites.

"Vandenberg is unique," he said during an interview Saturday, "because we can launch satellites into polar orbit without crossing over land."

Launch pads at Cape Kennedy, formerly Canaveral, are used for space destined hardware going into an equatorial or east-west orbit. These often include communications satellites "parked" in a fixed orbit around the earth.

Polar orbit satellites, those on a north-south orbit, are used primarily for surveillance, map making, and charting movements of everything from military items to schools of fish. Both so-called conventional along with infrared photography and other means are used.

Vandenberg is also one of two dedicated sites for a space shuttle launch. A launch from Cape Kennedy is scheduled next year while the shuttle's Vandenberg blast-off will likely be in the mid 1980's.

"The combination aircraft-spacecraft will ride into outer-space strapped to a Titan missile and then re-enter the earth's atmosphere as an aircraft. Unlike most missiles, the Titan will use both liquid and solid fuels when carrying the shuttle."

The shuttle itself will use what Reck called "some pretty exotic fuels . . . when maneuvering in outer-space."

Harold's career spans the United States space race. He could recall being an Operations Research Analyst for the Strategic Air Command in 1957. "That," he commented, "was the year of the Sputnik."

Americans listened to the beeping sounds of the orbiting Russian satellite. Its success prompted a major emphasis on science courses in U.S. schools and a crash program to catch up with the Russians in outer-space sophistication.

President John Kennedy set a national goal of placing a man on the moon within 10 years. July 20, 1969 Neil Armstrong stepped out of the lunar landing module The Eagle saying, "this is one small step for a man and a giant leap for mankind."

Since that date, public enthusiasm for the space program has cooled, by most accounts. "The glamor is gone," Harold admitted, "but the utilization is still there." Space age gained technology has had applications in everything from solid-state pin ball machines to advances in medical science.

Come To Church

READ LUKE 6:43-45
"As he thinketh in his heart, so is he." (Proverbs 23:7)
While visiting in a nursing home recently, I met a very lovely elderly lady. Her mental faculties were severely impaired. She could not remember the way to her room.
She began playing the piano in the assembly room while I sitting with another patient. Her playing was simply beautiful. After listening to her for a little while, I walked over to the piano and engaged her in conversation. I asked her if she could play, "How Great Thou Art."
"Sure," she said, and without a note of music before her she played a stanza beautifully. Then I asked her if she could play "Amazing Grace." Her face lighted up, and she said, "Oh sure, that is one of my favorite hymns." She played it through perfectly.
Another patient told me this lady had devoted her life to the study and production of beautiful music. There she sat playing from memory. She remembered her music. Her face was radiant. She had become the product of her years of study and devotion to music.
PRAYER: Our Father, since we become the products of our innermost thoughts, enable us to think on the things that are honest, just, pure and lovely. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Will the pattern of my thinking produce a life that will have upon it the stamp of God's approval?

Five Young Ladies Vie for Queen During 1979 Annual Popcorn Days

Voters will ballot from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday evening at the North Loup Fire Hall for one of five local girls to reign as 1979 Popcorn Queen and ride the lead float Wednesday afternoon in the annual Parade of Floats.

This year's candidates for Queen of the 78th Popcorn Days, announced this week by Queen Contest Chairperson, Nancy Vogeler, are:

college in the near future, working toward becoming a veterinary assistant.

First announcement of the 1979 Queen will be Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. when 1978 Queen Sharon Kriewald relinquishes her crown and robe to the newly elected young lady.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundstedt, Diane was active in FFA, 4-H, Girl Scouts, Job's Daughters, pep club, speech and sports in high school. Her hobbies are horses and latchhook.

Jill Hamer, 17-year-old daughter of John Hamer and Dena Hamer. Jill will be a senior at North Loup-Scotia High School this year.

Annette Peetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peetz, is a 17-year-old senior at North Loup-Scotia this fall and participates in pep club, W Club, chorus, and will serve as editor of the school annual.

Lisa Rasmussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rasmussen, is another senior at NL-S, this year, where she's active in speech, music, volleyball and track.

Seventeen-year-old Lisa is also a member of W Club and the Student Council. She enjoys reading, swimming and music and is a member of Job's Daughters. She serves as a Sunday School teacher and has worked with Story Hour at the library.

Jill is active in volleyball in high school and lists bike riding, macramé and latchhook as her hobbies.

Ronda Shoemaker, 19, is the daughter of the Ron Shoemakers and a 1978 graduate of North Loup-Scotia.

While in high school Ronda participated in basketball, track, chorus and Job's Daughters and lists swimming, horseback riding, cooking and sewing as her hobbies. She plans to attend

Diane Lundstedt, 18-year-old NL-S graduate now attending Grand Island Business School where she also works part-time at Wheeler's.

Twin Loup Irrigators Ballot September 11

The second of two court-ordered elections on the Twin Loups irrigation project has been scheduled for September 11 in portions of the five counties affected.

Eligible to vote in the September ballot are approximately 4,250 landowners having eventual access to the irrigation waters.

The original contract, signed in 1976 between the Twin Loups Reclamation District and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, had to be ratified by both those within the district and the eventual water users. The first contract was approved by district voters on June 5.

Lucienne Sintek of North Loup, president of the board of Farmers and Ranchers opposed to the $141 million project told state papers, recently, that the group "hasn't had a big campaign against this, but we haven't forgotten about it."

Henry Lange of Ord, president of Twin Loups, expressed confidence of a ratification of the second contract in the September voting.

Ord Civil Defense Donates Funds

Nebraska Civil Defense workers in Ord have donated funds for a booth at the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln, August 31-Sept. 9.

The booth will feature an "Are You Prepared?" questionnaire for citizens to answer.

A coat lapel button will be given to those who know how to act in a tornado, travel in heavy snow, act during nuclear radiation, heart attack first aid and other stress situations.

Motorists Cautioned To Use Extreme Care

City Police Chief John Young foresees dual problems with the opening of school coinciding with construction work along L Street in Ord and the removal of flashing lights at the pedestrian crosswalks.

Extreme caution is urged by motorists, along this main highway through Ord. Even though the flashing lights may not be in operation, pedestrians still have the right of way and the crosswalks for students have been repainted to so designate.

Vehicle Hits Bridge In Torrential Rains

The heavy rain, Saturday evening, contributed to an accident reported by the Valley County Sheriff's office, this week.

About 7 p.m. August 18 a 1978 Datsun northbound on Highway 11, four miles south of Burwell, skidded into a bridge railing and then turned over into the ditch. The vehicle was driven by Shane Wagner, 16, of Burwell and damage was estimated at $3,000, though there were no personal injuries. Deputy Sheriff Don Rogers investigated the accident.

Saturday night, Sheriff Sonnenfeld reported, four mail boxes in Arcadia were run over. No time was established, but the Sheriff's department is looking for a vehicle with light blue paint, which could have been involved.

Shortly after midnight Aug. 20, there was a gas theft five miles east of Ord along Highway 11. An estimated 15 gallons of gas was siphoned from a farm truck in an unlocked building. The Sheriff is doing follow-up work on footprints and vehicle tracks left at the scene.

Fender Benders, Theft Among Police Reports

Three traffic accidents, a suspected gas theft and an incident of vandalism were reported by Ord Police this week.

Aug. 14 a 1967 Plymouth 4-dr. owned by Edward and Lillian Osentowski of North Loup received about $30 damage when a 1972 Plymouth 4-dr. driven by Forrest Peterson of Ord backed into the Osentowski car. The accident happened between 15th and 16th Streets on L Street. There was no reported damage to the Peterson vehicle.

Aug. 17 Jeff Calvin of Ord was on L Street near the intersection of 16th Street and had pulled over in a construction area, to let traffic through. A 1972 Ford flatbed truck driven by Ken A. Rasmussen of Smithfield, NE, backed into Calvin's '77 Ford, causing an estimated $30 damage. There was no damage reported on the truck.

Aug. 19 James D. Studnicka, driving a '74 Ford 2-dr. was turning around in Bussell Park when he lost control of the car and hit a tree. Damage to the Studnicka car was estimated at $600.

Gas Theft

City police are still investigating a possible gas theft from a vehicle at 14th and M Streets on the night of Aug. 15.

The evening of Aug. 18 a person or persons tied some heavy twine or cord around a trash container in front of the Ord Theatre, then ran the twine around the mail box and tied it across the street. A vehicle, hitting the twine, upset the trash container, but no damage was apparent to the mail box.

4-H Horse Judging Team Named Overall World Champs at Tulsa

Richards... individual wins.

The Valley County 4-H Horse Judging Team came back from Tulsa, OK last week with 19 ribbons, five plaques, two trophies, and the title Overall World Champion Horse Judging team.

The 4-Hers had participated in the 1979 AJQHA World Championship Horse Judging Contest held in conjunction with the AJQHA World Championship Show.

In the 4-H division, the team received second in the halter category and third in the performance division which led them to a first place finish overall in the 4-H division.

In overall competition (4-H, FFA and AJQHA) Valley County once again came away with championship honors as they beat out Osage County, OK. Team members are Ron Richards, Sharon Kriewald, Terina Trotter and Jesse Trotter.

In individual competition, Ron Richards led the way for Valley County by placing second in the 4-H Halter division, second overall in 4-H, and second overall 4-H, FFA, and AJQHA.

Also placing in the top ten were Sharon Kriewald and Terina Trotter. Sharon was sixth in the 4-H Halter division and Terina was sixth in the 4-H Performance division. Sharon and Terina also tied for eighth overall in the 4-H division.

The team was coached by Karen Kriewald of North Loup and Mike Richards of Loup City.

Carla... tiptoeing to stardom.

Ballet Star Sparkles Olivers' Anniversary

Ink on paper can't adequately convey the many talents of the Larry Stallings family, seen and heard by an estimated 130 people Wednesday evening, Aug. 15, at the Ord High School Auditorium.

The musical evening was in honor of Greta Stallings' parents, the Carl Olivers, for their 60th wedding anniversary which will be Sept. 13. Greta, husband Larry and three daughters — with a piano assist from Eric Knapp of Ord had returned from their home in Carmichael, CA, to honor the celebrants.

Highlights of the evening were three dance variations performed on stage by Miss Carla Stallings, a granddaughter of the Olivers and a promising ballet star. Twenty-one year old Carla is a member of the prestigious American Ballet Theater of New York City and has recently returned from Jackson, MS, where she participated in The International Ballet Competition.

At Jackson, Carla was one of seventy dancers from all over the world, including Red China, to compete for medals in the Olympics of Ballet. She remained in competition through the final round and was interviewed on NBC's "Today" show.

Though ballet stars seldom glitter in the footlights of Ord's auditorium, Carla kept the audience enthralled as she pirouetted her way into the hearts and minds of those watching. Dancing to recorded music, the young lady's performances were twice punctuated with applause, midway through the numbers.

Costumes, appropriately for each number, Carla performed variations from "Giselle," "Swan Lake," and "Sleeping Beauty." The second number, "Giselle," was one in which she'd dance WEEKEND REFLECTIONS — Pools of water, following the general rainfalls of an inch or more this past weekend, reflected hopes for a bumper crop and overflowing elevators come harvest time.

The rains, measuring up to five and six inches of moisture near Taylor and north of Burwell, could pull a lot of farmers through the rest of the growing season without the need for supplemental irrigation. Much is dependent on coming weather conditions and frost holding off until after mid-September.

Poppers Are Ready; North Loup Jumps

North Loup Popcorn Day Chairman John Hamer is hoping for good weather and a large crowd for the 78th edition of the three-day celebration underway Monday, August 27, with the usual free popcorn, stage shows, parades and street carnival.

Monday
Officially opening with an 18-Event Horse Show at 1 p.m. at the North Loup Park, under the direction of Jesse Whiting, a Garden Tractor Pull will follow at 7 p.m. in the evening Monday. Votes for Popcorn Queen will also be taking place from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Fire Hall. (See Queen candidates elsewhere in this issue.)

At 8:30 Monday evening an All-Star Softball game will be held on the Softball Field between the North All-Stars, comprised of selections from Spalding, Elba, Horace, K-C Greeley and Gannons of Greeley, vs. the South, comprised of players from Ord, Benda's, Scotia, Greeley #1, Ord, and North Loup.

Later Monday evening the North Loup Fire Department is sponsoring a dance with Ace and The Travelers furnishing the foot-stomping music.

Tuesday
Displays at the Fire Hall open for the first time Tuesday, and remain open through Wednesday evening. There will be the usual flower, school, 4-H, ag, hobby and craft exhibits of local hobbyists.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday the 12th Popcorn Days Horseshoe Tournament, under the direction of Russell R. Hill, will be divided into two classes and offer prizes of cash and merchandise with no entry fee required.

After lunch, Tuesday, a Tractor Pulling Contest will get underway at 1 p.m. Larry White and Bill Vogeler will direct this event, to include 4 x 4 pickups as well as tow-line tractors, hot rods and stock tractors.

Mrs. David Weeks will provide organ music at the Home Town Variety Show at 2:30, Tuesday afternoon.

Tuesday evening the Juvenile Parade will start at 7:30, following judging at 7 p.m. This year's theme is "Super Heroes" under the direction of Mary DeNoyer of Kitchen Klatter Extension Club.

Crowning of the 1979 Popcorn Queen is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, followed by an evening Variety Program at 8:30. Chet Babcock will emcee the show which will feature The Ghost Riders. A Teen Dance follows the evening show.

Wednesday
Continuation of four classes of the Horseshoe Tournament resumes at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

At 1 p.m. a Stage Band Concert with Dr. Glen Auble and his band precedes the 2 p.m. Parade of Floats. This year's float parade theme is "Future Years" and will be headed by the 1979 Popcorn Queen, Sandy Jorgensen of Neighborly Helpers Extension Club is parade chairperson.

The North Loup-Scotia High School Band will be in concert on the stage at 3 p.m., preceding the 3:30 Magic of Leroy the Great.

Mrs. David Weeks will be back on the stage at 7:15 Wednesday evening to offer organ music until 7:30 when Leroy returns with magic, and Darrin and George offer a ventriloquist act.

At 8:30 there will be a prize drawing with Ernie Coufal offering dance music to close out the three-day festivities.

Social Security Rep In Ord September 4

The social security representative will be in Ord at the courthouse on Tuesday, Sept. 4, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Before any social security benefits can be paid on a person's record, he or she must have a certain amount of credit for work covered by social security. The exact amount needed depends on the person's date of birth or age at the time he or she becomes disabled or dies. For more information about this or any other social security matter, get in touch with the social security office.

Social Security now has a toll-free number for persons living outside of Hall County; for questions on social security, dial 1-800-642-8310.

Moisture Surpasses 20" Accumulation for Year

Nearly two inches of rain were added to the accumulated moisture, this week, as Quiz records showed 20.89 inches for the year, which includes 1.95 inches this past seven days.

Only some warm days and a late frost are needed to insure an abundant harvest this fall, but forecasters continued to predict mild days this week with some

What Will Your Levy Be? That IS a Good Question

By Kerry Leggett

Attempting to analyze the Valley County Budget for the coming year — July 1, 1979 to June 30, 1980 — the Quiz learned local taxpayers may not know for another two to three weeks what their mill levies will finally be.

First county supervisors had to trim $18,000 off the initial proposal to remain within the seven percent limit fixed by state law.

Even with the budget trimming, the property tax requirement for the coming year is $75,021 above last year — or 19.7 percent. When asked how that was possible, with the prescribed seven percent limit, the Quiz was told by County Clerk Thelma Dultz to "ask Bob." She was referring to accountant Robert Sevener.

According to Dultz there are some funds that don't come under the seven percent lid and probably that was where the additional monies came in.

But we didn't pursue questioning of Sevener at this time. For what we really wanted was to know what the mill levies might be, for the coming year. And we knew several factors made this impossible at this time.

First, Valley County complied with the state mandate to reevaluate. This was done and the reevaluation had just been completed when the State Board of Equalization decreed that Valley County would have to refigure their reevaluation.

According to the State of Nebraska, Valley County needed to re-adjust irrigated land from no change up to 26%; re-adjust dry land from no change to 28%; re-adjust range and meadow land from no change to 33%; and re-adjust urban property up by 12%.

Appeal
Having just completed a reevaluation, to meet state demands, County Supervisors screamed. They not only screamed, but they were one of nine counties and a sugar company filing an appeal of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

So at the present time County Assessor Bob Sevener's office is having to refigure all property at mandated increases handed down by the state. This could take two to three more weeks, according to Sevener. And not until then could a mill levy be arrived at.

"What happens if Valley County wins their appeal?" we asked.

"We'd have to refigure," Sevener told the Quiz. "And then we'd either have to issue a tax refund, if the county wins their appeal, or we'd have to give a tax credit. That remains to be seen."

So those Valley County taxpayers wondering what their new mill levy might be will simply have to wait. And, even then, the county's appeal could upset the tax coffers.

Kris Wins in Lancaster County

A Valley County girl, Kris Greenway, took two firsts at the Lancaster County Fair. Kris won top honors in Dressage and English Equitation at the fair but could not receive the Lancaster County trophies since she is a Valley County 4-H'er. She was invited to change her 4-H membership to a Lincoln 4-H club but declined, saying, "I think I'll stick with Valley Riders."

The day before, Kris had taken part in the jumping competition under extremely muddy conditions.

Granddaughter to Present Recital

Patricia Stowell will present a piano recital at 8 p.m. in the music room of Ord High School Friday, August 24. She will perform works by Bach, Schumann, Mendelssohn and Scriabin, plus several of her own works. The recital is open to the public.

CAROL'S CORNER

by carol leggett

SCHOOL TIME . . . The headline boldly announced "School Soon!" Well, there could be worse news. In fact, some people are very happy about school beginning again.

I look around and you might note reactions, such as these:

To a Mother: "A little peace and quiet at last."

One neighbor: "Maybe my kitten will be less nervous now."

Another neighbor: "I can finally replace that broken front window."

To the Camp Counselor: "No more aspirin until next summer."

Girl Friend: "I'm sure he'll get more allowance this school year."

To Grandmother: He's a smart boy and will do real well, I know!"

To a Sister: "At last! Now I'll have more time in the bathroom."

Father: "I'll send him to Sunday School, too, so I can sleep late."

To Grandpa: "He's been a good fishing pal . . . the summer has gone by all too fast."

And the teacher might be thinking: "Well, I'm looking forward to a new school year. Maybe summer vacation helped him mature a bit."

It was the little girl's first day at school and the teacher asked her, "What is your father's name?"

"Daddy," she replied.

"Yes, of course," smiled the teacher, "but by what name does your mother call him?"

"She doesn't call him any names," explained the little girl. "She likes him!"

Candlelight Wedding Service at Ord Unites Ronda Hornickel and Greg Tucker

St. John's Lutheran Church in Ord was the setting for the August 10, 7 p.m. candlelight wedding ceremony uniting Ronda Hornickel of Ord and Greg Tucker of Citrus Heights, CA. The double ring service was performed by Pastor, Leon Zimmerman of Loup City.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hornickel of Ord. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Tucker of Denver, CO.

Rex Clement, friend of the bride, accompanying himself on the guitar, was the soloist. Mrs. David Glimsmann, Rockville, aunt of the bride, was organist.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Sandra Bockstader of Wood River, cousin of the bride. Sharellyn Barr of Ord, friend of the bride, was bridesmaid and Allison Tucker of Denver, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid. They wore long flowing A-line dresses of frosted tangerine Oiana with capelet collars, accented with ivory lace. Each carried an ivory lace fan, accented with tangerine, lemon yellow and lime green daisies, with baby's breath and ivory showers. Flower girl was Kelly Fox of North Loup.

Candle lighters were Mrs. Tom Lutz, Arcadia, and Paul Bredthauer of Ord.

Roger Hornickel of Ord, brother of the bride, attended the groom as best man. Groomsman was Randy Kirby, Ord, friend of the bride, and junior groomsman was Carey Tucker of Denver, brother of the groom. The groom wore a beige tuxedo featuring all ivory accents and a boutonniere of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath. The groomsman wore beige tuxedos with cocoa brown accents and tangerine ruffled shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a lime green formal and the mother of the groom wore a lemon yellow formal. The bride's father wore a beige tuxedo with a lime green ruffled shirt and the groom's father wore a beige tuxedo with a yellow ruffled shirt.

Special guests were grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Everett Hornickel of Ord, and William Bockstader of Wood River.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sears hosted the reception following the ceremony in the church parlor. Presiding at the reception table were Mrs. Clarence Hartman, Hastings; Mrs. Jim Blanc, Pueblo, CO; Deb Bredthauer, Kansas City, MO; and Mrs. Tom Moss and Mrs. Lenora Veskerski, both of Ord. Servers were Renee Bockstader, Wood River, and Kim Moss and Mary Heisner of Ord. Mrs. Bernard Bredthauer, Ord, presided at the guest book. Gift carriers were Todd Bredthauer, Steve Hornickel and Mike Sexton, all of Ord. Mrs. Arvin Bredthauer and Mrs. Robert Cook of Ord were in charge of the gift table.

A buffet dinner followed the reception at the bride's home. Helping with the dinner were Mrs. Marvin Bockstader of Wood River, Mrs. Kenneth Fuss of Grand Island, and Mrs. Frank Andreesen of Ord.

Following a wedding trip to California, the newlyweds will be at home in Citrus Heights, CA, where the groom is employed by National Water Treatment Systems Inc. of Fair Oaks, CA.

Rehearsal Dinner

A rehearsal dinner, given by Mr. and Mrs. Grover Tucker, was held at the Ord Veteran's Club honoring the prospective bride and groom.

Pam Meese Gets S&H Scholarship

Pamela Meese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Meese of Ord, has been awarded a scholarship for four years.

This award to Pam is $500 each year during which time she will be attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln at the Monte Economics College, majoring in Interior Design.

The scholarship is one of 50 given nationwide annually by the Sperry and Hutchinson Foundation to the children who use the S & H Green Stamp Service in their retail stores.

Presenting the award on behalf of the Sperry and Hutchinson Co. was Charles Elliott. Pam was two years of age when Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Carson, the owners of Carson's IGA, met with Mr. Elliott and started issuing S & H in May of 1964.

Pam has had an enviable record as a student and youth. She has been active as a 4-H member for eight years, winning 15 county awards. She also won the State Consumer Education Award and a trip to the 1977 National 4-H Congress.

She also has enjoyed all sports lettering four years in Varsity Track, two years in Varsity Volleyball and one year in Varsity Basketball while at Ord High School. Pam was also an honor roll student.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Petska . . . married August 11

Kathy Michalski-Alan Petska Exchange Vows At Afternoon Ceremony at Catholic Church in Ord

An afternoon ceremony August 11 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church united Kathy Michalski and Alan Petska in marriage. Father Stanley Gorak performed the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Michalski and the groom is the son of Mrs. Alice Petska, all of Ord.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white poly knit. It featured a Queen Anne neckline and small lace floral motifs accenting the bodice of the dress. Seed pearls were scattered over the natural waistline gown. The long sheer sleeves also had the lace floral motif accents with lace cuffs. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of Venice lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of silk flowers consisting of ice blue and white roses, pink and yellow daisies, and dried and silk baby's breath with long satin and lace streamers. She wore a rhinestone heart shape necklace which was a gift of the groom.

Barb Petska, sister-in-law of the groom, was the matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids and flower girls were Betty Barnes and Marilyn Petska, sister-in-law of the groom, and Jo Paprocki and Joe Polak, uncles of the bride, served the punch. Attending the guest book was Joann Fowler, sister of the groom. Kayla Koll and Donita Hora were in charge of the gift table.

Best of Man and Best of Woman were Mr. and Mrs. James Paprocki of Wisconsin and Mrs. Edwin Karwacki of Chicago, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, Wyoming, and South Dakota, the couple will make their home in Ord where the groom is employed by Best Irrigation Co. and the bride is employed by the Valley County Hospital.

They wore identical gowns of ice blue satin backed crepe. They were princess style with inset yokes and collars of white lace. Each carried a colonial nosegay of silk flowers consisting of ice blue roses, white pickle carnations, pink and yellow daisies, and dried and silk baby's breath.

Gary Petska, brother of the groom, served as best man with Galen Michalski of Omaha, brother of the bride, and Danny Petska, brother of the groom, as groomsmen. The ushers were Bill Petska, of Grand Island, brother of the groom, and Lynn Osentowski, cousin of the bride. The attendants and ushers wore blue tuxedos with navy suede

Rehearsal Supper

A rehearsal supper given by Alan Petska, was held at the Vet's Club on Aug. 10.

Yes, Sir... Yes SUHR! — Two returning Ord football letterman and hopefuls this fall, Keith Pelton, left, and Jeff Sich, eye new Chant head coach Gene Suhr (pronounced sir) at equipment check-out here Thursday evening. Suhr, on the right, at the same time sized up over 50 boys who hope to see gridiron action this fall. Pelton is one of the few returning Chant starters, from the 1978 squad. Both boys will probably be seen in the Ord backfield when the Chants open against St. Paul, here on Sept. 7th.

Quinn Begins Quest For NU Quarterback

Ordite Jeff Quinn, 6-2, 203-lb. Junior at the University of Nebraska, was listed as the Big Red's starting quarterback in the pre-fall depth chart released this week by the UNL publicity department.

Quinn, son of State Trooper and Mrs. Phil Quinn of Ord, began preparation for the 1979 season with a Photo Day Aug. 19, following Saturday's physicals. Two-a-day practice sessions began Monday, in shorts and helmets, and the 127 varsity candidates will don full pads today, Aug. 23.

One of 39 returning lettermen, Jeff's pre-season position of No. 1 quarterback came when he emerged from Spring sessions showing a bit more promise than Mark Mauer, ranked as second in contention for signal caller.

A scrambler and good runner, Jeff's weakness, presumably his passing, though some sports writers have said the Ordite is a better passer than he's given credit for — that his running ability simply surpasses his throwing.

Until Nebraska's opening kickoff at Lincoln against Utah State on September 15, local sports fans will be watching reports with hope and pride that an Ord native may be directing one of the nation's predicted Top Ten football teams.

Weekend Openings Planned for Pool

"We were closed so much this summer," Ord Councilman Roger Goldfish told the Quiz, this week, "we're going to try and keep the swimming pool open a little longer."

But with the opening of school and the last days of summer, pool hours will be altered drastically.

Weather permitting, the City plans to open the pool for the regular hours of 1 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, and Sunday, Aug. 25 and 26, and again on Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day, Sept. 1, 2 and 3. Goldfish added that some previously unfinished cement work would probably be done during the closed weekdays before the pool is finally put in moth balls for the winter.

A swimming party for city workers is planned for this Thursday night, Aug. 30, before the pool goes to the weekend scheduling.

Sen. Wagner Tours Dams, Reservoirs

Sen. Don Wagner of Ord will be among six Nebraska Legislators getting a firsthand look at the site of the Gray Rocks Dam and Reservoir during the Nebraska Irrigation Tour Aug. 22-24.

About 150 water planners and users have indicated participation in the tour, which will travel to irrigation and power sites in western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming.

Sen. Don Dvorak, Columbus, another of the six legislators making the trip, said it offers the senators an opportunity to "get out into the territory and talk firsthand with people involved with irrigation and water."

"We're constantly talking about water in the Legislature," he said, adding that tour participants will have an opportunity to visit with Wyoming officials about Gray Rocks Dam and shared water and power facilities.

Dr. Leslie Sheffield, assistant to the UNL vice chancellor for Agriculture and Natural Resources and organizer of the tour, said professionals from a wide range of agriculture-related businesses, government and resource districts, as well as farmers, will participate in the tour. Travel time on the buses will be used for presentations by tour members and experts joining the tour in a particular area.

In addition to information about tour stops, topics such as current irrigation research, water legislation and financing for irrigation equipment will be discussed by tour members. Sheffield said participants will be encouraged to change seats and buses periodically to permit the greatest possible interaction with the varied experts on the tour.

Other important tour stops in Wyoming will be the Guernsey Dam and Reservoir of the North Platte Project, the second oldest U.S. Bureau of Reclamation project, and the Basin Electric Power Plant near Wheatland.

In Nebraska, the tour will stop at the Gerald Gentlemen I Power Plant at Sutherland, the Lockwood Corporation center pivot manufacturing plant and the Grasmick Farm in the Gering Valley, the Pathfinder Irrigation District, just east of the Wyoming-Nebraska state line, and the University of Nebraska Panhandle Station at Scottsbluff.

The tour will leave Lincoln early Aug. 22 and pick up additional passengers on the trip west, including a large contingent from the Panhandle. Headquarters for the tour will be the Scotts Bluff Inn at Scottsbluff. The tour will conclude the afternoon of Aug. 24 after traveling more than 1,100 miles.

Reclamation District Election Procedures Hearing August 30

Lincoln — State Senator Don Wesely today announced that a public hearing has been scheduled to consider the election processes of Reclamation Districts. The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. CDST on Thursday, August 30 in the Conference Room of the First National Bank Building, 330 East Douglas St., O'Neill, Nebraska.

Reclamation District elections have been criticized recently after elections were conducted this spring by the North Central Nebraska and Twin Loups Reclamation Districts. Opponents of the projects charged the elections, which were held to ratify contracts, were unfair and exclusionary because some people affected by the projects were not allowed to vote.

Wesely is Chairman of the Legislative Resolutions 20 and 55 Study Committee which is examining the election processes of special use districts.

Wesely said, "The hearing will deal with the election processes of Reclamation Districts. We are not concerned with the merits of why Reclamation Districts were, or will be formed, but only with the electoral process of the districts... how boundaries are determined, who is and who is not allowed to vote, how elections are administered, etc. I cordially invite people to attend this hearing and present any pertinent points of view you feel the Committee should consider in its analysis of Reclamation District elections."

Court Damage Appraisal Being Appealed by NPPD

Nebraska Public Power District officials are appealing the court appraisals of estimated damages on three separate tracts of land owned by Frank Beran of Sargent, where testing is to be done by NPPD prior to choosing a site for their proposed power plant.

Court appraisers estimated damages to Beran's Custer County land at $2,000, $11,600 and $1,000 on the three tracts, for the drilling of wells. Although NPPD has paid the amounts to the court in order to gain access to the land for their studies, NPPD representative Ron Bogus said the power district felt the sums were far too high for the type of studies to be done.

Screening Starts For Head Start Kids

Central Nebraska Community Services, Inc., of Loup City announced this week they will hold their annual pre-school screening Aug. 24 to Sept. 7, for four-year-olds interested in Head Start.

The screening includes a health history, vision and dental check, blood test and urine test, nutrition assessment, large and small muscle development evaluation and speech and language development evaluation.

Local screening for Valley County youngsters will be at the North Loup Head Start Center August 29 and 30, accepting walk-ins at 11 a.m.

A summary of the results of the evaluations will be given parents by Helen Roy, R.N., of Scotia.

Parents are asked to bring a urine specimen and the child's shot record. Proof of income is also needed if they wish to apply for the Head Start Program.

The screenings take approximately one to one and one-half hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foth attended the Buffalo County Fair at Kearney Saturday. Their grandchildren, Larry and Lou, drummer of Ravenna, had blue ribbon livestock at the fair.

Habbles by Bertha

Grandson Rex Clement left for California Wednesday morning. From here he went to Kearney and had breakfast with his dad, then headed west with his car packed with his guitars and other needed items. By chance he met two others who were also on their way to the University of California at Long Beach. They enjoyed having Rex around this summer and will miss him. He was our dinner guest last Monday.

Grandson Victor spent most of last week canoeing down the Niobrara River with a ROTC group of Kearney State College. There were 18 in the group. Distance on the river was 80 or 90 miles.

More about letters: Kathleen's daughter, Jennifer Sobley, is now touring Europe with friends after working in London for two months. She plans to return to the University of New York at New York City by Sept. 9 when school starts. Kathleen's George in Merchant Marines, moving jet fuel, recently went through Panama Canal, headed back to New York City. Barbara, the youngest, is working in Mexico City. She will be a high school senior at Kingswood School in Bloomfield, MI when school starts.

Kathleen and Barbara attended a formal reception at United States Ambassador Lucey's home honoring Jane Fonda and her husband. Jane Fonda is the daughter of Henry Fonda who was born in a cottage which is now at Sturk Museum at Grand Island.

Kathleen is as busy as ever painting. She plans to have an Art Exhibition at Sturk Museum May 22, 1980 into June.

She mentioned helpful maids. When she returned home to Mexico City July 1, after visiting here, she found her maid, Enrique, had painted her antique end table, the top crimson and the bottom sky blue enamel. The maid said it looked a bit odd the first time, but Kathleen says it looks strange in her living room of Moss green, gold and natural woods. A friend of hers has a helpful maid too. When her friend was on a trip the maid decided her huge Persian rug looked a little worn in the center, so she cut it down the middle and made two.

Seven months old Joseph Lange, son of the Duane Langes, was released from Valley County Hospital Thursday after being here more than two weeks.

Exchange student Thierry Ritter of Le Vesinet, a suburb of Paris, France, is staying with the Rolfe Staabs, the host family. The Staabs met him in Lincoln Friday. He will be with the Staab family for a month.

The 4-H Livestock Team that will go to the State Fair at Lincoln spent Monday evening judging at the Rolfe Staabs.

Mr. and Mrs. Loree Hornickel and Roger went to Milwaukee for the Sunday baptism of Luke Aaron, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Michael Rodgers. They left home Friday and returned early Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Tucker left for Loree Hornickel house Saturday and drove to the home of his folks, the Gröver Tuckers, in Denver, then to their home at Citrus Heights, CA.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jurgensen and children spent Monday to Thursday vacationing in Lincoln and Hickman. In Lincoln they were house guests of her sister, the Dennis Nelsons, and visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gillespie. In Hickman they were house guests of her sister, the John Millers, and visited cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore and family.

Wednesday Rites For John E. Kokes

John E. Kokes, a well known farmer-rancher and a lifetime resident of Valley County, was born May 16, 1911 on the family farm north of Ord to John E. Sr. and Barbara Petka Kokes and died August 22, 1979 at the Valley County Hospital in Ord at the age of 68.

John grew to manhood on the family farm, where he attended school at the Plain Valley rural school district. He later attended the St. Paul Business College at St. Paul, Minn., where he was married to Alice Adams on October 3, 1939. During his more than 40 years of farming he carried on a tradition established by his father, John Kokes Sr., of modern, efficient farming and ranching practices. He developed a diversified farming operation of primarily corn, alfalfa and prairie hay which supplied the feed for a cow-calf operation and feeder cattle. He shipped steers to the Omaha Stockyards for over 40 years and had one of the oldest established commercial Hereford cow herds in Valley County.

John's wife, Alice, died in 1942. On October 9, 1947, John was united in marriage to Clara Konkoleksi at Grand Island. They made their home on the family farm. His long-time interests in Valley County included the Ord community was evidenced by his involvement in many organizations and projects such as the paving of Highway 70 northeast of Ord, and the building committee of the Ord Catholic Church. John was one of the organization directors for the Loup Valley Rural Public Power District and served on the board for over 30 years. He was a member of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church, Parish, the Knights of Columbus, the Ord Elks Lodge #2371, the Nebraska Stock Growers Association, served on the Plain Valley School Board for many years, the Ord Coop. Board of Directors, the Mason State Bank Board of Directors at Mason City, and was Chairman of the Board of the Kokes Corporation.

Survivors include his wife, Clara of Ord; two daughters, Mrs. Patricia (James T.) McMahon of Central City, and Mrs. Kathleen (Michael) Sullivan of Mason City; four grandchildren; nine sisters, Mrs. Agnes Ston of California Services for Thelma Neilsen Flaherty

Thelma Neilsen Flaherty, a former resident of Ord, died in California at the Balboa Park Naval Hospital in San Diego on July 23, 1979, after a five year illness with cancer.

Thelma was born on August 25, 1921, in Valley County where she grew up and attended Ord High School, graduating in 1940.

She and her family moved to Riverside, CA in 1945. Here she met Edward J. Flaherty, a former navy man at Armed Forces Radio Service, in Hollywood. They were married in 1947 on August 9.

For 14 years while Ed served in the army, the family lived in several parts of the world: Tokyo, Japan; Long Island, NY; and later settling for 5 1/2 years in Rockville, MD. After his retirement and since 1962, the family has made their home in Sepulveda, CA. Thelma had been employed at Sencer Technology in Chatsworth, CA for seven years, up until last summer.

Thelma is survived by her husband, three children: a son, Patrick of Fairbanks, Alaska; daughter, Kathleen of Tujunga, CA; son James at home, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Nielsen, also residing in Sepulveda, CA.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Rogene Shirley of Torrance, one uncle, Jack Mogenson of Council Bluffs, IA; two aunts, Mrs. Bodil Hawley, Long Beach, CA, and Mrs. Marie Hunt of Delancey, IA. Her father, Niels D. Nielsen died in 1955.

A memorial service was held in California at the United Methodist Church of Sepulveda on July 28, with Rev. Ed McRae presiding. She was cremated and her ashes scattered at sea as she had requested.

Adult Classes Will Start September 17

College credit classes will begin in Ord on Sept. 17, according to Ed Bosworth, program coordinator.

College credit classes are sponsored jointly by Ord Public Schools and the Central Technical Community College area.

An organizational meeting will be held on Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ord High School Cafeteria. The purpose of the organizational meeting is to determine if enough people are interested in individual courses to warrant scheduling a class.

Residents of the Ord area will receive a flyer in the mail with a complete listing of courses and other information.

Courses were selected by a local advisory committee comprising the following members: Betty Jo Axthelm, Litt Ballou, Eldon Buoy, Duane Carson, Jim Knapp, Julie Noyes, Tom Osborn, Mick Puckett, Bob Shannon, Lucile Tolen, Les Veskrna, and Dr. Bill Gogan.

Local residents with suggestions for additional courses should contact Ed Bosworth or one of the committee members.

Adult Basic Education classes also are available for people who want to earn a General Educational Development high school equivalency diploma, or improve skills in reading, writing, speaking, or social studies. Project GOAL videotape courses in community development also are available through the Office for Educational Centers.

Classes to be offered include P.O. 1 to 4 in Home Management, CPR-Basic Life Support, Emergency First Aid, Principles of Real Estate, Speedreading, Introduction to Accounting II, Microwave Cooking, Systematic Training for Effective Parenting, Re-Upholstery, Trusts, Wills and Estate Planning, Positive Thinking, Self-Hypnosis, Foreign Affairs and Policy; Disco Dancing, Bridge, Leaded Glass Art, Silmattistics, Folk Art, Intermediate Tole Painting, Cake Decorating, and Banjo.

All In The Family
It wasn't difficult for those present to understand Carla's talent when they heard her father, Larry, begin the evening with a baritone solo of "The Impossible Dream" accompanied by 18-year-old Rachel at the piano.

(Though often thought to be a music teacher, Larry teaches math at Encina High School in California and sings simply because he loves music. Through the evening Larry sang a Negro spiritual "Let Us Break Bread Together," "Shenandoah," and "The Road to Mandalay." On the latter and final number, Larry was accompanied by Eric Knapp of Ord.)

Not to be left out of the musical talent, 14-year-old Carolyn Stallings presented a flute solo titled "Dance of the Flute" from the Nutcracker Suite. Mother Grata had opened the evening program with a tribute to her parents, life-long residents of Valley County.

The Stallings, unable to come to Ord on the actual 60th wedding anniversary in September, returned to California on Friday morning following an open house for the Olivers at the Presbyterian Church in Ord on Thursday afternoon.

Local residents who had read and heard of Carolyn's promise as a ballet star had no questions left in their minds after this past week — nor did they wonder when she's acquired her talent and determination. It's all in the family!

Commercial Timber Opportunity

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M. M. Van Kirk, Director of Information
Nebraska farmers and ranchers probably are missing an opportunity for profitable long-term investment in their land by failing to consider planting and management of some of their acreage for commercial timber.

With demand for lumber increasing and expected to double by the year 2000, Dennis Adams, University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources district Extension forester, says current projected income figures for various species may be understated. Recently he listed the following expected returns, based on current market value, for five common species in the state:

- $20,000 to $30,000 per acre for black walnut in 50 years.
- $200 to $300 per acre for cottonwood in 35 years.
- $500 to $1,000 per acre for hackberry in 60 years (and ash in 50 years).
- $600 to $1,200 per acre for silver maple in 35 years.
- $500 to $1,200 per acre for red oak in 65 years.

He points out that the cost of establishing an acre of timber rarely exceeds $130, and that landowners can qualify for cost-sharing, which pays up to 75 percent of this cost.

Adams advises landowners to consider timber production as a long-term proposition with cash returns many years in the future. And he adds that planting may be the best alternative land use, especially on wasteland, odd corners, inaccessible areas or marginal cropland that is producing minimal return.

Nearly every farm has a certain amount of acres which could be retired from cropping or pasture and planted to timber without interfering appreciably in the farm's overall production program. As for future returns, any land investor considering purchase wouldn't overlook the potential in 3, 5 or 10 acres of well-managed and well-maintained commercial timber on the property and the nearer it came to harvest maturity, the more incentive there would be to acquire it.

Naturally there would be a great many side benefits in such plantings in the form of soil erosion control, livestock protection, wildlife cover and windbreak benefits. But these could be enjoyed as a by-product through the years as the "crop" headed for its ultimate purpose. Think what even one acre of fine black walnut timber planted in 1929 would be worth today!

Dr. Mike Ferrill, state forester, declares that Nebraskans can observe good land management practices and grow both field crops and forest crops, and it need not be an all-or-nothing situation. He has pointed out that trees are a renewable resource and should be utilized just like corn and wheat. He notes that many older shelterbelts in Nebraska were not properly designed and are in need of rejuvenation. And he urges that when shelterbelts were removed, they be replaced to meet current land use patterns and needs.

Nebraska was once recognized as the "tree planters state." Our pioneer grandfathers and great-grandfathers who settled in the eastern half of Nebraska in the 1870's, 1880's and 1890's hastened to plant groves of trees to protect their farmsteads from winter winds and provide shade for the hot summers. A few of the magnificent cottonwood groves that distinguished the Elkhorn Valley and its tributaries in the early 1900's remain as examples.

And they planted orchards that provided an abundance of apples, cherries, mulberries and other fruit for several generations of their descendants to enjoy.

The shelterbelt plantings of the 1930's helped break a cycle of hot winds, dirt storms and severe erosion and revived the free planting tradition that is once more at low ebb.

A turn to tree planting with a commercial goal in mind and backed by more scientific selection and methods of maintenance could be one of the best things that could happen in Nebraska agriculture.

European Corn Borers

Several reports have come in on the presence of second brood corn borer moths. The second brood is famous for egg laying from late July until September with a peak of egg laying about mid-August. The female (a pale brown color) lays 5-50 eggs in a group preferably on the underside of lower leaves of young corn plants. These eggs will hatch in a week or less, depending on the temperature. There is no reliable guide for control of second brood, except that adults are attracted to late developing corn. Seed producers should scout fields frequently, and probably apply control measures if egg masses are found on 25 percent of the plants. Insecticides recommended for control of second brood corn borers are: Furadan 10% granules, Dyfonate 20% granules, EPN granules or diazinon granules. Furadan and Dyfonate have been more consistent in recent tests. Do not expect much more than 50 percent control of second brood.

Disease of the Week — Fire Blight

Fire blight is a very common plant disease in Nebraska. It's caused by the bacteria, Erwinia amylovora, which lives from one year to the next in cankers on infected twigs, branches or trunks. The disease attacks up to 75 different hosts, including cottonaster, mountainash, raspberry, rose, strawberry and crabapple.

Fire blight is normally more prevalent in spring, but recent reports from around Nebraska indicate it's also a summer problem.

The bacteria infect blossoms in spring, causing them to turn brown and die. Natural openings in leaves and bark also are entry points for the bacteria. Fire blight spreads by wind and rain, and high humidity and morning dew also contribute to the spread. Typical symptoms are browning of leaves and a dark green ooze on newly-infected twigs. Pear tree leaves will turn black and terminal leaves on all species may be bent into a shepherd's crook. Leaves will remain attached, however.

For effective control, all infected or cankerous twigs and branches should be pruned out, with cuts being made 12 inches below the canker. Sterilize the pruning instrument between each individual pruning cut. Immerse shears or cutters momentarily in a solution of one part bleach to 20 parts water.

Prune when plant or trees are dormant, either in late fall or early spring. In the spring, spraying with a solution such as streptomycin three or four days before blossoms open, and repeating every five to seven days for three weeks, should give control. Waiting periods between application and harvest may be sure to check label precautions when using on fruit trees.

Young trees being treated for fire blight should not be fertilized excessively.

Land Bank Stockholders Meet in GI Sept. 19th

The Federal Land Bank Association of Grand Island has set its 1979 stockholders' meeting for September 19, according to Allen J. Grudzinski, Association president. The meeting will be held at the Lederkrantz in Grand Island with registration beginning at 6 p.m.

Johnny Reiners of Juniata, chairman of the Board of Directors, will preside at the annual business meeting during which members will hear a report on the past year's lending activities of the Land Bank Association. Stockholders also will elect two members to the FLBA Board of Directors and three members will be elected to the nomination committee. A buffet style dinner will follow the business meeting.

In addition to Chairman Reiners, other directors are Larry Fagan, Hampton, Allen Kees, Cotesfield, Terbert Uiter, Sutton, Clayton Karr, Bladen, and Cecil Glaue, Archer.

The Grand Island Federal Land Bank Association makes long term loans secured by real estate to farmers and ranchers in Adams, Clay, Greeley, Hamilton, Howard, Merrick, Nuckolls, Sherman, Valley and Webster Counties. The FLBA is a cooperative lending organization, entirely owned by its member-borrowers.

The Ord Quiz Seeks Information

The Quiz is planning to do some articles about the plans of the young people in this area who are going to school this fall to a college, university, trade school, or other schools. These articles are not only for students just beginning their schooling, but also those who have previously gone and are continuing their education this fall.

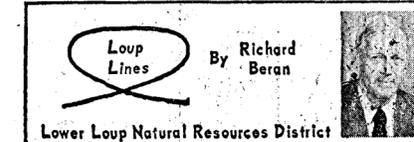

Located in this Quiz is an information blank for students and their parents to fill out and return to the Quiz by October 1.

We would appreciate your cooperation so that the community can back you in your new or continued endeavor.

Lower Loup Natural Resources District
By Richard Beran

Each month we receive a newsletter from the National Water Resources Association dealing with water issues on a national basis. Generally, the subject material gives the status reports and legislative news on Bureau of Reclamation projects.

This month's publication has a couple of interesting articles; one on Fast Track legislation and one on the Platte River Study, I though our readers might be interested in.

"Fast Track. That's the fashionable new Washington buzz word and it has important meaning. It seems that very few people realize that the long lines and the zooming prices at the gas pumps are the direct results of the environmentalism movement. We spent several billion dollars to build the Alaskan pipeline only to find the only outlet for the crude oil it delivers is to send it to Japan. To be sure there are some complex exchanges of Middle East crude involved, but we find ourselves in this energy mess because environmental concerns and regulations prevented the construction of new refineries and also stopped dead the construction of a pipeline from California to Texas where underutilized refinery capacity is available. So now, energy development which has been retarded because we have given higher priorities to snail darters, whooping cranes, furbish houseworts, and a host of other concerns has now become a national crisis. Now, at long last, the Government has begun to realize that the environmental pendulum must swing back toward a semblance of balance. To quickly achieve this goal, the Administration now proposes an Energy Mobilization Board that will be authorized to select 24 priority public or private energy projects and put them on a FAST TRACK development cycle.

"The Platte River Study Coordinating Committee, co-chaired by Wayne Hall, Chm. of the Missouri River Basin Comm., and the newly-appointed Special Asst. to the Sec't, R. J. Brumby, with membership from F&W, USGS, BuRec., and the States of Colorado, Nebraska, and Wyoming, will oversee the conduct and coordination of the study. A draft plan of study is being reviewed by the member States and agencies and is expected to be approved at the Coordinating Committee's next meeting in Denver in early September. Meanwhile, F&W has completed its second season of field study of the migratory waterfowl and related habitat areas. The USGS has initiated the correlation and location of flow measurement stations with the waterfowl habitat areas. The BuRec is collecting data on water consumption and hydrologic conditions in the three states. Summary reports of each of the agencies are scheduled to be completed before mid-1981 and the report of the overall study is scheduled for completion by the end of 1981.

"Demands for water in the Upper Platte River Basin apparently will exceed supplies within the foreseeable future. Decision makers need to know how much water is available and the full array of options possible for the use of that water. This vital information together with a sound understanding of the hydrology, ecology, and economics of the Upper Platte River Basin will be available from this study effort."

Husker Harvest Days Planned At Grand Island Sept. 18-20

Seventeen acres of irrigated, domestic, oil-type sunflowers will be put through combine during Husker Harvest Days, Sept. 18-20, near Grand Island.

An increasingly popular mid-west crop, domestic sunflowers are grown for their seeds which are crushed to get oil. The seeds are slightly smaller than the confectionery sunflower seeds sold as a snack food.

The Husker Harvest Days sunflowers have 8- to 10-inch-diameter heads and are slated to be combined with a new John Deere six-row, row-crop head. A regular combine small-grain head equipped with special rollers convert it into a row-crop head can also be used to harvest sunflowers.

Husker Harvest Days, in its second year, is designed to give Plains States and Corn Belt farmers a hands-on look at harvesting, tillage and irrigation equipment. Harvesting of 425 acres of corn, milo, soybeans and popcorn and tillage operations will be done with various manufacturers' equipment on a farm scale during each of the show's three days. There also will be ensilage chopping and haying operations going on each day.

Visitors can get into the fields for firsthand inspection of machine performance. They also can take a look at grain drying and handling systems in operation. In addition, at scheduled times each day, all of the show's nine irrigation systems will be operating.

Visitors also can browse through the 70-acre exhibit area at the show. The exhibit area features virtually every type of farm machinery and equipment available.

Ladies Too!
For the woman of the house, there's a special program planned. Beginning at 10:45 and lasting until 11:30 a.m. each morning will be a presentation on "Winning Ways with Wheat" by Sue Smith, home economist for the Nebraska Wheat Division. Mrs. Smith's presentation will focus on making and using bread and using bulgur wheat, with an eye toward holiday meals.

Following a 2-hour lunch break, the women's program will resume at 1:30 p.m. with a presentation that changes each day. "Everything You Ever Wanted to Know About Sausage Making" will be the topic for Tuesday, Sept. 18 presentation. Patricia Sparks, home economist with the International Natural Sausage Casing Association, will give a 45-minute demonstration on making and cooking sausage.

On Wednesday, Hall County extension agent Nancy Schmedtmann will discuss "Surprises from the Scrap Bag" during the 1:30 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. period. Her presentation will dwell on making decorative objects and gifts from scraps.

Thursday's presentation will feature "Decorating with House Plants" by Earl May Co.

From 2:45 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., each day of the three-day show, Brandeis department store in Grand Island will show the latest in fall fashions. Clothing will be modeled by both men and women.

Husker Harvest Days is sponsored by Nebraska Farmer magazine and the Nebraska Agricultural Institute, an arm of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce.

The permanent 930-acre show site, 6 miles west of Grand Island, is amply equipped with sanitation facilities, public telephones and drinking fountains. There will be lunch stands in the exhibit area where showgoers may purchase lunches. There also is plenty of parking, including room for campers.

Admission is free.

Crop Water Use Details

The following crop water use data is supplied by the Lower Loup Natural Resources District and is published as a public service by the Ord Quiz.

For the week of August 13, through August 19, crop water use for alfalfa under full cover was 30 inches; crop water use for corn was 30 inches.

Next week's forecasted crop water use for the week of August 20 through August 26 is estimated to be: 1.8 inches for alfalfa under full cover; 1.8 inches for corn.

Producers please note: Immediately after cutting, water use for alfalfa will be 50% of the figure given; after 10 days, water use will be 75%. At 20 days after cutting, water use is the figure given.

I'd like to say one thing about President Carter and the gas shortage; he said he would never lie to us and he hasn't. As far back as 1976, Jimmy Carter said he would put this country back on its feet again.

We Beg Of You

Vacationing editor Wade Misko's note read, "Editorial possibility — start of school year, drive safely, etc."

The warning is off-repeated. Nearly every newspaper in the nation will devote space, begging drivers to exercise caution with over-eager and preoccupied youngsters excited about meeting old friends, and new, as classrooms come alive once again.

There will be classrooms, though, that don't come alive. The sorrow and tears for a classmate, struck down by a careless driver, will bring gloom and nightmarish memories that will last a lifetime . . . for some.

Don't let that happen in our community. Please!

The Cupboard Was Bare

After zero percent property tax increases were placed on schools in Omaha and Nebraska City, last week, we heard and read of blame-placing about everywhere except where we feel the voters had intended.

Everything from the high salary of Omaha Superintendent Owen Knutson to need for property tax relief was blamed for the voters' outcry at the polls.

We can't help but agree with a local accountant we visited with last week. He thought — as did we — that the voters were merely saying we can't afford all this spending.

The message, to us, is simple. And it's loud and clear. People are running out of money. They've been forsaking their needs far too long, while watching the maddening increase of ridiculous government spending.

Why can't bureaucrats accept something so simple! Old Mother Hubbard knew the score. Nothing to nothing.

Lives or Reputations!

Recently an irate mother contacted the Quiz, upset over the appearance of her son's name in this paper. The appearance of the name had followed a traffic accident resulting in emergency treatment for two young men.

Information in this paper was not obtained from the judge, who was requested to hear the traffic charge in juvenile court. Outcome of the court appearance will not be known, due to the sealing of juvenile court records.

What we disagree with is the fact a traffic violation of a licensed driver was allowed to go to juvenile court.

The decision on where a case will be filed and heard is made by the prosecuting attorney or by request of the defendant 17 years of age or under. In this case the charge was filed by the County Attorney.

It is our belief that the age of legal licensing a driver on the public roads implies responsibilities for which the licensed driver should be accountable. Traffic violators are not only endangering their own lives, but the lives of anyone using or crossing the nation's roadways.

Hiding a traffic violator in juvenile court tells us either the violator isn't willing to take the responsibility implied with licensing, or over-protective authorities are more concerned with reputations than lives.

Something Different

Nice Young Men

Never a dull day, that's my motto. Each day brings new joys or tribulations. (This is a tribulation day.)

Today I took over our new four-door black VW Rabbit, and dieselized blithely off to meet a group of Friday morning friends for coffee and conversation.

What do we do? We talk about losing pounds, pounds of avoidipous that is. We encourage one another on with weird tales, skimpy recipes, quotes from doctors and friends.

For instance today I told them a goody, "You can't look fit as a fiddle when you're shaped like a cello." They laughed.

I am not the master of this little diesel burner by any means, but I keep trying. Today I thought as I drove "Woman, you make a lot of racket and black smoke when you roll out of one gear into another. You must do better!"

Leaving the meeting in a parlor of the Second Street Christian church early to avoid the noon traffic rush, I started toward home, two or three miles away. I headed for a grocery store: tonight was going to be lasagna night, in honor of a young guest from Indianapolis — I had to get milk, ricotta cheese, ice cream, Swiss cheese and so on (I use five kinds of cheese).

When — catastrophe — I couldn't change gears! No matter how I tried. There I was, out in heavy traffic, stalling everyone — and were they disgusted? So was I. I didn't know what to do. I am a mechanical dummy. Or a dummy mechanic if you prefer.

When up popped a friendly Mexican face beside the driver's window and asked what was wrong? I tried to tell him. And I

Businesses Are Puffing At Clean Indoor Air Act

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association Lincoln — Regulations for implementation of the Nebraska Clean Indoor Air Act, which will go into effect Jan. 1, are being prepared.

The first draft put together by the state Health Department was withdrawn after businessmen protested a proposed requirement to establish physical barriers between smokers and non-smokers, either by having a 56-inch partition or by leaving 4 feet of floor space between smoking and non-smoking sections in public places that will be covered by the law.

The Health Department's counsel, Gary Snowden, said those participating in a July 24 meeting to discuss the regulations, convinced him the requirement of such barriers between smokers and those who do not smoke would go beyond the rule-making authority the Legislature has given the department.

Snowden said meetings for those interested in discussing the regulations will be held until a public hearing on the final draft this fall.

The law also requires a second set of regulations, drafted by the health department, to regulate smoking in places of work, including factories and warehouses.

The sponsor of the legislation, Sen. Larry Stoney of Omaha, has said he hopes the requirement for a physical barrier between smokers and non-smokers will be in the regulations finally adopted by the state Board of Health.

According to Stoney, the July meeting called to discuss the regulations was dominated by people who opposed the law. He added more supporters of his bill will be at the next meeting and they will make their views known.

Stoney modeled his bill after the Minnesota law, which has been in effect for four years. He planned to go to Minnesota with Health Department officials for a meeting with Minnesota health officials to discuss enforcement procedures and problems.

The second draft, of the suggested regulations will be discussed during an Aug. 28 meeting.

Resist Alcoholism Treatment

The director of the state alcoholism agency, William Ford, says there is much resistance within the medical and education professions to the treatment and prevention of alcoholism.

During a recent appearance before the Legislature's Public Health Committee, Ford said most school districts have resisted making an alcohol abuse program a part of their curriculum.

He added that except for the Catholic schools in Omaha and the Lincoln public schools, the state Division of Alcoholism has not been able to talk school administrators into including in their courses some instruction on alcohol abuse.

Ford said the administrators of schools are not a problem, but do include courses on drug abuse.

Because of the stigma attached to it, doctors, especially in rural areas, do not diagnose alcoholism, Ford said. There are many cases of "nervous exhaustion and vitamin deficiency" that are alcohol-related.

Ford said the $1.6 million state spends for treatment of alcoholism is a relatively cheap investment when compared with mental health and mental retardation programs.

He estimated, 100,000 Nebraskans are excessive drinkers.

School Consolidation Discussed

A bill designed to force consolidation of schools is being prepared by Sen. Peter Hoagland of Omaha, who plans to introduce the legislation during the 1980 legislative session.

An aide to Hoagland, Jim

Geranium Joe Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Doubtless God could of made a better berry, the saying goes, but doubtless God never did. I agree strawberries are a treat, but I wouldn't limit such a compliment. The strawberry is such a short time but the vegetable garden has as many lives as we want to give it.

If that seems off my usual line, Mister Editor, it's because I'm trying to recall the way this preacher put it when he stopped by the store Saturday night. Of all things to run out of, he told the fellers, he had to get salt for the sweet corn somebody had give him. He hurried home for supper and he left fresh items for the agender, Lumir Cadek said he was full agreed with the preacher, but he asked whither the preacher thought God saw the planting, plowing and picking, since he didn't give credit to anybody else.

The fellers talked general about gardens. Lumir allowed that working as a partner with God to grow it is part of the joy of eating and sharing it. The farmers markets and the grocery stores can do their best, he said, but they can't quite come up to a dewy tomato eat right off the vine, or peppers you go straight to the house and cut up in a salad. Frank Cernik said fish is like vegetables, only more so. You can buy fish straight off the boat, Frank declared, but it still ain't up to fish straight off your hook and straight in the pan. The glories of a summer garden, the fellers agreed, is a worthy sermon topic that lightens the burden of winter's cabined beans.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

had help immediately as he pushed the car to the curb.

When I stepped to the sidewalk a friendly mailman told me of a near little foreign car garage close by.

I locked the car and walked up there to meet another accommodating young man — but he had no knowledge of Volkswagens, he declared. "May I use your phone," I asked and shortly I was talking to John Sullivan.

He took charge and quieted me down, telling me to sit down and wait right there for a Triple A Truck. Our car was still under warranty so it was to be taken to the dealer where we got it, and John would meet me there.

While I waited for AAA the young owners of the new little garage handed me hot coffee plus a cookie! Didn't I luck out?

I wrote this while waiting at the dealer's, and he assured me that he had the parts and that the car "will be in good shape by five o'clock of this Friday." And so it was.

Four pleasant nice young men, all going out of their way to help a forlorn traveller.

But the day had another surprise for us.

I answered a knock on the door, and there was Elliott McClure, backed up by Lucy. We had a good chat along with our lasagna, and planned to meet again soon.

Abortion Trial Begins

The U.S. District Court trial testing the constitutionality of the state's abortion law is being held in Lincoln before Judge Warren Urbom.

The trial opened Aug. 11 and is expected to last about three weeks.

Urbom has twice enjoined the state from enforcing certain provisions of the abortion laws, one passed by the Legislature in 1978 and the other which went into the statute books in 1979.

He also suspended a part of the law requiring a 48-hour waiting period between the time a woman gives her informed consent for an abortion and the actual operation.

Among the first witnesses were Dr. G. William Orr of Omaha, an obstetrician and gynecologist who performs abortions for Women's Services P.C. and Omaha Clinic, and Linda Koch, executive director and assistant secretary of the Ladies Center Inc. in Omaha where, she said, 40-45 abortions are performed weekly.

Orr, Women's Services and the Ladies Center are among plaintiffs in the lawsuit.

Urbom said he is willing to work odd hours if court days must be lengthened in order to complete the trial by September.

— pleasure —

Extremely busy in the realm of printing at the Quiz, I was wondering how I could help edit this week's paper while Wade Misko was on vacation — and, at the same time, I was dreading the work ahead. I would not entertain long hours and dual demands.

Time doesn't wait, though, and late last Wednesday I was handed a list of things that "would probably happen" and deserved newspaper coverage.

The first thing on the list frightened me half to death. It called for a feature — or some sort of story — on a ballerina to perform in Ord that evening.

I'd never seen a live ballerina perform and had no idea how to cover such an event. Nevertheless I grabbed a notebook and put it in the front seat of my car.

About the time of the dance performance, at Ord High School, there was also an auction in the neighborhood. Thinking it would be an auction fan, I circled the high school twice and nearly opted for the sale instead of something I knew absolutely nothing about.

Finally, taking a deep breath and telling myself there's a first time for everything, I quietly entered the auditorium just as the evening's entertainment was underway. Thanking the Gods that the front seats were full,

I settled in the back bleachers with a smattering of other latecomers.

I'd written down the first vocal solo, on my paper, when I glanced up to see the former Joan Beerline entering with her mother and daughter. Joan spied me and sat down.

"God!" she said, "I can't believe this. Do you know who this girl is? And right here in Ord, Nebraska!"

"Ya, I do," I tried to whisper quietly, "but I'm suppose to be covering this and I don't know the first thing about ballet, I don't even know when to applaud."

"Whenever you get turned on," Joan quickly replied. "Just clap at anything that grabs you."

I was wanting to clap at Joan, if she'd grab me, but thought better of it and turned around to watch the performance.

If you read the story in this paper, I need not tell you I thoroughly enjoyed the evening and the dancing.

But the point I'd like to make is what's happened to me during the few days I've been getting out and away from my desk. Talking with people I seldom see or visit, I again realize what a small world we can create, for ourselves, and what a big, wide wonderful world is right outside our door.

"SHALL THE LEGAL VOTERS OF THE TWIN LOUPS IRRIGATION DISTRICT APPROVE OR DISAPPROVE THE CONTRACT FOR A SUPPLY OF WATER PROVIDING FOR PAYMENTS TO BE MADE BY THE LEGAL VOTERS OF MORE THAN ONE YEAR, SAID CONTRACT BEING IN THE FORM OF AN ORDER ENTERED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE TWIN LOUPS IRRIGATION DISTRICT, NAMED, PRECINCT NO. 1, DATED JUNE 27th, 1979, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND AS PROVIDED FOR UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND TO FULFILL THE MANDATE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA."

FOR APPROVAL OF CONTRACT AGAINST APPROVAL OF CONTRACT FOR WATER SUPPLY
Legal voters of the Twin Loups Irrigation District are hereby notified that the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Irrigation District has submitted to the legal voters of the Twin Loups Irrigation District a contract for water supply, which is the agreement for water service between the Twin Loups Irrigation District and the Twin Loups Reclamation District, Precinct No. 1, in accordance with the provisions of Section 48-14, R.S. 1943, and as provided for under the provisions of Section 48-14, R.S. 1943, and to fulfill the mandate of the Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska.

In a general way the substance of the proposed Contract is as follows: The quantity of water to be delivered is one and one-half (1 1/2) acre-feet of water delivered to the farm turnout for each irrigable acre.

(2) The term of years such service is to be supplied shall be fixed and determined as provided in the contract between the United States and the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

(3) The price per acre to be paid is annual installment in an amount not to exceed $3.30 per acre-foot for the basic allotment of 1.5 acre-feet per acre of irrigable acreage.

The annual installment shall not be payable until the fourth year following the beginning of the development period of each irrigation block of the District, and the amount to be paid that year shall be one-seventh of $3.30 per acre-foot of water delivered to the farm turnout following the beginning of the development period for said block when this installment shall be due.

(4) The amount of the installment may be renegotiated but any adjustment shall not exceed 20 percent of the amount of the installment prevailing at the time of said adjustment.

(5) A charge which shall be a proportionate share of the Reclamation District's operation and replacement costs will be made.

(6) The method and manner of providing the amount of money necessary to pay for the obligation incurred herein shall be raised by special assessments on lands within said irrigation District.

(7) Additional water, to the extent available, will be delivered to the irrigable lands of the District during each irrigation season at a rate per acre-foot to be determined by the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Irrigation District and the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

Copies of said Contract for Water Supply are available at the County Clerk's Office in Ord, Nebraska, Greely County, Nebraska, Central City, Nebraska, and Fairport, Nebraska, and at the Office of the Twin Loups Reclamation District at 710 7th Street, St. Paul, Nebraska.

The ballot for the Special Election shall have printed thereon "For Approval of Contract for Water Supply" and "Against Approval of Contract for Water Supply," which said ballots shall be printed and contain the following:

THE PROPOSITION OF SUBMITTING THE CONTRACT FOR A SUPPLY OF WATER PROVIDING FOR PAYMENTS TO BE MADE BY THE LEGAL VOTERS OF MORE THAN ONE YEAR, SAID CONTRACT BEING IN THE FORM OF AN ORDER ENTERED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE TWIN LOUPS IRRIGATION DISTRICT, NAMED, PRECINCT NO. 1, DATED JUNE 27th, 1979, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND AS PROVIDED FOR UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND TO FULFILL THE MANDATE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA.

"SHALL THE LEGAL VOTERS OF THE TWIN LOUPS IRRIGATION DISTRICT APPROVE OR DISAPPROVE THE CONTRACT FOR A SUPPLY OF WATER PROVIDING FOR PAYMENTS TO BE MADE BY THE LEGAL VOTERS OF MORE THAN ONE YEAR, SAID CONTRACT BEING IN THE FORM OF AN ORDER ENTERED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE TWIN LOUPS IRRIGATION DISTRICT, NAMED, PRECINCT NO. 1, DATED JUNE 27th, 1979, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND AS PROVIDED FOR UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 48-14, R.S. 1943, AND TO FULFILL THE MANDATE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA."

FOR APPROVAL OF CONTRACT AGAINST APPROVAL OF CONTRACT FOR WATER SUPPLY
Legal voters of the Twin Loups Irrigation District are hereby notified that the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Irrigation District has submitted to the legal voters of the Twin Loups Irrigation District a contract for water supply, which is the agreement for water service between the Twin Loups Irrigation District and the Twin Loups Reclamation District, Precinct No. 1, in accordance with the provisions of Section 48-14, R.S. 1943, and as provided for under the provisions of Section 48-14, R.S. 1943, and to fulfill the mandate of the Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska.

In a general way the substance of the proposed Contract is as follows: The quantity of water to be delivered is one and one-half (1 1/2) acre-feet of water delivered to the farm turnout for each irrigable acre.

(2) The term of years such service is to be supplied shall be fixed and determined as provided in the contract between the United States and the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

(3) The price per acre to be paid is annual installment in an amount not to exceed $3.30 per acre-foot for the basic allotment of 1.5 acre-feet per acre of irrigable acreage.

The annual installment shall not be payable until the fourth year following the beginning of the development period of each irrigation block of the District, and the amount to be paid that year shall be one-seventh of $3.30 per acre-foot of water delivered to the farm turnout following the beginning of the development period for said block when this installment shall be due.

(4) The amount of the installment may be renegotiated but any adjustment shall not exceed 20 percent of the amount of the installment prevailing at the time of said adjustment.

(5) A charge which shall be a proportionate share of the Reclamation District's operation and replacement costs will be made.

(6) The method and manner of providing the amount of money necessary to pay for the obligation incurred herein shall be raised by special assessments on lands within said irrigation District.

(7) Additional water, to the extent available, will be delivered to the irrigable lands of the District during each irrigation season at a rate per acre-foot to be determined by the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Irrigation District and the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

each irrigation season at a rate per acre-foot to be determined by the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Irrigation District and the Board of Directors of the Twin Loups Reclamation District.

Come To Church

READ GENESIS 4:8-16 (Genesis 4:9 RSV)

"Am I my brother's keeper?" I was reared in Arkansas where my grandmother lived. She enjoyed telling my sister and me all sorts of interesting stories to entertain us and to recall our Danish heritage. One such story was of Denmark's heroic protection of her Jewish population during the Nazi occupation. Most of the 6,000 Danish Jews were taken by boat to neutral Sweden while the Danes protected Jewish property for their return. Jewish deaths were few in number.

The Danes had recognized their fellow humans as brothers and sisters - people created and loved by the one God. Many times our actions contradict our words of love professed in Christ's name. We say we love others, but we act as if only our denomination, social group, state, nation, or race is preferred by God.

We need to reflect upon the meaning of personhood so that the blood of our brothers and sisters does not cry out to God against us. Paul said, "If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal."

PRAYER: Our God and our King, help us to realize that our insensitivity to others' needs causes us to think only of ourselves while they remain tormented, physically and spiritually. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Are my actions causing others to cry to God for help?

WHY IN THE WORLD DON'T YOU?

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Jerome Florian, who passed away one year ago.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers
There is not a day, dear one
That we do not think of you.

Jill Hamer Crowned '79 Popcorn Queen

Jill Hamer was crowned the 1979 Popcorn Days Queen in ceremonies Tuesday night. Jill, the 17 year old daughter of John and Dena Hamer received her crown from Sharon Kriewald, last year's Popcorn queen.

Moments before ending her one year reign, Sharon said "it is nice to be from North Loup, a town where people still care about each other."

With that, Jill was crowned the 1979 Popcorn Days queen. A senior at North Loup High School, Jill is active in volleyball and list s bike riding, macramé, and latchwork as her hobbies.

Members of her court are:

- Ronda Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Shoemaker.
- Annette Peetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peetz.
- Diane Lundstedt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundstedt.
- Lisa Rasmussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rasmussen.

Kingergarten attendants during ceremonies Tuesday night were Mike Mallory and Marsha Boyce.

County Dads Approve Fairgrounds Building

County Dads approved funds for a fairground building project during their meeting in the courthouse here Tuesday. By a vote of 5-1, $275,000 was allocated for a new building to be located next to the animal barn on the south side of the fairgrounds.

Members of the Loup Valley Ag Society had asked $357,000 for the project last week, but were rejected. The lower price tag approved Tuesday included reduced building dimensions and scaled down interior specifications.

The building will consist of two areas: an arena purpose area and a main arena building. Both will be attached to the new animal barn by a corridor.

It will be financed by a .8 or .9 mill tax levied on Valley County residents. This assessment will include that now used to raise funds for the Valley County Fair, according to Don Walker, a fair board member.

Greene Building and Supply had submitted a bid of $272,202.76 on the building project.

Injury Avoided in Two Vehicle Accident

Two drivers escaped serious injury in a two-vehicle accident a half mile south of North Loup Sunday, around 8:15 p.m. Don Walker, of Ord, was driving a pickup truck south on a county road. Delwyn Cargill of Scotia was going east on Highway 22 in a car.

Walker reportedly halted for a stop sign and pulled into the intersection where the two vehicles met.

State Trooper Jerry Schmitt estimated there was $1,900 damage to each vehicle. Walker was taken to Valley County Hospital and kept overnight for observation. Mrs. Cargill, a passenger in the Cargill car, had minor bumps and bruises.

Dams Threaten State Wildlife

The Calamus Dam and a dozen others in Nebraska reportedly pose threats to fish and wildlife habitat downstream according to a story in the August 24 Lincoln Journal. Staff writer Jim Aucoin wrote an article saying the wildlife threats were found in a draft study released by a federal inter-agency task force on stream flows.

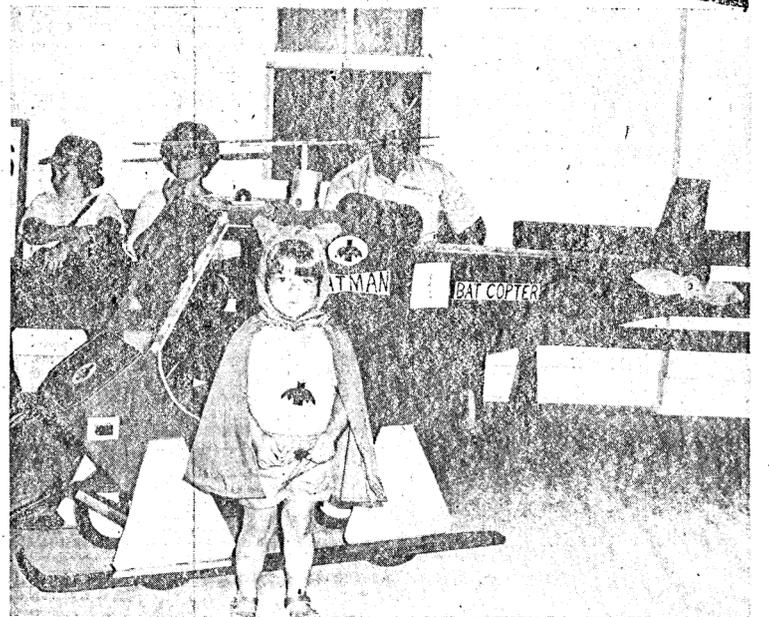

The study is reportedly based on information supplied by Nebraska water experts and is one of several studies of the nation's water policy being conducted by the federal government.

Along with the Calamus, the Norden Dam was cited. That reportedly is likely to block the normal silt load from reaching downstream. The Reclamation Bureau, according to Aucoin's article, has agreed to increase flows at Norden Dam from 15 to 50 cubic feet per second or higher.

Aucoin stated no solutions have been found for problems found at Arcadia.

No solutions can be found for problems identified at the proposed Calamus Dam on the Calamus River, according to Aucoin's article. "The dam, being constructed for irrigation, would release little or no water during the off season and harm downstream fisheries," the staff writer wrote.

Solutions have not been found for problems at Arcadia and five other locations in Nebraska.

Steve Scott Gets Top Prize At Popcorn Days Parade

Fun-Entertainment During 25th Annual Fall Festival

Arcadia's Fall Festival will offer fun and entertainment Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2 and 3.

A sports program in the town park will open '79 festivities at 1 p.m. Sunday. There will be races and prizes for different age groups. Events planned include a penny shower, a chicken scramble, a foot race, and other contests.

At 3 p.m. Sunday fire departments from different towns will participate in the Everything Goes contest. This will be followed by a free watermelon feed.

A demolition derby at 5 p.m. Sunday will be the last item on that day's calendar of events. For further information contact Gary Fernau. The car pits open at 3 p.m.

The traditional parade of bands and floats will launch the second day of fun Monday at 10:30 a.m. This year's theme is "Bumper Stickers". Floats not at the school by 9:30 a.m. will be judged in passing the announcer's stand only. Bands will lead the parade, plus color guards, etc. from nearby towns.

The identity of the 1979 Fall Festival Queen will be revealed in a media event following the parade. A full story on the queen candidates is elsewhere in this issue of the Ord Quiz.

Votes will be cast for the queen Saturday, Sept. 1. Competition is open to senior girls at Arcadia High.

A noon barbeque at the Legion building in downtown Arcadia will follow the coronation ceremonies Monday.

This year, the Junior Rodeo will be held at 2 p.m. at the Leach training stables.

Saturday, Sept. 1 and Monday, Sept. 3, the Arcadia Community Boosters will present skits titled "Signs of the Times". Curtain time is 8 p.m. in the Arcadia High School.

A dance Saturday night will be held at the Legion Hall in Arcadia.

Lowell Jones vs. Everybody

Lowell Jones, in a six page lawsuit, has taken on everyone from the County Clerk to Nebraska Governor, Charles Thone. Jones, a former Valley County resident, seeks to void county and state tax valuation increases on real estate in Valley County.

Named as defendants in the suit, filed August 28, are the Valley County Equalization

Board, the County Assessor, the Nebraska Department of Revenue, and other state and county officials and agencies.

Summons

Drawing up summonses kept staff members in the County Clerk's office busy for most of an hour Tuesday. The summonses went to County Clerk Thelma Dulitz, Charles Thone, Governor of Nebraska, and other officials.

Valley County 4-H'ers to Compete At Nebraska State Fair This Week

Staab's Stitchery Skills Sew Up Trip To State Fair

The talented needle of Miss Linda Staab has sewn up her trip to the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln. She will represent Valley County at the State Fair Style Revue September 4. A panel of three judges selected Linda for the honor during the 4-H Style Revue July 19 at the Ord Elks Club.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Staab of Arcadia, has been sewing seven years, she said in a Quiz interview Thursday. Her first project was a swim suit coverup both she and her mother, Lola, rated "pretty easy". She advanced to winning a purple ribbon at the style revue last July.

The mid-length dress has slit sleeves with a tight elbow. Ruffles at the skirt bottom and a draw-string waist completed her outfit. A Qiana knit, Linda estimated her prize winning outfit took about three days to make. She wore it to the Arcadia High prom and then to the dress revue in Ord.

Stitchery skill evidently runs in the Staab family. Linda rated her mother an excellent seamstress, adding, "She taught all us kids how to sew." Linda and her sisters, Penny, Donna, and Carolyn make most of their clothes. The only exception to this needle sharp sewing talent is her older brother, Bill.

Sister Penny went to the state 4-H style show two years in a row. She won a purple ribbon in 1978 and a blue in 1977. Donna qualified for the same event during the late 1960s and won a purple ribbon for her efforts.

State fair honors aren't the only sewing awards in the Staab family. Linda has won top marks in the annual "Make It With Wool" contest. Linda rated wool "my favorite fabric. I've had pretty good luck with that," she observed.

Last year her two-piece jacket and pant outfit won her a purple ribbon in 4-H competition and advanced her to state competition in the "Make It With Wool" competition.

"Wool is easy to work with", Linda said. "It's easy to sew, and it doesn't stretch. About the only fault it has is that you can't wash it. You have to dry clean it."

She plans to enter the wool contest again this year.

A soon-to-be junior at Arcadia High, Linda listed her future plans as "to keep on sewing. It's a lot cheaper," she stated, "than buying clothes."

Her hobbies include volleyball, track, and sewing.

Festival Queen Crowning To End Weeks of Waiting

Weeks of suspense will end Monday, September 3, when one of nine contestants is crowned queen of the 1979 Arcadia Fall Festival. The queen, as yet unknown, will replace Denise Lucitke the '78 Fall Festival monarch.

The crowning of the 1979 festival queen will follow a parade through downtown Arcadia Monday morning. The parade is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m.

Along with the queen a run-up will be named in ceremonies that day. If for any reason the newly elected queen should be unable to complete her term of office, the first attendant will assume her title.

Queen candidates this year are:

- Neta Bulger, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bulger. Neta has been active in volleyball, basketball, track, band and chorus. She was chosen Arcadia's representative to Girls State this year. Her hobbies are reading, swimming, and jogging. She plans to attend college after graduation from Arcadia High.

- Chris Holcomb, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Holcomb. Throughout her high school years, Chris has been active in volleyball, basketball, track, and band. Chris is a varsity cheerleader, and is the Arcadia High School drum major.
- A member of the Student Council, she serves as vice president. She is currently a member of the A. Club and the school Pep Club. Her hobbies include writing stories, crocheting, and sewing. She plans to attend Kearney State College after graduation.
- Teresa Holeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donnell C. Holeman of Arcadia. She has participated in volleyball four years, basketball two years, and track three years. She has been active in chorus and is a cheerleader and a pom-pom girl. She lists memberships in both the Pep Club and the A. Club. Her hobbies include riding horses, sewing, and singing. She plans to continue rodeoing and to attend college.
- Cindy Leininger, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leininger. She has taken part in volleyball, basketball, chorus, and is a cheerleader. Her main interests are sewing, bike riding, and swimming. Cindy's future plans are to attend a business school.
- Almetta Nehls, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nehls. The Arcadia High senior has participated in band, chorus, volleyball, and has been

State Highway Two Rated One Of America's Most Beautiful

Nebraska's Highway 2 is named as one of America's 20 most beautiful highways by Charles Kuralt. Special Correspondent for CBS television news.

Kuralt, well known to television viewers for his On The Road With Charles Kuralt feature, placed Highway 2 sixteenth on his list.

His selections were published in a copywritten article in the July 17 issue of Family Circle magazine under the title, "A Guide to America's Most Beautiful Roads."

Kuralt described the 275 mile segment of Highway between Alliance and Grand Island like this:

Alliance to Grand Island. Admire the "Western Desert" which resourceful Nebraskans have turned into a garden.

Highway 2 runs diagonally through the north-central part of the state. It carries its travelers through the lush farmland around Grand Island, through the transition zone between farming and ranching into the real ranch country of the Sand Hills and the lake and hill terrain of Grant and Sheridan counties. One of its scenic attractions is the man-planted Bessey Division of the Nebraska National Forest at Halsey. Beyond Alliance, Highway 2 turns north into the Pine Ridge. Some of its scenic features

Ruth's home was originally in Arcadia. She and Leon returned there from Deshler where Leon was employed by the Reinke Manufacturing Company. Leon (left) and Ruth (right) have redecorated the interior of their new business.

Ordination Services Held for Rev. High

Sunday, August 26, Ordination Services were held at 3:30 p.m. at the Evangelical Free Church in Ord for Rev. Richard High. Rev. Charles Crabtree of Aurora conducted the services. Rev. Crabtree, who is the district superintendent for the Mid-West District Conference of the Evangelical Free Church of America, was assisted by Rev. John Herman of Holcomb, Rev. John McNeill of Kearney and Rev. Gordon Langlie of Broken Bow. Following the service, a fellowship hour was held in the lower level of the church with the church ladies in charge. Rev. High graduated from Trinity Divinity School in Deerfield, Ill. in June of 1975. For a year and a half, he was associate pastor at Kearney. Rev. High has been the pastor of the Evangelical Free Church in Ord since July of 1976.

Birthday Celebrated

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ron Vasicek hosted a pre-birthday dinner in honor of their daughter, Rhonni. Rhonni became three on August 28.

Those present besides Rhonni were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Urbanski and daughters of North Platte, Leonard Urbanski and Ronda Krumm of Lincoln, Jim and Lil Vasicek, Mary Janicek, Adeline Urbanski, and Rhonni's parents and brother, Steven. Dwayne Vasicek of York joined them later in the afternoon.

Dinner Planned

Kansas Congressman Keith Sebelius will be the main speaker for a reception and dinner honoring Cong. Virginia Smith September 8 in North Platte. The reception will start at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by the dinner at 7:30 p.m. Various state GOP Party officials will attend the event, according to a news release received Tuesday.

Psota Reunion At Ravenna

The annual Psota Reunion was held at the VFW Park in Ravenna Sunday, August 19. Families shared the noon meal, then spent the afternoon visiting. Mrs. Agnes Psota Gross, Ord, was the only original family member in attendance. Others unable to attend were Mrs. Helen Habe, of Concord, CA; Mrs. Fran Psota, Twin Falls, ID; and Mrs. Fred Psota, Fairbury.

Besides Mrs. Gross, those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Rasset and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Gross, all of Ord; Virgil Psota, Leonard Psota, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Psota and daughter, Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Psota, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Psota and daughter, Jennifer, and Mrs. Jack Psota, all of Ravenna; Misses Elaine Psota, Rhonda Psota, and Beverly Psota, Mr. and Mrs. Al Wink and daughters, Katie, Carol and Joanie, all of Kearney.

Afternoon visitors were Bess Cronin, Tyler Cronin and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Chizek of Ravenna and Mrs. Loren Obermiller of Loup City. The 1980 reunion will be held the third Sunday in August at Ord.

It's A Girl!

Mr. and Mrs. Don Karnopp of Lincoln (nee Judy Parkos) are the parents of a daughter, Kelly Lynn, who was born August 23 in Lincoln. Kelly weighed 8 lbs., 10 oz. She joins three sisters, Kris, Kendra and Katie. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Parkos of Holdrege and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Karnopp of Lincoln.

Cook Reunion Well Attended

The 65th annual Cook reunion was held at the North Loup United Methodist church Sunday, Aug. 26, for a fellowship dinner and renewing acquaintances. Joseph Cook was born July 17, 1821 in Bavaria, Germany. He emigrated to America when 12 years old, with his parents. He married Marie Rheinfrank March 27, 1848. They lived in Ohio until 1856, when they, with four children, came to Nebraska in a covered wagon. They filed a claim for land near Plattsmouth, which at that time was a small trading post. They had 12 children.

Dan Cook of Mira Valley asked the blessing before the noon meal. Portions of a poem, which was used at the Cook reunion in 1920, were used to introduce the various families in the family circle. Descendants from six of the original twelve children responded. Families represented were Sabina Cook Kitzel, Jacob Cook, who settled in Mira Valley of Valley County, George Cook, Carolina Cook, Cole, Charles Cook, and William Cook.

Family members came from Kansas, Missouri, Texas, Montana, Illinois, Colorado and many places in Nebraska, including area towns and Mira Valley. A son of Cook, deceased, and his wife Sara (now Mrs. Austin), who was present, had the most family members present, totaling 25.

Mrs. Roy Cole of Plattsmouth, who will be 90 on her next birthday, was the oldest present. She is a descendant from six of the original twelve children of "God Be With You" on the piano at the end of the afternoon while the rest sang. Showing much interest, the group decided to hold the Cook reunion at the North Loup United Methodist Church in 1980.

Business & Pleasure Trip

Mrs. Gladys Gogan and her son, Neal, have returned from an 11-day combined business and pleasure trip. They were in Portland, OR, Denver, CO, and Spokane, WA, to look for prospective residency locations for Neal, who will graduate from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in May. Enroute to these locations, they did a lot of sight seeing. Sunday, they returned to Kearney where they were met by Dr. Bill Gogan and Jane. Jane was arriving to prepare for classes at Kearney State College. Dr. and Mrs. Gogan returned to Ord and Neal to Omaha.

TOPS NE #302

TOPS NE #302 met August 23 in the United Methodist Church basement. Bernadine Silver was best loser for TOPS. Verja Fox was KOPS best loser for the week. Interesting discussion on dieting was held by the group. The next meeting place was discussed.

were Mr. and Mrs. Wencil Bruha of Grand Island. Afternoon and evening guests Saturday in the Will Penas home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruha of Comstock and Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Kvetensky of Ralston.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Penas were dinner and supper guests in the Frank Bruha home in Scotia. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Moudry and Jason.

People may doubt what you say. They always believe what you do.

Mrs. and Mr. Rollie Staab (far left and right) and Thierry (center).

International Visitors Find Nebraska Interesting

From the looks of things this week, Ord could be an international crossroads. Two European visitors are making their homes with Ord area families. A series of trans-Atlantic friendships directed Thierry Kittle to the Rollie Staab home southwest of Ord. With his interest in farming and horses, he is fitting right in. From a suburb of Paris, he arrived August 17.

"People," he observed, "are so friendly." Other items catching his attention were the change in languages and the rural environment.

A high school student, the 17-year-old lad wants to become a veterinarian after completing his education. He will return to France the first part of September.

A chance encounter fixed things so that Susan Romberger would find her way to the Al Kittle residence in east Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Kittle met Susan and her parents at the Oktoberfest in Munich a few years ago.

Exchanging addresses, Susan and the Kittle's daughter, Barbara, started writing to each other. The correspondence led to Sue's trip to the United States.

Since arriving August 4, she has toured quite a few mid-western states and got to see the Kansas City Royals play baseball. Susan is in the 12th year of a 13 year education program, majoring in Latin, French, and English. Only a slight accent and a brief hesitation before speaking betrayed the fact she wasn't a native Nebraskan.

Like this state, Bavaria, her home state, is an agricultural region. Corn and wheat are its chief products, according to the 17-year-old visitor. The region is also well-renowned for its beer. Each village has its own small brewery, Susan revealed.

During Oktoberfest they and their larger counterparts go all out in promoting their golden product. Block long tents with rows of end to end tables are devoted to good food, snacks, and beer. The internationally-known celebration also includes carnival rides and lots of good fun, during the near month-long annual event.

Susan related she had heard of Nebraska prior to her correspondence with Barbara. Sue's sister had a T-shirt bearing

Officers Installed Careerist Selected

Phyllis Buerger was elected Young Careerist at the meeting of the Ord Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday, August 28. She will compete for the District Young Careerist at the District Conference in Grand Island, September 23.

Jean Dubas, the 1979 Girls Stater, was the speaker. She was co-sponsored by the Ord BPW and the American Legion Auxiliary. Other guests, besides Jean, were Susan Hagadone, Marcia Druliner and Gretchen Ruchling.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Ceola Glenn, the following officers were installed by Florence Erickson: treasurer, Thelma Dulitz; corresponding secretary, Judy Puckett; recording secretary, Lu Gibby; vice president, Agnes Gerak; and president, Ceola Glenn. Rev. Ruth Moore, first vice president, was unable to be present to be installed.

Clara Jensen, Clara Belle King, and Jennie Biemond, retiring members due to health and aging, were recognized for long time years of membership and service to the Ord Club through a resolution and communication.

The next meeting will be September 11 with Gary Garnick presenting a program entitled, "Women in Japan".

TOPS NE #302

TOPS NE #302 met this week and the week's best losers were Mavis Entesman and Renae Markovka. Marie Novotny was KOPS best loser.

The traveling prize went to Freda Flock. The winning name drawn for the challenge was Cathy Bridgeman.

Mrs. Marjorie Naylor and son, Danny Halligan, are spending a week with her mother, Irma Mulligan, and other relatives.

FEELINGS . . . Sad . . . It all seemed so sad and dreary — everything — that day as I walked down the street. The day had been especially long and ugly and gloomy. All those I met looked troubled and filled with gloom — gloom of the day, I guess, or was it the gloom of life? True, it did make me feel quite sad. A friend spoke to me . . . and she seemed to echo my sadness.

Glad . . . Everything seemed happy and exciting, another day as I walked down the street. People were smiling and nodding and each one seemed to be enjoying life and all its beauty. It was a great feeling. My friend spoke and echoed my gladness.

Strange . . . Wasn't it? The same town, same street, the exact same surroundings; on two different days. Each reflected me alone. Maybe the day's cheer or drear depends on me.

Can attitude make so much difference? It seems so.

These wise words are certainly worth repeating: "Do more than exist — live. Do more than touch — feel. Do more than look — observe. Do more than hear — listen. Do more than listen — understand. Do more than talk — say something."

Evening Church Service Unites Kathy Kellums and Arthur Duvall

Kathy L. Kellums, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Locker, Sr. of Burwell, became the bride of Arthur B. Duvall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Duvall of Ord, August 4 at a 7 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by Pastor Richard Mintzloff at St. John's Lutheran Church in Burwell.

The organist was Mrs. Marilyn Burnham. Vocalists were Miss Shannon Hawk, who sang "My Sweet Lady" and Dean Christenson, who sang "Loves Grown Deep" and "The Wedding Song".

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride appeared in a floor length gown of sheer organza. Exquisite Venice lace enhanced the bodice and trimmed the full sheer sleeves. The scooped neckline was edged in delicate lace. The flowing A-line skirt curved to a sweeping chapel train. The bride chose a veil of nylon illusion on a headpiece that framed the face, with Venice lace and seed pearls matching the gown. She carried a bouquet of apricot roses, white and apricot rose buds, and baby's breath, fringed with white and apricot daisies, backed with white lace and trimmed with apricot and white streamers.

Mrs. Janet Harkness of Ord, friend of the couple, was matron of honor. She wore an empire, floor length apricot gown with the back sash, and carried a long stemmed apricot rose. Miss Bonnette Stewart of Burwell, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length apricot gown, trimmed with white lace on the bodice and sleeves. She carried a long stemmed apricot rose.

The groom wore a dark brown suit with a white carnation accented with an apricot rosebud. Paul Harkness of Ord, friend of the couple, was best man. He wore a light brown suit. Ushers were Mickel Kellums of Burwell, brother of the bride, and James King of Ord, friend of the groom.

Presiding at the guest book was Miss Harriet Bachman, niece of the groom.

A reception followed at the church. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Freeman of Theodorf, friends of the bride. The wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Uria Oxford and cut and served by Mrs. Terri Augustyn of Burwell, friends of the bride. Mrs. Lidia Freeman of Loup City, sister of the groom, poured the punch and coffee.

Mrs. Nancy Duvall, sister-in-law of the groom was at the gift table.

Following a trip touring Nebraska, the newlyweds are making their home on a farm near Ord.

Rehearsal Supper The rehearsal supper on Friday was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Duvall.

Pickar-Hansen Exchange Vows August 11 At First United Methodist Church in Ord

The First United Methodist Church in Ord was the setting for the August 11 wedding of Lois Jean Pickar and Paul Hayes Hansen. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Curtis Trenhaile at 7 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pickar of Ansley and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin J. Hansen of Ord.

The church altar was decorated with two, nine branch candelabras decorated with pink, yellow, mint green, blue and lavender candles accented with pastel carnations, greenery and satin bows. The candles were lighted by the attendants.

Mrs. Don Lee of Ansley was organist and played traditional wedding music. She also accompanied Mrs. Gary Deaver of Ansley who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Can't Help Falling in Love With You".

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a long white gown of polyester organza lined with acetate taffeta. Exquisite cotton Venice lace enhanced the bodice and trimmed the full sheer sleeves. Edged in delicate lace, the scooped neckline was raised in back. The flowing A-line skirt curved to a sweeping chapel train. Her veil was nylon illusion on a head piece that framed her face. Cotton Venice lace and seed pearls matched the gown. She carried a bouquet of lavender, yellow, mint green, pink and blue miniature carnations with baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a small gold heart shaped necklace with a pearl, a gift from the groom.

The bridegroom was attired in a white vested tuxedo with matching bow tie and white ruffled shirt. His boutonniere was a blue carnation with a baby pink rose.

Debra Nelson of Ansley was maid of honor. Monica Nelson of Comstock, Shirley Kelley and Charlene Scott, both of Broken Bow, and Joy Cramer of Merna, all friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length gowns of baby blue double knit featuring three tiers of gathered ruffles with baby blue lace trim and blue satin ties at the shoulders. Each carried large pastel football mums and wore a dainty gold necklace, a gift from the bride.

The flower girl was Melinda Hanks of Burwell, cousin of the groom. She wore a floor length white dress with blue roses. Her dress had a ruffle on the bottom and lace ties at the shoulders. She carried a basket of miniature pastel carnations.

Brian Miller of Broken Bow, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He was dressed like the groom and carried a satin heart shaped lace pillow. His boutonniere was a blue carnation.

Dwaine Vasicek was the best man. John Pickar of Ansley, brother of the bride, Craig Hansen, brother of the groom, Mark Orent and Chuck Green were groomsmen. They were all attired in baby blue tuxedo jackets with darker blue vests, trousers, bow ties, and white ruffled shirts with blue trim.

Each wore a boutonniere of a different color pastel carnation. The fathers wore tuxedos like the groomsmen and each wore a yellow carnation boutonniere.

The ushers were Randy Scott of Ansley, Randy Nelson of Ansley, cousin of the bride, David Goff of Burwell, cousin of the groom, and Cleon Hansen, uncle of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of light blue double knit with a V-neckline and long sheer sleeves. The mother of the groom wore a floor length sweeping chapel train with an accordion pleated overlay and an accordion pleated skirt. Both mothers wore a yellow carnation corsage.

Gerl Warford was in charge of the guest book.

Honored guests were Glenn Fietz of Ord, granduncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes of Ord, James Hansen of Elyria and Mrs. Doris Strohschein of Grand Island, grandparents of the groom.

Hosting the reception at the Ord Elks Club were Mr. and Mrs. James Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Hanks, all of Burwell, aunts and uncles of the groom.

The serving table was decorated with blue carnations and candle arrangements centered around a four tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with pastel roses, greenery, sugar bells, and white angels. The cake, punch, and coffee were served by aunts of the bride and groom.

Mary Beth Mangel of Ansley, Pat Beren of Ord, Mary Ellen Pickar of Illinois, and Rhonalda Evenson of South Dakota were in charge of the gift table.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Scott of Ansley and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Cottrell of Ord, hosted a dance at the Elks Club.

The bride and groom opened their gifts at home with their parents on Monday evening following the wedding.

Rehearsal Dinner A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening at the Elks Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Weckbach were honored for their birthdays Sunday noon when Carl Weckbach took them out to dinner. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bals of Loup City.

Diane Lawhead Feted at Shower

Wednesday evening, August 22, Shirley Treptow hosted a products bridal shower for Diane Lawhead in the lower level of the First National Bank. Fifteen ladies from the Ericson, Bartlett, Atkinson, and Ord areas were in attendance.

Following the playing of four games with the game gifts going to the future bride, the bride selected her gifts and refreshments were served. The decoration for the shower carried out the future bride's colors of peach and white.

Special guests in attendance were the future groom's mother Fern Slaymaker of Atkinson; grandmother of the future groom Hazel Frouf of Atkinson; aunt of the future groom, Cecilia Backhaus of Atkinson, and the sister of the future groom, Bonnie Walton of O'Neill.

Diane will become the bride of Bob Slaymaker of Ord on September 22 in Dexter, IA.

Girl Scouts To Organize

Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts will hold their organizational meetings during the first part of September.

The Brownie Girl Scouts will hold their's on Sept. 4 right after school at St. John's Lutheran Church. Any first, second, or third grade girl and her mother is welcome to attend. Leaders for this group are Pat Stethem and Bethene Paider.

The Junior Girl Scouts will hold their meeting on Sept. 19 at the St. John's Lutheran Church right after school. This club is open to any fourth, fifth, or sixth grade girl. Any mother interested in helping or leading this age group is asked to contact Jean Moudry, 728-5657.

Berigan Attends Youth Gathering

Attending the annual Nebraska Conference of Youth for the second straight year was Carol Berigan, daughter of Mrs. Alice Berigan of Ord.

Carol was one of nearly 400 youth chosen from all over the state to attend the 19th annual conference, held on the University of Nebraska campus in Lincoln.

The theme of the event was "Our Changing World — Can You Meet the Challenge?" Featured speakers at the conference were Secretary of State Allen Berman, State Senators Ralph Kelly and Gerald Koch, and Lieutenant Governor Roland Luedtke.

Miss Berigan commented, "It was especially nice for me to see more participation from our area. Ord High School students Dianne Klimke, Mitti Marshall and Jane Bosworth also attended conference this year."

Already a member of the Nebraska Council of Youth, Miss Berigan was again elected District Chairman. Assisting Carol in her efforts this year will be Co-Chairman Kath Magwire of Spencer.
