Bully Beef... Canned Willy...Spam

Three brands of field rations that rate Gold Chevrons for overseas service in time of war—from 1898, through 1917-18, and the years of World War II.

In the Veterans of Foreign Wars you find former dogfaces, leathernecks and gobs who can remember times when they would have traded a warehouse of the stuff for one square meal.

That's the quiet thrill an overseas veteran enjoys when he belongs to the Veterans of Foreign Wars—the chance to reminisce and swap stories with fellows who talk his language.

Any group of overseas vets may argue loud and long about which outfit won the war—the Army, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, Air Force, or the Seabees. On one point, however, you will always find they agree—the V.F.W. IS A GOOD OUTFIT.

James J. Hill

James Jerome Hill was one of the great men of the formative period of America, and one of the most noted railroad men of his time. He died 35 years ago, but the influence of his endeavors will remain as a permanent monument to one of the "Rugged Individualists" of his time. He was a Canadian by birth and his life's work had a profound influence on both his native country and the land of his adoption, the United States.

Early Hill came to Minnesota and he at once became interested in the transportation problems of his day. He established a route between Minneapolis and Winnipeg, and in time became the builder of the Great Northern railway system. While other roads were demanding land and cash for building, Hill built his own railroad and raised the money for the enterprise himself.

This feat is the more remarkable when it is understood that the most northern railway in the United States presented problems much more difficult than those further south. Even today the problem of snow and sleet is most difficult, and it must have been almost insurmountable at the time the road was built.

In these days of graft and corruption it is interesting to review the life of a man who, through his own energies, built and maintained one of the chief railway systems of the United States. He built a fortune on the principles of honesty and integrity, and in his later years turned the major part of it over to philanthropic enterprises.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of "ragged" nights, of aches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the kidneys of your tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The need of the nation today is more men of the stamp of James J. Hill. Men who will place honesty first in all their dealings, both public and private. If every man in public life today were of the stamp of Hill, they could work together to get us out of the mess the politicians have gotten us into.

What Kind of State

Americans have lived over a century and a half in a state of opportunity, and we have found it the best way of life. Our way of living has attracted to our shores millions of people from foreign countries who found opportunity lacking at home, and who came here and made a success of life because of the better living conditions they found here. We have appreciated this condition and have fondly hoped that it would continue forever.

But, in the past 20 years we have been seeing our opportunities snatched by different doctrines in which the government takes the attitude that the individual is no longer able to fend for himself and that he must have assistance. In a general sense we have not asked for this assistance, but we have accepted it because it seemed the easier way of living. It is heralded under such names as the "More Abundant Life" and "The Fair Deal."

Now, when it is almost too late, we are awakening to the fact that the so-called easier way of life that the advent of the welfare state, if any, are offset by the increased tax burden that we are forced to pay. We find that for every gratuity we accept from the government we must give up some of the liberties for which our ancestors fought and that we are rapidly approaching a condition of life known as the "Welfare State."

In the light of investigations now going on, we have found that the increased taxes and the increased meddling of public officials in private life have given the public a federal health plan, a federal aid plan for schools that can be better handled through other channels. The general welfare should be the concern of the public, but not at the expense of individual liberty.

Sixth, "Secure the Blessings of Liberty to Ourselves and Our Posterity." We are the posterity to which this phrase applies. We are the people who were supposed to have the blessings of liberty secured to them. Today we have the blessing of having to pay the biggest tax bill ever levied by man, and if we value our liberty, we will pay that bill. Today many of us have the liberty of belonging to a union or being refused the right to work.

Today we have the liberty of driving over the finest highways in the world, and plenty of hospitals are available in case we meet with an accident. Today we have the privilege of drinking about any kind of liquor we prefer and of driving an auto while drunk if we can get by with it. Today we do not have the privilege of gambling in public, but we can gamble in private as much as we desire, and gamble publicly on games permitted by law, such as parimutuel racing.

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this means of thanking all of my friends and relatives who sent me cards and gifts for my birthday. They were appreciated very much.

Some Figures to Make You Think A Bit

CONGRESS has appropriated this year $31,626,563,164 still unspent from past appropriations. Since July 1 the Government has taken in $13,911,359,011 (Cost for average family: $39.11) Since July 1 the Government has spent $18,699,376,726 (Cost for average family: $410) The Government owes $22,110,366,711 (Average per family: $582.71)

The United States government is without doubt the most wasteful, inefficient, mismanaged government in the world today. One of the greatest causes of waste is that there are thousands of bureaus and agencies and none ever lets the others know what it is doing.

For example, the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a recent month sold 550,000 million pounds of butter, bought for price-support purposes, to Italy at 15c per pound. In the very same month the Army Quartermasters Corps bought 5 million pounds of oleomargarine for U. S. soldiers to eat at nearly twice as much per pound as the U. S. A. got for the butter it sold. Now Italians are eating good, yellow, American butter and our soldiers are eating oleo, at twice the price.

Do you know that the Army now has two civilian employees for each man actively engaged in the war? At the height of World War II the ratio was one civilian employee to five soldiers? Does that sound like our billions taxed for defense are being wisely or wastefully spent?

Pathfinder Magazine relates that in the year before the Korean "polio action" started the Army bought 68 million can openers, an average of 45 can openers for each man in the army. And that the Navy, in one purchase, bought enough paint to paint 10,266 battleships of the Missouri class but ordered that it be put in quart and gallon cans! In 5 or 10 gallon cans or in barrels the paint would have been very much cheaper. Perhaps the Navy has its eyes on the civilian market, for much of the vast surplus of paint later found piled up at the end of the surplus stores when it sold at a fraction of its original cost.

A thousand and more U. S. government agencies, all over the world, are throwing YOUR money away with both hands. It is the Prudential, the Rascals who are dipping into tax funds with both hands and converting them to their own uses. It's YOUR government; what are YOU going to do about it?

Its YOUR Government But You Are Losing It

CONGRESS has appropriated this year $31,626,563,164 still unspent from past appropriations. Since July 1 the Government has taken in $13,911,359,011 (Cost for average family: $39.11) Since July 1 the Government has spent $18,699,376,726 (Cost for average family: $410) The Government owes $22,110,366,711 (Average per family: $582.71)

The United States government is without doubt the most wasteful, inefficient, mismanaged government in the world today. One of the greatest causes of waste is that there are thousands of bureaus and agencies and none ever lets the others know what it is doing.

For example, the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a recent month sold 550,000 million pounds of butter, bought for price-support purposes, to Italy at 15c per pound. In the very same month the Army Quartermasters Corps bought 5 million pounds of oleomargarine for U. S. soldiers to eat at nearly twice as much per pound as the U. S. A. got for the butter it sold. Now Italians are eating good, yellow, American butter and our soldiers are eating oleo, at twice the price.

Do you know that the Army now has two civilian employees for each man actively engaged in the war? At the height of World War II the ratio was one civilian employee to five soldiers? Does that sound like our billions taxed for defense are being wisely or wastefully spent?

Pathfinder Magazine relates that in the year before the Korean "polio action" started the Army bought 68 million can openers, an average of 45 can openers for each man in the army. And that the Navy, in one purchase, bought enough paint to paint 10,266 battleships of the Missouri class but ordered that it be put in quart and gallon cans! In 5 or 10 gallon cans or in barrels the paint would have been very much cheaper. Perhaps the Navy has its eyes on the civilian market, for much of the vast surplus of paint later found piled up at the end of the surplus stores when it sold at a fraction of its original cost.

A thousand and more U. S. government agencies, all over the world, are throwing YOUR money away with both hands. It is the Prudential, the Rascals who are dipping into tax funds with both hands and converting them to their own uses. It's YOUR government; what are YOU going to do about it?

Ward's Cookin' Column

Long ago I quit having anything to do with continued stories, the kind that give you one installment each issue of the paper or magazine in which they are printed. I never did like to have somebody else deciding for me what I should do or how I should do it. When a young fellow there was not so much reading as there is today and I read more then. In fact, I read just about everything that happened along, from Emerson to Poe. In those days there was quite a tendency among the editors to put continued stories whether they were printed in daily papers, weekly papers or even monthly magazines. You can imagine how exciting a continued story could be when it was scattered out from June to January. You had to keep the old installments and read them in order to know what it was that you were reading about. The villain might throw the hero over a cliff and it would take him a full month to hit the bottom. If I read such a story at night I would be awake and wonder what happened next. Then, when the next installment came, I would have to check back to recall what had happened.

Luckily, most papers have gotten away from the continued story, and all of them would, if they knew what the public really thinks about them. It is too much like having your potatoes one meal and waiting until the next for the gravy. But we still have with us the story that starts in the first pages of the magazine and then jumps to page 65 or thereabouts. When you come to the break you turn frantically to the new page in order not to break the continuity, and find that the story is not on page 65 at all. You glance back and find it was not 93, but 63. When it falls to show up on page 63, you get again and find it is really on page 65. Another trouble with magazines is that the pages with the big ads on are not numbered and you have to keep hunting around until you find a numbered page to know where you are. I prefer the Reader's Digest, where you can keep on reading until the story is done.

The wheel that squawks loudest is the one that gets the grease.

ED F. BERANEK & SON RINGLING DRUG STORE

I have a pea theory that the article that requires the most publicity to put it across with the public is really no better than the less advertised item in the same category, possibly not as good. It is publicized so much because it needs the publicity. I do not mean by this that advertising is a bad thing. It certainly is not. That sort of thing that does not advertise does not get the business. But there is a world of difference between general store advertising and the advertising of one specific item. The object of store advertising is to keep the name of the store before the public and to acquaint the patrons with the fact that the store puts out goods at attractive prices. Also, the store that advertises shows the public that it is willing to pay a good price to gain good will.

The type of advertising that gets me down is the firm that spends thousands of dollars to advertise a small item of merchandise and convince the readers that this item is the best of its kind in the world. Experience has shown that advertising that has ever been made is so good that some rival manufacturer cannot make the same item just as good or better. Not long ago I took a fall out of the much publicized razor blade, and told you how I found that I could get more shaves out of blades as true of hundreds of other items. When you ask for an item and the storekeeper tells you he is out, but that he has something just as good, don't get something about it. He is probably telling you the truth. No manufacturer has a monopoly on quality, especially in these modern times, and most elemental patents have run out long ago. New discoveries are made overnight and duplicated practically as soon as discovered and this all reacts for the benefit of the ultimate consumer.

An item of quality stands on its merits. Did you ever see a full page ad for Disston saws. Half a column seems to be plenty, and the company never did advertise extensively. Yet today there are more Disston saws in use than all other makes combined. The company has always stressed quality and quality has given them top place in the saw business. The same can be said of any other line of merchandise. The fellow who blats his product over the radio may have a good product. Where he overstates the fact is that he claims to have the best. The company that pays $15,000 for a page in one issue of a popular magazine is doubtless advertising a good line, but there are other lines just as good as his. He is spending this huge sum to increase his sales as rapidly as possible, knowing the principle of the squawking wheel. Yes, the wheel that squawks gets the most and first attention.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE Nobody hears the still investigator, No silent man wins the plaudits from the crowd; We know the most successful agitator. Is he who vociferates long and loud; Because he hears with the sound of a deaf ear; The wheel that squawks the loudest gets the grease.

The quiet man of every state and nation Are seldom persons who are known to fame; But, let a fellow start some agitation, And all the world is heralding his names; He shouts aloud to drown all opposition And people learn about him and his mission.

The duck lays eggs, but never advertises; Her product is not seen upon the mart; We hear the hen, who always cackles; The efforts she has made, with all her hearts; And so her eggs all men are admiring Because the maker cackles every morning.

Fishing has been good of late, but the catching has been terrible. What I mean is that the weather has been good for the time of the year, and you sure can enjoy yourself in October, whether you catch many fish or not. Also, with ducks and pheasants in season, who cares to fish, anyway? At that the game comes rather high. Your license to hunt costs you $1.60. Therefore, your first pheasant costs you that amount, together with the cost of shells at approximately 10c each. If you are as good a shot as I am, the first bird will cost you $2. But, suppose you kill ten birds. Shells and all, they probably will cost you 40c each. If you get 100 birds, a mathematical possibility, then those birds will cost you less than two cents each for the license, but will probably cost you 20c each for the ammunition.

The duck stamp costs you $2. You already have your hunting license, so your first duck probably will cost you less than a pound, will cost you a couple of bucks, plus your shells. If you are lucky you may be able to average one shell to a duck, in which case a hundred ducks would cost you 12c each. If you are lucky you may be able to average one bird for each hour's time you hunt. At the lowest figure your time is worth a dollar an hour, and the wear and tear on your clothes is worth at least a dime per bird. So, if you do get a hundred birds of each kind, the average total cost to you will be about $1.25 and first attention.

Something Different

What do you do when you have a headache? Take a handful of aspirin? Or have you a better pill? Or do you sit with your head hanging between your knees, like in fainting? Or perhaps you go for the fashionable inclined position, heels higher than head? Do you take a hot bath? Do you go for a brisk walk? Do you put cold cloths on your forehead? Or rub mentholatum on the soles of your feet? Or drink fruit juice from the bucket? Or inhale some of the smelly tubes you can buy? Or put the hot water bottle on your head?

Fascinating discussion isn't it? Each of these I have heard proposed most seriously. What beautiful books children have these days, so much more alluring with their handsome sketches and carefully colored pictures, than anything known 20 or 30 years ago. Even the arithmetic books are now beautiful!

Halloween is as much fun for children as Christmas, I do believe. Fun is what children like and make-believe, and where do you find more of it than in this late October happy-day? And it is door-bell ringing time again. So women, get your cupcakes made, or your little cookies ready, or apples polished, or candies set aside, handy to the front door, for on Wednesday evening you're sure to need them. Trick-or-treat day is with us again.

Smells are so important in life, aren't they? The smell of a stew, the smell of fresh cantaloupe, the fragrance of hot cookies, the sweet smell of clean clothes, the odor of a newly cleaned room, or even a newly painted one. What smells better than savory soup on a blustery, cold day like today? Your sense of smell is really important. I feel sorry for the ones who have lost it. (Though I sometimes think I come in this category when I fail to smell the parsnips or the potatoes, and let them burn—while I am close by!)

What happened to spell-downs? Anyway, we still have rope-skipping, so all is not lost. With the cold days of fall and winter, the library becomes more inviting. That old bromide about a good book and a cozy fire when it is cold outside... that's no bromide; that's a true pleasure.

Do you use our library as much as you should? It tries earnestly to furnish good books and many of them, and to present the newest and most desirable magazines. If there is something you want to read, and it is not on tap, ask for it. Perhaps it is on loan. Or perhaps it was not purchased, but it might be bought if anyone showed any interest in reading it. Young people particularly need to learn how to use the reference cards, and to find what they seek on the library shelves. It is free. It is yours.

And some of the library books may prove almost as interesting as comic books, whose nose? —Irma

You—and the SCRAP METAL EMERGENCY

ANSWERS every farmer should have to questions about scrap iron and steel

Q. Why is iron and steel scrap a matter of importance to farmers?
A. Steel for our Country's defense program and civilian economy is being produced at the highest annual rate ever... and this will be greatly increased in 1952. Farm machinery and equipment needs must come from this over-all supply. As steel production increases the need for scrap increases.

Q. How does scrap figure in the production of steel?
A. One pound of scrap is needed to make two pounds of steel.

Q. Is scrap getting scarce?
A. Yes, the supply of scrap at the steel mills and foundries is not increasing fast enough to meet the needs of expanding steel production. Yet, there are millions of tons of idle iron and steel scrap, in small amounts, on farms throughout the country.

Q. What if the needed scrap isn't obtained?
A. That will mean a serious loss of steel production... fewer products will be made of steel. It will mean more shortages of civilian products. Defense needs come first.

Q. Why not use pig iron instead of scrap?
A. Every ton of scrap conserves approximately 2 tons of iron ore, 1 ton of coal, nearly 1/2 ton of limestone and many other vital natural resources—to say nothing of transportation facilities. Besides, there are not enough blast furnaces to produce the iron needed to maintain production.

Q. How can more scrap be furnished?
A. By everybody pitching in—as we always do in every emergency—and searching out all possible sources of scrap. Manufacturers of all kinds of products are conducting scrap drives. Old ships are being salvaged... scrap is being obtained from countless sources, including farms.

Q. What should be done with farm scrap?
A. See that every bit of scrap gets to the scrap dealer located nearest to you. He will break it up into sizes used by the steel mills and foundries. He'll classify the metals then ship the scrap in carload lots. If you do not know the name of your local scrap dealer, consult your local implement dealer for this information.

Q. What else can I do about farm scrap?
A. Support the scrap drive organized in your locality. Work with your local Scrap Mobilization Committee in getting the scrap started back to the steel mills and foundries through the local scrap dealer.

Q. What is farm scrap?
A. It is any worn out, obsolete, unrepairable equipment, tools or other objects made of metal. It may be resting and rusting in fence corners, in the fields, the barnyard or the tool shed.

The Golden Text is: "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord." (Lamentations 3:39, 40). Other Bible citations include, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." (Galatians 6:7, 8).

Card of Thanks —
We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all friends and relatives who helped us in any way during the loss of our dear husband and brother.

"If it hadn't been for fire insurance, I'd never have been able to retire. But here we are free to enjoy life." From ashes Tom was able to rebuild his business because fire insurance paid his losses and enabled him to carry on until he was ready to retire. Fire insurance also safeguards our community through building laws and inspection services, educates our children in fire prevention. It is an essential basis for credit in our free enterprise system, vital to industrial expansion. That's why, in these critical times, fire insurance is everybody's business.

Suppose Your Home Burned Down!
Would your fire insurance rebuild it at today's higher costs... would it cover your furniture and other belongings? Too little insurance can be costly. For your protection let me check your policies now!

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept

Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse

But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, and ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $3.4 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

Carroll, who entered the Veterans hospital last week, submitted to surgery Friday and at the latest reports is making good recovery. Birdine and Willard Ingerson of Grand Island were Sunday dinner guests in the Dell Barber home.

When Winnebago Indians Visited Omaha They Came to Stay;

It was customary for some of the Indian tribes of Old Nebraska to pay each other extended visits. Dr. Robert C. Farib, professor of history at Simpson College in Indianola, Ia., describes one such visit in the September issue of "Nebraska History," the quarterly magazine issued by the state historical society.

This was the visit of the Winnebago to the Omahas in the winter of 1863-64. It was no ordinary visit, but a sojourn lasting ultimately in the transfer of the Winnebagoes to a reservation in Nebraska.

The Winnebagoes, once masters of lake and forest in the north country, found themselves after the Minnesota Indian uprising of 1862 at Crow Creek Agency on the hot, dry prairies of Dakota territory. When a drought in 1863 completely destroyed their crops, they sent a delegation of five to the Omaha agency to request that 150 of the most destitute of their number be allowed to live with the Omahas until the Great Father in Washington made adequate provision for the tribe.

The Omahas agreed, but instead of the 150 the entire Winnebago nation of more than 1,200 men, women and children descended upon the hospitable Omahas. They didn't all come during the winter; those who did, however, stayed and the remainder came on during the next spring and summer.

So many guests on the reservation constituted a serious problem for the Omaha agent, Robert W. Furnas (later governor of Nebraska). He contracted with John Patrick of Omaha to furnish flour, beef and salt for the Winnebagoes—the flour at 3 1/4 cents per pound, the beef at 8 cents per pound, and the salt at 4 cents per pound. Patrick was to furnish one pound of flour and one of beef per day for each Winnebago on the reservation. Salt was to be furnished at the rate of four quarts per 100 persons.

There was concern, too, that the presence of so many Winnebagoes might cause trouble between the two tribes. To forestall this, the Omaha chiefs, led by Joseph La Flesche, drew up a stringent set of regulations for their guests. Drunkenness was to be severely punished, as was "dancing to excess," gambling, and setting fire to the prairie or woodland.

To help the Winnebagoes support themselves, the Omahas gave them the privilege of cultivating 100 acres of bottom land. The government furnished hoes and seed to those who wished to work, and a fair crop of corn was raised in 1864 despite the dry weather. Some of the Winnebagoes augmented their income by hiring out to neighboring farmers in Iowa as well as in Nebraska.

Ultimately the Omahas were persuaded to sell a part of their reservation to the government for the use of the Winnebagoes. Thus, what started as a visit ended as a permanent move. The Winnebagoes have remained in Nebraska to this day.

Legal Notice

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed proposals for the construction, including furnishing all necessary materials, machinery, labor and equipment, of The Reformatory, including quarters Building, including Utilities, located at Ord, Nebraska (hereinafter called the "Project") to be financed pursuant to a loan contract between The Loup Valleys Rural Electric Membership Association (hereinafter called the "Owner") and the United States of America, acting through the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration and designated Nebraska No. 93 Valley will be received by the Owner on or before 7:30 o'clock, P.M. C.S.T. time, November 12, 1951, at its office at Ord, Nebraska, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

2. The Plans and Specifications together with all other necessary forms and documents for bidders may be secured from Frank N. McNett and Company, at Grand Island or Scottsbluff, Nebraska, upon payment of ten ($10.00) dollars. The same payment will be refunded to each bona fide bidder within ten (10) days after the bid opening. Additional sets of Plans and Specifications may be obtained upon payment of ten ($10.00) dollars, which payment will not be subject to refund. The Plans and Specifications may be examined at the office of Architect named above. A copy of the loan contract may also be examined at the office of the Owner.

3. Proposals and all supporting documents required to be attached thereto must be submitted on the forms furnished by the Owner and must be delivered in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Owner. The name and address of the Bidder, its license number, if a license is required by the State, and the date and hour of the opening of bids must appear on the envelope in which the proposal is submitted. Proposals must be filled in ink or typewritten. No alterations or interlineations will be permitted, unless made before submission, and initialed and dated. Bidders will be required to complete all applicable regulations, etc., including those pertaining to the licensing of contractors and the so-called "Kick-Back" Statute (48 Stat. 918) and regulations issued pursuant thereto.

4. Prior to the submission of the proposal, the Bidder shall make a careful examination of the site of the Project and of the Plans and Specifications, forms of Construction Agreement and Contractor's Bond on file with the Secretary of the Owner and with the Administrator of the Project, and be informed as to the location and nature of the proposed construction, the transportation facilities, the kind and character of the soil and terrain to be encountered, the kind of facilities required before and during the construction of the Project, general local conditions and all other matters that may affect the cost and the time of completion of the Project.

5. Each Bidder shall include and shall be deemed to have included, in the price quoted in the Proposal, the amount which it is estimated will be payable by the successful Bidder or by the Owner on account of taxes imposed by any taxing authority upon the sale, purchase or use of materials, supplies or equipment incorporated in the Project. All taxes of the foregoing description shall be payable by the Bidder who shall be awarded the contract for the construction of the Project.

6. A Bidder who has not already completed similar construction for an REA Borrower, shall file with the Architect the Bidder's Qualifications on forms supplied by the Architect at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the scheduled bid opening.

7. The time of completion of the Project shall be as specified by the Architect in the form of Proposal.

8. Each Proposal must be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check in a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the order of the Owner, in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the maximum bid price. If a Proposal is not accepted or if a Proposal is accepted and the successful Contractor's Bond is furnished by the successful Bidder, the bid bond or check will be returned in each instance within a period of thirty (30) days to the Bidder furnishing same; provided that each Bidder agrees, except in Proposal in one of the three low Proposals, that, by filing its Proposal together with such bid bond or check in consideration of the Owner's receiving and considering such Proposal, said Proposal shall be firm and binding upon such Bidder and such bid bond or check shall be held by the Owner for a period of not exceeding sixty (60) days from the date hereinafter set for the opening of Proposals.

9. The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Contractor's Bond in the form attached hereto and with sureties listed by the United States Treasury Department as acceptable sureties, in a penal sum not less than the contract price.

10. Should the successful Bidder fail or refuse to furnish a Contractor's Bond satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator within ten (10) days after written notification of the award of the Contract by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or other security delivered with the Proposal shall thereupon be due and owing to the Owner as liquidated damages for such failure or refusal and the Owner may thereupon award Contract to any other Bidder. The term "successful Bidder" shall be deemed to include any Bidder whose Proposal is accepted after another Bidder has previously refused or has been unable to furnish a satisfactory Contractor's Bond.

11. The Contractor, when executed, shall be deemed to include the entire agreement between the parties thereto, and the Contractor shall not claim any modification thereof resulting from any representation or promise made at any time by any officer, agent or employee of the Owner or by any other person.

12. The Owner reserves the right to waive minor irregularities or minor errors in the Proposal, if it appears to the Owner that such irregularities or errors so waived through inadvertence. Any such irregularities or errors so waived must be corrected on the Proposal prior to its acceptance by the Owner.

13. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals.

14. The Owner represents: (a) If the other provisions of the contract documents the Owner shall have undertaken to furnish any materials for the construction of the Project such materials are or shall be determined by inquiry by Bidders from the Architect or if such materials are not on hand they will be made available by the Owner to the successful Bidder before the time such materials are required for construction. (b) Title to the property on which the Project is to be constructed has been obtained. (c) All funds necessary for prompt payment for the construction of the Project will be available.

If the Owner shall fail to comply with any of the undertakings contained in the foregoing representations or if any such representations shall be incorrect, the Bidder will be entitled to extension of time of completion for a period equal to the delay, if any, caused by the failure of the Owner to comply with such undertakings or by any such incorrect representations; provided that the Bidder shall have promptly notified the Owner in writing of its desire to extend the time of completion in accordance with the foregoing, and provided further that such extension, if any, of the time of completion shall not be a condition precedent to the Bidder for the Owner's failure to comply with any of the foregoing representations.

L. W. Cronk, Lawyer. IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA. In the Matter of the Application of Myrna L. Waller Shaffer, Guardian of the Estate of Gerald J. Waller, a Minor, for Leave to Sell Real Estate.

Order to Show Cause. Upon reading the petition, duly verified, of Myrna L. Waller Shaffer, guardian of the estate of Gerald J. Waller, a minor, duly filed herein for license to sell an undivided 1/8 interest to the following described real estate, to wit: Lots Three (3), Four (4), Five (5), Six (6), Seven (7) and Eight (8), Block Three (3), T. C. Davis Addition to the Village of North Loup, Valley County, Nebraska; it appearing from said petition that it would be for the benefit of said ward if said interest in real estate should be sold and the proceeds thereof put out at interest or invested in some productive stock:

It is ordered that the next of kin of said ward and all persons interested in his estate appear before the district court of Valley County, Nebraska, or a judge thereof, at the court house, in the city of Ord, Nebraska, on the 19th day of November 1951, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., to show cause, if any there be, why license should not be granted to said Myrna L. Waller Shaffer, guardian, to sell said interest in real estate for the purposes above set forth.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once each week for three successive weeks in The Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper, printed, published and of general circulation in Valley County, Nebraska.

Achievement Day for 4-H Members Scheduled Tonite

Keith Carter of Ak-Sar-Ben to Present Awards.

Over 300 4-H club members and their families will gather at the KC hall in Ord tonight (Wednesday) for annual achievement and recognition day.

The party, scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, is local observance of national 4-H club achievement week.

Present from Lincoln to honor local 4-H members who have made outstanding records during the year will be Guy Davis, assistant state 4-H club leader, and Hal Allen, editor of the University of Nebraska extension service.

Keith Carter, director of Agricultural and Mechanical Extension, former 4-H club member when he lived on the family farm near Palisade, Nebr., Carter joined the staff of the Nebraska Farmer upon graduation from university, and became assistant editor.

In 1941 he joined the FBI, where he spent nearly three years of his service as administrative assistant to J. Edgar Hoover in Washington, D. C. In 1945 he returned to the Nebraska Farmer as managing editor.

He joined Ak-Sar-Ben in August of this year. In addition to his short talk tonight, Carter will present special Ak-Sar-Ben awards to outstanding club members of this county.

Recognition of 4-H club members will be only a part of tonight's affair.

Senator Hugh Carson of Ord, who has been a strong backer of 4-H club activities in the four counties comprising this legislative district, will also be honored.

Carson will present a plaque in recognition of outstanding service to 4-H club work. The presentation will be made by Iva Jo Stowell of Valley county, 4-H public speaking contest winner.

The award to Carson tonight will be made in the name of 4-H club members from Valley, Greeley, Howard and Wheeler counties, all of which will have representatives present.

Senator Carson has provided our 4-H club members in the four counties with unusual incentive to good club work. Carl Dale, Valley county extension agent, told the Quiz, "For four years he has given each of the counties $100 annually for club work, and that amount has been instrumental in accomplishing a lot of things we would not have been able to do otherwise."

"So, each one of the kids in the four counties contributed a dime to a fund and had this special award plaque made, which they will give Carson tonight," Dale explained.

New Greeley Curb & Gutter Costs Are Set

Meeting of a board of equalization, the Greeley town board Tuesday night set the assessment of curb and gutter improvements to property owners in Dist. No. 7 at $1.40 per running foot.

Total assessment to the property owners in the district covers 30 blocks in the north part of Greeley, amounting to $23,529.24. The cost of curbing the intersections is charged to the village as a whole. A bond issue of $15,500 has already been approved to cover the cost of the intersections.

Under the terms of the resolution passed by the board Tuesday, property owners may pay the entire assessment within 90 days without interest or they may pay the cost in ten installments.

Dorothy Urban Has Leading Role in All-College Play

Miss Dorothy Urban, a freshman at Kearney State Teachers' College, has been cast in the first all-college play "Mother Is A Freshman" to be given at the college auditorium on November 8 and 9. Miss Urban's role of the housemother to a group of college girls is a difficult character part which she is handling very capably. Congratulations to the dramatic coach of Ord high school.

Harold Klinginsmith, Ord, was brought before Police Magistrate John R. Sullivan Monday upon complaint of Night Watchman Herman Rice, charged with speeding Sunday. He was fined $5.00 and costs.

Hugh Carson

Senator Hugh Carson of Ord will be honored tonight by 4-H club members of four counties in recognition of outstanding services to 4-H club work.

15 to 40 Per Cent of 1951 Corn Crop May Be Immature--Dale

Opinion Based on 4-H Test Plots Checked Last Saturday.

Between 15 and 40 per cent of Valley county's 1951 corn crop is immature in the opinion of Carl Dale, county agricultural agent, after checking nine test plots of 4-H club boys last Saturday. Both dry land and irrigated corn plots were checked.

Only one plot checked showed the corn to be fully matured all through, says Dale. The other eight ranged from 15 to 40 per cent immature.

While not finally conclusive he believes test plot results might well average up with regular corn fields the county over.

Farmers picking corn are putting it in ricks in the open to allow time for drying, says Dale. The recent hard freezes will hasten hardening of the corn but dry weather rather than snow is needed. Little corn in the county will be of commercial quality but most Valley county corn is fed to livestock anyway, comments Mr. Dale.

Fire Department Twice Called Out

The Ord fire department was called to the home of Merle Brown near the fair grounds Thursday, when a blaze was discovered in a closet. There was property damage of between $60 and $70, according to Fire Chief Rollin Dye.

The fire was supposed to have started by children playing with matches.

On Friday the department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Piskorski where firemen helped to release the hand of the couple's three year old daughter, Jeanette, when it was caught in the swinging door. The men quickly took the pegs from the top fastening and spread the opening so the little girl's wrist could be taken out. Jeanette was taken to the Cooperative hospital at once where it was found there were no broken bones and no injury save bruises and swelling. The quick work of the department is to be commended and was deeply appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Piskorski.

No. Loup District Told It Must Pay RFC Bonds, Interest

Court Does Not Order Mandatory Relief, Case Called Victory.

In federal district court at Omaha last week, Judge John W. Delehant handed down a decision in favor of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in that agency's law suit to force payment of principal and interest by the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district.

But since Judge Delehant failed to order mandatory relief counsel for the district, George A. Munn, and for the Loup Valley Water Users' association, E. L. Vogeltanz, express themselves as being "pleased" with the decision. The district was ordered to pay the RFC the amount of $1,263,367.32, representing principal of $882,000 arising from construction of the district, plus accumulated interest. No principal or interest payments have been made since 1942.

The case was tried before Judge Delehant in February, 1951, with Holtz & Holz, of Omaha, representing the RFC. Since then the court had had the case under advisement and last Thursday issued a 28-page brief with verdict for the RFC.

The court found the amount of the debt, which was admitted by the district, and entered limited judgment against the district in the total sum of $1,263,367.32, representing $882,000.00 principal and $381,367.32 interest as of February first, 1951, but sustained the district's contention that the judgment entered is enforceable only against the net income of the district after payment of operation and maintenance expense. The court refused to enter a general judgment, denied the right of execution to enforce the limited judgment entered, and refused the plaintiff RFC's request that the court fix or require the district board to fix water users charges in addition to the contract rate which would provide a net to be applied on the judgment entered.

The court found that both the P.W.A., original loaning agency, and the defendant district had contracted in good faith, that the defendant district has not breached its contractual or statutory obligations, that there was no fraud, that the district has performed its duties and obligations in good faith to the best of its ability, that the debentures issued by the districts are strictly limited revenue obligations and that the RFC is limited by the debenture and contract provisions and limitations in any recovery against the district, and that the district has been "sorely" distressed but not dishonest.

Court costs are taxed to the district and the question of possible receivership was not determined, but was left open for future determination if proper application is made. The court suggests that reasonable agreement between the parties appears to be the only feasible and economical way to provide a proper solution of mutual difficulties.

RFC attorneys said the RFC has no present intention of making application for a receiver. No such action is necessary because the district is in "sound financial condition, is well managed and the physical condition of the irrigation district is the best it has been for several years."

They expressed confidence that arrangement for payment of the amount fixed by the court can be worked out with the directors of the district.

At present, users of water provided by the district pay an annual rate of $1.50 an acre. The district is in the counties of Valley, Garfield, Loup and Greeley, with headquarters at Ord.

M. E. Markley, M. D.

Community's Dream Realized; Open House Program Planned

North Loup's Health Center Completed, Dr. Markley Moves.

M. E. Markley, M. D. moved on Sunday his new office building which has been under construction since July on the corner south of the North Loup Lumber Co. office, where the old town hall stood. There are a few things left to be done before the office is complete and when it is finished Dr. Markley expects to hold open house and a special dedication service will be given.

The building is the result of a movement sponsored by the North Loup Lion's club, which organized the North Loup Community Health Center. Complete details of the building and pictures will be printed in the Quiz at the time of open house.

Murray E. Markley was born and reared in Fort Dodge, Ia., where he completed high school and two years of junior college. The remainder of his college work was completed at the University of Iowa, with four years at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine. He interned at the University hospital in Omaha. He served in the army during World War II, with the O. S. S. After army service he was associated with two Omaha specialists. While in Omaha he was medical advisor at the Nebraska Children's home. The past year Dr. Markley has been associated with the Wahoo Clinic at Wahoo, Nebr., in the practice of diagnosis and surgery.

Dr. Markley is married and has two daughters and a son, all of pre-school age. Miss Dixie Scott, R. N., is Dr. Markley's able assistant. Miss Scott is a native of Hickman and received her bachelor of science degree at the University of Nebraska. Her nurses' training was obtained at the University hospital in Omaha.

Bruce Covey Sells Rendering Plant to John W. Lindsay

Grand Island Firm Operates Several Such in This Area.

The Valley Rendering Co., owned and operated by Bruce Covey for the past ten years has been sold to John W. Lindsay of Grand Island.

Mr. Lindsay operates a similar plant in Grand Island and several in Oklahoma. He also operates a hide, wool and fur buying business in Grand Island.

Mr. Covey will devote his time to the auction business and to the Burwell Livestock Market, of which he is part owner.

Harry Muirhead of Grand Island will be new manager of the Valley Rendering Plant, and will move here with his family as soon as housing can be secured.

Mr. Lindsay told the Quiz this week that an extensive remodeling and enlarging project will soon start at the Ord plant. The phone number of the rendering service remains the same as before, 23.

Body Recovered from B-25 Plane

Mrs. Elliott Clement has received word that the body of Don Knutsen, relative of hers has been recovered and the funeral held the first of the week. The Knutsen boy was in the crash of a B-25 bomber in the Missouri river a week or so ago, and for a time his body was one of the missing.

Graveside Rites for Mrs. Frank

Graveside services will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday at the Arcadia cemetery for Mrs. Ruth Nygren Frank of West Liberty, Ia. She passed away Sunday and services were held at her home Tuesday. She was 57 years old and will be remembered by her old time friends at Arcadia where she was born.

Geological Survey Map of County Is Complete; Pleistocene Deposits Noted

A preliminary report and geologic map of Valley county has now been completed and is on file for public inspection.

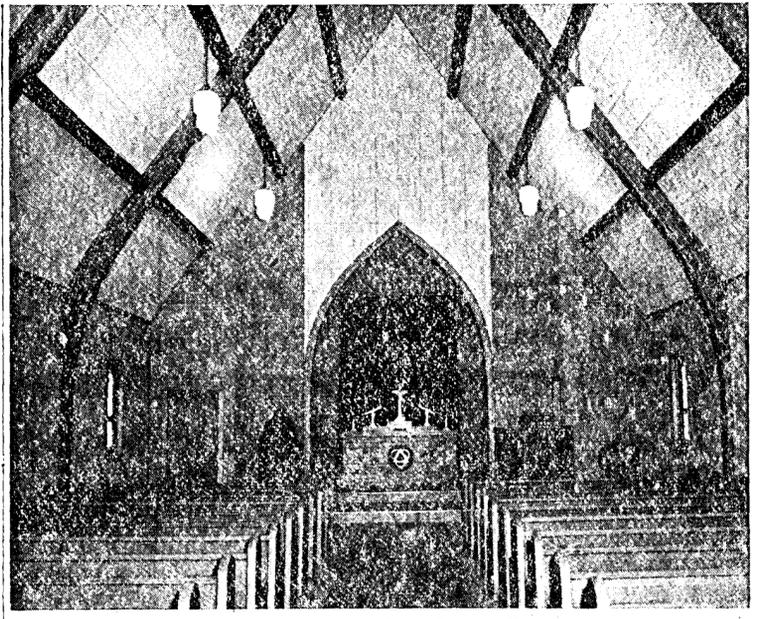

The study was made in 1950 by field geologist, Robert D. Miller, as part of the Department of the Interior's program for the development of the Missouri river basin.

Thick deposits of silt, sand, and gravel of Pleistocene age cover most of the area. Tertiary rocks of Pliocene age are intermittently exposed along the North Loup river; elsewhere these rocks underlie the Pleistocene deposits.

Dixie Scott, R. N.

Both Dr. Markley and Miss Scott have a pleasant way that already has made them many friends as well as patients. Since Sept. 15, Dr. Markley has had his office in the Auxiliary rooms at the Legion hall, awaiting completion of the new building.

Will Elect 'Belle of the Ball' at BPW Formal Dance Nov. 19

Jess Gayer Orchestra Will Play; Miss Jensen General Chairman.

Plans are being made and tickets sold for the annual dance to be given under the auspices of the Business and Professional Woman's club, the date being set for Monday evening, Nov. 19. As in former years the money raised will go to worthy benefits. A part of the proceeds will go to the Ord Cooperative hospital. The dance is to be held in the Bohemian Hall with the Jess Gayer orchestra as musicians.

The theme this year is to be "Belle of the Ball" and the mystery element is prevalent since no one, not even the sponsors themselves know who the Belle is to be. Nor will they or any one else know until just before the intermission.

Candidates for this honor have been chosen by civic organizations, the only stipulation being that the candidate must be 16 years of age or over, and must live in Ord or community. Four girls have been elected.

Patrons of the dance will get a chance to vote for the belle of their choice on the stub of every dollar ticket they purchase. The stubs are marked with the name and returned to a member of the sponsoring club. It will not be necessary to attend the dance, the chairman of the committee from the club, Eunice Jensen, says, if the stubs are turned in.

The Belle is to be crowned with appropriate ceremony, with the other three candidates to act as attendants. Escorts for all four will be provided if necessary.

The candidates and their sponsoring organizations are: Gladys Kokes, by the American Legion Auxiliary; Carol Kwiatkowska by the V. F. W. and the V. F. W. Auxiliary; Mary Thompson, by the BB Chapter, P.E.O., and Eva Papernik, Woman's Club of Ord.

Brief sketches of the various girls who would be Belle of the Ball are given.

Gladys Kokes, daughter of Mrs. Helen Kokes, is a brunette. She graduated from Ord high school in 1951 and is at present secretary of the school.

Mary Thompson, the daughter of Supt. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson. She is a blond. A junior of Ord high school, she is a popular member of the Ordettes, is very musical and takes part in the dramatic productions of the school.

Alva Papernik is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Papernik. She is employed with the PMA and graduated from the Ord high school with the class of 1949. She is a medium blond and says she loves to dance.

Carol Kwiatkowska, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Kwiatkowski, as employed as secretary to John Haskell. She graduated with the class of 1949 from the Ord high school. She is a medium blond.

The committee in charge is Miss Eunice Jensen, chairman, with Mrs. Junior Leach and Vivian Zulkoski as her assistants. Corsages and coffee will be sold at the hall. While formal dress is not necessary, the past formal dances have been very satisfactory. This is the first time a Belle has been chosen, and the idea seems to be quite popular.

Friday Was Coldest Nov. 2nd in 40 Years

Horace Travis, weather observer, says that the temperature on Friday, Nov. 2, which was 4 degrees above zero, was the coldest Nov. 2 in 40 years. In 1911 on the same date it was also 4 degrees. Two inches of snow fell Saturday with moisture amounting to 12 of an inch. The light snow which fell Monday night amounted to but .05 of an inch and most of it went off Tuesday.

Two Valley Men Die Wednesday of Suffocation

Art Malottke and Martin Vance Found in Farm Kitchen.

Two Valley county men, Arthur Malottke and Martin Vance, died Wednesday of suffocation. Their bodies were found in the kitchen of the Orville Elshire farm home, where Vance had been doing chores while Elshire was away on a visit.

It being a cold day, the two had apparently turned on the furnace and oven of the gas stove for warmth, and had fallen asleep. The flames of the stove exhausted the oxygen in the room, and they suffocated.

They were found by a neighbor, Carl Wolfe, who had gone to the Elshire farm to deliver a message. He called county authorities, Sheriff Robert Hall, county attorney Ralph Norman and Dr. F. A. Barta, county physician.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon. Obituaries are published on another page of this issue.

Sales of Three Houses Announced

Sale of three houses in Ord and North Loup have been announced by the Wozab Agency which represented buyer and seller.

The L. A. Garner property in northeast Ord was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brownell for $2700. Mr. Brownell is a mechanic in the Ford garage and came here from Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Zapp have purchased the E. R. Horner property in northeast Ord for $7750. The house was moved in from the country early last spring and remodeled by Mr. Horner. Mr. Zapp is a member of the state highway patrol with headquarters at Ord.

The Alvin Tucker property in northeast North Loup has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Sweet, also of North Loup. Consideration was not disclosed.

Lutherans Have Impressive Rite for Dedication

New Church Opens Doors in Ord; Hundreds Attend.

Rev. Weller's program follows: Hymn Prelude—A Mighty Fortress Is Our God O Bleeding Head, Now Wounded He Shall Feed His Flock, from Handel's "Messiah" If Thou But Suffer God to Guide Thee I cry to Thee, Lord Jesus "Air" by Handel Salvation unto Us Has Come Be Still, My Soul, Finlandia The Lord My Pasture Shall Prepare

Rise, Crown with Light Beautiful Savior The interior of the church is of gray stone, with ivory wallboard ceiling. The arched beams are native fir and the reading desk, pulpit, font and pews are on oak. Back of the altar are rich curtains of red velvet. On the altar body is the Trinitine figure on a blue background.

The church choir loft is in the back and is reached by a flight of steps. Here is placed the new electric organ which was played during the morning service by Mrs. Herbert Bredthauer, choir director.

The steps and floor in the foyer are gray stone, with an iron railing. Adequate rest rooms are on the first floor. In the basement is the kitchen and a large main room for social gatherings.

A back door makes entrance easy, as does a side door with the two big front doors.

The heating is done by a central unit which will care for the church and the passage also the school building when they are built.

It is of interest and also speaks very well for the desire of the group of church people to have their new church, is the fact that while the cost of the church amounted to around $35,000 less than a third of that sum is left to be paid.

Letters of congratulations were read from Rev. W. Ernstmeier, Rev. G. Boehm, Rev. D. Kreitzer and Rev. W. Landgraf, all former pastors, also from churches of like faith in Hastings, Scotia and St. Libory.

Three Generations Taught by Same Teacher in Dist. 35 School

Elizabeth A. Lukes Wanted to Retire but Took New Job

Got Year's Vacation After 44 Years of Teaching Here.

Due to the teacher shortage and loyalty to her many friends, Elizabeth A. Lukes who really felt that she had earned a vacation, found herself a teacher again this year and in the same school, Geranium, Dist. 35, where she started in 1906.

And here she is teaching the grandson of one of her first pupils. Not only that but she taught the young man's father as well, three generations all in one family.

Rudolph Krahulik, the grandfather, now retired at Ord, attended that school as early as 1906, when Miss Lukes came to Dist. 35. Mr. Krahulik served his home district as a member of the board for quite some time, before his retirement.

The father, Harvey Krahulik, began his school activities in 1925, and the grandson, Kenneth Krahulik, is Miss Lukes' present first grader. All of Rudolph's children were her pupils at one time or another.

Noting some changes in the conditions, then and now, it might be said that the school population dropped from 47 at one time, to the present five. The progressiveness of the Geranium community made it keep pace with the times to the extent that Miss Lukes' salary today is six times that of 1906. Also, a furnace system replaced the stove and a good water supply may be had from the well on the school ground. The REA promises electric installations in the near future. Another change is that the schoolhouse has been moved from the former Joe Polak, Sr. land to that of John Petiska, Jr., a half mile north.

Miss Lukes jokingly refers to another change, in that her present school board consists of her former students, now her "bosses". They are Joe Suchanek, many times a member of the county board; John Valasek, Jr., taking his father's place during the latter's illness, and Harvey Krahulik.

It might be fitting to jot down a few references, also. For example, her first year's eighth-grade exercises there were in honor of Major Frank Prince, son of Joe Prince of Ord; the one eighth grader at that time.

Taking the readers around the Ord "Square" and near by, we find a few more of Miss Lukes' former students from Geranium: Eleanor Polak-Dworak of Eleanor's Beauty Shoppe, George Vavra of George's Market, James Petiska, Jr., of the First National bank, Mrs. Alice Troyer at the Parrot Shoppe, Josephine Absalon at the Grill, Frank Benda at Benda's store, Mrs. Jean Veleva-Smith, at the James B. Olin's office, Mrs. Bessie Fajmon at Absalon's Variety, Joe Absalon, Jr., with Roman's Transfer, Emil John at Aule's Jewelry and Emily Novotny-Lothrop at the Nebraska State bank.

Miss Lukes gratefully states that the cooperative spirit of the community and the loyalty of her pupils has always been the very best. So has been her one and only boarding place, the Joseph F. Placnik home. There her nieces, Minnie and Mabel, see to her comforts, even as far as taking her to and from school. They, also, take her home for the weekends and back.

All in all, Miss Lukes is staging an unusual "comeback," after a year of retirement and 21 years in the Ord Junior high, and says she finds herself pretty well re-established now. Her five pupils in four grades, and 20 classes furnish her with all kinds of recreation.

The year's Miss Lukes taught in Dist. 35 extend from 1906 to 1928 with but a few breaks of a year or two at a time. Then she went into the Ord Junior high school where she taught for 21 years. Following a year of retirement, she is back at Geranium.

Scotia

Word was received of the death of Wesley K. Sparks, Davey, who died Sunday at the age of 76. Mr. Sparks was the father of Mrs. Vera Rankin well known in Greeley and Valley counties because of her past connections with extension clubs. Other survivors are his wife, Mary, a daughter, Mrs. Leona Levine, Columbus and one son, Herbert Sparks. Dunning and Joe Rott. The flag was folded by Dale May with Chester Krebs holding, and was presented by Dale May to Commander Vernon Taylor who in turn presented it to Sgt. David Garabedian. Esprit de Corps Garabedian, in behalf of the United States Government presented the flag to the mother, Mrs. Coufal. Taps were sounded by Leon Nesiba.

Relatives and friends from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Tunna and family, Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coufal, Arnold, Sgt. and Mrs. Louis Conwell and family, Amarillo, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett and family, Mrs. Marie Halla of Elba, Miss Evelyn Coufal, Mr. and Mrs. John Hines, Mrs. Agnes King, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl King, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Leth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummings, Mrs. Mont Cummings and Mrs. Leo Nability and sons all of Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Boilsen and Cecil Tunna of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wadas of St. Paul.

Sgt. Ralph L. Coufal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold (Paul) Coufal was born December 10, 1925 on a farm near Cotesfield, Nebr. He attended school in Cotesfield, graduating in May 1941. On June 23, 1941 he was inducted in the army and served in the infantry. He received his training at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Little Rock, Ark. On May 14, 1945, he was wounded at Okinawa. He was in the 77th Division, which saw action in the Southern Philippines, at Leyte, Saipan, Okinawa, Iwa Jima and Haidyo, Japan. At the time of World War II ended he was in Yokohama, Japan. He was honorably discharged May 8, 1946, at Douglas, U. He remained in the inactive services. After his arrival home, he resumed farming, his one chief interest, desire and ambition.

However, on October 16, 1950, he was recalled into service and was assigned with the 35th division. He trained for a short time at Fort Lewis, Wash., and before Christmas was at Camp Drake, Okla. On January 2, he was fighting in Korea. He crossed the parallel three times. His last rest home was dated June 2, just before going into heavy fighting. It was while engaged in heavy battle at Singol-Li, Korea, on June 6, 1951 that he was killed. His age was 25 years, 5 months and 25 days.

Among his citations and awards are included the Purple Heart in World War II and Korea, the Infantryman Badge, Japan Occupational Medal, Philippines Liberation ribbon and Asiatic Pacific citation.

To mourn his early passing, he leaves his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold (Paul) Coufal, three sisters, Mrs. Willis Beck of Scotia; Blanche at home, and Mrs. Louis Conwell of Amarillo, Tex.; two brothers, Joseph of Cotesfield and Martin Lee at home; a grandmother, Mrs. Marie Halla of Elba; four aunts, six uncles, five nephews and one niece and a host of friends.

Church Notes

Christian Science Services "Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 11, 1951.

The Golden Text is: "Ye were sometime darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as children of light; proving what is acceptable unto the Lord." (Ephesians 5:8,10). Other Bible citations include, "Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you without blemish before the glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever." (Jude 1:24, 25).

Drama Festival at School House Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, 7:30 Ord high school students will take part in the sixth annual all-school drama festival. The young people have been under the direction of the school teacher of the high school, Mrs. Jess Kovanda, for several weeks, in preparation for this event.

Ranging from the highly dramatic to the highly hilarious, the evening's entertainment includes individual and group interpretations, and five one-act plays. Veteran performers as well as newcomers will appear behind the footlights for this traditional event sponsored by the Thespian Troupe, is the occasion when all students who are interested in dramatics may participate.

Although such participation in on a purely voluntary basis, students give freely of their time and ability, working on stage crews, make-up and as student directors. Out of these activities often grows an abiding interest in the theatre. Currently, six ex-Ord high school students are appearing with university and college groups, often in plays which they first saw presented upon the Ord high school stage.

Editor of Chanticleer Donna St. John will head the staff of the 1951-1952 Chanticleer, according to J. A. Kovanda and Don Ballard, who are sponsors. Assistant editor will be Harry Dubas. Other members of the high school who will assist are Charles Blessing, juniors; Russell Clement, speech and art; Amelia Novosad, music; Betty Blaha, seniors; James Svoboda, administration and faculty; Janis Pocock, sophomores, freshmen and seniors high; Gladys Rice, activities; Ivan Stones, sports, and Robert Golka, business manager. It is planned that the book will be distributed on senior night.

Housewife Launches New Service — Home Cooked Meals to Parties

Realizing the need for a home like place, where real home cooking could be obtained in this city, Mrs. Asa Anderson has decided to try her hand in the cooking and serving game, along with the other cooks. So far she has not gone too far in the project, since the idea is new, but with her energy and ability, there is no doubt but that it will succeed. Her plan is to do home catering in her own house, assisted by the three daughters in the family. She feels that a more personal touch can be given this way, in which those who patronize her will be the gainers.

Her Sunday dinners, to be served by reservation only, will follow this pattern: fried chicken, milk gravy, rice, potatoes, cauliflower with cheese sauce, buttered peas, cabbage salad, hot rolls, butter and wild grape jelly, apple pie and coffee. The number of those she will serve at a Sunday dinner such as this is limited to 14 or 16. Reservation must be in by Saturday.

Her tables will be set with her own colored china, and tinted glassware, on wine colored or lace table cloths. The walls and furnishings of her dining rooms all harmonize with the place settings of her tables.

Mrs. Anderson is able to serve at least 30 persons at a time by the use of card tables, each of which will have its own dainty setting.

Meals are served family style, and there is plenty of good hot coffee. In comment on this service, one of her patrons said, not long ago, "If anything is wanted, it is brought."

In case of dessert luncheons where cards are to be played later or card parties, Mrs. Anderson plans to lend her home, for a slight additional charge. She has plenty of home made pickles and jelly with which to launch her serving. Moreover she plans to make her own hot breads and pies. She plans to change her menus often, hoping to have a variety for her patrons. She will cook game brought in by hunters if desired, and will furnish the rest of the menu.

Mrs. Anderson has a state license to serve food, pending. One of her bigger plans which she hopes to be able to present to the eating public is the establishment of buffet suppers for Sunday evening. These will be served in her home, and from card tables. She plans to start these suppers about the first of December.

By the way, her phone number is 424R1, instead of 160R2, as it formerly was.

Big Appetites . . .

Big appetites come from the crisp autumn days that will be here soon.

Mother doesn't mind those big appetites, even though they pose a problem in planning menus. If she's a wise mother, she'll let us help her with the menu problem.

Their tender, satisfying meats are mainstays of autumn meals — and economical enough to feed growing children all they want.

tic" . . .

And here the rhyme must stop for there is certainly no "hickory stick" employed now days, and what is more, little need of such. How far we have come from such days in education is evidenced with every visit made to the schools of now.

It is just possible that there is no more important a time in the life of school children than when they are in the first grade. No longer are they beginners, no longer are they standing on the threshold, with their fingers in grasp of their mother's hand. Now they are indeed, men and women of the world—for are they not in school proper and haven't they passed with flying colors all the "babies" had to do last year? Yur beltch!

Anyway, it was a splendid group of men and women visited Thursday afternoon when the reporter went to see the First Grade, and notice the capitals—of the Ord Grade School in action. And there is plenty of fine healthy action in this group of 32, taught so ably and patiently by Miss Roberta Stansbury, whose home is in Norfolk.

Their school room is on the west side with fine large windows. There are many plants in the windows and overflowing on another shelf are more plants, small ones this time, in varied containers. There are pictures on the walls, and some of the work of the children, and a frieze of circus pictures. The calendar was a picture of a huge pumpkin, and on attendance chart marked the ones who were absent. Pictured pumpkins on the blackboard were explained by Miss Stansbury. The rows of children are inspected each morning as to clean teeth, hands, and fingernails, and whether or not they have handkerchiefs. If the row is perfect, an outline of a pumpkin is drawn, and filled in each day with the face and stem as the children are inspected.

The group is divided into groups, the Monkeys, Woodpeckers, Gophers and Dogs. The children know their group, for when Miss Stansbury called the Monkeys, a certain number came to the circle of chairs and proceeded with their reading lesson. Each group came in turn, and while one group was reading the others worked on their work books or at other lessons placed on the board. Much time is given to each group in word drill, and with but very few exceptions did the tots make a mistake or did not know the word.

The whole period from the time school takes up in the afternoon until recess, at 2:30, was given over to reading. The children were taught to read with their eyes and not with their lips.

When it was time for recess, one of the number, selected by the teacher, gave the commands, to sit with eyes to the front with folded hands on their desks, then to turn and rise and to march out, and this day they were "spooks" and the children went on tiptoe.

The children are taking "num-bers" and are learning the number words to five and to count to 50. In phonics they are learning the sounds of the letters and how to pronounce new words by sound-ing. They also take science, in which they are learning about animals by use of pictures, and ques-tions put to them by Miss Stans-berry. In their writing they are learning how write their own names, their home town and 25 new words. And from their ability in the reading classes all these will be mastered long before next May.

The average age of the the children is six years.

All the little girls wore bright clean dresses and most of them had curls, although a few showed braids. The boys wore jeans, and several had cowboy shirts.

And the names of the intrepid adventurers who have safely navigated the troubled waters of kindergarten and starting from "scratch" to make their debut into r-e-a-l school life, are:

Judith Anderson, Kathleen Calvin, Allen Celak, Lennie Covert, MaryAnn Gudmundsen, Leslie Freeman, Gertrude Hiner, Richie Jan-uan, Sheryl Lenker, Laverne Mar-shall, Diane and Sabra McCall, David Moore, Gary Negley, Cy-nthia Nelson, Jammie Nums, Reger Pelska, Alyce Philbrick, Peggy Priem.

Jimmy Rassette, Sharon Rysavy, JeanAnn Schmidt, Ellep Sebesta, Jerry Sherman, Gene Sak, Mike Sullivan, Jeanette Shotkoski, Judy Stewart, Alvin Vasicek, Donald Wilson, Robert Wiberg, James Watson.

All brothers and sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Setlik were present except Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Setlik of Elsie.

At the close of the evening, which was spent playing cards and looking at picture slides, a delicious lunch, which was brought by the guests, was served. The honored guests received many lovely gifts.

Pupils Visit in Ord

The pupils of the Manderson school, Dist. 31, with their teacher, Mrs. Steven Beran, visited Ord Friday. After they had had their teeth examined, they spent some time in the court house where County Supt. Fred Appelget showed them about. Later they visited the light plant, which they enjoyed very much.

Loomis Annexes

Loomis captured the Mid-Valley six-man league championship finals with a 37-10 win over Indianola. Loomis has a 7-0 record. The coach of the Loomis six-man football team is Donald Dahlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dahlin of Ord.

Latin-American Study Course Closes With Pleasant Tea

The WSCS of the Methodist church presented the results of their study course taken during the past several weeks of Latin-America, with a pleasant tea, and program held in the church parlors, Wednesday afternoon. The walls of the room were lined with several posters made by the ladies as part of their work, while also on display were many articles of Mexican and South American handiwork. Mrs. G. W. Taylor presided and introduced Mrs. Leo Long, who described the posters, also some interesting pictures of children and places in Mexico and other places studied. Mrs. F. L. Stoddard and Mrs. Glen Auble explained the handiwork, consisting of rugs, jackets and shawls. Before the talks, Mrs. Leslie Nash, accompanied by Mrs. Orin Kelli-son, sang an appreciated solo, and following the refreshments, a group of school children in Spanish costumes sang some songs in English and Spanish. Dainty sandwiches and cookies were served from the lace spread tea table, which was centered with a bouquet of carnations. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. John Haskell, who was the leader of the study group, poured.

The children sang under the direction of Mrs. Keith Shepherd and Mrs. Hilding Pearson.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stoddard and daughter of North Platte were week end guests of their parents.
—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Roe and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Prien and daughters spent Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Brox.

Attend TB Meeting

Katherine Helzer and Mrs. A. W. Cornell went to Omaha Thursday where on that day and Friday, Miss Helzer attended a meeting of the board of directors of the state tubercular association. Miss Helzer representing Valley county. A new plan is being worked out whereby the various counties of the state are being represented in the plans for the work done in caring for tubercular patients.

Following the meeting, Miss Helzer and her sister attended the Ice Pollies.

Junior Red Cross

Miss Minnie Jensen, who is in charge of Junior Red Cross collections for the county, reports that $17.73 has been turned over to her from the Ord High school. This leaves but three more schools to hear from and she hopes to get all the money in by another week.

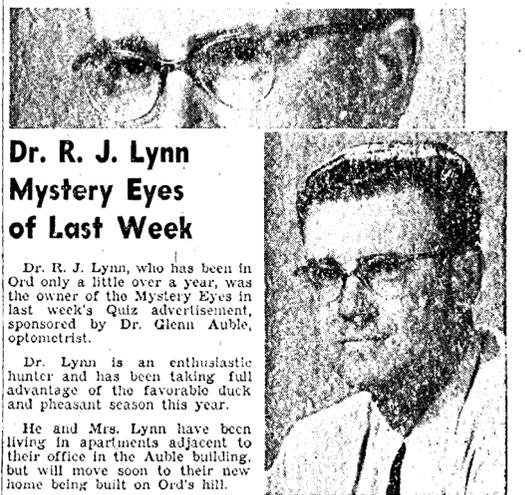

Visitors from Canada

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson and family Thursday were Mrs. Leonard Schwartz and Mrs. A. W. Swanson both of Central City, who brought with them Mrs. Peter Maus and three daughters, Lois, Ione and Elda of Minisno, Manitoba, Canada. Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. Swanson returned home the same day, following a family dinner, but the Canadian relatives remained until Saturday when Mrs. Nelson took them back to Central City. It was a great experience for the visitors to be in the States and little escaped their notice.

Dr. R. J. Lynn Mystery Eyes of Last Week

Dr. R. J. Lynn, who has been in Ord only a little over a year, was the owner of the Mystery Eyes in last week's Quiz advertisement, sponsored by Dr. Glenn Auble, optometrist.

Dr. Lynn is an enthusiastic hunter and has been taking full advantage of the favorable duck and pheasant season this year.

He and Mrs. Lynn have been living in apartments adjacent to their office in the Auble building, but will move soon to their new home being built on Ord's hill.

Dr. Parkins Hears Talk by Old Friend

Dr. Harold Simmerman, Woodbury, N. J., was the featured speaker at the Nebraska Optometric Association educational seminar held at the Hotel Paxton, in Omaha, on Nov. 4.

Dr. Simmerman is a member of the faculty of the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, and is currently president of the American Academy of Optometry. He lectured on the subject of headaches. Following his presentation, a panel discussion was held. About fifty Nebraska and Iowa optometrists were present.

Dr. George Parkins, Ord, a close friend of Dr. Simmerman's, attended the meeting.

—Amos McCann, a printer on the Journal-Stockman in Omaha, spent Sunday hunting about Ord.

Ten Years Ago

Carl P. Wagner was the new Methodist minister at the North Loup Methodist church, and a reception was held in his honor. Sixty nine teachers were enrolled in a two day institute at Ord. Farmers were protesting his resignation. The Continental Telephone Co. got the go-ahead signal to build its new system in Ord.

Twenty Years Ago

The underrated Ord high school football team played the St. Paul team to a tie on the Buswell park field. Players mentioned as outstanding were Marcus Steinwart, Charles Barnhart and Everett Lashmett. Merrill Hughes broke his arm while playing football with the rest of the kids on a Saturday afternoon.

Thirty Years Ago

M. P. Kinkaid was nearing the end of his long term in congress, and was about as well known as Dr. A. L. Miller is today. He had been on the job since 1903, and retired in 1922.

Forty Years Ago

William Jennings Bryan made one of his most pleasant trips to Ord. He was not a candidate for office, but was campaigning in the interests of the Democratic party at large. It was the only time in a lifetime of campaigning that he saw his party successful at the polls.

Fifty Years Ago

Clifford Lomax, a ten year old Custer county boy, got tangled up in the ropes and made an unintentional balloon ascension at the Custer county fair. Ord trapshooters carried off the honors at the Loup City tournament, and the Mira Valley team won by defeating the Arcadia and Loup City baseball teams.

Sixty Years Ago

Charles "Killer" Brown was playing football with the Western College of Education in Washington. The Ord Chanticleers staged a track meet to beat Havenna in football, score 58 to 0.

Seventy Years Ago

The seven day open season on pheasants caused real slaughter in Valley county, where birds of either sex were taken, with little regard for shooting hours and the bag limit was disregarded. One arrest for hunting without a permit was made. Contracts were let for re-paving Highway 11 between Ord and Grand Island, which certainly sounds antiquated today.

Eighty Years Ago

Heavy withdrawals caused suspension of the North Loup bank Oct. 16, thus leaving the village without banking facilities. The Ord State bank, one of the town's oldest banking was closed by the state banking examiner. Dr. Joe Kruml was married at Council Bluffs, Ia., to Miss Grace Leighton. They were to make their home in Des Moines, but came to Ord to live a few years afterward. Four outstanding students were chosen to represent Valley county in a contest sponsored by the American Legion. They were Marian Grace Cushing, Mary Elizabeth Cook, Charles Shepard and Adrian Tolson.

Ninety Years Ago

A bootlegger lost a cargo of alcohol worth $10,000 when his truck upset and the nature of his goods was discovered. A meeting of 400 depositors of the closed Ord State bank was held and a depositors committee was chosen as follows: Ed P. Beranek, Val Pullen, L. V. Kokes, J. R. Stolz, and Joe Valasek. Jess Kovanda went duck hunting and did not have any luck with the ducks but came home with a 7 pound catfish. A group of Ord Rotarians drove to Broken Bow, Ansley, Loup City and Arnold.

One Hundred Years Ago

The delinquent tax list was printed in the Quiz and it amounted to less than half what it does today, after 30 years. Louie Mazac was building a fine new slaughter house down on his property by the river and it was about ready to use. Grover Cleveland Alexander was in Ord, and was going on the river on a hunting trip. He had just finished a most successful year with the Chicago Cubs and should have had some money saved up, but apparently he did not. A column was devoted to county roads and the question was asked if we were to lose the money that has gone into the county the best dirt roads in the United States. This referred to W. J. Hather, who richly deserved all the nice things said about him. Dollar for dollar they were the cheapest highways Valley county has. The Ord football team was making plans to match the Ord football team and went down to defeat on some field not mentioned by a score of 64 to 0. Among stellar players mentioned were Moeller, Hansen, Nay, Williams, Newton, Taylor and McBeth. The Ord Community Service club was making plans for a big time when they entertained their former friends at a big meeting. To Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van Wieren went the honor of being the first couple to get married in the new Valley county court house.

One Hundred and One Years Ago

Mary Ann Cornett had a birthday and one of the presents she received was a spoon used by President Taft on a recent visit to Hastings, Neb. A Valley county girl, Ruth Squires, had the honor of helping the wife of Gov. Chester A. Arthur entertain the girls of the university YWCA. Robert Nay bought the Aldrich farm across the river from Ord, paying $92.50 an acre for it. That farm is still operated by George Nay and is still worth the money.

One Hundred and Two Years Ago

Frank Koupal found a buffalo skull where the rain washed out the dam at Buswell Park, which was not Buswell park at that time. The skull was displayed at the lumber office for many years afterward. Grover Cleveland Alexander went through Ord on his way to the Calamus on a hunting trip, and he was so little known that the Quiz failed to give him any special mention. The land lottery at Gregory, S. D. had started and the only Ord people to win out of the first 1,500 were O. H. Fuser, Mary Gooch, Peter Peterson, Harold Stewart, Mary Parks, A. L. Bradt and Jesse C. Baird. After a year or so in charge of the Ord gas plant, Peter Darges decided to open a plumbing shop of his own. He did and is still on the job after 40 years. Ed Kallal wrote the Quiz from his new home at St. Albert, Alberta, Can., saying that he was doing fine there and that crops were pretty fair. 60 acres of oats making 4,000 bushels. The farm home of H. L. Steinwart, six miles west of North Loup burned to the ground from fire of unknown origin.

One Hundred and Three Years Ago

W. I. Stevens arrived in the county to superintend the building of a large barn on his ranch in Mira Valley, 32 by 45 feet in size. Because Ord carpenters were busy he had to import them from St. Paul. Rev. W. H. H. Forsyth, formerly of Ravenna, came to Ord as pastor of the Methodist church. At the home of the bride's parents on Davis Creek occurred the marriage of Miss Myrtle Houtby to Clarence Trump. Miss Fanny Haggart of St. Paul became the bride of Leslie Mason in a ceremony performed at St. Paul. The Quiz contained the story of Miss Gertrude Young, formerly of Ord, who had a position as governess in the family of Theodore Roosevelt. George J. Fisher, the new baker from Hastings at the Siler bakery, and Miss Lena Flick, also of Hastings, were married at Hotel Ord by Rev. C. A. Arnold. The Milfords purchased the old Perry stock and moved it to their store on the corner. Frank Miles went to Grand Island to take an examination for a position in the government printing office. Oliver Oleson, who coached the Ord football team to victory over North Loup the preceding year, offered to coach again, but not enough players could be found in school, there being only 11 boys in the senior and junior classes combined. At the Frank Misko home in Ord, Judge R. L. Staple performed the marriage ceremony of Ed J. Kasper and Miss Antonia Adamek.

One Hundred and Four Years Ago

Sarah, wife of J. A. Ollis, Jr., died suddenly at the family home in Mira Valley. A man named Lashmett was awarded $1,500 by a jury from a man named Prall in a case of false arrest. He had sued for $21,000. M. P. Kinkaid was just getting started on his long career of holding public office and was running for judge of the supreme court. The Quiz does not say whether he was elected, but indications are he was not, or the big 6th district would have lost a valuable representative. E. P. Clements and R. L. Staple put on the boxing gloves just for fun, but Clements hit harder than he intended and Staple lost a couple of front teeth. Miss Marie E. Jennings and Oscar E. Collins were married at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. Oscar Babcock. E. Hurlbert of Rosa Valley (Rosevale) planted five bushels of potatoes and harvested 240 bushels. Mrs. John Beauchamp was buried when thrown from a buggy after the horse had ran from the First National bank to a point near the Misko Harness shop.

One Hundred and Five Years Ago

The longest railway passenger cars in operation in the 1850's were fifty feet in length. These were considered to be curiosities at that time. Today, passenger cars range from sixty-five to eighty-eight feet in length, the average being in the neighborhood of seventy-two feet.

4-H LOOKS TO THE FUTURE

The dreams and the efforts of the 2,000,000 and more 4-H members will make tomorrow's world better. These young people in the painting for the 1952 National 4-H Calendar symbolize the club members who celebrate the fulfillment of their year's project work during National 4-H Club Achievement Week November 5-11.

Oliver Oleson, who coached the Ord football team to victory over North Loup the preceding year, offered to coach again, but not enough players could be found in school, there being only 11 boys in the senior and junior classes combined. At the Frank Misko home in Ord, Judge R. L. Staple performed the marriage ceremony of Ed J. Kasper and Miss Antonia Adamek.

Local News

Must Dust

When painting a room, the baseboard is always done last. Before beginning be sure to dust the adjoining floor area carefully.

Quick To Learn

African tribesmen who fought on the side of the Allies in World War II, the National Geographic Society notes, often did not know the use of the wheel in their native cultures. Yet they learned quickly how to drive trucks and operate other kinds of machinery.

Worried About Soft Corn ? ?

MINNESOTA TEST

Ear Corn Reduced 21% in 10 Days

No Spoilage or Odor

Mountain Lake, Minnesota
October 8, 1951

The Hesse Company
Sioux City, Iowa
Gentlemen:

My friend, Ned Peterson told me about your Grain Dryer and what it has done for him. I got a bag of it from him and gave it the toughest test possible to see if it would do everything he said.

On September 29, I snapped about forty bushels that had not been frosted, was grass green with all the husks intact, none was picked clean. A layer of Hesse Grain Dryer was scattered over the floor of a tight tank wagon box. The corn was packed in the box, with about twenty to twenty-five pounds of the compound mixed through it. A tin top covered the whole box so there could be no ventilation from the bottom, sides or top.

Ned Peterson and I took a sample of the corn to the Farmers Elevator in Jackson, Minnesota and had a moisture test made. The corn tested 65%.

The corn got a little warm about the third day, stayed that way for two or three days, then cooled off, and never got warm again. Now after ten days we have opened the box and find no evidence of spoilage, rotting or any odor whatever. I had the same elevator make another test at the end of the trial period and found the moisture was reduced to 44%.

I feel that we made the toughest test possible since the corn was in roasting ear stage, the husks were all on the ears, and there was no ventilation or stirring during the period of the test. I think the compound did a wonderful job. I expect to crib between four and five thousand bushels of corn this season and will use Hesse Grain Dryer in all of it. I have three boys who farm, each of them will use it in their crop. Our season is usually short and we often have trouble with soft corn. I do not hesitate to tell my neighbors about your Dryer.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Walter Bottin

Sorensen - Sautter

Miss Nora Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jens E. Sorensen of Dannebrog, and Thomas E. Sautter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sautter of Scotia were united in marriage Sunday in the Lutheran church at Dannebrog.

Rev. E. Wekenger performed the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock before an altar decorated with lighted candles.

Mrs. August Neimonth played the wedding music as nearly 50 guests entered the church.

Miss Rosemary Neimonth sang "Because" and "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. August Neimonth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a dark blue suit with gray accessories, completed by a yellow carnation corsage. She wore a strand of pearls belonging to Mrs. Earl Sautter.

Miss Betty Sorensen was her sister's bridesmaid and chose a gray suit with dark blue accessories and red carnation corsage.

The groom and his best man, Harold Schussler of Grand Island, wore business suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore dark blue and the groom's mother chose brown, both wore white carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Ronald Barnes, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Sautter opened their gifts.

The bride was graduated from the Dannebrog high school.

Mr. Sautter was graduated from the Scotia Consolidated school with the class of 1940 and soon after spent three years in the air force. Mr. and Mrs. Sautter are employed in Grand Island. They will reside at 822 North Dear.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sautter; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Selk, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sautter, Mrs. Guy Sautter and Mrs. Merlyn Schudel of Scotia; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sautter and Susan of McCook; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Barnes and Ronnie of Geneva; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barter of Grand Island; Mrs. Anna Sautter of Cotfield; Mrs. John Helzer of Palmer; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hiett of St. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Selk of Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sautter and daughter, Susan, spent a week at the Harry Selk home. They attended the wedding of Bill Selk at Shelby last week, and also the wedding of another nephew, Tom Sautter, on Sunday.

T.Sgt. and Louis Conwell and children left Tuesday for their home at Amarillo, Tex. They had attended the funeral of Mrs. Conwell's brother, Sgt. Ralph Coufal.

Miss Mary Moody spent the weekend with her father, Dwight Moody. Mary Lou Vance was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Muri Vance. The girls are attending college in Omaha.

Miss Linda Gebhardt entertained several girls at her home last Wednesday night at dinner followed by "tricks and treats." The girls stayed overnight.

The Lamartine Social club met with Mrs. Lavern Jess last week. Election of officers was held. Mrs. Lloyd Peterson was named president; Mrs. Warren, vice-president, and Mrs. Earl Hughes, treasurer. Pinochle was played during the afternoon. Winning prizes were Mrs. Fred Sautter, Mr. Harold Keep and Mrs. Victor Peterson. Mrs. Henry VanSlyke was a guest.

The Lyman's Bluff Birthday club met with Mrs. Harry Beck last Friday in honor of Mrs. Beck's birthday.

Willis Selk Wed at Shelby

White, yellow and orchid chrysanthemums decorated the altar of the Sacred Heart church of Shelby, Wednesday, Oct. 31, at 8:30 a. m. for the double ring ceremony of Miss Dorothy Thelen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thelen of Shelby and Mr. Willis W. Selk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Selk of Scotia.

Rev. John Kean read the lines of the nuptial mass. A solo "Ave Maria" was sung at the offertory by Alvis Kosch. Ramona Messing sang, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of slipper satin. The jeweled neckline was connected with a yoke of sheer. A deep bertha, satin collar with a computed edge of chanelly lace fell from the inset. An intricate floral design outlined with minute seed pearls highlighted the gown. The long tight-fitting sleeves overlapped the wrists, wherein tiny covered satin buttons covered the back opening of the fitted bodice. The full skirt fell to the floor and ended with a stately cathedral train. Her fingertip veil was heavily scrolled seed pearls and was held in place with satin crownlike tiara. Two deep bands of imported chanelly lace completed the veil trim. She wore a strand of pearls and carried a blue fogary and a beautiful steamer bouquet of white mums.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert R. Armagost of Lincoln. Mrs. Richard Sautter of Omaha, and Alyce Zwiener of Bellwood were bridesmaids. They were identical in shrimp, gold and autumn green of rayon faille and satin trimmed. They wore matching mitts and headbands of rosettes. They each carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Richard Sautter, cousin of the groom, served as best man and Robert Armagost and Lewis Thelen as attendants.

Kathleen Barry was flower girl, and Francis Barry was ringbearer. Both are niece and nephew of the bride. Richard Thelen ushered, and Edith Thelen and Mrs. Alvin Cerny had charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thelen.

At 12 noon a three course dinner was served at the new home of the bride's parents. Serving the table were Phyllis and Ethel Mae Gandringer of Gresham, Doris Hanson and Lovene Dwinell of Lincoln.

This was the 31th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zwiener of Bellwood presented them with a lovely bouquet of white and colored mums.

A wedding dance at the parish hall was given in the evening.

The bride is a graduate of the Shelby high school and was employed at the Elgin National Watch Co. in Lincoln.

The groom was graduated from the Scotia Consolidated school and also from the University of Nebraska. He is now employed as an electrical engineer for Westinghouse.

After a short honeymoon the couple will make their home for a time at Pittsburg, Pa.

Attending the wedding from Scotia were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Selk, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sautter, Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Schudel, Mrs. Guy Sautter and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sautter and Susan of McCook.

"I almost bit off more than I could chew!"

"What I didn't know about the part fire insurance plays in business almost finished mine. I know now! It kept my business going, helped maintain my credit, protected me from fire loss. It's turned out to be my silent partner!"

Fire insurance also safeguards our community through building laws and inspection services, educates our children in fire prevention. It is an essential basis for credit in our free enterprise system, vital to industrial expansion. That's why, in these critical times, fire insurance is everybody's business.

MERCURY 2-Way Test

Loup Valley Motor & Equipment Co. - North Loup, Nebr.

Road Test a Mercury for proof of performance!

Watch a Mercury show its stuff when the light goes green. Feel that comforting reservoir of surplus power for safe passing on the open road. No doubt about it, you're the boss when you drive a Mercury. For here's a performer that never wills when the going gets tough. Mountains are cut down to size by eight cylinders of high-compression V-type 8 power. Traffic tangles unravel before its sure-footed gait. Byways become highways as its synchronized springing and foam-rubber cushioning snub out the bounce and jounce. Little wonder that Mercury is such a fast-growing star in popularity; you just can't beat its combination of performance, value, and prize-winning economy. Stop around for a road test and see.

Budget Test a Mercury for proof of value!

- Does it have a down-to-earth first price? Mercury's price tag you can easily understand—a big dollar's worth for every dollar invested.
- Will upkeep stay low? You save money year after year. Mercury's famous stamina keeps repair bills at a rock-bottom low.

- Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys built for use in this country are still on the road, according to latest annual official registration figures.
- Will trade-in value stay high? Mercurys keep their value; used car market reports consistently prove it.

- Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its more-miles-per-gallon by winning officially sponsored economy tests.
- Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the story from your Mercury dealer. See him soon.

3-WAY CHOICE!

For the drive of your life! Mercury offers a triple choice in dependable transmissions. Mercury-Matic Drive, the new simpler, smoother, more efficient automatic transmission—or thrifty Touch-O-Matic Overdrive are optional at extra cost. There's also silent-ease standard transmission.

Hallowe'en Passes Quietly in Ord

The time of witches and goblins passed very quietly in Ord. Aside from the soaping of the windows of the business houses there was no noticeable damage done.

A convocation in the grade school was held Wednesday morning. The program consisted of many appropriate songs by the children, under the direction of the music teacher, Miss King. There were also some recitations. Several parents attended this program.

In the afternoon the customary parade of the school mummies was held. The gayly and grotesquely dressed youngsters marching from room to room and showing off. The parade was all that could be desired and had witches and ghosts, devils and angels, brides and hobos, boys dressed as girls and girls dressed as boys. There were plenty of comic book characters, also cowboys and girls, different nationalities, Chinese, Spanish and Irish, Indians and

Ducks Go Southward as Ponds, River Get Early Ice Coating

Ord Nimrods Take Bag of Big Ducks; Pheasant Shooting Is Poor.

A second and yet a third cold blast, following closely on the heels of last week's first chilly weather, brought the big northern mallards into this territory last mid-week and for several days the harder hunters took a big toll of the southward-bound fowl. Not since the big Armistice day storm a few years back has such a parade of wild fowl down the North Loup river been seen and all varieties of ducks were taken here, from redheads and canvasbacks down to late flying pintails and teal. Northern mallards were the most plentiful and happy indeed were the hunters who notched their limit of the fat 3 pound birds.

Two Canada geese were killed Thursday by Gene Leggett and Vern Andersen at their blind east of Ord, the only geese kill reported. One weighed 9 1/2, the other 6 1/2 pounds. These men also took their duck limits the same afternoon and also on Friday.

The group that hunts from Walter Douthitt's blind on the Chester Papernik farm got into limit mallard shooting Wednesday and continued every day through Saturday. Other groups hunting near Elyria report good kills also.

Near-zero temperatures began to sheathe the river with an unseasonably early coating of ice by Friday and on Sunday the entire river was almost solidly frozen.

Near-zero weather prevailed Sunday and few ducks were killed, except in springfed branches along the Cedar and Calamus rivers, where the ducks congregated.

Monday's warmer weather opened the North Loup river channel again and by Tuesday it was reported free of floating ice, with hundreds of mallards again present.

Should the sand hill lakes remain frozen and the river remain open a few days of shooting may result such as North Loup river hunters have waited years to see.

Limit kills were the rule again Tuesday with afternoon shooting being as good as the early morning kind.

A return of colder weather probably would send most of the ducks southward and close river hunting for the season. Plenty of feed is available locally and the big ducks won't leave until deprived of open water resting places.

Sunday's snow storm, which followed the cold spell, did nothing to help pheasant hunting and is generally slow in this section. The weather was too cold for most hunters and so the birds lay close in heavy cover and moved only when made to do so. Warner weather should revive the sport, for there are plenty of birds in all sections of the county.

Two Fined Heavily for Violation of Game Laws

Henry Stange of Burwell was arrested on Oct. 28 for the unlawful possession of two hen pheasants. At his trial before Judge Ball, Nov. 3, he was fined $10.00 and costs of $4.00, with damage to the birds of $50.00, or $23.00 for each bird, a total of $64.00.

Wencel Cadek of Ord, was arrested the same day on a similar charge, having in his possession one grouse. At his trial on Nov. 3, he was fined $5.00 and costs of $4.00, with damage to the state of $25.00, a total of $34.00.

Cub Scouts

A new group of Cub Scouts met on Tuesday after school at the home of their den mother, Mrs. F. J. Osenowski. This is Den No. 3, and ten boys belong, being beginners in Scout work.

Kinkade, Helzer Planning Mexican Trip

Mrs. Clara Kinkade and Miss Katherine Helzer plan to leave next Sunday morning, Nov. 11, from Lincoln for a long planned and a long anticipated trip to Mexico. The women will leave here on Saturday. On the next day they will take a plane from Lincoln at 7:30 a. m. and will land the same time but in the evening in Mexico City. Stops will be made at Kansas City, Mo., Houston and San Antonio, Texas, enroute.

In Mexico City they will be a part of a conducted tour, in which two other people, unknown so far to Mrs. Kinkade and Miss Helzer, will be a part. The leader of the tour will take the party on all the side trips possible and also will conduct them throughout the city. They expect this part of the tour to take eight days, and will be back in Lincoln, unless something unforeseen happens, in ten days, ready to begin their work again. They will fly back to Lincoln.

Miss Helzer is especially interested in the work of the women and girls in Mexico and hopes to get much of the conditions and environments of the women there. She also hopes to get information as to agriculture workings for the benefit of the farmers and their wives here. Mrs. Kinkade is going simply as a vacation.

Both have long desired to see the country to the south and are looking forward to a very happy time. However they say they do not plan to get into anything socially since the trip is for sight-seeing only.

Standing, the teacher, Miss Irene Sidel and Dr. Osenowski, in the chair, Janet Dymek, and watching, Richard Penas. The school represented is District 38.

Dental Survey Made of Valley Grade Pupils

The children of the rural schools of Valley county were given the opportunity of receiving free dental surveys the past week. The work was done under the auspices of the extension clubs, with the assistance of Valley county dentists.

From the first there has been a noticeable cooperation between the teachers, the parents, the children and the dentists. The various groups have been brought to the attention of the clubs, and in several cases the parents have accompanied their children to see what had to be done to their children's teeth.

The dentists of this city are of the opinion that the greatest need of work to be done on the children of their charge, and in many cases the parents have accompanied their children to see what had to be done to their children's teeth.

One of the nicest things about the experiment, say the dentists, is that the children are being taught not to fear dentists who fix their teeth. In many cases, there is little to be done, but because the children are in a nervous state, the work is much harder. Also the dread of going to the dentist causes the trip to be delayed, when if it were only known, the more often the trip, the less the disagreeable effect.

The children are cautioned that careful and frequent brushing is necessary to prevent the cavities that cause the pain. But they are also taught that diet is also responsible and they are urged to forgo too much sugar and starch.

This is the first time that the rural children have been a part of the survey with the town dentists. In times past the teacher has done the work herself, and in most cases have shown themselves to be quite capable. This time, since the work has been done by one in authority, as it were, the parents are made to know just the exact state of their children's teeth.

It is interesting to note that as a result of the survey several children have already made appointments with their dentists, through their parents, to have small cavities filled, and other repair work done.

Dr. F. L. Blessing reports that he examined 102 children and found that there were 71 who had cavities, and 14 with none. Seventeen children had been to a dentist and had no cavities and their teeth were in good shape.

Dentists who cooperated with the teachers and parents in the survey were Dr. F. L. Blessing, Dr. G. A. Gard, Dr. G. W. Taylor and Dr. F. L. Osenowski, all of Ord, and Dr. R. Hansa of Scotia.

Bring Fine Price

Two Hereford bulls sold by Wm. Schudel of the Riverdale neighborhood at the auction last week in Broken Bow, brought the owner $2,450 and $2,400. The grand champion bull, owned by the C Bar M ranch, sold for $5,000.

It Happened in Ord...

Here's the best story we've heard yet, arising out of the 1951 pheasant season:

An Ord man had four out-of-town guests, all expert hunters. Toward noon the men and their Ord host came back from the corn fields to eat dinner, tired but happy in the possession of 16 fine roosters. After eating they dressed their birds, leaving heads and feet on for identification, as the law requires, and went back after birds to fill out their limits.

Late in the afternoon they came back with nine more birds, a total of 25 for the day, 20 for them to take home and five for their host.

In the meantime their hostesses noticed the birds in the freezer and considering them to be not very well dressed had proceeded to do them over, ready for cooking, and in the process cut off the heads and feet.

Result was that when the hunters left for their homes that night they had only nine legal birds to take, instead of the limit of five each for which they had worked so hard.

Moral: There's more than one way of insuring a game supply for the family.

Huff-Christensen Sell 93 Butchers at $18.50 Average

With 46,000 cattle, calves, hogs and sheep on sale, Omaha Monday was the city's largest livestock market—9th Monday in a row at the top. Cattle and calves totaled 24,000; 15,000 were westerns. The hog run at 15,000 was biggest since last Jan. 17. Prices all across the board pointed lower.

Slaughter steers and yearlings sold steady to 50c off, bulk $33.00-$35.00, better steers $35.00-$38.00, top of the yearling steers $35.00, plain shortfords down to $35.00. Heifers sold to 25c lower, canners and cutters $15.00-$20.50, mostly $16.00-$20.00, beef to $28.00, a few westerns $28.75. Beef bulls again sold to $29.50; veal calves again to $35.00.

Replacement cattle and calf prices were slowest of the season and values dropped to new lows for the year. The break on stocker and feeder cattle and calves was 50c to $1.00 and more, and late Monday clearance was poor. Yearling stock steers sold at $32.25-$37.00, some held higher. Stock heifers brought $30.00-$32.50, and high quality Wyoming Shorthorn breeding heifers scored $56.00. Yearling feeder steers weighing above 800 sold to $35.50; 2-year-old feeder steers to $33.50, a few $34.00, plain ones down to $28.00. Early sales of stock calves ranged from $37.50-$44.50, with some held above the latter figure. Stock cows, in contrast to other classes, sold steady, bulk $24.00-$27.00, one load 901-pound Nebraskas $28.50.

The hog market broke 50c-$1.00, bracketing 180-360-pound butchers at $17.50-$18.60, top lowest since mid-December 1950. Sows weighing 270-550 brought $15.50-$18.00; stags $14.00-$16.00.

Fat lambs and slaughter ewes sold 25-50c lower, fed wooled $30.75-$31.00, one load $31.50, and 124-pound shorn lambs with No.

Halftime Lead Fades, Chants Lose 46-13 to Gothenburg

Wolfe's Passing Puts Chants Ahead Briefly but Swedes Too Strong

In the second quarter of their game against Gothenburg Friday night, played on a frigid field, the Ord Chants came from behind and scored two touchdowns to lead at halftime, 13 to 12. After that the story was all Gothenburg and when the game ended the Swedes lead by a margin of 46 to 13.

Jim Davenport was Gothenburg's big scoring threat and he obliged by feeling off five touchdowns on runs of from 5 to 70 yards and made one try for point for a personal total of 31. Fred Ward and Don Ackerman also looked good for Gothenburg.

The Swedes jumped into an early lead, making two touchdowns in the first period and generally playing rings around the faltering Chants. Then came Ord's big period in which Wolfe pitched touchdown strikes to Leland Crosby and Eugene Gross and also tossed to Laursen for one extra point.

Ord's ground attack went nowhere generally, though Sowers and Crosby made some good mid-field gains.

The score could easily have been closer for Ord outdowned Gothenburg, 14 to 10 and made 305 yards to 432 for the Swedes but it was long runs, principally by the speedy Davenport, which beat them.

A bitterly cold north wind raked the field and kept a shivering crowd moving back into their autos for warmth.

Only Columbus remains on the Chanticleer schedule, after which Coach Moore's boys will hang up the cleated shoes and pads on what can be called, at best, a so-so season, despite the fact that they finished second to Broken Bow in the north division of the Trans-Nebraska conference.

THANK YOU. Thanks to all of you who attended our Hy-Line and Feed meeting last week. We feel that those of you who attended this meeting received much information about Hy-Lines and about Vitamins and Antibiotics in feeds. Our feeds are properly fortified, they are balanced for the right results. We would appreciate the chance to talk with you and also tell you about the wonderful results obtained in divided tests also in Authorized Laying Contests. The records made by Hy-Lines are remarkable.

Protein Feeds. Have you made arrangements for your protein feeds for this winter? With winter weather here and the low quality of much of the corn and hay, you will need more proteins than ever and they are very scarce for immediate delivery. Nearly all jobbers of Soy Bean, and Cotton Seed could sell many more cars for the next two months than they can get delivery on. Should we have a heavy storm you would feel much better with your protein feeds out on the farm.

Hybrid Seed Corn. The coming year will see many farmers asking for a little earlier maturing Hybrid corn than they have been planting the last few years. Just at present early varieties are plentiful and you should decide on about what you will need for next spring planting. We have excellent varieties running from 100 to 108 days and have found them very good yielding varieties if planted in normal soil planting time. Of course if planted the last of May or first of June they are not as heavy producers as if planted the first part of May. Very liberal replant guarantee on both cornhusker and Standard varieties.

Fertilizer. The coming season will be the worst season that we have ever known in fertilizing. Ammonium Nitrate. In fact we do not expect to be able to furnish nearly enough to take care of the demand. Ammonium Sulphate which is a carrier of 21% Nitrogen is still available in limited quantities and we have on hand a fair supply of 16-16-0 in a mixed fertilizer. We feel that you should arrange now for fertilizer that will do the job for you for the next eight months. To show you just how rough the fertilizer situation really is: we have had two cars of fertilizer that we had booked for Dec. and May cancelled within the last couple of weeks. Anyone wanting to use a fertilizer on small grain or as a starter fertilizer for corn will do very well to use 15-15-0 and this fertilizer could be obtained now but we rather feel that by spring the manufacturers will be sold out on this mixed fertilizer.

Fenner Ferguson Was Third Man to Go to Congress from Nebraska Territory

Fenner Ferguson, the third man to represent Nebraska territory as a delegate to Congress, was really the first who was identified in a permanent way with the territory. His judicial career is much more important than the one term of office he served as delegate.

Born in New York in 1814, Ferguson came to Nebraska as the first chief justice of the territorial supreme court. Prior to his appointment by President Franklin Pierce, he had lived in Albion, Michigan, where he had moved from New York in 1846. There he had served as district attorney and as a member of the state legisla-

The Fergusons arrived at Bellevue, Oct. 11, 1854. One of Ferguson's first acts as chief justice was to administer the oath of office to Governor Francis Burt, who arrived a few days before and who lay ill in Rev. William Hamilton's mission house. Two days later, Governor Burt died, and the new chief justice's first public address consisted of remarks at the Governor's funeral.

Judge Ferguson also was present at the ceremonies marking the birth of printing in Nebraska, and it was he who pulled the first proof sheet of the Bellevue Palladium.

As chief justice, he organized the first district and supreme courts of Nebraska and assisted the first territorial legislature in drafting the first code of laws enacted for the government of the territory.

The Fergusons, by virtue of the Judge's position and their many fine qualities, soon assumed a position of leadership in territorial society. The Judge, in common with virtually all ambitious men in the territory, was active in politics.

In 1857 he ran for the post of delegate to Congress, the highest position within the gift of the territorial electorate and one that always was much sought after. He defeated the incumbent, Bird B. Chapman, and almost in the tradition of delegate elections found his seat contested by Mr. Chapman. The House of Representatives seated Ferguson, however, and he served one term as delegate from Nebraska.

While representing Nebraska in Congress, Ferguson introduced bills providing for a surveyor general for the territory, and for a territorial penitentiary. He also introduced a bill to provide a bridge across the Platte River.

At the end of his term as delegate, Judge Ferguson returned to Bellevue to practice law. His career as a lawyer was short-lived however. Shortly after returning to Nebraska he contracted an illness from which he never recovered and which resulted in his death, Oct. 11, 1859. He was buried in the Bellevue cemetery.

Armistice Day

Today as we pay silent homage to those who gave their lives that we might continue to enjoy Democracy, let us rededicate ourselves to a continuation of the principles for which they fought. We have freedom at the polls, freedom to participate in civic activities and, above all, freedom of thought and speech. Let us exercise these privileges of democracy wisely and to the fullest of our abilities — for this is the best way we can prove they did not die in vain.

Winston Churchill

Last week the world looked on, largely with approval, when the British voters did an about face and returned Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill to his former post as prime minister. Thus, after six years of Socialism the Tories are once more in power. The majority is not overwhelming, and it is well that it is not. When a misstep might mean a new election and a new government, it behooves the party in power to move carefully.

That the new government means economy is shown by the fact that the first official act of Churchill's new cabinet was to cut their own salaries, in sharp contrast to the lawmakers in Washington, who feel that they are entitled to a raise. However, it must be kept in mind that the cases in the two countries are not parallel, by any means. In America we are at the peak of a law made and maintained prosperity, while in England the people are anything but prosperous.

Churchill is in the unique position of being elected by the electors but not by the popular vote of the people. As in America, it is the electoral college and not the popular vote, that counts. According to the returns about a quarter of a million voters wanted Attlee than wanted Churchill. Churchill won by a small margin in a number of million more wanted Attlee vote was overwhelming in a few.

Unique is the fact that the straw vote showed just how the wind was blowing and that both sides practically conceded the result before election day. That is an important difference between the people of Britain and those of America. Here we keep our political business largely to ourselves and reserve the right to change our minds as the campaign progresses. There the voters make up their minds and do not change them.

In the United States we have a deadly parallel to the recent election in England. In 1876 Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican, was elected over Samuel J. Tilden, Democrat, by an electoral vote of 185 to 154, but the popular vote gave Tilden a lead of well more than 250,000 votes. However, the executive branch of government was not nearly as close as the electoral vote would indicate, and the president had congress behind him.

Also, in 1888, Grover Cleveland lost to Benjamin Harrison by an electoral vote of 233 to 168, yet he carried the popular vote by 100,000. This was not as close as the election of 1800 when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr tied for the honor with 73 electoral votes each and John Adams beat out C. C. Pinckney for vice-president, 65 votes to 64. The popular vote was not recorded in those days, but the election went to the House of Representatives, who found in favor of Jefferson.

It is quite a coincidence that the United States has its Winston Churchill as well as England. The important difference between them is that the English Churchill lived his political and war experiences while the man from America wrote about them but had very little experience in either. As a result, we in America think only of the British Churchill when we hear the name mentioned.

Winston Spencer Churchill was born in 1874, entered the army in 1895, and served in the Boer War in India in 1897 and also in the Sudan. He acted as a war correspondent during the British-Boer war. Elected to parliament in 1900, he rose rapidly in popularity and was honored with various cabinet positions throughout his political career.

He was under-secretary of state to the colonies in 1906-08; president of the board of trade, 1908-10; home secretary, 1910-11; first lord of the admiralty, 1911-1915; minister of munitions, 1917; secretary of state for war, 1918-1921. In 1921 he was made secretary of state to the colonies; and he was made chancellor of the exchequer, 1924 to 1929.

He opposed Chamberlain's Munich policy in 1939, but he entered his cabinet in September and became prime minister in May, 1940. Having the unanimous support of the people, he carried on a tremendous military and political program that aided immeasurably in the final success of the war in 1945. That same year he was decisively defeated in Britain's general election by the Laborites.

Under the Labor government and with the whole nation impoverished by war it was inevitable that England would drift into Socialism which it has done in the past six years. The return of Churchill to power does not mean that government policy will change radically. It does mean that the drift will stop, or at least, slow down. A nation cannot shift from one policy of government to another overnight, and it is doubtful if the majority of the people wish to go back to the old system.

The return of the old warrior to power at the age of 77 years is in itself a remarkable achievement, and it shows the esteem in which the advocate of "Toil, Sweat, Blood and Tears" is held by the British people. Here in America we have no real parallel, even in the case of a younger and more vigorous politician. Here it seems that a man in a high position, once defeated, is slated for oblivion.

But Winston Churchill is a remarkable man, the greatest in England since William Ewart Gladstone, and even Gladstone did not have the hold on the affections of the average Britisher that Churchill enjoys. He is a remarkable man, not only in the field of politics, but also in journalism and art. He is the author of a number of popular books, and is a painter of no mean ability.

The nearest approach we have had to him in America, perhaps, was Theodore Roosevelt, who made an outstanding success in the fields of writing, war and statesmanship. He is the outstanding figure in world affairs today, and it will be a long time before England or any other nation has a man who can even approach his stature.

Its YOUR Government, No Matter Its Cost

On Thursday, Nov. 1 the new tax law went into effect, taking 11 1/2 per cent more than ever before from the earnings of individuals as well as making taxes heavier on automobiles, cigars, liquor and a thousand and one other things. The new laws was designed to raise an additional 5.6 billions of dollars.

The day after this law, which dips so deeply into the pockets of Americans, went into effect President Truman allowed himself to be quoted as saying "more taxes will have to be raised next year; at least 1 1/2 billion dollars more than this law provides." And he proposed to raise this much more by upping individual taxes another 2 per cent, among other things.

The Internal Revenue Division is being completely reorganized and almost half of its 97 divisional heads are being dismissed or permitted to resign because they took bribes or otherwise used their offices as tax collectors to feather their own nests. All were political appointees accountable to Truman himself.

Untold billions of dollars are being uselessly spent by Truman's State department trying to buy friendship for the United States all over the world. A Defense department is being run so wastefully that it is a disgrace to the nation. Government employees are being paid with bribes, kickbacks, drinkards and perverts.

A housecleaning, a big housecleaning in federal government, is called for. Its still YOUR government but if you want good, clean government again, and the people, for the people and by the people, you'd better help with the housecleaning. After the next election it may be too late.

Something Different

Do you remember when Edgar Mouser had a neat little hamburger shop in the parking area about the same place as the Knezecek office now operates?

Have you seen his place in Hastings? It is really what every restaurant man dreams of owning, some day. Squarish, set back from the street so there is parking adjacent, the low building is not pretentious, but it does look interesting. It is made of brick, or perhaps that reddish tile.

But inside, there's a spacious, well-cared-for air. Many big windows give lots of view. There's a feeling of brick and knotty pine throughout the place, and the heavy pine cornice boards over each window carry this on. They are festooned with growing ivy, pretty-like and graceful. Tables and benches and booths are everywhere, but not crowded. A peninsula of counter extends out into the room from the north or kitchen side. It too is made of brick or tile, in an ample size. The place has a pleasant feel, one part modern, one part home-spirited, several parts clean.

And far from least, the food is excellent and varied. The menu exhibits a true chef's pride in his offerings. There's real selection. Yes, I liked it. And I wasn't the only one. There were many (college) young men and women wandering in and out for service.

It is pleasing to see ex-Ordites achieve success in whatever they try, even though they are long gone from us. For instance I hear that Paula Sowl has done well in the movies, following her training at the Pasadena Playhouse, and to study at the last named is to achieve a measure of success, right there.

understood she had a part in "Goodbye, My Fancy" which was here in Ord a month or two ago. But I didn't get to check on this. Probably I wouldn't have known Paula if I had gone. She was a little girl when they left, and have you noticed how little girls change? A different hat, a different hairstyle, and I defy you to recognize them.

That game at Lincoln Saturday was one of the coldest places, the blowiest places, I've ever seen. Yet the stands were well filled, with only a little corner or so vacant. And no matter how fancy the people looked when they came, it wasn't long before they were wrapped up and tied down with everything available. Handkerchiefs, scarves and boots and blankets everywhere and still everyone clutched wildly, and huddled and shivered.

People are silly, aren't they? One attractive thing about the afternoon Saturday was the presentation of Jayne Wade as Homecoming Queen. A beautiful brunette who has visited Ord several times as the guest of her fiancé, Bill Anderson, Jayne has reigned for a year, and on Saturday, she was introduced to the crowd with all the pomp and ceremony possible.

... in a bitter cold, violently windy afternoon. Mrs. and Mrs. William Gallagher and Mrs. George Anderson spent Saturday in Lincoln when they attended the football game. Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Welniak and family were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kokes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Selik and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Marucka and family of Farwell and Rena Kusch.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Some of my best friends seem to think I ought to be hanged or made to sit in the electric chair, and a few think it ought to be that way on general principles while others have some specific reason, all because of something written by me. I try to keep from treading on people's corns, but it would surprise you how many people have corns and how tender they are. This column would certainly be flat if I tried to write it without offending anybody. I do my best, and, if that is not good enough, there is nothing I can do about it. If at any time you feel hurt about something I have said, please remember the times I missed you entirely. Anyway, I have one advantage. I write this column and I get paid for writing it.

As to this matter of execution, death has no terrors for me, at least, not yet. Nor does the manner of my going worry me in the least. When the time comes, I expect to be there. A man may be late for his wedding, but most people are right there when the time comes for their funeral. I have never been shot, or even half shot, but I have been hanged and I have sat in the electric chair, believe it or not. I must admit that hanging is a rather disagreeable sensation, and that the electric chair has its good points. I found those points so hot that I moved faster than I ever did in my life and made a high jump record, starting from a sitting position.

About that hanging deal. It was all for the sake of art. Back in 1911 I lived in Ord and I and one Raymond Wilmoth each had a camera. We did a lot of picture taking that winter together, and one day we conceived the idea of hanging ourselves and getting pictures of the proceeding. We played it safe by making a harness from which we could be suspended. We went down to the river, found a suitable tree. Then Raymond slipped off his coat and trousers, got into the harness, put his clothes on over the top with the rope running up his back and out of the back of his coat collar. I then knotted a short piece of rope around his neck. Then he climbed up the tree and out on a horizontal limb, tied the rope to the limb and eased himself down until he presented a perfect picture of a man hanging.

The way we did it there was no danger connected with the project. I then took his picture and still have the negative somewhere about. The funny part of the deal came when he tried to climb back on the limb. He simply couldn't get back up, and he had gone too far out to reach the body of the tree. I had to climb up and help him get out of the fix he got himself into. Then it was my turn to be hanged, and I did as he had done, except that I stayed close enough to the tree so that I could get myself down afterward. We sure had a lot of fun that day, but I wouldn't advise Ed Swopes or John Andersen or John Wozab to try it. Wozab probably couldn't find a tree high enough to get his feet off the ground.

Twenty years later while we were living in Burwell, Joe Meyers and Frank Manasil were running the Ford garage there and the display room was a favorite loafing place in the winter. Somebody got the checkers and a board, and quite a lot of checker playing went on there. Among the men who loafed there was an old timer named Gilo Summers. The boys in the back room decided he was spending too much time there, so they figured out a plan to discourage his daily visits. One of the chair bottoms had split in two and it had been repaired by putting a piece of wood under it and driving nails down through, clinching them below. The boys set this chair near the door to the inner office, fastened wires to a couple of those nails, ran the wires back into the office and rigged up a shocking machine with a car battery.

Gilo was not there when they got done, so Ralph McClimans figured out a way to test it out at the expense of the checker players. I happened in just about the right time. Ralph said: "Come over here, John, I want to show you a new move. He sat down in the other chair leaving the loaded chair for me. He then put down half a dozen checkers of each kind on various places of the board. Then he said: "You have the black men, and IT'S YOUR MOVE!" Some fellow in the office threw the switch just as he said "MOVE," and I moved.

I went up three or four feet toward the ceiling, taking my end of the board with me, and the checkers were scattered all over the room. That was the hottest seat I ever sat in. I thought for a moment a hornet had stung me, but cooled off after a while and stayed to see Ralph pull the same trick on several other fellows. Finally Summers came in, and we all were ready to laugh, but there was nothing to laugh at. When the boys gave him the juice he just sat there. After they tried it several times Gilo squirmed around to get in a more comfortable position, but didn't seem to realize what was going on. Somebody told him what the boys were up to and then he got so mad that he wouldn't come in any more.

Those were the good old days, and they were a grand bunch, always ready to give a joke or to take one. Gilo was an old man, and did not long after that, but Ralph, Frank and Joe were just in the prime of life then, all about my age. All three of them are gone now, and Burwell does not seem the same these days as it did then. That is the way I sat in the electric chair. I am still alive, but the boys who pulled the trick on me are gone. After all, the effectiveness of an electric chair depends entirely on the voltage, and a hanging, to get best results has to shut off a man's breathing, and I'll be hanged if I want that to happen to me.

Now, I'd like to tell one about Gregory (Greg for short) Stine, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stine. Greg has a dog named Butchie. Like all kids dogs, Butchie will put up with about anything Greg does to him. They have taught Greg to brush his own teeth, and the other day he got an idea of his own. They found him sitting astride the dog, holding his head and brushing his teeth vigorously. Dale seeing his nose needed attention, handed Greg a hankerchief and told him to wipe his nose. The young fellow misunderstood, and gave the dog's nose a good wiping instead.

Monday afternoon, Oct. 29, the wife of F. Edward Bax was laid to rest in the cemetery at Boelus. Only a few will remember the Baxs, who lived in Ord more than a half century ago. Mr. Bax was a druggist at the Ben Bridgeford drug store when they were here. They have lived at Boelus nearly a lifetime now, and he is still in the drug store business at Boelus.

Another man who left Ord about 45 years ago is Claude Honnold, who married Effie Long, sister of Leo Long. Claude has been teaching in Oklahoma for more than a quarter of a century and he decided to retire. He did, for a year. Last year he went back and taught again, but this year he is living at Aiken, S. C., where he has bought an acreage and is building houses. The lumber is grown right there, and is about as cheap as anywhere in the United States, so he can figure a profit on his building operations.

The latest song hit is, "Top Banana," and the song says that, "If you want to be the top banana, you have to start at the bottom of the bunch." Can you imagine anything more idiotic than that? But modern song writers don't care for rhyme or reason, so long as the song brings in the cash, and the American public will fall for anything.

WE'RE FLAG WAVERS

A great American patriot once confessed, "Sure I'm a flag waver! Can you show me a better flag to wave?"

That's how the men who belong to the Veterans of Foreign Wars feel about their country—and we don't care a damn about the wisecracks of the smart alecks.

Being overseas veterans, we're not self-conscious when our patriotic shows. On the contrary, we believe it's high time to teach the youngsters today there's nothing sissy about waving the Stars and Stripes every chance you get.

That's why we are always promoting patriotic programs—the kind that will help our kids understand what a great country America is.

Sure, we're flag wavers, and we're proud of it. And that explains why those who understand the purpose of our flag waving never fail to say—

"THE V.F.W. IS A GOOD OUTFIT!"

Combination Farm at PUBLIC AUCTION

Thursday, Nov. 15th

Community Building in North Loup, Nebr.

We will sell 560 Acres of Davis Creek Land to the highest bidder, regardless of price.

Legally known as the east half of the south half of the southwest quarter of Sec. 31, Twp. 17, Range 13 in Valley county and E1NW1/4 1-16-14; N1NW1/4 6-16-13, in Sherman county, Nebr., which is located 8 miles southwest of North Loup, 1/2 mile from Dist. 70 school. The buildings are one and one-half miles from the county road which will be graveled.

IMPROVEMENTS

House is 2 story with 4 rooms on the first floor, with coat room and nice large porch and 4 rooms on the second floor. This residence has been shingled in the last 2 years with cedar shingles and is a good residence; main barn, 26x34, with 14 foot posts, large hay mow and 18x34 leanto; double corn crib and granary, 24x28, with 8 foot drive; garage 12x18; 2 wells and windmill, one at the home buildings with large cistern and water piped to the house and yards, the other well and mill is in the back pasture. The buildings have not been occupied for 2 years and need just a little repair. This farm has been signed up for the E section of the R.E.A., which is expected to be constructed this fall. Farm is fenced and cross fenced and the north quarter is fenced with woven wire.

TILLABLE LAND

The soil is a dark loam and there is 183 acres in one tract that is gently rolling, there is 60 acres in the southwest corner of this tract that is semi level, it is all good hard land and very productive, it will grow all kinds of grain crops, alfalfa and sweet clover without any special inoculation. There was 70 acres of sweet clover sown with the small grain last spring and it is a good stand. This makes a total of 240 acres of farm land. The balance of 320 acres is in pasture and building lots, 160 acres of this farm is in Sherman county but joins the Valley county land. The pasture has buffalo, gramma and blue stem native grasses and is one of the best, an excellent water system as there is a well and mill in the back pasture. The owner is going to sell this farm to settle partnership and here is a tract well located, properly balanced both as to tillable land and pasture and this is one of the best farms in the Davis Creek territory. It will be offered as a complete unit or as a 320 acre and 240 acre and sold whichever way it brings the most money.

TERMS: 25% Cash on day of sale and balance when merchantable abstract of title is furnished and deed given not later than Dec. 20, 1951. The 1951 taxes will be paid.

I lived by this farm for 20 years and I want to assure any prospective buyer that I rate this as one of the best to make money on. Contact Burt or Corwin Cummins at the Ord Livestock Market in Ord, Nebr., or W. J. Boomer at North Loup, Nebr. We will be glad to show you this ranch.

Office of the Architect in the form of Proposal.

Each Bidder shall include and shall be deemed to have included in the price quoted in the Proposal, the amount which it is estimated will be payable by the successful Bidder or by the Owner on account of taxes imposed by any taxing authority upon the sale, purchase or use of materials, supplies or equipment incorporated in the Project. All taxes of the foregoing nature shall be payable by the Bidder which shall be awarded the contract for the construction of the Project.

A Bidder who has not already completed similar construction for an REA Borrower, shall file with the Architect the Bidder's Qualifications on forms supplied by the Architect at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the scheduled bid opening.

The time of completion of the Project shall be as specified by the Architect in the form of Proposal.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check in the amount of a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the order of the Owner, in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the maximum bid price. If a Proposal is not accepted or if a Proposal is accepted and a satisfactory Contractor's Bond is furnished by the successful Bidder, the bid bond or check will be returned in each instance within a period of thirty (30) days to the Bidder furnishing same; except that each Bidder agrees, provided its Proposal is one of the three low Proposals, that, by filing its Proposal together with such bid bond or check in consideration of the Owner's receiving and considering such Proposal, said Proposal shall be firm and binding upon said Bidder and that such bid bond or check shall be held by the Owner for a period of not exceeding sixty (60) days from the date hereinabove set for the opening of Proposals.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Contractor's Bond in the form attached hereto and with sureties listed by the United States Treasury Department as acceptable sureties, in a penal sum not less than the contract price.

Should the successful Bidder fail or refuse to furnish a Contractor's Bond satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator within ten (10) days after written notification of the award of the Contract by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed proposals for the construction, including furnishing all necessary materials, machinery, labor and equipment, of The Reiter Building, including Utilities, located at Ord, Nebraska (hereinafter called the "Project") to be financed pursuant to a loan contract between The Loup Valleys Rural Electric Membership Association (hereinafter called the "Owner") and the United States of America, acting through the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration and designated Nebraska No. 93 Valley will be received by the Owner on or before 7:30 o'clock, P.M. C.S.T. on November 20, 1951, at its office at Ord, Nebraska, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

2. The Plans and Specifications together with all other necessary forms and documents for bidders may be secured from Frank N. McNett and Company, at Grand Island or Scottsbluff, Nebraska, on payment of ten ($10.00) dollars, which payment will be refunded to each bona fide bidder within ten (10) days after the bid opening. Additional sets of Plans and Specifications may be obtained upon payment of ten ($10.00) dollars, which payment will not be subject to refund. The Plans and Specifications may be examined at the office of Architect named above. A copy of the loan contract may also be examined at the office of the Owner.

3. Proposals and all supporting documents required to be attached thereto must be submitted on the forms furnished by the Owner and must be delivered in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Owner. The name and address of the Bidder, its license number, if a license is required by the State, and the date and hour of the opening of bids must appear on the envelope in which the proposal is submitted. Proposals must be filled in ink or typewritten. No alterations or interlineations will be permitted, unless made before submission, and initialed and dated. The Bidder must be required to comply with all applicable statutes, regulations, etc., including those pertaining to the licensing of contractors and the so-called "Kick-Back" Statute (48 Stat. 948) and regulations issued pursuant thereto.

4. Prior to the submission of the Proposal, the Bidder shall make and shall be deemed to have made a careful examination of the site of the Project and of the Plans and Specifications, forms of Construction Agreement and Contractor's Bond on file with the Secretary of the State with the Architect, and shall be deemed to be fully informed as to the location and nature of the proposed construction, the transportation facilities, the kind and character of the soil and terrain to be encountered, the kind of utilities required before and during the construction of the Project, general local conditions and all other matters that may affect the cost and the time of completion of the Project.

5. Each Bidder shall include and shall be deemed to have included in the price quoted in the Proposal, the amount which it is estimated will be payable by the successful Bidder or by the Owner on account of taxes imposed by any taxing authority upon the sale, purchase or use of materials, supplies or equipment incorporated in the Project. All taxes of the foregoing nature shall be payable by the Bidder which shall be awarded the contract for the construction of the Project.

A Bidder who has not already completed similar construction for an REA Borrower, shall file with the Architect the Bidder's Qualifications on forms supplied by the Architect at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the scheduled bid opening.

The time of completion of the Project shall be as specified by the Architect in the form of Proposal.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check in the amount of a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the order of the Owner, in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the maximum bid price. If a Proposal is not accepted or if a Proposal is accepted and a satisfactory Contractor's Bond is furnished by the successful Bidder, the bid bond or check will be returned in each instance within a period of thirty (30) days to the Bidder furnishing same; except that each Bidder agrees, provided its Proposal is one of the three low Proposals, that, by filing its Proposal together with such bid bond or check in consideration of the Owner's receiving and considering such Proposal, said Proposal shall be firm and binding upon said Bidder and that such bid bond or check shall be held by the Owner for a period of not exceeding sixty (60) days from the date hereinabove set for the opening of Proposals.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Contractor's Bond in the form attached hereto and with sureties listed by the United States Treasury Department as acceptable sureties, in a penal sum not less than the contract price.

Should the successful Bidder fail or refuse to furnish a Contractor's Bond satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator within ten (10) days after written notification of the award of the Contract by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or other security delivered with the Proposal shall thereupon be due and owing to the Owner as liquidated damages for such failure or refusal and the Owner may thereupon award Contract to any other Bidder. The term "successful Bidder" shall be deemed to include any Bidder whose Proposal is accepted after another Bidder has previously refused or has been unable to furnish a satisfactory Contractor's Bond.

11. The Contract, when executed, shall be deemed to include the entire agreement between the parties thereto, and the Contractor shall not claim any modification thereof resulting from any representation or promise made at any time by any officer, agent or employee of the Owner or by any other person.

12. The Owner reserves the right to waive minor irregularities or minor errors in the Proposal, if it appears to the Owner that such irregularities or errors were made through inadvertence. Any such irregularities or errors so waived must be corrected on the Proposal prior to its acceptance by the Owner.

13. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals.

14. The Owner represents: (a) If the other provisions of the contract documents the Owner shall have undertaken to furnish any materials for the construction of the Project, such materials are on hand at locations which may be determined by inquiry by Bidders from the Architect or if such materials are not on hand they will be made available by the Owner to the successful Bidder before the time such materials are required for construction.

(b) Title to the property on which the Project is to be constructed has been obtained.

(c) All funds necessary for prompt payment for the construction of the Project will be available.

If the Owner shall fail to comply with any of the undertakings contained in the foregoing representations or if any of such representations shall be incorrect, the Bidder will be entitled to extend the time of completion for a period equal to the delay, if any, caused by the failure of the Owner to comply with such undertaking or by any such incorrect representation; provided the Bidder shall have promptly notified the Owner in writing of its desire to extend the time of completion in accordance with the foregoing, and provided further than such extension, if any, of the time of completion shall be the sole remedy of the Bidder for the Owner's failure to comply with any of the foregoing representations.

Obituary

Arthur A. Malotke

Arthur Albert Malotke, son of Albert and Martha Malotke, was born at Mira Valley, Valley county, Nebraska, July 9, 1894, and passed away at the Orville Elshire home from asphyxiation on Oct. 31, 1951, at the age of 57 years, three months, and 22 days.

"Art," as he was known, was farming in the Davis Creek community. He had taken Martin Vance to the Elshire home, where Mr. Vance was doing chores. It being cold they had turned on the burners on the gas range to fix lunch and apparently fell asleep while waiting for the coffee to boil. Mr. Malotke was a Baptist and was confirmed in the Lutheran church at Mira Valley.

Mr. Malotke spent most of his life farming, batching as he never married. In July 21, 1918, he enlisted in the army for a period of training from which he was honorably discharged on Jan. 21, 1919. He was a member of Ralph R. Rich Legion Post No. 285.

He had many fine qualities and was very congenial with all whom he came in contact.

He is survived by three brothers, Paul of Ord; Gerhardt of Chicago, Ill.; and Arnold of North Loup; four sisters, Olga and Erna of San Bernardino, Calif.; Mrs. Frieda Hornickel and Meta of Ord. His parents, two brothers and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel, Friday at 2:30 p. m., with the Rev. Allen Strong officiating. Mrs. Leslie Nash sang "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me," and "No Night There," and she was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Orin Kellison.

Pallbearers were Alfred Jorgensen, Allen Edwards, Orville Elyshire, Anton Psota, Virgil Meyers and McKinley Long.

Burial was in Hillside cemetery at North Loup.

Martin V. Vance

Martin Van Buren Vance, son of Martin V. Vance and Ollie Davis, was born Sept. 7, 1900 at Germantown, Neb.

When Martin was three years old, the family moved to Davis Creek, Valley county, and lived there ten years and then moved to Arcadia, where he lived some years, and then he and his wife moved to North Loup, which place has since been his home.

He was united in marriage with Elsie Benson at Nebraska City on Dec. 24, 1934.

Mr. Vance loved farming and that was his work until the time of his death Oct. 31, 1951. He had many friends, and always had a kind word for everyone.

The burial took place in the Arcadia cemetery beside his father who died about 15 years ago.

Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his death, his mother whose home is in North Loup, and five sisters: Betha Gallegher, Hastings; Nellie Leatherman, Gray, Okla.; Anna Lindell, Comstock.

Ollie Stone, Ord, and Eva Summers of Arcadia.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church in North Loup Friday, Nov. 2, 1951, at 2 p. m., with the Rev. J. Arthur Miller officiating. Mrs. Harold Hoopner and Mrs. Floyd Ingerson sang "The Old Rugged Cross," and "Beyond The Sunset," and they were accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Johnson. The Hastings-Pearson mortuary had charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Pete Jorgensen, Charley Otto, Harry Walter, Ed Whalen, Ben Sintek and Wayne Sheldon.

John L. Higgins

John L. Higgins was born on a farm near Brayton, Neb., May 26, 1898. He grew to manhood in this community and was married to Maude Elsie Glines. To this union seven children were born: three sons, Leo Scottsbluff, Ruel, Fort Bragg, S. C., Jack, in the air force, Biloxi, Miss.; four daughters, Mrs. Levi Chippis, Casper, Wyo.; Mrs. James McAndrew, Lohrville, Ia.; Mrs. Frank Coelho, Fairfield, Calif.; Mrs. Thomas Tropper, Palmer. Two sisters in California and 14 grandchildren also survive.

Since Mr. Higgins' marriage, he had lived most of his life here in Ord. His wife preceded him in death Sept. 21, 1940. One sister and two brothers also preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel Sunday at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Keith Shepherd officiating. Mrs. Leslie Nash sang two hymns, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Orin Kellison.

Pallbearers were Grant Marshall, Tracy Hamilton, Ivan Glines, Frank Mundorf, Leo Higgins and Jack Higgins.

Burial was in the family plot in the St. Paul cemetery at St. Paul.

—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Puckett and Mrs. Delores Kinnimon and daughter, Karen of Kansas City, and Mrs. Marvin Kiser, Mrs. Loraine Alfrey and son, Vince of Lincoln, spent the weekend with the ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barnard and other relatives.

This year Armistice Day comes to find us facing another threat from tyrannical armies. It finds us, too, accepting this challenge, as did those brave Americans in past years. In such manner is democracy defended. Not by depriving others, and ourselves of liberty, but by defeating those who would deprive us. Today we are mustering all of our might and joining forces with our allies. Today we are meeting this threat to liberty in all parts of the world, fighting this many-headed monster of decadence wherever we can, aware that our kind of liberty never loses.

No. 11 Highway May Be Reopened This Week, Is Hope

Oil Seal Applied on Tuesday, Must Dry; More Work in Spring.

No. 11 highway between North Loup and Elba, closed most of the time since early last spring, may be reopened this week to traffic. It was open for two days last week, then closed again, and it is closed now while workmen apply a final coating of oil, called an "oil seal" which is designed to carry the highway through the winter without damage to the basic oil mat already applied.

This oil seal is applied so water will not seep down through the base and cause damage. Oil for this coating was delayed in transit and did not arrive until Tuesday. After application it must dry for a few days before it can be driven on.

By the end of this week it is thought all barriers can be taken down and normal traffic allowed on the new highway through the winter months. Next spring the highway will again be closed while repairs are made to the undercoating and an armor coat applied.

Two Criminal Cases To District Court

Arcadia Men Figure In Two Petty Theft Charges Filed.

Arcadia persons are involved in two petty theft cases filed in district court, and slated for hearing Tuesday before Judge E. G. Kroeger.

Cecil Hatnecote, who gives his address as Jackson, Tenn., is charged with taking food and clothing valued at over $35.00 from his employer, William D. Sallie.

Sallie operates a string of bee hives for custom alfalfa pollogenization, and has made headquarters in Arcadia for several years.

Jerry Larson, a student in Arcadia high school is charged with taking a wrist watch valued at more than $35.00, the property of Cecil Leighton, Arcadia filling station operator.

Only Two Drafted in December Call

Valley county's draft for December will be for two men, according to Mrs. Bob Hall, clerk for the Valley County Selective Service Board. The November quota, which has not been filled as yet, called for four men. These will be sent for their physical examinations on Nov. 26.

Nebraska will supply 269 men in the December draft call and 898 in the January call.

Funeral Friday for Mrs. Emil Foth

Esteemed Mira Valley Pioneer Dies Suddenly at Age of 79.

Wilhelmine Ziemke, daughter of John and Wilhelmine Zienke, was born near Bromberg in Posen, Germany, May 20, 1872 and passed away unexpectedly Tuesday, 2:15 a. m., Nov. 13, 1951, at the age of 79 years, 5 months and 24 days.

When very young she was baptized and on May 16, 1886 she was confirmed in the Lutheran faith in which she remained until the end.

In 1889 at the age of 17 she came to America with a sister and made her home in York county, Nebraska for 8 years. On Nov. 14, 1897 she was married to Emil Foth of Valley county and they made their home on the place where their son Will lives now.

Here their children were born and grew up. In Feb., 1925 they moved to their new home where a grandson, Lyle Foth, now lives and this Amineid Mrs. Foth's home except for the time spent in the homes of her children.

She leaves to mourn her passing her 5 children, 2 daughters, Bertha, Mrs. Geo. B. Clement of Ord, and Lydia, Mrs. Oscar Breithauer of Grand Island and 3 sons, Walter, Will and Harry of Ord, 16 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Mathilde Graul of Columbus, Neb., and one brother, Reinhard Ziemke in Denmark. Her husband passed away in 1938 and a grandson, one sister and 4 brothers also preceded her in death.

Mrs. Foth was highly esteemed and loved in her community and will be sadly missed. In the years before her strength failed she was always willing to lend a helping hand. Her greatest interest in life was that of her church and her family and in her later years, in her own words, "was always thankful that she could get up and enjoy her grandchildren."

Funeral services will be held Friday, 1:30 p. m., from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foth and at 2 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran church in Ord. Burial will be in the Ord cemetery.

District Court Session Tuesday

Judge E. G. Kroeger of Grand Island will hold a short session of district court here Tuesday. The docket includes two criminal cases and a smattering of civil actions.

Farmers Retiring, Moving To Ord; Real Estate Brisk

Five Houses Change Hands During Week; Many Being Built.

With a large number of farmers over Valley county retiring from their farm work and moving to Ord, real estate moved briskly during the past week.

The Harlon T. Frazier home was bought by Frank Blaha, for $18,000 which sum included first floor rugs and drapes. Mr. Frazier has bought a home in York and will move there at once. Mr. Blaha has leased his farm north of Ord to Dean Hallock and will move to town after holding a big clean-up sale in January. Cummings & Cummins represented buyer and seller.

Edward Bruna, who is holding a farm sale this week, has purchased the Mrs. Mary Bartos property in south Ord, consisting of a residence and a block of ground. Consideration was $9,000. Emil R. Pafets, broker, reports.

Mrs. Bartos, in turn, purchased the Frank Pelska, sr. house in south Ord, for a reported consideration of $6200. The house, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Darrel McOstrich, was occupied for the past two years by the George Anderson family. They have rented the former Helleberg house.

Joe M. Jablonski is holding a farm sale at his place north and west of Ord next week, and has purchased a house from Dr. F. L. Blessing in northwest Ord. The house was formerly on the lot purchased by Blessing and on which his new combination office-residence is about complete. Consideration was $1000, the Cummings agency reports.

Chris Johnsen, living seven miles north of town, has purchased the John Sevenker acreage in south Ord, just across the highway from City View Addition, for $7200.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnsen will move to Ord about March 1, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Flynn will occupy their farm.

The Wozab agency handled the transaction. Mr. Johnsen is tentatively planning to subdivide the acreage into building lots.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sevenker have purchased the Raymond Hurlbut property in east Ord, consisting of a five room residence and seven lots. John Wozab, broker, reported the consideration to be $4,500.

Rollie Beran Stars as Peru Normal Wins

The Peru State Teachers college football team, which has won 5 and lost 1 in conference play, added to the laurels by defeating jolting an intersectional foe, Eastern New Mexico, 19 to 7, in a game played at Auburn. The New Mexico team was previously undefeated.

Rollie Beran, of Ord, took a 40 yard pass to score one of Peru's touchdowns and he and Jerry Trullinger were given credit for stopping Eastern New Mexico's great offense, which had rolled up 241 points before going into the Peru battle.

Beran has consistently starred at end in all of Peru's games this fall. Peru and Nebraska Wesleyan meet this week to decide the conference championship, with Peru being given a big edge.

72% of Children Have Dental Defects

Final figures from the recent Valley county dental survey show that 316 pupils availed themselves of the opportunity of expert advice on the condition of their teeth and appeared for examinations. Of this number, 90 or about 28%, were without need for dental care at this time. The above figures include the North Loup school system, which combined the dental and health examinations on one day.

Only about one-third of the rural students reported but information has been received that several families had the work done prior to the beginning of school in September. The results are satisfactory as this is the first time that this project has been attempted in this county. Thanks are due any and all who were in any way responsible for the survey.

Mortensens Due Home Sunday or Monday

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen are expected to return to Ord Sunday or Monday from a two month's trip to south and central America points of interest. The Mortensens visited nearly every country in the southern hemisphere.

Crowd Expected at Benefit Dance

Members of the BPW club, and especially the committee are busy this week arranging the last details of the annual formal dance of which the club is sponsor and which will take place Monday evening, Nov. 18, in the Bohemian Hall. At this time the decision of those purchasing tickets as to whom will be chosen "belle of the ball" will be made known. The candidates for this honor are Gladys Kokes, Elva Papiernik, Mary Thompson and Carol Kwiatkowski.

Tickets are being sold by members of the club. Every ticket is a vote. The money used in this method will be used for the Ord Cooperative hospital and other benefits.

It is not necessary that formal dress be worn at this dance but many are planning on it.

Election Date Conflict for State and City

County Clerk Awaiting Ruling on Who Does What, And How.

Revised election laws of the state of Nebraska have produced a poser for election officials, county clerk Leonard D. Woods said this week.

The state primary election is set by law for the first Tuesday in April. The regular city and school district elections are scheduled for the same day.

"The fact that it will be April Fool's Day seems to have a particular significance," Woods said. "This is really a joker that will need some explanation."

Questions bothering Woods are many. "Ord, for example, will have four separate polling places, and the counting in each spot will count ballots for both state, county, city and school district offices. Each of Ord's three city wards will have their usual spots, and persons living in Ord township outside the city limits, will vote at the courthouse."

But, some of the persons living outside the city canvases the Ord school district ballots? "Who orders and pays for the ballots? The county or city, or do they split the duties?"

Who issues the certificates of election and who canvases the votes? The county clerk and county board or will the city and school district clerks and boards figure in the deal?

Woods said there has to be an answer to all these questions, or April 1st is going to be a real joker.

Leland Crosley Is Honorary Captain

When he first checked out a football suit as a freshman Leland Crosley weighed about 85 pounds, or would have if sopping wet, and promptly was nicknamed "Pee Wee" a name that clung to him throughout high school.

Pee Wee knew that he was a little man going into a big man's game and that to succeed he would have to be fast and tough, and always in condition. Every football season since he has remembered those prompts and his progress was steady, climaxed Tuesday when fellow letterman on the Chanticleer football squad elected him honorary football captain for the season.

Thus Pee Wee Crosley, still weighing only 135 pounds and still 5 feet 7 inches tall, becomes "Mr. Football" of Ord high school for the year.

Hospital To Get Funds From "Pay Bake" Saturday

Bread Sale Receipts Also Go To Hospital; or Charity of Choice.

Sponsored by Betty Crocker and the Avers Furniture store of Ord, a "Pay Bake," a new kind of idea to raise funds for charities will be carried out in Ord Saturday.

Women of Ord and surrounding communities will bring a loaf of their own baked bread, made from Gold Medal Flour and from a Betty Crocker recipe to the Avers store Saturday.

For each loaf turned in with an official entry slip, a quarter of a dollar will be given to the baker's favorite charity. The baker can then take her bread home, or, if she wishes, donate the loaf to a bake sale to be held the same day under sponsorship of the county extension club council and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Although no restrictions are made as to what charity the baker may select, members of the 20 county extension clubs and the Auxiliary are ear-marking their quarters for the community hospital. Funds received from sale of the home-baked bread will also go to the hospital.

Mrs. Loren Good is in charge of the extension club division and Mrs. C. C. Dale the Auxiliary. Other organizations will doubtless also participate in the bread baking fun.

Sponsors of the "Pay Bake" wish to announce that it is in no way a contest but a plan to be of help to the community. Bread can be brought to the store at any time during the day and will be received by responsible persons.

"Pay Bake" entry blanks can be obtained from any of the grocery stores in Ord, together with Betty Crocker recipes. These stores also carry Gold Medal flour in packages ranging from two to 50 pounds. Each entrant is limited to one loaf of bread.

Sunday Best Day Yet for Pheasants

Warm, balmy weather prevailed Sunday and an army of pheasant hunters took the field for what was probably the best day's harvest of birds this season. Destruction of cover by frost and of corn stalks by the picking machines accounted for 3,690, according to the county clerk's office.

From Haskell Creek east to the Valley county line, pheasants seem to be very scarce this season. Generally speaking, the river valley and the territory south and southwest of Ord seem to be producing the best bags.

The open season closes on November 25 and that date will come none too soon in the opinion of many sportsmen who believe the crop here was not as large as estimated and that overshooting is being done.

Accident on Way to Funeral

While Rev. Clinton Frank with his son, Junior, and daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Morse, were coming to Arcadia last Thursday to attend the last rites for Mrs. Clinton Frank, a fire went out and the car completely overturned, near southwest of Ord, near the intersection of the highway. The car was badly damaged. Wilford Williams brought them on to Arcadia.

3,690 Drivers Got Renewal Licenses

The number of drivers licenses bought during the allotted time, which ended the last day of October, amounted to 3,690, according to County Treasurer Wilson. Some half a dozen have been in since to get their necessary papers, with the plea that they had forgotten, but all who failed to renew before Nov. 1 must take the prescribed examinations before a member of the state highway patrol before new licenses can be issued.

Neighbors Pick Corn at Henry Desmul Farm

Neighbors and friends turned out en masse to pick corn at the Henry Desmul farm, southwest of Ord. Here's a Swopes photo of just part of the equipment lined up ready for action. It's nice to live in Valley county where neighbor means something more than just another word in the dictionary.

And the Womenfolk Did a Big Job Too...

No one remembers how many courses there were—but there were at least four meat entrees when these good women served dinner to hungry cornpickers. These superb Valley county cooks are, left to right, Mrs. Rudolph Krahulik, Mrs. Rudolph Zablouid of Portland, Ore., young Stephen Zablouid, also of Portland; Mrs. Frank Novak, Mrs. Joe Pelska, Mrs. J. V. Suchanek, Mrs. Henry Desmul, Mrs. Louise Zadinna, little Diane Desmul, Mrs. Harvey Krahulik, Miss Evelyn Bruha, and Mrs. John Nevrlka.

Former Ord Woman Walking Again After 30 Years In a Wheel Chair

Opal Needham McBurney is walking again.

After thirty years in a wheel chair, the former Ord woman has regained the use of her legs, can walk part of the time without braces, and drives a car.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Needham of Ord, Opal, was stricken by polio at the age of 12. Although she critically ill that her doctors could offer but little hope for her survival, through the careful and loving care of her parents and through medical attention she recovered enough to sit in a wheel chair, though paralyzed from the waist down.

Throughout the years, Mrs. McBurney, now a resident of Benita, Calif., a small community near San Francisco, had never given up hope that some day a way could be found to help her walk again.

"She was that way as a child," Mrs. Needham told a Quiz reporter. "She went to Ord high school and graduated with a better than average standing."

"I remember when she decided she'd like to play the organ. I used to have to push the pedals for her, because she couldn't use her legs. Soon after that we got her a piano and she did very well with it."

Opal was married to Virgil A. McBurney about ten years ago, and went with him to California, where he is employed in an arsenal near San Francisco.

A few months ago, while visiting her doctor, she was advised to contact the Polio Foundation. Tests were made and a decision reached to experiment with surgery. After three major operations of an extremely delicate and experimental nature, Mrs. McBurney was told she was on her own—the operations were successful.

After a recuperation period, she discovered with great joy that she could stand alone for a time. Later she became able to take steps without assistance.

Now she is making many steps, and looks forward to the time when she will enjoy nearly complete use of her limbs.

Union Thanksgiving Services Nov. 22nd

There will be union Thanksgiving services in Ord on Thursday, Nov. 22, at nine o'clock in the morning. The services will be held in the Assembly of God church with the address to be given by Rev. Keith A. Shepherd of the Methodist church. There will also be special music. All are invited to attend this service of thanksgiving.

Neighbors and Friends Pick Desmul Corn Crop

Twelve Cornpickers, 23 Tractors, 25 Wagons Get 4000 Bu.

As a good neighborly deed, and an expression of heart-felt sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Desmul who lost their son in Korea, neighbors and friends from Geranium community turned out in full force last week to pick the Desmul's corn crop.

The friends came as a mechanized force with 12 corn pickers, 23 tractors, 25 wagons and 3 elevators. Four thousand bushels of corn were picked on a hundred acre field in short order. Rudolph Krahulik, John Nevrlka and Joe Suchanek supervised the picking operation.

Women of the neighborhood likewise responded to Mrs. Harvey Krahulik and Mrs. Joe Suchanek for the food, which was contributed in great abundance and was served for both dinner and supper.

Ladies who helped with the serving were Mesdames Rudolph and Harvey Krahulik, Joe Suchanek, Frank Novak, Lew Zadinna, John Nevrlka, Joe Pelska and Miss Evelyn Bruha. Besides the serving committee, Mesdames Bill Moravec, Edna Placnik, Emmanuel Smolik, Lillian Zadinna and John Valasek, sr., contributed food.

Another assistant was Mrs. Rudolph Zablouid of Portland, Ore., who came to be with her sister and brother-in-law, the Desmuls. And there were others who contributed food, whose names were not learned.

Doing the work in the field were Joe Pelska, Chas. Krikac, Leonard Moudry, Geo. Radil, Joe Suchanek, Rudolph Krahulik, Wences Bruha, John Pelska, J. M. Moudry, Ed Bruha, John Nevrlka, Anton Radil, Frank Novak, Lew Zadinna, Rudolph John, Wences Bruha, sr., Harvey Krahulik, Thomas Waldmann, Johnnie A. Valasek, Eugene Soumerfeld, Bob Wagner, Keith Kulkish, Leonard Ptacnik, Perry Kulkish, Emanuel Bruha, Paul Waldmann, Joe Pelska, Joe Holoub, Frankie Zadinna, Raymond Waldmann, Leon Placnik, Robert Benson, Eugene Pelska, Donald Pelska, Delmar Chippis, Richard Lukesh, Elmer Parkos and Ed Zadinna.

The men who came in the afternoon were Bill Moravec, Albert Lukesh and his son-in-law, Harry Fischer, of Burwell.

Miss Helzer Heads Christmas Seal Program

Miss Katherine Helzer will serve as chairman of the annual sale of Christmas seals in Valley county this year. The sale will immediately following Thanksgiving. The seals will be mailed to as many as possible in the county as in former years. The work of placing these in the envelopes and preparing the envelopes for mailing will be done by the members of the Girls' Service club of the Ord high school. The girls have assisted in this work before.

This year the seals will have a picture of Santa himself on them. The jolly old fellow seems to be asking everyone to buy seals and thus help the fight against tuberculosis.

"Abelskiever" a New Delicacy Here

Pass the "abelskievers" quick, or you'll just have to pardon our eager "boarding house teach." It was only after going to the Bethany Lutheran church on Saturday afternoon, that many found out just what that word meant. Served by the Ladies Aid of the church, the Danish delicacy was delicious and in demand. There partakers found that the abelskievers were a kind of pancake, made with buttermilk and soda or sweet milk with baking powder and fired in hot fat. They were eaten with butter or jam or syrup as are the American variety.

The name means apple slice, and some have put a slice of apple in the batter before it was fried. Other fruit can be used as desired. However, it is rare now that the apple slice is added, and the little cakes are as delicious as with the fruit.

With the abelskievers, the ladies served sausages and pie with coffee.

Nebraskans Can Be Thankful

Nebraska is particularly fortunate this year in having excellent crops of corn, wheat, hay, and sugar beets.

Nebraskans can be thankful, too, for this state's successful system of self-regulation employed by our tavernmen.

This is a direct result of the brewing industry's continuing educational program aimed at encouraging approved tavern operation.

Your tavernman has pledged his sincere cooperation to this program and, as a result, we have wholesome conditions in Nebraska's taverns for which we can all be thankful.

Ord's 6th Annual Drama Festival Presented Monday

Appreciative Audience Sees Thespians in Dramas, Comedies.

Using as the theme, "Portrait of the People," members of the Ord Thespian Troupe, 328, sponsored by Mrs. Dorothy Kovanda, presented the sixth annual all-school dramatic festival in the Ord high school auditorium Tuesday evening before a large and interested audience.

The two hour entertainment was begun by selections given by the Choral Speaking Choir and narrators. Led by Ruth Wozniak, the group of 14 young ladies, beautiful in formal dress, spoke in unison. Leanna Kerchal was announcer, and used the theme "the people reaching for light" by Sandburg, which called for religion, freedom, beauty and strength which the young folks depicted.

The plays given during the first half of the program were of a serious type, with a cutting from "Family Portraits" in which the actors wore modern dress, the time of the play being just before the crucifixion, after which came "Winged Victory," a play of love and sacrifice, and "The Informer" from the Irish playright, Liam O'Flaherty. Amelia Novosil gave as a reading, "Anne of the Thousand Days" by Anderson, in appropriate costume.

The second part of the program was given over to the lighter side and was headed with the theme, "The People Laugh," and laugh the audience and at the same time saying of the young folks in the presentation of two plays and cuttings from a third, "Grenachika," "Sparkin'" and a cutting from act I of "Cyrano De Bergerac."

Some of the young actors were outstanding in their work, but all did very well and showed the worth of the student directors, Karen Smetts, Donna St. John, Charlene Blessing, Carol Struckman, and Marianne Gnaster, with the personality and deep interest of the over-all sponsor, Mrs. Kovanda.

Ruth Ollis was musician and played appropriate selections throughout the entertainment. Keith Cook and Ivan Stones were electricians and added much to the presentations.

During an intermission Mrs. Kovanda was presented with a gift and a corsage from the troupe. Work on the festival was entirely voluntary and from giving the lines to the costuming and make-up was done by the young folks themselves, with suggestions from students who had been in the troupe before, and teachers.

Aged Horace Man Dies in Hospital

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Thursday at the Scotia Methodist church for James William Morrow, 89, who passed away Monday night in the Ord Co-Operative hospital where he had been a patient for a few days. Mr. Morrow was well known in this community having lived in Horace for many years and since the death of his wife, made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Alpha Daily. Rev. Walter Grantham will conduct the services and burial will be in the Scotia cemetery.

Square Dance Brings Out Pretty Costumes

There was a big crowd in attendance at the regular meeting of the Loup Valley Promenaders held Thursday evening, 22 sets being on the floor. There were also many who came to watch the dance as they went through the intricate steps. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Grand Island with a caller also from Grand Island. Many new couples have joined, making this organization one of the largest in the city. Several visitors from surrounding communities were also present. The next meeting will be on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 22.

Of special interest at these dances are the varied and pretty costumes of the dancers. The regular square dance dresses, with long full skirts, and yoked bodices, in bright plaids or colors. Most of them also wear stiffly starched petticoats, some even using crinoline to give a greater flare. One petite dancer, for whom a long skirt does wonders, even boasts of her dainty pantaloettes. The greater share of the ladies wear are of washable material, but some have satin gowns. In many cases the men wear shirts to match their wives' dresses. Most of the men wear cowboy shirts and trousers, with cowboy boots. The ladies wear strapped low heeled

Mary Jane slippers, but some have had the ballerina type shoes.

So far nothing has happened to upset the regular routine of the dancing, all being too interested in making no mistake in their set. The dances have been held in the Bohemian hall, also the K of C hall, but both places are too small for the growing crowds.

320 ACRES OF LAND and PERSONAL PROPERTY at PUBLIC AUCTION

Due to the death of the owner, Arthur Malottke, all his real estate holdings and personal property will be offered at public auction on Wednesday, Nov. 21

Commencing at 12 o'clock sharp A Half Section of Davis Creek Land Sold By Special Consent of the Heirs Will Absolutely Sell to the Highest Bidder Legal Description is N½ of Section 22-17-14 in Valley County, Nebraska

Here is the approximate acreage: 75 acres in fall wheat, share of this goes with farm. 30 acres of alfalfa, seeded two years ago. 45 acres of sweet clover. 20 acres of oats. 10 acres of cane. 105 acres of corn. 35 acres in pasture, buildings and lots. The location: 12 miles south of Ord, 8 miles west and 3 miles south of North Loup. On a county graveled road, ¼ mile north of Davis Creek school, R.F.D. and REA and telephone. Was known as old John Palser farm. The improvements: 6 room residence, 4 closets, full basement, water in the house. Barn 32 x 32, chicken house 60 x 20, garage 20 x 24; granary 10 x 24. Double corn crib and granary 32 x 40 with 10 foot drive. Steel mill. Large cistern. Water piped to lots as well as house. Farm is fenced and cross fenced. Orchards, feed yards and wind-breaks. This is one of the best farms of Davis Creek township, lays semi-level to rolling, has been rotated with alfalfa and sweet clover, in a good neighborhood, would make a wonderful farm for year-around feeding operations as there are thousands of bushels of grain and tons of alfalfa produced annually in this territory. Will be sold on following terms. 25% cash day of sale as security of contract. 25% more of the purchase price on or before February 1, or earlier if desired, at which time possession will be given. Balance as soon as the estate is probated which will be late April or early May when deed and abstract of title will be given purchaser. I lived near this farm for many years, and I rate it as having everything that any farm operator would desire, as to location, soil to produce, and improvements. They are adequate for any operator. — M. B. Cummins.

Andersens Visit in Ord

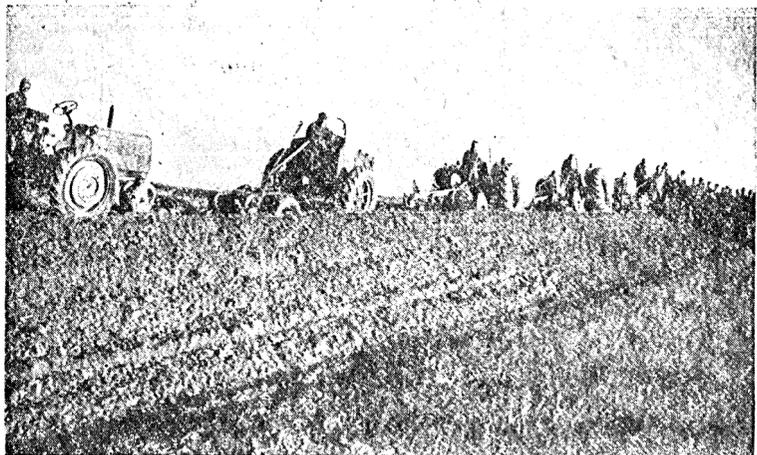

More game wardens will be stationed in north central Nebraska and especially in the Valley county area for the next couple of weeks, it has been announced by Paul Gilbert, of the state fish and game commission. Corn picking has destroyed much of the natural cover and made pheasants more accessible to roadside shooters, Gilbert is quoted as saying.

More Game Wardens Now in Territory

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andersen, of Iowa City, Ia., are in Ord visiting Frank's mother, Mrs. Hans Andersen, and with their other relatives here while Frank is enjoying a two weeks vacation from his duties as a meat salesman. Mrs. Andersen is the former Miss Lucine Hardin, once a teacher in the Ord schools. Frank expects to do considerable pheasant hunting while in Ord.

Where Are the Ducks? Hunters Again Pose That $64 Question

Shoot Good Last Week but Few Now, Even in Lake Country.

Where are the ducks? That $64 question asked some time during each hunting season by an army of wildfowl enthusiasts again is being propounded as hunting this week slowed to a snail's pace, with very few birds reported.

Terrace Plans Shown Veterans

from Wyoming and the Dakotas. That $64 question should be answered in the next few days if this weather trend continues.

Trapping Season Opens Here Today

The trapping season on muskrat and mink in Area No. 2 of the state starts Thursday, Nov. 15, and runs through Jan. 15, 1952. There is no limit or hour restriction.

Area No. 2 includes among other counties, Valley, Howard and Sherman, except for state-owned lakes or marshes or areas closed by federal, state or municipal law.

Now in progress are trapping seasons on raccoon, opossum, badger, skunk, civet and fox. There is no open season on beaver. Trappers are reminded by the Nebraska game commission that all individuals desiring to trap in Nebraska must have a trapping permit regardless of age.

Oil Dealers Hold County Meet Monday

Representative oil dealers in Valley county met Monday evening at the K. C. Hall to discuss mutual problems and to hear Willard Wilson, executive secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Industries Committee discuss legislative and tax problems.

The group chose Ray Falter and Frank Kapustka of Ord and Joe McClain of Arcadia as a county committee of three to keep dealers posted on new developments in the industry.

Loup City Commission Co.

Last regular Friday sale Nov. 16, starting Monday, Nov. 19, and every Monday thereafter we will hold regular Monday sales.

The reason for changing sale date is that we get more fat hogs than we can get orders for the last of the week and the first of the week orders for fat hogs are not limited. It will also give consignors the benefit of the first of the week's river markets of both cattle and hogs, by that I mean if you can't get the price you want at the Loup City Market you can load the cattle or hogs to Omaha or wherever you think you can get more without holding the stock off of feed. Hoping this meets the approval of the farmers and ranchers in this locality. We remain your loyal servant.

making institutional on farm training are from four counties: Valley, Greeley, Sherman and Howard. One vet drives over 50 miles to Scottia for classes each week. This class has been operating for a four year period and about 45 men have received training in this class to date.

During the day the class built two level terraces, a total of 2,700 feet. Four farm tractors with plows were used with an additional tractor pulling a trailer. Farm tractors were used to demonstrate the fact that farmer owned equipment can be used to apply good soil conservation practices.

The local soil conservation service technicians of the Valley county soil conservation district assisted in traffic direction for the tractors and gave instruction in the laying out of additional terraces. During the day 9,000 feet of terraces were laid out and marked by the class to be constructed at a later date.

This farm is badly run down and needs a lot of conservation work to restore its productive capacity," Leslie Nash, Valley county soil conservationist, said.

Ord Steam - Rolled by Columbus, 47-0 in Season's Closer

Chants Won 3, Tied 1, Lost Rest of Games This Year.

A pass interception and a fumble on the Ord six yard line, set up two Columbus touchdowns early in the first quarter to start Columbus on a 47 to 0 win, last Friday, in the last game of the season for the Chantleers.

A long run by Columbus star back, Eddie Zuroski, and a pass play as the first half ended, gave them a 27 to 0 lead.

In the second half, two more long runs by speedy Zuroski contributed touchdowns for Columbus and the final counter came in the fourth quarter after both teams had swept their benches.

The entire Ord line looked good at times but couldn't keep Zuroski bottled up on three touchdown runs. The Ord backs were running hard and penetrated into Columbus territory on several occasions only to bog down and lose the ball on downs or a pass interception. One Ord drive was halted by a pass interception in the Columbus end zone.

The first downs were even, ten for each team, but total yards gained favored Columbus as a result of several long runs.

With a light, inexperienced squad, Ord played the heaviest schedule in its history this season and was fortunate to salvage three wins and a tie, against five losses. The season's record follows:

Holdrege	27 - 13
Lexington	37 - 0
Ogallala	13 - 13
Albion	13 - 14
Broken Bow	40 - 11
Loup City	13 - 33
Havenna	6 - 13
Gothenburg	46 - 13
Columbus	47 - 0

Seventeen Chants Win Football "O"

Tuesday at Ord high school letters were awarded to seventeen members of the 1951 squad for their participation in games this season. Seniors who lettered included Paul Penas, Erlend Laursen, Leland Crosley, Arvin Bredthauer. Others who won the coveted "O" were Verl Nelson, Rodney Nelson, George Lange, Halten Mason, David Klimek, Duane Wolfe, Walter Sowers, Eugene Gross, LeRoy Adamet, Lyle Gilroy, Dean Achen, Floyd Wozniak and Robert Kovarik.

Ten senior members of the squad were entertained at dinner Monday evening by the Ord Rotary club, the group including Paul Penas, Erlend Laursen, Leland Crosley, Arvin Bredthauer, LeRoy Adamet, Vernon Placnik, Velmer Fuxa, Harry Dubas, Robert Golka and Herman Kapustka. Their coaches also were guests.

Personal Taxes Are Being Paid Fast

Postal cards announcing the amount of personal tax for the year, 1951, were sent out the first of the week. According to Lloyd Wilson, county treasurer and his deputy, Stanley Nolte, the money is coming in very well. The taxes are due the first of November, the first half being delinquent Dec. 1, and the second half, July 1, 1952. Motor vehicle tax is to be paid in full, and interest begins on the date of delinquency. Ivan Botts was the first one to come in and pay the 1951 taxes.

"But you said there were two foundations, John!"

How can you call fire insurance the second foundation? After our home's finished, we'll need it. But why fire insurance before the house is built?

John knows fire insurance is the cornerstone of any home. It protects contractors through every step of construction and the bank which loaned the money.

Fire insurance also safeguards our community through building laws and inspection services, educates our children in fire prevention. It is an essential basis for credit in our free enterprise system, vital to industrial expansion. That's why, in these critical times, fire insurance is everybody's business.

Suppose Your Home Burned Down!

Would your fire insurance rebuild it at today's higher costs... would it cover your furniture and other belongings? Too little insurance can be costly. For your protection let me check your policies now!

Piggy Bank To Blame

Our economy has been out of balance for a long time, and it is getting more out of balance from day to day. Each year finds us deeper in the mire of national debt. Economists have come forward with every imaginable reason for the fix we are in, some founded on common sense, some absolutely crazy in their concept. These same wise men have come across with hundreds of ideas for restoring the bank balance and getting the nation out of the red.

It remains for the treasury department to come up with the latest idea for improving our condition. We were once told: "Save the pennies, and the dollars will take care of themselves." No we are admonished not to save the pennies, and the piggy banks have been declared an enemy of defense. Reason, there is a copper shortage and the keeping of pennies in the piggy banks makes it necessary for the government to mint more millions of pennies, using valuable metal.

Present estimates are that we have eighteen billion pennies in use or stored away for a rainy

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some evening, you feel tired, such as stress and strain, reason this important function to slow down, many folks suffering from nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up at night or frequent passages. Don't neglect poor kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Dwan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Dwan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the kidneys filter and fill, and flush out waste. When your clothes are all wet and hung out on the line, I'll see that they're grimy in spite of sunshine.

day. Millions of these are being held by collectors, other millions are out of use temporarily in the vending machines of the nation. The number of pennies in the piggy banks cannot be determined, and varies from day to day according to the whim of the individual. The treasury department makes the apparent wise suggestion that we invest, instead, in defense bonds. The trouble with this is that it is easy to put away a few pennies every day, but the average person would have plenty of trouble raising the amount necessary to buy even the smallest of defense bonds at regular intervals. In fact, many people put those pennies, nickels and dimes away until they have enough accumulated to purchase a defense bond.

The saving of pennies seems so futile these days when they are actually worth less than half a cent according to the standard of ten years ago. One hundred of them will still rate one dollar, but that dollar is really worth only about 40c. This may be the reason for the rise in the cost of penny postal cards to two cents. By comparison the penny post card, if worth a penny ten years ago, is now worth only four tenths of a cent.

Some time ago there was much agitation for the coinage of new coins, the value of them being 2½ cents and 7½ cents. The street car companies figured that since they were finding it necessary to increase the cost of transportation, the 7½ cent coin by the billions, the place of the former nickel. Some wag also suggested that the 2½ cent coin would come in handy in buying articles formerly sold for a cent.

Over in England the penny always has represented a value of approximately two cents in exchange with United States currency, but the British have been getting along by spending farthings instead of pennies and live on far less than we do.

As a medium of exchange and an incentive for saving money, the penny is not to be despised. But this idea of not saving them in their right in line with the administration's idea of spending ourselves into prosperity. Since the nation is bent upon the mission of giving away and throwing away dollars by the billions, it really does seem silly to try to effect a saving by putting away that smallest of our coins, the penny.

"Who Collided"

Auto accidents are becoming so common these days that some of the newspapers are running a column called "Who Collided" or something along that line. Moreover, this column is in every day, for the good reason that not a single day passes without some kind of auto accident somewhere in the city. It is true that the public has a right to be informed of these accidents, when and where they occur, the names of the persons involved. That is only good journalism. No newspaper worthy of the name would fail to keep the public informed in the hope that publicity might help rid the city of the menace of those frequent accidents.

In a larger sense, they should not be called accidents, with the possible exception of those which are found to be unavoidable. For that matter, very few collisions are unavoidable, as note the record compiled by the late Arthur VanSlike while driving a bus for the PCT Stages. He drove well in excess of a million miles and was never involved in an accident where the fault was his own.

Ten percent of the drivers cause ninety percent of the accidents. The great majority of people make it a habit to drive safely, but there are a few who are always taking a chance and they are just as likely to collide with safe drivers as anybody else. There are too many drivers today who start out on every trip, a potential accident likely to happen at any time.

++ Something Different ++

Science has increased the span of human life to a remarkable degree in recent years, but to what end? A certain percent of all persons who die each year, die violently and before their time. Thousands of others spend long periods of time in hospitals and then come out to lives circumscribed by handicaps such as loss of a limb, their life expectancy shortened by many years.

Fifty years ago people lived more sanely than they do today, and traffic accidents were few indeed. They may not have lived as long in years, but they did live in the constant knowledge that they might start out on a journey in good health and be brought home dead or maimed for life.

Today we wake up each morning almost certain that a traffic wreck will claim one or more lives during the day.

If it were possible for just one day to compel every driver in the nation to observe traffic rules exactly, the chances are that we would go through that day without a single accident. If there happened to be an accident, we would be certain that it was an accident and not the result of carelessness.

The word, accident, is the most misused word in the language today. Any accident that is the result of carelessness should not be called an accident. In other words, avoidable accidents are not accidents at all, because somebody is responsible for them. Where responsibility can be proved the word accident is entirely out of place.

It is doubtful if any man has the right to take a chance with his own life, and it is certain that he has no right to jeopardize the lives of others. The driver who starts out on the highway with his car in bad condition for driving is taking a chance of killing somebody else, and the man who breaks driving laws may go through life with the stain of murder on his soul.

Personals

Mrs. Johnson's work is not confined to painting, for she has done much curtain making, also. Yards, I almost said miles, of tucks has she run, row after row of them, in the many pale green curtains that drape the living room picture windows. And many more miles of tucks grace the west wall of the dining room, where there is a large picture window. They hang beautifully, and one tucked edge meets the next tucked edge neatly, nothing hit or miss or staggy about the joinings.

Probably the most unbelievable though, is the stunning rug she has made to fit the living room, and to dominate it. Woven on a loom, all in black, the strips of carpeting cover the floor almost completely. Featured, about every two feet, is an imposing rose and flower motif in natural colors, beautifully done. These were embroidered on, after the rug was woven.

Yes, the living room is large. I don't recall the size, but it must be 14 by 28 feet or more so.

Ranch style homes were invented for warm climates, California and the south, where outdoor living can be enjoyed much of the year. Breezeways, patios, picture windows, all of them come to us from more populous, warmer parts of the United States.

There are many beautiful new homes in our section of this land, and many unusual things to see, but for an ambitious, painstaking home builder I will back a young Burwell woman against most anyone. Mrs. Dwight Johnson, the former Kathryn Holub, has done nearly all the interior finishing and the exterior staining on their large new home. It is some 18,000 square feet in all and she is not through painting yet.

Outside the finish is a warm brown stain, and there is some varnish used on the trim.

Inside, she has colored the red veneer Mrs. Glen Cochran and two daughters. Callers in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Prien and two daughters.

The old rural school house, which has not been in use for the past ten years, has been moved to the Maynard Schudel farm and will be made into a tenant house for a hired man. The school house is part of district one, North Loup's district, and for years the grade school children, of the patrons in the south part of the district were given their grade education there. For about ten years, these youngsters have been taken care of in the grade rooms in town, and the building was not used. It stood on grounds of the Herman Nasse farm, which years ago, H. D. Kasson gave the district a 99 year lease on. Built when materials were better than some that one buys now, the building is remarkably well preserved.

Home Baking Is Favorite Way of Supplementing Family Income for Five of Ord's Good Cooks

At least four women in Ord supplement other earnings in the home by baking cakes, pies or bread for the benefit of those who do not have the knack or the time or the place to do their own baking. And these who assist in this way are Mrs. Ellsworth Ball, whose cakes have long been in evidence at social gatherings, Mrs. Henry Jorgensen, whose pies are a specialty, Mrs. Wm. Beard and Mrs. Loyal Negley, both of whom make cookies or rolls in addition to pies and cakes. Mrs. George Vasicek is a fifth Ord woman who has supplemented her family's income by baking, though she is not active at present.

For the past six years, Mrs. Ball has been making cakes and even now is trying to get away from the responsibility and worry of such intricate work.

In the old days before Mrs. Ball had an electric beater, she has estimated that each cake would take at least 700 strokes without counting the work of beating the eggs. The butter or vegetable shortening was softened, and creamed with the sugar which took some 300 strokes. The flour was sifted three or four times, and added to the first mixture alternately by fourths, making at least 400 more strokes. The egg whites after they were prepared were folded into batter ever so carefully with 100 more strokes. And the baking in the other days she said was another problem, so all in all she earned the money she asked in the work alone.

Now that is changed with the aid of her electric appliances, but nevertheless the worry or fear that something might go wrong still makes the task anything but easy. In other words it is no work at all nowadays to stir up a cake, even without the simple cake mix, which is turned into a bowl and milk added, when one's own family will be the consumers. But on the other hand, when a cake is being baked for customers, that is entirely a different matter.

Mrs. Ball has been trying to get out of the business, but still the calls come in, and even now, in the day of the aforesaid ready mix she is asked to bake for this or that social function.

She says that her angel food cakes are the most popular, but she adds that these are the easiest to make, besides. All baked and decorated before her cakes are entirely finished, she can feel proud of her handiwork. She has sent her cakes to New York and to California, and to many other states as well.

She recalls her busiest day, the time when she baked and decorated 14 cakes. At that time she began her work early on Saturday morning, and did not leave her kitchen until three o'clock on Sunday morning.

She bakes one cake at a time, and while one is baking she works on others if she is baking more than one.

She uses the best of ingredients in her baking, Swansdown flour and Calumet baking powder being her favorites. She adds that in all probability the reason she uses these particular brands is simply because she is used to them, and in time she could have found other kinds were just as good. She buys her eggs from farmers and uses many. For her shortening she uses, in the butter cakes, part butter and part vegetable fat.

Her biggest cake, she says was a four tiered concoction, built up and decorated in true regulation style.

What she dreaded to do most of all she says are the dainty petit fours, the small cakes, iced and decorated in charming manner for special teas or such occasions. She recalls one order she had for a spring tea when the cakes and the things were all in different spring time colors.

During the war she had to get a special permit for the sugar she used, and finding the amount allowed was not enough had to petition for more.

In the days when she was baking the most cakes, she averaged about 75 a month, and received pay according. Now, however, she is baking only a few, and says that in many ways the pay is not near enough for what she puts into her work.

She has baked other food as well, brownies, cookies, rolls and pies. She remembers when on one occasion she baked 85 pies.

Cake and pie or pie and cake are natural couples. When you think of one, you generally think of the other. And that is the reason in the next stop among home bakers, Mrs. Henry Jorgensen was visited.

She was busy in her kitchen on Friday morning and was baking pies. She furnishes five a day for one of the city eating places and they were either arranged on the table or were in the process of being baked. And to be exact there were two cherry pies, one apple pie, one coconut cream and one chocolate chip, each one looking better than the other.

Eight years ago, Mrs. Jorgensen lost her husband in a tragic way, when he was killed in a tractor accident. So she moved into town from her farm home on Haskell Creek and looked about for something to do. Somebody, who evidently knew her to be a cook, asked her to bake a pie for pay. And that she says is the way it started. Now she always has her five every day and with these many more, sometimes as many as 20 a day. Special orders come in for gatherings or for big meals at a city cafe and she promptly gets to work.

Now she has electric appliances, but in the other days she did many a thing. However she says she still mixes her lard (and she uses good country lard) and flour with her hands. Once in a while she uses a blender but not often, because she wants to feel the mixture. She says she knows by the "feel" just Angel food cakes are specialty for Mrs. Ellsworth Ball, who once baked fourteen in one day.

Mrs. Henry Jorgensen bakes everything but pies are her favorites. She bakes five every day for a cafe, often as many as twenty more on special orders. Apple and cherry pies are called for most, with lemon pie not far behind.

Pies, cakes, rolls, kolaches, all were baked by Mrs. George Vasicek when she was actively engaged in home baking for others. Temporarily out of business, Mrs. Vasicek may return to it later.

when it is time to add the water, a drop or so at a time. Too much of anything that goes to making fine pie crust is bad, either flour or lard or water, and she says now she seems to know how much to use. She measures the flour with her touch to tell when she has the right amount of lard and water. She does not use ice water either, nor does she chill the dough in the ice box. She says she does not have time and that her pies have always been well received.

She works at her kitchen bar, and rolls enough crust for one pie at a time, but she can bake as many as six in her oven, so as one is finished for baking she slides it in.

She says that the favorite fruit pie is apple and cherry, but the soft pie most called for is lemon. She uses flour for thickening juicy fruit, never a substitute, but for Nothing is wasted in her kitchen. The scraps of pie dough are made into pies she and her family eat. The scraps from these are baked in little patty tins for the children who stop in.

She also makes cakes, and two lovely sheets were ready for the lemon filling and seven minute icing she was going to put on. She says she has made many cakes, but feels that pies are her standby.

It was pleasant and warm in her kitchen and the smells were delightful. And the five fresh pies on the table made a picture almost equal to that on a slick magazine.

Mrs. Loyal Negley makes rolls for her extra work. Every Thursday, she sets to work and turns out delicious kolaches, sweet rolls, cinnamon rolls, orange bow knots and pineapple rolls, with several loaves of rye bread. In the summer time she makes the dough entirely in the early morning, but in the winter time she sets the sponge the night before. For this she uses fresh yeast which she purchases in the bulk. On Thursday she stirs and kneads and rolls and bakes and when the rolls are all finished she makes them into packages which she wraps in wax paper and ties carefully and then sends on a regular route, her children acting as the sales people. She bakes 25 dozen at a time, and at least a half a dozen loaves of rye bread.

She says that she always liked to make rolls and bread and had said a few private orders a year ago she started baking for other people and found the idea of having a route. She says that almost always all the rolls are taken but sometimes a few are brought back. Then she says her family and neighbors finish the good things; none are wasted. The children in the neighborhood also benefit should there be any rolls left.

Mrs. Negley uses lard for shortening and in general the eggs from the hens she and her family raise in the back yard of their home. She also uses more eggs which she purchases from the store. She makes two recipes of dough at a time and separate batter for the orange bow knots. For her rye bread she uses a rye flour blend and she flavors the loaves with caraway seed. For her kolaches, she uses a filling of prune and apricot.

She makes rolls on order and has made 22 dozen at one time for a church gathering. She uses her range for baking and said she generally has good luck. Since she likes the work and is helping with the family finances it is probable that she will continue to bake for her route and for her extra orders for some time. Mrs. William Beard is another who makes cakes. Since she has just started in the business, her experience is in the building process. She specializes in angel foods, because she likes to make them best. However, she makes other kinds, doing her baking in her own home.

Mrs. George Vasicek, who says that cooking is her hobby, and that there is really nothing that she likes better to do than to turn out a fine pie or cake, turned her hobby into a scheme to make money about five years ago. Sickness in the family and a desire to help with the finances helped her to make this decision. Of late years she had done little, however, since she had a feeling that the work did not pay. However there are many who remember the delicious pies and cakes she used to make on order, and she says herself that maybe some day she will again turn to baking on order.

She says her specialty was pies, and she made a lot of them, with hands, too, and regular lard since this she thinks is the only way and the only material for real good pies. When she was baking for pay, she had no mixer but now that important implement has been added to her kitchen utensils. However she still clings to the old fashioned way of mixing flour and fat. She has found that the pie most desired among her customers was cherry and apple for fruit, and lemon in the soft variety. She liked the better to make the crust pie. She used the standard recipe for pie crust, two cups of flour, one-half cup lard, and one-fourth cup of ice water. She did not take the time to chill her dough, and anyway she says the ice water made it cold enough to roll into pies. She does not use the new fashioned recipes advocated by various brands of shortening makers, such as the hot water method, or the paste method. Pies, she says pay better and are far easier to make.

Besides her pies she made cakes, supplying the Cozy Nook cafe with a white cake and a chocolate cake every day. She never used cake mixes until recently and were she baking for pay again she would return to her own recipes. She also made rolls and kolaches and for the filling of the latter she used a mixture of prunes and apricots, which she found to be the favorite.

She has baked for business places in town and for private parties. She has an idea that she will bake for pay again some day, since she had turned down many chances for her pies and cakes, but she says that if she does she plans to ask more, for she feels that she did not make enough to pay for her materials and labor, at the price she had asked earlier in her baking.

Jones - Adamek

A simple wedding took place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kasper, when Mrs. Joyce Jones of Burlington, Wash., became the wife of Lawrence Adamek, A. L. A. N. son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adamek of Ord. The ceremony was witnessed by a few relatives, the vows being spoken before County Judge Ellsworth Ball, Jr. The single ring was used.

The bride chose a dark blue suit for her wedding dress with which she wore black and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Her attendant was Dorothy Adamek, sister of the groom, her afternoon dress being of blue and white. She also had a corsage of pink carnations. The groom was in uniform, while his attendant, his brother, LeRoy, wore a brown sport suit with a white carnation boutonniere.

A family dinner was served later in the evening at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adamek.

Mrs. Adamek, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Owens of Burlington, Wash., arrived here Saturday.

Mr. Adamek was graduated from the Ord high school with the class of 1948. On June the same year, he enlisted in the navy and has served since. He met his wife while he was stationed in Whitley Island. Mrs. Adamek has always made her home in Burlington.

They left Ord Sunday, Mrs. Adamek to go to Ashland for a time, later to Burlington. Mr. Adamek returned to his station in San Diego where he reported for duty on Nov. 14.

Proceedings of the City Council

Nov. 5, 1951

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska met in regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 p.m. Mayor Blessing presided and City Clerk Agnes Dodge recorded the proceedings of the meeting.

ROLL CALL

Roll call revealed the following Councilmen present: Schoenstein, Miliken, Pecenka, Gnaster, Huff, Hastings. Absent: None.

WE'VE GOT A GREAT TOWN

Fine people, pretty churches, good schools, paved streets—and a lot of other things we can brag about.

But there's a lot of things this community—like many others—could have to make it much better. Making this town nice enough to keep our young people from moving to other towns or cities is Target No. One for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

We've got a lot of big ideas about what we can do as a non-partisan, non-sectarian group of citizens for the welfare of our community. We can do a better job—and do it quicker—if all overseas veterans will give us their help as active members.

Once you join up and hear about our plans we know you're going to say—"THE V.F.W. IS A GOOD OUTFIT!"

An Hour With the Second Grade. Father, we thank Thee for the night And for the pleasant morning bright For home and food and loving care And all that makes the day so fair. Thanksgiving season, just around the corner, and the bright children of the Second grade in the Ord grade school know it very well. And then it was recess, and out of doors they tramped since it was nice. Most of the girls played jump the rope and the boys climbed or swung or played with each other or the playground equipment. During this play time, Mrs. Beran told that the average age of the children was seven, and that they also took English, in which they were learning the use of capital letters, science, in which they were learning about animals and in social study they were going to make a farm. They also have art work and music, but their physical education is made up of supervised play. The many little girls in this room made a bright picture, since they were dressed in gay colored cottons. The boys wear jeans and T shirts. All of the girls had short hair, in fluffy curls. The room was quiet, mainly because of the soft, pleasant voice of Mrs. Beran, also because these young folks have reached the age when they know how to study. After all, they have to watch for what is coming next, and the beginners when they were too excited to sit still. The names of the 31 who are in this grade are: Mary Jane Alloway, Margaret Apking, Mary Banks, Connie Beran, Shirley Celak, Jane Clement, Judy Coufal, Carol Covey, Larry Farmer, Dianna Fauble, Mickey Fenton, Leslie Hughes, Zola Kline, Richard Kuch, Patty Lee, Jean Lemmon, Virginia Murphy, Janice Newton, Joyce Parkos, Frank Perry, Dennis Ringlein, Cheryl Schaefer, Jacky Simmonds, Charles Strong, Tudeen Szwanek, Harold Turek, Carolyn Wells, Janice Williams.

Following the reading classes came spelling and here the children would pronounce the word from their books and then close their eyes and spell out loud. They did this very well. Then they counted by fives and tens by two and threes. Then because they had done their work so well they were told by Mrs. Beran that they could "feed Jocko." This solved the mystery of the big pasteboard monkey on the front board. Three children designated by Mrs. Beran came forward, one to hold the fig-

Howard Huff - Ord, Nebr. International Trucks. This pickup pinches pennies! There are two simple reasons why you save money when you buy an International pickup truck. First, you get lower operating and maintenance costs. You get a pickup truck that is engineered throughout to do more work for less money. Second, you get longer truck life. Even the smallest International pickup truck has the traditional stamina that has kept Internationals first in heavy-duty truck sales for 19 straight years. You get these all-truck savings right along with features that no other pickup truck gives you. For example—the COMFO-VISION CAB is "the roomiest, most comfortable cab on the road." The Silver Diamond engine is an outstanding development of the world's largest exclusive truck engine plant. Super-steering gives you maneuverability and ease of handling that make driving a pleasure. But get all the facts for yourself. Come in and learn why International pickup trucks are the best truck value in pickups today. HOWARD HUFF - ORD, NEBR. INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS "Standard of the Highway"

Several business houses were closed in Scotia Monday in observance of Armistice Day.

The Neighborly Neighbor club served lunch during the Mrs. Mable Jensen sale Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darold Bussell drove to Grand Island Sunday where they met their son, Jack and a friend, Pete Peterson, who are attending school at Lincoln. Pete is from Minden. They spent the afternoon together.

The Youth's Fellowship group of the Fish Creek church held a party last Thursday night at the home of Darrel Gydesen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gydesen.

Mr. and Mrs. Antone Kenney of Billings, Mont., spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donscheski. The ladies are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Penny and two boys spent the weekend at the Art Holt and Wm. Bredthauer homes. The Pennys returned to their home in Utica, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Barth and family spent Sunday with Clyde's mother, Mrs. Julia Barth at Lexington. Mrs. Barth expects to enter an Omaha hospital this week for surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rank, Joleen and John spent Sunday at the Greeley Gebhardt home. They returned to Grand Island Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sims and Mrs. Grace Wittwer were Friday evening callers at the Gebhardt home.

Gib Studnicka who has been a patient in the state hospital near Kearney returned Sunday to his home east of Scotia. Mr. Studnicka underwent surgery twice during the several months he was hospitalized.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnson and Dwight were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Wagner. Sunday callers at the Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Don Babcock and Larry of Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Babcock and family of North Loup and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson. The Don Babcock family are visiting relatives at North Loup.

Miss Margaret Zukoski returned Wednesday night from a few days spent visiting friends at Cheyenne and Denver. Miss Zukoski and her mother, Mrs. Frank Zukoski spent Thursday at Kearney with John Jurzenski who was not so well the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bredthauer of Grand Island were Sunday visitors at the Herman Bredthauer, Sr. home. Mrs. Rose Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Bredthauer and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bredthauer of Pasadena, Calif., were evening callers.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reck and Mrs. Addie Clement, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Cornell of Grand Island, spent Saturday afternoon at the Ed Johnson home at Ericson. Mrs. Johnson, who had suffered a stroke a few weeks ago was taken by car to the Wm. Buffington home at Cheyenne where she will be cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Buffington. A grandson, Eldon Buffington and a son, Bud Buffington, drove their cars to Ericson. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson went with their grandson and Bud to take a load of personal belongings for his parents. Their return home is indefinite.

Jim Morrow, who is a medical patient in the Ord Co-operative hospital, is reported as not being any better. His daughter, Mrs. Alpha Dally, stays with him.

Mrs. Wilson Dies in G. I. Hospital

Funeral services were held at 10:30 Saturday morning from the Ashley Mortuary for Mrs. Mary C. Wilson, 78, who passed away in a Grand Island hospital on last Thursday, Nov. 8, 1951. Mrs. Wilson was in failing health for the past few years. She came to Scotia 2 1/2 years ago to make her home and to be near her daughter and other relatives. She had been a patient in a Grand Island hospital for the past month.

Among those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Murphy, Scottsbluffs; Mrs. Johnnie Crabtree, Torrington, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, Kearney; George Tabler, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Berl, Constock; Mr. and Mrs. John Tabler, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grubhaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Winscott, David City; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Shutt, Hastings; Mrs. Ode Gorley, Broken Bow; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson, Ord; and Mrs. Dean Bredthauer and family, and Mrs. Ethel Mitchell also accompanied the body to Calloway for burial.

Sgt. Max Sims writes he was recently surprised when he met Pfc. Wayne Rich and Cpl. James Ira Burns of Scotia. Sgt. Sims was detailed to pick up a replacement at the depot in Sappora, Japan, after talking a few minutes found that the "replacement" turned out to be Pfc. Wayne Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Rich of Scotia. Sgt. Sims had gone to high school with Leland and George Rich, older brothers. Needless to state the boys were glad to see each other and much to their amazement soon met up with Cpl. James Ira Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burns also of Scotia. Cpl. Burns is in Co. B, 120th Engineering Combat Bn., and was on assignment. Even though there are a great many Nebraska boys near this location, it is not often they are lucky enough to meet. Young Rich had been hospitalized and had just gone back into active duty at the time of their chance meeting.

Omaha Market Biggest Tenth Straight Monday

Omaha again Monday was the world's largest livestock market—10th successive Monday at the top. Cattle, calves, hogs and sheep on sale totaled 25,000. The cattle and calf run was 11,350—and about evenly divided between Westerns and grainfeds. Western supply was lightest since August and signaled approaching end of the season's range run.

Pat cattle trade was largely steady, some early sales strong to 25¢ higher. Bulk of steers and yearlings brought $33-$36, with better steers to $38.75 and quotable to $39. Plain shortfeds sold down to 28¢. Best heifers were some at $36.25. Cows sold steady with campers and cutters $15-$20, beef to $28, latter paid for top Westerns. Bull trade was uneven, some sales lower but beef bull top held at $29.50 and odd head scored $30. Vealer top held at $35.

Lighter supply combined with a fair showing of late-in-the-season buyers made for improved trade on replacement cattle and calves, which late last week skidded to a new low for the season. Monday sales were 25-50c and more over last week's close. Yearling stock steers sold at $28-$36, lightweights to $38. Wyoming yearling feeder steers weighing 784 brought $35.

Good to choice stock calves cleared at $24-$30, latter paid for Nebraska Angus steer and heifer calves. Stock cows sold to $26 and some were held higher.

Hogs sold 25 to mostly 35c higher, butchers weighing 180-360 $18-$18.75. Sows were steady to 25c up, 270-500-pounders $15.50-$18. Stags graded $13.50-$15.50.

Pat lambs sold steady—at $28 to $30.50. Top was paid for native woolled as well as fed Western lambs. Slaughter ewes held at $10-$14.50. Feeder lambs also sold steady—at $28.50-$33.

Speak in Church Sunday Young African Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvia Warratie, from Freetown, Sierra Leone, Africa, are studying in York College where Mr. Warratie is finishing his senior year in preparing for the ministry. His father and brothers are Moslems, but he was converted to Christianity at an early age and admitted to an English school near his home. Later he graduated from the United Brethren Academy at Freetown, where he remained as a teacher for five years.

His wife Mary is the daughter of a Methodist minister. Together these young people have worked since they came to the United States to finish their training for their life work. Besides her regular college course, Mrs. Warratie is taking piano and voice, and has studied textile and China painting together with ceramics which will enable her to teach their people to use the wonderful clay found in Sierra Leone, Africa.

These young people will speak and sing in the E. U. B. church next Sunday morning. You are invited to come and hear them, at eleven o'clock.

Home From the West

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cremeen returned home Wednesday from a month's visit on the western coast. They had planned to remain away longer, but were called home by the funeral services of Mr. Cremeen's sister, Mrs. Ruth Nygren Frank, who was buried in Arcadia Thursday. While in California, Mr. and Mrs. Cremeen visited their daughter, Mrs. R. C. Spradlin and family in Monte Bello, also a sister of Mrs. Cremeen, Mrs. Ben Sutton and family in Monrovia, also many other relatives. Later they went to Washington where in Wilbur, they visited their son, Virgil and family. They had planned to visit in Wyoming and Gering, Nebr., but had to return home.

At Christmastime A WOMAN'S PLACE IS IN A MAN'S STORE!

Why a Gift of New Sportswear Is Flattering...

You can't miss when you give him a gift of sportswear. If he's the outdoor type or a TV armchair quarterback or a home chore putterer, he'll cherish a colorful jacket, a loud shirt or a swanky pair of slacks. And remember, sportswear goes to business as well as to recreation spots. So—make it a sportswear Christmas for every man this year.

Better performance 4 ways with DODGE 2-TON "Job-Rated" TRUCKS

- 1 MORE ECONOMICAL POWER
A big, high-compression 236.6-cubic-inch engine developing 109 h.p. You get the right engine for top economy with aluminum pistons, four piston rings (top ring chrome-plated), exhaust valve seat inserts and other extra values.
- 2 SPEEDIER DELIVERIES
Five-speed transmissions, 2-speed rear axles, and choice of axle ratios give you greater pulling power, faster getaways and higher top speeds. Low loading height and hinged stake center sections help you to save work and time.
- 3 EASIER HANDLING
You can turn sharper, maneuver better and park easier with a Dodge 2-ton "Job-Rated" truck... because you get wide front tread, cross-steering (except C.O.E. models), short wheelbase and worm-and-roller steering gears.
- 4 BIGGER PAYLOADS
In Dodge 2-ton "Job-Rated" trucks you can move extra-big payloads without overloading. That's because a lot more of your load is carried on the front axle. Deep, rugged frame and all-steel body stakes and sills mean extra strength.

Powerful 236.6 cu. in. engine
Five-speed transmission available
Two-speed rear axle available, too
Heavy frame; long, strong springs; big capacity axles

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed proposals for the construction, including furnishing all necessary materials, machinery, labor and Existing Headquarters Building, including Utilities, located at Ord, Nebraska (hereinafter called the "Project") to be financed pursuant to a loan contract between The Loup Valleys Rural Electric Membership Association (hereinafter called the "Owner") and the United States of America, acting through the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration and designated Nebraska No. 93 Valley will be received by the Owner on or before 7:30 o'clock, P.M. C.S.T. time, November 20, 1951, at its office at Ord, Nebraska, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

2. The Plans and Specifications together with all other necessary forms and documents for bidders may be secured from Frank N. McNett and Company at Grand Island or Scotia, Nebraska upon payment of ten ($10.00) dollars, which payment will be refunded to each bona fide bidder within ten (10) days after the bid opening. Additional sets of Plans and Specifications may be obtained upon payment of ten ($10.00) dollars, which payment will not be subject to refund. The Plans and Specifications may be examined at the office of Architect named above. A copy of the loan contract may also be examined at the office of the Owner.

3. Proposals and all supporting documents required to be attached thereto must be submitted on the forms furnished by the Owner and must be delivered in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Owner. The name and address of the Bidder, its license number, if a license is required by the State, and the date and hour of the opening of bids must appear on the envelope in which the proposal is submitted. Proposals must be filled in ink or typewritten. No alterations or interlineations will be permitted, unless made before submission, and initialed and dated. Bidders will be required to comply with all applicable statutes, regulations, etc., including those pertaining to the licensing of contractors and the so-called "Kick-Back" Statute (48 Stat. 948) and regulations issued pursuant thereto.

4. Prior to the submission of the Proposal, the Bidder shall make and shall be deemed to have made a careful examination of the site of the Project and of the Plans and Specifications, forms of Construction Agreement and Contract. Bids on file with the Secretary of the Owner with the Architect, and shall become informed as to the location and nature of the proposed construction, the kind and character of the soil and terrain to be encountered, the kind of facilities required before and during the construction of the Project, general local conditions and all other matters that may affect the cost and the time of completion of the Project.

5. Each Bidder shall include and shall be deemed to have included, in the price quoted in the Proposal, the amount which is estimated will be payable by the successful Bidder or by the Owner on account of taxes imposed by any taxing authority upon the sale, purchase or use of materials, supplies or equipment required in the Project. All taxes of the foregoing description shall be payable by the Bidder which shall be awarded the contract for the construction of the Project.

6. A Bidder who has not already completed successful construction for an REA Borrower, shall file with the Architect the Bidder's Qualifications on forms supplied by the Architect at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the scheduled bid opening.

7. The time of completion of the Project shall be as specified by the Architect in the form of Proposal.

8. Each Proposal must be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check on a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the order of the Owner, in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the maximum bid price. If a Proposal is not accepted or if a Proposal is accepted and a satisfactory Contractor's Bond is furnished, the successful Bidder, the bid bond or check will be returned in each instance within a period of thirty (30) days to the Bidder furnishing same; except that each Bidder agrees, provided its Proposal is one of the three low Proposals, that, by filing its Proposal together with such bid bond or check in consideration of the Owner's receiving and considering such Proposal, said Proposal shall be firm and binding upon each such Bidder and such bid bond or check shall be held by the Owner for a period not exceeding sixty (60) days from the date hereinafter set for the opening of Proposals.

9. The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Contractor's Bond in the form attached hereto and with sureties listed by the United States Treasury Department as acceptable sureties, in a penal sum not less than the contract price.

10. Should the successful Bidder fail or refuse to furnish a Contractor's Bond satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator within ten (10) days after written notification of the award of the Contract by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or other security delivered with the Proposal shall thereupon be due and owing to the Owner as liquidated damages for such failure or refusal and the Owner may thereupon award Contract to any other Bidder. The term "successful Bidder" shall be deemed to include any Bidder whose Proposal is accepted after another Bidder has previously refused or has been unable to furnish a satisfactory Contractor's Bond.

11. The Contract, when executed, shall be deemed to include the entire agreement between the parties thereto, and the Contractor shall not claim any modification thereof resulting from any representation or promise made at any time by any officer, agent or employee of the Owner or by any other person.

12. The Owner reserves the right to waive minor irregularities or minor errors in the Proposal, if it appears to the Owner that such irregularities or errors were made through inadvertence. Any such irregularities or errors so waived must be corrected on the Proposal prior to its acceptance by the Owner.

13. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals.

14. The Owner represents: (a) If the other provisions of the contract documents the Owner shall have undertaken to furnish any materials for the construction of the Project, such materials are on hand at locations which may be determined by inquiry by Bidders from the Architect or if such materials are not on hand they will be made available by the Owner to the successful Bidder before the time such materials are required for construction. (b) Title to the property on which the Project is to be constructed has been obtained. (c) All funds necessary for prompt payment for the construction of the Project will be available. If the Owner shall fail to comply with any of the undertakings contained in the foregoing representations or if any of such representations shall be incorrect, the Bidder will be entitled to extension of time of completion for a period equal to the delay, if any, caused by the failure of the Owner to comply with such undertaking or by any such incorrect representation; provided the Bidder shall have promptly notified the Owner in writing of its desire to extend the time of completion in accordance with the foregoing, and provided further that such extension, if any, of the time of completion shall be the sole remedy of the Bidder for the Owner's failure to comply with any of the foregoing representations.

To honor the birthday Tuesday of Kerry Leggett a group of friends were entertained socially at his home that evening. Guests were Charlene Blessing, Janis Poccock, Carol Struckman, Amelia Novosad, Rosalie Blaha, Kenneth Clement, Gerald Severson, Dale Falter and Al Blessing.

Turkey Dinner At Whipple's
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fullagar of Lincoln supplied a 25 lb. roast turkey and all the trimmings for a pre-Thanksgiving dinner at the Whipple Nursing Home Sunday. The Fullagars came to visit her father, T. J. Thompson, and all the residents of the home and another guest, Miss Nellie Dye, joined in the festivities. Seventeen in all were served at the dinner.

Young Home Makers
Young Home Makers Extension club met at Mrs. John Wojtaszek's Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock with 13 members present. Mrs. Don Krick gave the lesson entitled "What would you do if you were left alone?" The door prize was won by Mrs. Charles Ackles. The evening gathering was closed with a lunch.

New Arrival
Word is received that Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDill of Custer, S. D., are the proud parents of an eight pound daughter born at a Rapid City hospital, Wednesday, Nov. 7. The little lady has been named Ruth Anne. Mrs. McDill is the former Mary Lou Beran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beran of Ord. Mr. Beran is at present caring for Mrs. McDill.

Pre-Thanksgiving Dinners
An early Thanksgiving dinner was given to friends and relatives gathered on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Absalon and son. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Absalon, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rysavy.
Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab spent Sunday in Dorchester, guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Luzum. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wozab, of Wilbur. At this time an early Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed.
Neighborly Sisters
The Neighborly Sisters met with Mrs. Leonard Ptanicik on November 15. There were eleven members and one guest, Mrs. Emanuel Snolik, present.
Roll call was answered with Christmas candy recipes and some samples were exhibited.
Those receiving Secret Sister gifts were Mrs. Charley Zanzhal Mrs. Emil Zalina, Mrs. Wm. Miller and Mrs. Lou Zablouhll. Mrs. Anton Novotny received the door prize.
After the business meeting, games were played and lunch was served by the hostess.
The next meeting will be on December 29 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Zablouhll.

Pick Sixty Acres for E. Vodehnal

Thirteen good neighbors with their teams and six corn pickers gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Vodehnal Tuesday and picked 60 acres of corn for Mr. Vodehnal. Mr. Vodehnal was in need of help, since his little boy, Dennis, had been in the Children Memorial hospital in Omaha from June until just recently with polio. On Wednesday, Mrs. Vodehnal underwent surgery. All will be glad to know that Dennis is recovering nicely and is glad to be home.
Dinner was served to the workers. Those who assisted at that essential part were Mrs. Joe Ulrich, Mrs. Herb Nelson, Mrs. Reidhold Rose, Mrs. Vic Kerchal, Mrs. Emanuel Vodehnal and Mrs. Jimmie Vasicek. Food was also sent in by Mrs. Ada Zebert and Mrs. George Nay.
Those who picked were Arnold Sperling, Herb Nelson, Jimmie Vasicek, Joe Ulrich, Jerry Vasicek, Vic Kerchal, John Warford, George Nay, Henry Vodehnal, Vincent Vodehnal, Adam Zebert, Ronald Rose, Arnold Sperling and Bud VanWinkle.
The Vodehnal farm is 2 1/2 miles east of the river bridge.

Dinner Guests
Dinner guests, Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Norman were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Norman and Lora, of Ames, Ia., Doris and Marlene Norman, Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norman.

Table Groans With Food For Hungry Huskers

The dining table literally groaned with the plentiful supply of food at the Vodehnal husking bee. There was more than enough for even this hungry crew of corn huskers. Seated at the table clockwise starting from the extreme left are Herb Nelson, Jimmie Vasicek, Joe Ulrich, Jerry Vasicek, Vic Kerchal, John Warford, George Nay, Henry Vodehnal, Vincent Vodehnal, Adam Zebert, R. Rose and Arnold Sperling. Standing in rear are Emanuel Vodehnal and son, Dennis, just back from polio hospital.

Junior Class Play Ably Presented

Mystery and comedy with some drama, made the Junior class play, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," interesting to the large crowd at the Community hall Tuesday evening. Coached by Miss Minnie Jensen, the entire cast gave an excellent production.

A number of "Aunt Tillies" made up the mystery and added to the comedy and drama. JoAnn Burrows, as Aunt Tillie Trask, had word from her lawyer in town that she had been left a fortune by an uncle who died in China. Her maid, Lucinda Taibot (Idona Vodehnal), who was anxious to be married, added to the comedy by her use of beauty preparations, and her zeal to find a man. Aunt Tillie's charming niece, Pamela, (Jeneane Brennick), was engaged to Marvin Tucker (Jimmie Williams), who had accidentally become owner of a valuable piece of jade from an idol in a temple in China. Fear of the Chinese who he thought were after the jade, made him cancel his wedding plans with Pamela, without any explanations. Exchange of suitcases of Marvin and Aunt Tillie, resulted in Marvin's appearance in a barrel, and later to dress in women's clothing to masquerade as "Aunt Tillie." When his Aunt Tillie arrived on the scene, matters were further complicated. Lizzie Parsons, (Dolores Cox), an inspiring young novelist, Ellen Neeland, (Connie Noyes), who was seeking the piece of jade to return it to the owner, Ronald Howland, (Jimmie Cook), who always had an explanation for everything, Charlie One Lung, (Dale Earnest), Luther Lorime (Howard Abel), Roland's wealthy employer, Mrs. Tillie Tucker (Sandra DeNoyer), Marvin's real Aunt Tillie, and Judy Ingerson as Dr. Hattie Bing, a chiropractor, all helped to carry the play through to the successful ending, with all mysteries solved, and Aunt Tillie Going To Town, this time not alone.

Between acts, Kay Sawyer played a cornet solo and Ila Roby gave a vocal selection.

Stage manager was Dale Larkin and manager of the lighting was Ardon McDermott.

eral of Mrs. Manchester's father, John Naeve.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Studnicka were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Ingraham.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Schudel entertained their dinner-bridge club Monday evening.

Janet Markvicka, daughter of the Martin Markvickas, won the 4-H club grand championship for showmanship with her calf and pigs at the Ak-Sar-Ben livestock show and also was judged third in all around exhibition. Janet's wins in 4-H work have been continuous since she was lucky enough to catch a pig four years ago, when some were loosed at the Valley County Fair for 4-H boys and girls. That pig, which she cared for herself, was the beginning of her hog project which has brought her many ribbons and made her a nice sum of money. Besides excelling in 4-H work, Janet is a fine horsewoman, and wins cowpats each season. She is a sophomore in high school.

James Fairbank of Salina, Kas., and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hansen of Farwell were Monday night guests in the Martin Markvicka home. Janet went home with her uncle, Mr. Fairbank Tuesday evening to stay till Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Bartz spent the weekend at Ericson with her brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Palsler were Sunday dinner guests in the Martin Dunklau home.

Haul Hay for Patrick As Well As Picking Corn

Those who gathered at the Patrick husking bee weren't content to pick and crib 65 acres of corn. Thirty-five tons of hay were hauled from the meadow and stacked near the feed lot to make it handy for Don this winter.

Neighbors Pick Corn, Haul Hay for Don Patrick

Relatives and friends of Don Patrick gathered Tuesday to pick 65 acres of corn and haul 35 tons of hay to the feed racks.

Don suffered a broken pelvis a few weeks ago while rounding up cattle. He is able to get around on crutches but unable to do any work. Now he won't be worrying if an early blizzard arrives.

The following men came and helped all day: Wilmer Nelson, Leo Nelson, Leonard Kizer of Burwell, Faye Patrick and Bill Patrick, of Ericson, Don Vogler, Harold and Dick Nelson, of North Loup, Ross Leonard, Sterling Smith, Anton Uher, Jim and Bud Covert, M. McLain, John Mason, Joe Rutar, Art John, W. Coats, Herb Goff, Irwin Iwanski, Leonard Broekhoff, Theod. Nelson, Gary Nelson, Vernon Beran, Elmer Verigin, Joe Knapp, Lyle Hanson, Veri Arnold, Roger Bensen, Harvey, Leo and Emory Thomsen, Willis Plate, Walt Douthit, Emil Barta, Eldon Sitch, Henry Hayek, Warren Philbrick, Bob and Ed Timmerman, Bill Kizer, Alfred Shoemaker, Art Jensen, Bill Peterson, Mike Bower, Emil Zikmund, Paul Palsler, Frank and Paul Maly, Lumir Vodehnal and Will Nelson. These women helped cook and served dinner, Madams Bill Peterson, Wilmer, Harold and Bill Nelson, Joe Knapp, Bob Adamek, Lloyd Zikmund, Faye Patrick, Harvey Thompson and Don Patrick.

Other food was furnished by Madams Herb Goff, Wallace Coats, Jim Covert, Lumir Vodehnal, Eldon Sitch, Bill Kluna, Anton Uher, Ben and Frank Maly, Earl Hanson, Paul Palsler, Art Jensen, Joe Rutar, Ed and Bob Timmerman, Barney Peterson, John Mason, Art John, Leo Nelson, and Miss Annie Thomsen.

Hospital Notes

A son, Ronald Michael, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Setlik, Nov. 18. He weighed seven pounds and seven ounces and his attending physician was Dr. Miller.

Others in the hospital at the present time are: Sondra Norman, who is a medical patient of Dr. Weeks. Surgical patients of Dr. Weeks are Mrs. Emanuel Vodehnal and Mrs. Mary Jensen of Cotesfield. Gerald Thompson of Greeley is a surgical patient of Dr. Markley and Hal Cummins, a patient of Dr. Miller.

made in the interest of economy. When I went to grade school, I was taught that cents were smaller amounts than dollars. I still believe this to be true.

Frankly, Gene, those of us who are business men and learned our economics the hard way, and are still business men and still get a job done with the minimum expense consistent with proper execution, are disappointed when the decisions we make in spending funds—our own or the public—are held up for criticism without a hearing. Just as frankly, we entertain the old fashioned idea that the editorial opinions of a newspaper belong on the editorial page. When a newspaper such as this one sees fit to print an obviously critical article as "Invas" and when such "invas" jumps to unjustified conclusions, and when sardonic reflections are made about public servants who can and do operate in the interest of the public, we begin to wonder about the sincerity of the newspaper. We wonder just where its obligation to the public to print the whole truth and nothing but the truth stops, and its editorial opinions start.

Letters to the Quiz Editor

Soon "Dis-integrated," Sidney, Nebr.

Dear Sir:

Article in the World Herald today regard to OPS rulings. I do not believe I would become concerned as to whether I was integrated or non-integrated, because if the powers that be continue in power much longer we will all be dis-integrated then it won't make any difference either way.

You certainly have my sympathy.

Yours truly,

Explains "Reason Why"

Dear Sir:

I read with interest the article in the local newspaper yesterday which tells about your receipt of 5 identical copies of OPS mailings received in a single mail delivery. The numbers following the mailing address refer to code numbers and indicate the various businesses in which you are engaged. For example, 2711 is the newspaper code, 2761 is lithographing, 2793 is photo engraving, 2791 is commercial printing, etc. You will appreciate the fact that a regulation affecting commercial photo engraving would be of direct interest to virtually no other newspaper man in the state. The same would be true of commercial lithographing. Mailing such literature would be a waste of public funds. Consequently, the various businesses in which you engage require classification as we have done. In the rare instances then, such as your case, of a man engaging in various industrial activities, a general mailing of a regulation applying to all equally is made to all affected codes. The result is a multiple reception such as you had.

We have the choice of wasting money by mailing out regulations not applying as outlined above, of duplicate mailings in rare instances such as yours, or of assigning a clerk to check over 50,000 plates in our mailing list files to be sure that you have received only one copy. Frankly now, Gene, how many newspapers in the state do commercial lithographing or photo engraving?

In your particular case, the apparent waste of public funds was twelve cents for postage (4 additional copies) plus the printing cost of the four extra copies. In order to check our mailing list with the cheapest kind of help, the cost would be many times that amount. The decision on how to handle such matters is the writer's and the writer's alone. It was

Blames Eyes for Headaches

Eyes are a cause of headache in 25 per cent of patients, a Detroit ophthalmologist states. "More patients consult medical clinics because of headaches than for any other single complaint, and for the same reason they most frequently consult an oculist," says Dr. Albert D. Ruedemann, professor of ophthalmology at Wayne University school of medicine.

There is probably more medicine sold for headaches than for any other condition. Some of the large drug concerns build up tremendous fortunes by relieving the ordinary headache.

Worn Measuring Tapes

Many women's measuring tapes need to be replaced. When tapes have lost their stiffening, they become stretched, give inaccurate measurements, and are hard to use. Select a new one that is made of stiff material and that has large clear markings. Be sure to get one with a number "one" at each end on opposite sides. A small metal end on the tape will prevent fraying and resulting poor measurements. A four-inch metal measuring gauge is another treasure for the busy seamstress. You can buy one at a notions counter. It has clear numbers and lines and is real "tops" for measuring and marking hems, seams and pleats.

Iraq's Past Serves As Blueprint for Her Future

The cradle of western civilization is slowly beginning to rock again.

The land of Iraq—whose ancient cultures embraced democracy, law-making, letters, literature, philosophy, rich arts and mathematics—is now pushing ambitious plans for development; plans which are designed to improve greatly the impoverished lot of a people whose nation enjoyed a high standard of living some 5,000 years ago.

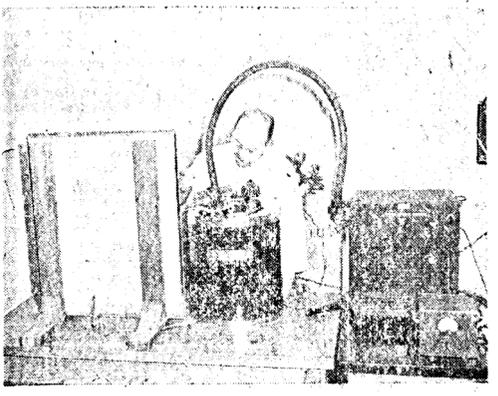

From that distant day until the present one, the life, fortunes and advancement of this Middle East region have depended largely on the proper management of its two famous but capricious rivers, the Tigris and Euphrates. Their waters, controlled and channeled into irrigation canals, once turned the hot, dry lands into gardens when Iraq was known as Babylonia, Assyria, Mesopotamia.

Today, the record of the past is Iraq's dream of the future. To harness the rivers for irrigation, flood control and electricity, Iraq has assigned by law the whole of its sizeable oil income, scheduled to reach an annual $5 million dollars by 1955. Additional aid for the program has come from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development in a $12,800,000 loan.

Paradoxically, Iraq is at once both immensely rich and tragically poor. Its four and a half million people are estimated to have a lower per capita income than any of the neighboring Arab lands. Without proper irrigation they have been able to cultivate only one-fifth of their country's 116,000 square miles and without flood control they have seen much of their ripening crops yearly devastated by floods.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Radio announcers are at a certain disadvantage, in that they have one chance, and one only, in the announcements they make and the wording they use.

In announcing the fight recently between Ernie Durando and Ruddy Young, which Durando won by a split decision, the announcer used a word that could hardly be more out of place, and yet which described the situation very much as he wanted to picture it.

Reading a story about Joe Walcott and his future plans, I came across a place where the writer used the wrong word, probably without realizing it. He said that another bout between Walcott and Ezzard Charles would be anticlimactic for Joe, who would have the championship to risk and nothing to gain.

The art of writing and speaking is to be understood. If you can't put across the idea you are no speaker or writer, as the case may be. I make my share of mistakes. For example, in writing about Harold W. Foght recently I stated that he was an uncle of the Robbins twins.

I am indebted to Mrs. Vicky Simmons of Omaha for calling my attention to this mistake. Mrs. Simmons also gives me the interesting information that the late Ora Taylor, Nettie Burger, Sisson of Oregon, Curt Wilson of Burwell and Mrs. Simmons did the composition work for the book, "Trail of the Loup" which was printed in the office of The Ord Quiz back about 1905, I believe.

venture, but the book has stood the test of time, and is more popular today than when it was first printed. The Robbins twins did considerable canvassing for advance sales, traveling around the county on horseback. It was a great book, and good copies are now a collector's item.

Charles M. Roberts of Milwaukee, Ore., sends me the information that Paul Goss, once superintendent of the Ord schools, died Sept. 14, 1951, at the home of his only surviving daughter, Mrs. Paul Raver, in Denver. His widow also survives him. He was born Jan. 14, 1869, and was past 82 years of age when he died.

Mrs. Goss had the honor of introducing two innovations in the Ord schools. One of these was zoology, which was not too popular, and the other was basketball. This was introduced in Sept., 1901, for the reason that there were not enough men available for a football team at that time.

Those first games were played out doors. The foul rules were so strict that they slowed down the game. There was no limit to the number of personal fouls on a player, however, and it was not unusual to make more points by the foul than the game play. Later games were played in the Wentworth Opera house, now the Veterans club. Among those first basketball players were Jake Hoffman, Hank Misko, Frank Norman, Albie Pierce, Cecil Charlton, Irl Tolson, Dick Canfield, Grover Long, Ray St. Clair, Dow Harris, Ed Armstrong, Claude Homnold, Curly Clements, Ralph Harris, Russell Mann and Fred Coe.

I am in receipt of the following letter from Claude A. Davis, once of Ord, now of Estes Park, Colo. He has this to say: "Dear John: Thomas L. Reddon was a pioneer lawyer in North Loup after 1879. He had a brother and perhaps other relatives who lived there for years. I knew Tom Reddon in Lead, S. D., and this clipping is from a Lead paper published in 1908. As historian for the North Loup region you may find it of interest.

GIANT EGG . . . This giant egg, six times the size of an ostrich egg and 160 times the size of a hen egg, was displayed at the opening of a new museum at Luther theological seminary in St. Paul. It was laid by the Aepyornis bird, tallest bird ever to walk the earth and now extinct.

through law school. Very truly, Claude." The enclosed clipping to which he refers is a copy of a eulogy delivered before the Lawrence county bar association shortly after the death of Mr. Reddon. It was written and read by Judge H. E. Dewey.

Thomas L. Reddon and his brother Nathaniel K. Reddon came to North Loup in 1879. In addition to his law business, he also taught school. He left North Loup after two years, but his brother remained. Thomas went to Rushville, Nebr., and while there was elected state attorney in 1888. In 1895 he moved to Lead, where he remained until his death on July 27, 1908. N. K. (Thon) Reddon remained in North Loup and a son of his, Amos Reddon was the father of Floyd Reddon, still a resident of North Loup, Ernest of Denver and Grace of St. Paul, Minn.

Now, after a rather severe spell of cold weather for the first week in November, we seem to be enjoying another spell of Indian summer. In fact, this is the real Indian summer, which is supposed to come after the first hard freeze. It is lovely for a change, and if we can get past the fateful date, Nov. 18, we might go a long way with open water. This is a fine time of the year to fish for carp, and a lot of them are being caught. They are fat now, and are fine for smoking after which they taste as good as any fish. They are real sport catching and you ought to have a fling at the sport.

INCREASED MY CATTLE PROFITS $396.70

I knew that winter drinking water was almost always so cold that my cattle drank too little to gain the greatest amount of weight . . . and at the same time they were requiring more feed. Then I did something about it. I installed a Johnson Automatic Stock Tank Heater. The thermostatically controlled heater kept the water at 48° all winter long. (Most stock tank heaters only melt the ice to make a little water hole, causing cattle to drink as little as 2 gallons a day instead of their required 12 gallons.)

Last winter my herd of 50 cattle gained an average of 22 pounds per head more than the same type of cattle had gained the previous winter, and consumed 10% less feed. My Johnson Water-Warmer operates inexpensively on bottle gas and it's completely automatic—light it in the fall and forget it until springtime!

Install a JOHNSON WATER-WARMER STOCK TANK HEATER AND BE SURE YOUR CATTLE DRINK ENOUGH WATER TO ASSURE YOU THE HIGHEST PROFIT RETURN!

Two Venezuelan Missionaries Here

The Assembly of God church will have as its guest speakers in a special missionary service on Sunday, Nov. 25, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olsson, missionaries to Venezuela, South America, Rev. G. E. Fogelman, pastor, announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Olsson having done missionary work in Venezuela for the past five years will be giving information on the progress of missionary work in this country. They will tell of general conditions there today, of Venezuela's material wealth and her spiritual poverty. Unusual customs of the people will be presented along with many other interesting facts about the field. Mr. Olsson will tell of the religious life of Venezuela and describe the extent of the work of the Assemblies of God. The Olssons returned to the States last April.

Rev. G. E. Fogelman extends a cordial invitation to the public to hear Mr. and Mrs. Olsson tell of Venezuela and their experiences there. Slides of their work, the country and the native customs will be shown. The service begins at 11:00 a.m.

Omaha Again Biggest Market; Trade Is Mixed

Omaha this week made it 11 Mondays in a row as world's largest livestock market. Saleable supply was 41,000, and in all three major categories, cattle and calves, hogs, sheep—Omaha was also in the lead. Giving Omaha "grand slam" honors were 16,500 cattle and calves, 18,000 hogs and 6,500 sheep. The 18,000 hogs was biggest since run at Omaha since last January, and biggest for November since 1948.

Trade was mixed. Fat cattle sold unevenly steady to 50c lower and late Monday clearance was incomplete. Stocker and feeder cattle any grade sold steady to 50c higher. Hogs were 15c to mostly 25c lower, and fat lambs steady.

Bulk of slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $33.00-$36.00, with better ones to $38.25 and quotable peak around $39.00. Plain steers sold down to $28.00. Heifers in the run were some at $35.50; high on mixed yearlings $36.00. Cows sold steady to weak, canners and cutters $15.00-$20.00, beef to $28.00. Beef bulls sold to $28.50, odd head $29.00, most Western bulls $23.00-$24.50. Vealer top head at $35.00.

In replacement cattle and calf trade supply was heavy for so late in the season, but demand was broad. Yearling stock steers sold at $29.00-$38.00, a long string of Nebraska weighing 660 at $38.00. Wyoming weighing well above 700 scored $30.50. Two and three-year-old feeder steers bulked at $30.50-$34.50. Stock heifers sold to $32.50. Stock calves ranged from $37.00 to $18.00, latter paid for Wyoming steer calves weighing 400. Stock cows bulked at $21.00-$27.00, topky kinds reached $29.

Butcher hogs weighing 180-360 Monday at Omaha brought $17.75-$18.40, a few $18.50. Sows weighing 270-500 brought $15.00-$17.75; stags $13.00-$15.50.

Choice to prime fed woolled and shorn lambs commanded $31.75 and $32.00; good to choice, $30.50-$31.50. Slaughter ewes held at $9.50-$11.50. Replacement sheep and lambs were too scarce for a fair test of trade.

Wheeler county shippers at the Omaha market last week included Foster Bros., with 43 hogs weighing 246 at $18.50.

Lone Star

A birthday party was held at the Archie Shaffer home Thursday evening in honor of their son, Jack. About twenty neighbors and friends attended. They were Mr. and Mrs. Lem Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Darrah and family, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ackles, Dwight and Gary, Mr. Maurice Harbel, Mr. and Mrs. George Bartholomew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Cassidy, Mrs. Hazel Guggenmos and Darrel. After a social evening lunch was served. Jack received several nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ackles, Dwight and Gary spent Sunday in Ord in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moody. Mrs. Louis Douthit and Davey came up from Omaha Saturday evening, returning to her school work in Omaha Sunday afternoon. Louise is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ackles.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Guggenmos and family from Bismark, N. D., spent a short time Sunday evening in the Hazel Guggenmos home. They were on their way to Sargent where they will spend Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guggenmos. Mr. and Mrs. George Bartholomew and family were also guests in the Guggenmos home.

Mrs. Wolfe Demonstrates "Dish Gardens" at Meeting of Garden Club

Of special interest in this winter time is the display of "dish gardens" on display at the used clothing store operated by Mrs. Harry Wolfe. At the meeting of the Valley County Garden club Thursday evening, these were demonstrated and shown by Mrs. Wolfe to an interested group.

In the first place, Mrs. Wolfe says that any dish can be used, cracked, old, glass or wood, high or low. She says that some in which she had made her loveliest gardens are some old dishes she found when cleaning out the pantry. She has among other receptacles, an old yellow sugar bowl, a wooden fruit bowl with the matching wooden candle sticks, several square refrigerator dishes, a low soup plate and most any kind of a dish that will hold dirt. Into these dishes she puts a mixture of one third garden soil, one third peat moss and one third Terralite, a prepared plant food. All this is mixed and placed over a layer of gravel and sand. Then she gets to work to make her garden. She uses cuttings of most any kind of plant that she sees or is handy. She uses ferns, and baby tears, begonias, and cacti, and many kinds of foliage plants. Small slips are cut off and stuck deep into the prepared soil. It is in this that any one she says can show their ingenuity. She places two or three colors of African violets together, pink, purple and white, for instance, or several kinds of vines in one dish.

These dishes that she had on display, she told, were being prepared for the Christmas trade. Most of them will grow a bit from now until then and will also flower. She showed some dishes to be placed on card tables, and larger ones for use on buffets. Round dishes, she says, fit better in the center of dining tables. But the main idea is that the dishes hold a bit of green and flower that will last for some time and bring a bit of color into the home.

These centerpieces are not hard to care for and need but to be watered lightly once a day, and naturally kept in a warm place.

One very interesting dish held a collection of cacti, and all the pieces were arranged about a low green bit in the center. That, she says, is part of the fun, making new arrangements and then studying the effect.

In the backroom of her shop she has a windowful of house plants from which she had made her cuttings. Although the plants look quite ragged now, she said they would soon grow out again.

A pleasant hobby, she says, and one that will pay out, if not in money, then in beauty.

Chanticleers Take on Strong List of Cage Opponents

Alliance, Minden and Columbus Teams on 1951-52 Schedule

The Ord Chanticleers, now working out daily in preparation for a heavy schedule of basketball games, will put a fast, tall team on the floor this season, headed by Paul Penas, center and high scorer of last year's team. In supporting roles will be a pair of fine guards, Erland Laursen and Ivan Stones, and a pair of good forwards, Duane Wolfe and Leland Crossley. Furnishing competition and likely to see plenty of action are Meredith Brox and Jack Blaha, guards; Keith Robinson, forward; Jim Douthit, Bob Bennett, Don Maurice and several others.

Bill Gogan will be head basketball coach, with Roland Moore assisting, and Doyle Dickey will coach the junior high boys who will also present a good team with Dale Strong, Ign. Piskorski and John Douthit as likely starters and plenty of other boys vying for spots on the team.

First game of the 1951-52 season will be against Gothenburg there on Dec. 14, followed by Ravenna away from home on Dec. 20. First home game comes on Jan. 4 against Columbus. Other home games include Loup City, Jan. 8; David City, Jan. 12; Albion, Jan. 25; Rayenna, Jan. 29; Curtis, Febr. 9; Broken Bow, Febr. 15; Central City, Febr. 19. Games away from home include Broken Bow on Jan. 11; Minden on Jan. 15; Sutton, Febr. 1; Loup City, Febr. 12; Alliance, Febr. 22; and Aurora, Febr. 29.

Three of these opponents, Columbus, Alliance and Curtis, are Class A schools, and among the Class B schools Minden, Broken Bow, David City, Gothenburg and Sutton are consistently among the top basketball teams in the state. There are no "soft touches" on the entire schedule.

A tentative schedule has been lined up for the junior high team also as follows:

Dec. 7, Barr (Grand Island) at Ord, 7:30; Dec. 14, Walnut (Grand Island) at G. I., 7:30; Dec. 26, Ravenna at Ravenna; Jan. 4, Columbus at Ord, 5:30; Febr. 12, Loup City at Loup City; Febr. 15, Broken Bow at Ord.

Hy-Line Chicks.

We now have the Divided Flock report for the last several months and the record that Hy-Lines are making is remarkable. In most instances the egg production is far ahead of any competitor.

Hy-Lines are the original Hybrid Chick and have been produced for quite a number of years. At present there are a number of imitations but none are comparable to Hy-Lines. We are now taking orders for Hy-Lines for spring and summer delivery. Place your order now and get the chicks when you want them.

Hill Feeds.

We have a full line of Poultry and Hog feeds made by Hill-Fairchild and they are priced right. Our Laying Mash and Granules are 20% protein and we have hog feed in both 20% and 40% proteins and we have both of them in meal and pellet form. At present egg and pork prices we believe that you should use the best feeds that you can buy for the money and get the greatest return for the money invested.

Cattle Feeds.

We have Cattle Feeds in 12% protein with 45% molasses and then we have pellets in 20%, 30% and 40% proteins. For the most part our hay and corn are not the best quality and a good protein to supplement this feed will bring in very good returns. It would seem to get the maximum results from your own feed that you will need to feed a heavy protein feed. Let us quote this feed to you today and you will have it when you need it. It is pretty hard to buy heavy protein feeds for immediate delivery but we have some booked to come out soon and we could let you have some of that looking.

Grains.

At present we are taking in our contract popcorn and are not able to take too much grain at present. This popcorn rush will be over in a short time and then we will again be in the market for your grain at the best possible prices.

Once again we face Thanksgiving day with gratitude for His favor in bestowing on us the blessings of democracy and all the fruits this fertile tree bears. But now, as our forefathers three hundred years ago, we are aware of the need for protecting His gift against forces of evil that threaten to drag these works down into the lowest depths of tyranny. Again we are faced with the stern reality that "vigilance is the price of liberty."

"I don't get it, Mac!"

"You say fire insurance makes jobs for us. Look—if this building burns down, fire insurance pays the bill. But what's that got to do with my job?"

Mac is right. Before the builder can get his loan or start construction, his fire insurance must be in force. Fire insurance also safeguards our community through building laws and inspection services, educates our children in fire prevention. It is an essential basis for credit in our free enterprise system, vital to industrial expansion. That's why, in these critical times, fire insurance is everybody's business.

Suppose Your Home Burned Down! Would your fire insurance rebuild it at today's higher costs... would it cover your furniture and other belongings? Too little insurance can be costly. For your protection let me check your policies now!

Obituary

JAMES MORROW

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon from the Methodist church in Scotia for James Morrow, 89, who passed away Monday evening, Nov. 12, at the Ord hospital. Mr. Morrow was a well known figure in Greeley county having called on farmers for trade for nearly 25 years. He was a daily figure in the downtown district up until a week before his death. After the death of his wife three years ago, he made his home with a daughter, Mrs. Alpha Daly, Rev. Walter Grant, assisted by Rev. Merle Jones, conducted the services. Mr. Morrow was born in Scotia, Iowa, to Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Grantham. Mrs. Neville Cargill and Leroy Berghold sang three appropriate songs, accompanied by Mrs. Orville Hamer.

Palbearers were Glen, Earl and John Morrow, Curt Wilson, and Dwight Moody. Ashley's Mortuary was in charge and burial was in the Scotia cemetery.

Out of town relatives here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. James Schwartz, Clinton, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bristow, Lawton, Ia.; Silas Morrow and daughter, Mrs. Opal Bosselman, Bristow; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilton, Petersburg; Oliver Smallwood, Laura, Lucy and Howard of Elgin; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morrow, Curtis Morrow and Darlene, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Peterson, Edith Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daily of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Daly, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Wilson, Mrs. Roland Dye and Mrs. F. L. Osenowski of Ord.

James William Morrow, son of John and Savanna Morrow, was born in Pike county, Illinois, April 24, 1862, and passed away at the Ord hospital, Nov. 12, 1951, at the age of 89 years, six months and 19 days.

When a small child he moved with his parents to a farm near Columbus and here he spent his boyhood days.

On March 3, 1895, he was united in marriage to Keziah Applegate at O'Neill. After their marriage they lived on a farm near Chambers and then to a farm near Elba. Shortly afterwards they moved to Scotia where they made their home for 50 years. He was preceded in death by his wife, his parents, four sisters and two brothers.

He accepted Christ as his Savior early in life, uniting with the Baptist church, later transferring his membership to the Free Methodist church, where his membership remains. As long as his health permitted, he was faithful in attendance and in every way, he shared and sacrificed to extend the Kingdom of Our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. He leaves to mourn his passing three children, Fred of Grandview, Wash.; Ray of Paris, Ark.; and Alpha Daily of Scotia; two brothers, Charles of Scotia and Fred of Astoria, Ore.; one sister, Ida Mercer of Portland, Ore.; four brothers, Silas of Bristow; Eugene of Lawton, Ia.; and Lloyd and Curtis of Grand Island, a number of grandchildren and a host of friends.

He was a kind and loving husband and father, a good neighbor and will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Seefus were hosts to a family supper Friday night to honor the birthday of Ed Bredthauer who with Mrs. Bredthauer are visiting relatives. The Bredthauers home is at Pasadena, Calif.

—See our "Feature Lock" diamonds. Muncy's 23-1fc The Junior class play, "Henpecked Henry" was well given and very well attended. Thursday night, eleven juniors held parts in the play which was given in the school auditorium.

Claims Interest in Bonanza Oil Field Worth 18 1/2 Million

J. Robert Warren of Elkhorn has filed suit in federal district court in Cheyenne through his attorney, Thomas W. Lanigan of Grand Island, claiming a half of Dr. Victor Ziegler's interest in the fabulous Bonanza Oil Co. of World, Wyo. Mr. Lanigan and Dr. Ziegler prospected together for ten years and that the Bonanza field was a joint venture.

Mr. Lanigan said that he was also filed for Mr. Warren claims of ownership of all the leases involved. The claims were filed in land offices in Wyoming. Dr. Ziegler, a former geology professor, has stated that the sale of the company for $18,500,000 to a Texas oil group was near completion. It would bring the original investors some 35 times the amount they put into the venture.

Mr. Lanigan said that Mr. Warren's claims would not affect directly the interests of the stockholders other than Dr. Ziegler. But the court actions will have to be disposed of before title can be cleared for the sale to the Texas group.

Mr. Warren is well known here. Mrs. Warren was the former Elsie Seefus, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Seefus.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid served the noon meal. Mrs. Esther Bilhorn acted as chairman of the committee.

Bernard Murphy arrived in Grand Island Monday after completing his basic training in the marine corps at San Diego. He will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Murphy at Grand Island and a brother, Leonard and family at Scotia.

The Know Your School club representatives met at the school Friday night. Ed Stillman, elected president, Mrs. Bert Malley, vice-president, and Mrs. Don Davis, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Leonard Burton and Mrs. Clarence Sixel were appointed to buy Christmas treats. Other members of the board are Mrs. Clyde Barth who with Mrs. Bert Malley represent the Cook area; Mrs. Leonard Burton with Ed Stillman, Pleasant Valley; Ed Studnicka and Mrs. Fred Sautter, Lamartine; Mrs. Don Davis and Fred Gydesen, Wallace Creek, and Mrs. Sam Hatcher and Mrs. Clarence Sixel for the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale May and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bredthauer drove to Lincoln, Saturday to attend the football game. The Mays returned to Scotia, Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bredthauer drove on to Omaha where they planned to attend market on Monday, returning to Scotia Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bredthauer and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bredthauer of Pasadena, Calif., spent Monday and Tuesday at Utica with the Penny family and also visited relatives at Lincoln.

A dinner at the Ernest Lange home near Ord was held Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bredthauer. Those attending from Scotia were Mr. and Mrs. William Bredthauer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bredthauer, Sr., Mrs. Phil Seefus, Mrs. Rose Fuss, Mrs. Ruby Bredthauer and Mrs. Mary Bredthauer of Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Smith, Jr., and two children went to Shelton Friday, where they remained overnight with Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Smith, Sr. They went to Grand Island early Saturday so that their daughter, Pamela, could be x-rayed for a kidney ailment. They returned to Scotia, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spencer were hosts to the Riverside Pinochle club at their home last Friday night. Four tables were played with Mrs. Wm. Donscheski, Otto Gebhardt and Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt winning prizes.

Pfc. John Augustyn left Sunday for Cheyenne where he is stationed with the air force after spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Augustyn of near Elba.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Day and family and Mrs. Robert Bishop and two girls of Danneberg spent Sunday at the Clyde Barth home. Arlene Liske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liske fell while playing at her home last week and broke the tip from her elbow. It is possible that some of the joint water was lost. Arlene is a twin and attends the Reed school.

The Brownie Scouts met last Wednesday at the Elton Jess home with Mrs. Jess as leader. The girls are making doll bunnings to be sent as Christmas gifts to a children's home.

Kenneth Sautter is employed at Wilson's Packing plant in Omaha. He spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Elsie Sautter and Lauradel.

Guests at the Frank Beedle home over the weekend were their sons, Leslie and family and Frankie of Mason City, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lincoln were Sunday visitors.

Proceeds from a pie social and carnival given at the Fish Creek school last Tuesday night, netted enough for the purchase of an electric record player to be used by the Fish Creek school children. A crowd of nearly 100 people attended. The Happy Hour club and the school sponsored the event.

Pfc. Don Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Peterson, left last week for Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he will report for further duty. Pfc. Peterson recently returned from Japan with a transport of disabled men.

Mr. and Mrs. William Waters spent the weekend in Lincoln with their son, Robert and Mrs. Waters. They also attended the football game Saturday. Rev. Merle Jones assisted in the drug store during their absence.

DR. LEONARD TO LEAVE ORD

I expect to close my chiropractic office in Ord on the evening of Nov. 30th. During my almost four years in this city I have enjoyed an unusually fine professional practice.

It has been my privilege to meet, not only the people of Ord, but also many fine persons from surrounding communities and neighboring towns.

Everyone has been kind and considerate and I leave Ord with the feeling of deep gratitude.

I will join my husband in the office of Drs. Leonard & Leonard in Broken Bow.

Hilding Pearson New President Chamber Commerce

Jack Fauble Chosen Vice-President; Closing Hours Set

Hilding Pearson was elected president of the Ord Chamber of Commerce at the group's annual meeting Monday evening. Jack Fauble was named the organization's new vice-president.

Members of the board chosen at the meeting were Quinn Scott, Frank Kapusta, Mike Yost, Albert Parkos, Elmer Ziomke and Charles Jones. Alcen Papiernik and Chas. Wrightman are hold-over members of the board.

Chamber members were told by retiring president Richard Rowal that street markers ordered by the chamber would be made this winter and installed next spring.

The group voted to retain the present number of "closed" days and holidays for the calendar year 1952. Saturday night closing hours were set at 9 o'clock, beginning January 1st, and continuing until April 1st. From April 1st until October 31, closing hours will be 10 o'clock P. M.

Willis E. Davis Dies in New York

Willis E. Davis, whose home was in Whalonsburg, N. Y. died unexpectedly a week ago in a hospital in Ticonderoga, N. Y. He was born in Minnesota on March 15, 1868, the oldest of six children. He moved from there to Ord, Nebr., where he was married to Aurora E. Northup of Moriah Center, N. Y. Later he and his family moved to Fort Henry, N. Y., where he made his home. He was an active member and trustee of the Methodist church, Sunday school superintendent and teacher, charter member of the organization for some time, and a member of the I.O.O.F. and Rebekah lodges.

Mrs. Davis died eight years ago and a son, Harry Davis, died earlier this year. Surviving are three daughters, one son, 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, also three sisters.

Interment was made in the Union cemetery of Fort Henry.

Home on Furlough

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Good went to Grand Island Monday where they met their son, Cpl. Richard Good, who had been stationed in Port of Whittier, Alaska. He is a clerk-typist, and has a furlough of 30 days. He had been in Alaska for several months, and has been reassigned to Camp Carson, Colo., where he will report soon after Christmas. He came home by way of Seattle.

In Accident Near David City Sunday

Mrs. A. J. Adamek received a card Tuesday which told of an accident which happened to Mrs. James Adamek and children as they were returning to their home in Omaha after spending Thanksgiving week end here. The accident happened in David City Sunday evening. Two of the children were in the David City hospital, Jerome being in a more serious condition than his sister, Clarice. The car was damaged and was left in one of the city garages. Mrs. Adamek and the other two children went on to Omaha on the bus.

Much Interest in New Leonard Book

In a recent letter from Irving Baker, state editor of the World-Herald, he expressed his pleasure at hearing how rapidly the book, "Call of the Western Prairies," by Elizabeth Jane Leonard is progressing and he desires to read it.

Victor Haas, book editor of the World-Herald, also desires a copy of the book.

Orders and inquiries have been received from nine states.

Dr. Leonard has received catalogs from the Library Publishers of New York City, which lists the new books being published by this company. The names of such outstanding authors as Louis Untermeyer, J. Donald Adams and others of like literary stature appear in this catalog—as does also the name of our own Nebraska writer, Elizabeth Jane Leonard.

Old Keepsakes Are Treasured Articles in Lukes' Sisters Home

In the earlier days of the settlement of our state and county, there were too few old articles and things to place in a home. One reason was that there was no place for such things in the small homes and large families of those days. Another was that too little value was placed on these bits of glass and wood and metal, and still another was that such things could not stand the wear of time, but became broken or worn out. Now, when these little things could be collector's items and more, could be cherished by those of associations, there are few to be had.

However, a visit to two homes last week, showed some articles that have been faithfully kept. In one home the mother is starting a collection of old Methodist hymnals. She has about a dozen of these books, rich in memories, far beyond their time. These little books are bound in sober black, and considering their age and the usage have stood time very well. Her oldest book was published in 1849, the leaves of thin paper and the binding black morocco. The hymns were kept in the music but are simply the poems. Most of the hymns are written by Charles Wesley. One of her books was found in the library of an old man, and being of no use to the ones who found it, was presented to the collector, who prize it highly.

Another home also visited is a treasure of interesting keepsakes. This is the pleasant home of the Misses Barbara, Minnie and Elizabeth Lukes. From this family comes many stories of their glassware, their paintings and their furniture.

Among their prized possessions are two glass goblets brought by their people from what is now Czechoslovakia. The goblets are of a peculiar shape being small cups in a bell shape, resting on slender stems, each stem having globes on all sides. One goblet was of an amber color, and the other clear crystal. The glasses, when tapped with a silver spoon give out a beautiful ringing sound. In contrast to this was the dull note from another piece of experimental glass.

The glass goblet was etched in a floral design, and both are very old. One piece of glass owned by the sisters is a small tumbler in red and white glass, made many years ago by a relative in their parents' native country, and which bears his mark on the bottom. They have pieces of lattice work and hobnail glass, as well as other (Continued on page six)

Leach Erecting New Oil Station

A new oil station, wash room and grease room is being erected by Leach on the north part of the lot now occupied by his present station. The new structure, built of concrete blocks is 32x28, and will cost approximately $6000.

Sheldon Bros., of North Loup are contractors for the job, and with favorable weather, completion date is set for January 1.

Leach expects to use his present frame building for a warehouse. Gasoline pumps in front of the present building will be left there until spring when they will be moved to a position nearer the new building.

Thanksgiving Day church services well attended, but family gatherings, big dinners, real 'Order of Day'

The union Thanksgiving service held at nine o'clock on Thursday evening was well attended, the Bethel Baptist church being practically filled. The message of the day was brought by Rev. Keith Shepherd of the Methodist church. He spoke of the founders of the day of thanks, the pilgrims, and compared the present generation with them. The devotions were led by Rev. Strong of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Olson, the host pastor, led the singing of several thanksgiving songs. Special music were two solos by Don Auble, "Give Thanks to God" and "These are 'Thine Own,'" with Mrs. Robert Noll as accompanist. At 10:30 the same morning appropriate services were held in the Danish Lutheran church with the sermon being preached by the pastor, Rev. Christen Jeppesen. The day was spent quietly with many family gatherings and with many special dinners. Among them were:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smets and family were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swopes and daughter, Terri, and Mrs. Mildred Auble attended a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schudel, who live in the Riverdale district. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. J. Jirak, Mr. and Mrs. Cecily Clark with their son, Arden, of Gordon, and Charles Saub, of Gordon, and Mrs. Myra T. Barber. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Avers were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Avers and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Meyer, all of Davenport, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cronk. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brownell and family and Elmer Christensen spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson and family in Cotesfield. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kroeger were to Phillips where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kroeger. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zulkoski of Comstock, accompanied by Mrs. Anna Socha of Ord, went to Omaha for Thanksgiving Day. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacona. Sheriff and Mrs. Bob Hall and Mr. and Mrs. George Dworak and two sons went to Kearney where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Simpson for dinner.

E. R. Horner Is Low Bidder On REA Remodeling

Proposal To Give Kitchen, Display Room, New Offices.

E. R. Horner of Ord was the low bidder on proposed remodeling of REA offices in Ord, and contract has been awarded him pending approval by Washington REA offices.

Horner's bid was $27,720, and the only other bidder, John Clausen & Sons of Grand Island, bid $27,844. Engineer's estimate of the remodeling was $16,500, so approval of the bid is in doubt, according to local officials.

The project calls for extensive remodeling of the present REA offices, which had been used as a combination office and warehouse prior to the acquisition of the former Thomas Rasmussen garage which is now used as a warehouse. Present offices across the front of the building will be converted to a display and reception room. A built-in-model kitchen for electrical appliance demonstration is a feature of the display room.

The present ware-house room will hold one large office, and several smaller private offices, file storage space and record rooms. Only outside work will be the erection of a large sign atop the building.

If the contract is approved, construction work will start as soon as materials can be delivered.

Cornpicker, Car In Collision Monday Morning

A two-row cornpicker being pulled by Chas. Vancura, Jr., and a car driven by Bob Benson collided early Monday morning nine miles west and 3/4 miles south of Ord.

Both Vancura and Benson escaped without injuries. The Benson car, traveling north, came over a small hill and crashed into the extended horn of the picker, and then took the ditch. Vancura was pulling the picker with a tractor, and also had a wagon hitched to the rear of the picker.

Ten Day Tour of Mexico Enjoyed

Mrs. Clara Kinkade and Katharine Helzer returned home Wednesday evening from a thirteen day vacation, which they spent in Mexico. Because their plane was grounded for four hours in one of the cities where they had to change, they did not get into Mexico as early as they intended, but missed a day of sight seeing. However, they spent some time in the city of Mexico, and later took personally conducted tours to Cuernavaca, Taxco, Pueblo, Choluteca, Catherina and Guadalupe. They saw the famous Floating Gardens and other wonders of Mexico and also visited the pyramids. They came home by way of Omaha.

Their traveling companions were congenial and made pleasant company. They had the same guide all the time of their sight seeing travels, and both were impressed with the historical education of all the guides, and the manner in which the early history of Mexico was told. The country is steeped in history and the guides make the most of it for the benefit of the tourists. As other Mexican tourists, the women were also impressed with the age of this neighborhood, with the beautiful Spanish architecture, the work and place of women and girls in the country, and the contrast between the wealth and sordidness of the conditions they found there.

Ord American Legion Wins National Mention

American Legion posts in Ord and Arcadia were among 30 posts in Nebraska which won the highest membership citation given by the national organization for having equalled or exceeded their 1952 membership by Nov. 11, 1951.

Dr. R. J. Lynn, commander of the local post, said that the Legion in Ord now shows a 50 per cent gain over 1951.

Dr. Leonard Leaves

After practicing in Ord for the past four years, Dr. Elizabeth J. Leonard, chiropractor, plans to leave on Friday, Nov. 30. She will join her husband in her home town of Broken Bow and will assist him in his practice. They may make a trip to California during the winter.

Two Inducted

Two boys, Albert Sample, whose address is Loup City, and Arnold Walooski, of Elvira, left Monday morning for Omaha for induction into the armed forces.

Cpl. Laverne J. Nevrika was home on his first furlough since enlisting Jan. 4 in the air force. He has been stationed in Miami, Fla., since April, where he is now Morning Report Clerk of the 435th Air Police Sqd. He will return to his base Dec. 6, after spending an 18 day leave with friends and relatives at Ord and his folks at Potter. His address is: Cpl. Laverne J. Nevrika, AF 17302307, 435th Air Police Sqd., M.I.A., Miami, Fla.

Pheasant Season Ends Sunday with Snow, Icy Roads

Local Hunters Get Jump on City Cousins, Have Fine Sport.

A Saturday night and Sunday morning snow-storm which made main roads icy and dangerous gave local hunters a break over their city cousins, as the 1951 open season on pheasants came to an end Sunday. The snow made it easier for hunters to locate the birds while icy roads reserved the sport mainly for the local men. Some fine bags were reported.

Throughout the season the long-tails were not as plentiful here as had been expected and few were able to take big limits even though they hunted behind good dogs. But everyone got a few and hunters generally are satisfied. However, pheasants should be left for seed to assure a good crop next fall, if hatching and growing seasons prove favorable.

Duck hunters have another eight days to go, with the season slated to close on Friday, Dec. 7. Probably 90 per cent of the ducks that go through central Nebraska are already southward but enough remain to spur the ambition of the frost-bitten legion. Corn field hunting is beginning to pay dividends here, with the red-legged northern moving down from Calamus and Cedar to feed in the corn fields in early morning and late afternoon. Quite a few ducks were killed in the fields north of Elvira and around Burwell Sunday. A few fresh flocks from farther north came in last week and also, to the delight of river hunters.

Several parties are planning trips to Lexington, Ogallala, Oshkosh and Scottsbluff before close of the season, primarily because geese are said to be present in large numbers in those areas. Reports from the west indicate duck hunting has been even poorer along the North Platte river than it is here, with birds plentiful but ratted on the big reservoirs, Lake Minatare or on the South Platte in Colorado, where the season is closed.

Husking Bee Held at Waterman's

Tuesday, 22 men with tractors, corn pickers, teams and wagons gathered at the farm of Mrs. Archie Waterman and picked 60 acres of corn.

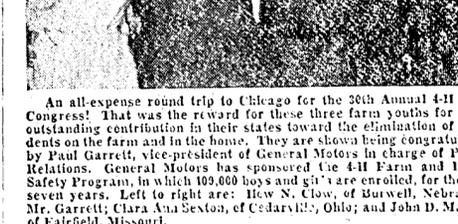

Elmer Bredthauer, Wm. Schauer, Sr., Edward Penas, Joe Nevrivy, Edward Shoemaker, Vernon Stanton, R. H. Knapp and Richard Fish furnished corn pickers.

The following came and helped all day: Bernard Bredthauer, Wm. Schauer, Jr., Junior Nevrivy, Eugene Bredthauer, Edward Shoemaker, Vernon Stanton, R. H. Knapp, Donald Shoemaker, Richard Fish, Gilbert Siedel, Bud Williams, S. I. Willard, Carl Young, Alfred Sioemaker, David Willard, Edward Dymek, K. W. Harkness, Warner Vergin, Carl Oliver, Edward Penas, Wm. Schauer, Sr., and Spencer Waterman.

The following ladies helped cook and serve dinner and lunch at the Spencer Waterman home, Madams Carl Oliver, Edward Shoemaker, Edward Williams, Elsie Waterman, Edward Penas, Wm. Schauer, Sr., and Spencer Waterman.

Food was also sent in by Mrs. Elmer Bredthauer, Mrs. Homer Jones, Mrs. Joe Nevrivy and Mrs. K. W. Harkness.

An all-expense round trip to Chicago for the 26th Annual 4-H Club Congress. That was the reward for these three farm youths for their outstanding contribution in their states toward the elimination of accidents on the farm and in the home. They are shown being congratulated by Paul Garrett, vice-president of General Motors in charge of Public Relations. General Motors has sponsored the 4-H Farm and Home Safety Program, in which 100,000 boys and girls were enrolled last year. Left to right are: Hwy N. Clow, of Burwell, Nebraska; Mr. Garrett; Clara Ana Sexton, of Cedarville, Ohio; and John D. Martin, of Fairfield, Missouri.

Santa Schedules Visit To Ord Wed., Dec. 19th

Santa Claus has informed officials of the Ord Chamber of Commerce that he will pay a pre-Christmas visit to Ord on Wednesday afternoon, December 19.

In honor of his visit the Chamber will have a free matinee of cartoons and comedy films at the Ord Theatre for Santa, and all good kiddies who wish to attend as Santa's guest.

After the movie Santa will distribute Christmas treats to all those who come to see him.

Attempts to Form Eagle Aerie Here

Plans for the organization of a new Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Ord were announced today by W. B. Harmon, an organizer for the Eagles.

Mr. Harmon has started making up a charter list for the new Aerie and has established his headquarters at Fenton Produce, in Ord. The Eagles, the organizer explained, are a beneficial fraternal organization. Aerie homes are maintained in all the principal cities of the country, and in Canada.

The organizer expects to call a meeting of persons interested in the Eagles on Tuesday, Dec. 4, at the Ford garage.

Think Geyser Loose as Water Main Breaks

Residents of southeast Ord thought for a little while Monday afternoon that a geyser had broken loose. Excavators working with a power shovel at leveling the ground for Jay Nelson at the corner of 15th and W streets hit a city water main and water sprayed high into the air until city employees could be located and the main shut off while repairs were made. The main was only 1 1/2 feet under the ground at the point where it was hit by the shovel, said Jay Nelson.

Nelson expects to move a house in from the country and remodel it next spring, on the lot now being leveled.

Explanation Given of Plans For Middle Loup Irrigation

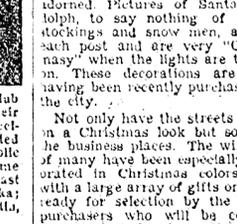

The following letter was received last week from Paul L. Hartley, area engineer, at the Bureau of Reclamation office in Grand Island and is an excellent statement of the status of work being done by the bureau along the Middle Loup river:

This office has read with interest the articles appearing in the Custer County Chief concerning the joint plans of the local people and the Bureau of Reclamation in Nebraska, and especially within the Loups. We believe that your coverage of these noteworthy events to be commended. However, in the article published in the October 29, 1951 issue under the heading, "Sargent Unit to Receive $257,528" there are several statements that might prove misleading to the local people and the following information is furnished in the interest of dissipating any misconceptions that might arise.

The Sargent Unit in conjunction with the Farwell, Lees Park, and Middle Loup Units comprises the Middle Loup Division. The Middle Loup Division is one of the ten irrigation divisions of the Lower Platte River Basin which in turn is one of the larger subbasins of the Missouri River Basin Project.

The Sargent Unit comprises over 17,500 acres of land extending from near Milburn along the Middle Loup River to the Woods Park Area. Engineering features along the south side of the River extending from the diversion dam to lands east of Walworth; and the Lillian Canal, laterals and drains into two districts, yet integrated parts, both geographically, by the Middle Loup River, and chronologically in the proposed sequence of construction.

Xmas Decorations Up, Ord Invites Holiday Shoppers

Big Stocks of Holiday Merchandise in Stores; Windows Beautiful

Ord has taken its holiday season dress and none too soon, with the snowfall of Sunday. The colorful lights that shine at night about the court house, and on the court house square twinkle merrily in blue, green, red, and yellow. And furthermore the lamp post are now adorned with strings of Santa's, Hullo! to say nothing of filled stockings and snow men, are on each post and are very "Christmasy" when the lights are turned on. These decorations are new, having been recently purchased by the city.

Not only have the streets taken in a Christmas look but so have the business places. The windows of many have been especially decorated in Christmas colors, and with a large array of gifts on hand ready for selection by the many purchasers who will be coming soon. In fact, the stores are taking on plenty of extra help, and report that people are buying articles for Santa's pack.

It seems that this year there will be no shortage of the sweet stuff that really spells the holiday season for children and grown ups as well. Some store windows are filled with plenty of candy and nuts.

The Chamber of Commerce has allowed $50.00 to be used as prizes for home decorations and lighting. Any theme may be used, and any lighting effects. The judging will be done by out of town persons, and all are urged to make this place truly a Christmas city.

But of most interest is the fact that Santa Claus will be picked December 19, which happens to be a Wednesday as the day he will visit Ord. In his note to the Chamber of Commerce, he says he does not know yet just how he will come, by plane or car or horse and maybe by his own reindeer, but he is definitely coming and he certainly wants all the children to be on hand to meet him. He will have treats for all good boys and girls, and all boys and girls are good at Christmas time. More than that he wants to see the parents too since the stores and other business places will be all ready to help them, should they desire to be aids to Santa.

To further show his delight in greeting the children and grown ups he has arranged that there will be free pictures shown in the Ord Theater the same afternoon of his visit.

The churches and schools of the community are arranging special music for the Christmas season, with other programs included.

Those who work in the post office, again as in other years, urge that all packages and cards be mailed early and thus do away with the usual congestion.

And it is not too long, about three weeks until Christmas comes. The season of anticipation is almost as pleasant as is the day itself.

Two Half Section Farms Are Sold

At the auction sale of the 320-acre Arthur Malotte farm on Davis Creek last week, Charles Wolf was the high bidder, paying $61.50 per acre for the place.

The Ben Sweet half section east of Horace also has changed hands, buyer being Orville Hamer, of Scotia, and consideration being $14,000, or about $44 per acre, and Mrs. Sweet have bought the Mrs. Tucker home on North Loup and will live there hereafter.

Mystery Eyes Last Week Were Leslie Nash

Leslie Nash, head of the Valley county soil conservation service, was the owner of the Mystery Eyes in last week's Quiz advertisement sponsored by Dr. Glen Auble, optometrist.

Mr. Nash is a veteran of World War II where he was skipper of a mine sweeper, and saw action in Japanese waters.

The Nash family lived in Ord until two years ago when they purchased a farm two miles south of Ord. Hobbies of all members of the family are music and raising of rabbits, although the latter has just about out-grown the hobby stage and is now more of business. Nash is also a flyer and photography enthusiast.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kirby Observe 50th Anniversary

Open house was held Sunday afternoon in the basement of the Masonic building, honoring Mr. and Mrs. George Kirby, who were married 50 years ago, on Nov. 27, 1901. Previous to the open house, a big family dinner was served in the same place, at which about 70 were present.

Several relatives and friends dropped in during the afternoon to extend congratulations to the bride and groom of 50 years ago. Cake and coffee was served to the guests, the serving table being covered with a lace cloth. A four tier cake, topped with a gold ornament bearing the numeral "50" centered the table, flanked on both sides with gold candles. A large bouquet of golden chrysanthemums also decorated the table. Coffee was poured by Mrs. Neil Peterson, punch by Mrs. Elwin Boyce and the cake was served by Mrs. C. M. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby received their guests from two large easy chairs, which had been presented to them earlier. Pinned to the shoulder of the black dress worn by the bride of 50 years ago was a corsage of yellow carnations. Her husband also boasted a yellow carnation boutonniere.

During the afternoon, two songs were sung by Charlene and Dale Mulligan, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" and "It Is No Secret What God Can Do", with Miss Mulligan also acting as accompanist.

The guest book was kept by Mrs. Dean Gross and the gift table was in charge of Mrs. Evert Burson. About 100 guests signed the guest book, there being relatives and friends from North Platte, North Loup, Denver, Minden and Maywood, Calif., the majority, however, being from Ord.

Favors were personalized napkins bearing in gold letters the names of the bride and groom. George Kirby, 74, was born in Denmark in 1877. His wife who is 69 years of age is a native of New York state. They were married in the office of the county judge in Minden, Neb. The only attendants were the bride's father, Thomas Neilsen, sr. and Jack Grady. Mrs. Kirby, the former Christina Neilsen, still has her wedding dress of blue velvet. She was given a ring at the time of her wedding.

In 1902 Mr. and Mrs. Kirby moved to Valley county where they have lived ever since. Their main occupation has been farming, but due to their age, they retired three years ago and at the present time live in the farm home of their son, one mile west of the District 42 school house. They have six children, Albert Kirby and Mary (Mrs. Elwin Boyce) of North Loup, Ernest Kirby and Chester Kirby of Ord, Clara, Mrs. Ted Walkenmeyer of Maywood, Calif., and Walter Kirby of Los Angeles, Calif. All the children are married. They have 17 grandchildren. Mrs. Ted Walkenmeyer and daughter, Sharon, of Maywood, Calif. were present at the celebration. All the other children were also present with the exception of their son, Walter, of Los Angeles.

36th Wedding Anniversary

In honor of their 36th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen entertained at a buffet supper at their home Sunday evening. Guests were those who had given them a goodbye party before they went to South America.

Yvonne Whiting Wed in California

In the presence of 85 guests at Greenwich Wedding Chapel in Long Beach, Calif., Sunday, Nov. 11, at 4 p. m. the wedding of Miss Yvonne Jane Whiting and LeRoy A. Jauman was solemnized, with Dr. George W. McDonald performing the ceremony. The couple left on a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and will be at home after Nov. 20 at 2354 Linden Ave.

The attractive bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whiting, of Ord, was escorted to the altar by Earl Garhorn. For the candle light rites, she chose a traditional gown of white slipper satin with tulle and a bouffant skirt falling into a long train. She carried two white orchids on a white Bible.

Mrs. Lyle E. Westcott was her sister's matron of honor and was gowned in lime-ice taffeta. She wore a matching net hat and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

A reception followed the nuptials. The bridegroom attended the Huntington Beach high school and served in the Army Air Force, while his bride received her education in Ord, Neb. — Long Beach Independent.

Entertained Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norton entertained a few friends at their home Sunday evening. Pitch was played.

Sunday Night Club

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bleach entertained the Sunday night club at their home that evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Misko, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Daily.

Mrs. Edna Travs was hostess to the Fine Arts Extension club Tuesday evening. Following the lesson on "How to Live 100 Years Happily," the members did textile painting. Three guests were present, Mrs. Alfred Hill, Mrs. Ed Gnaster and Mrs. Frank Pafetta.

For Third Birthday

The third birthday of Christie Lee Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin Smith, was celebrated with a party at her home Sunday afternoon. The guests were Susan and Peggy Misko, Lyle and Larry Christensen, Mary and Bonnie Dalley, Linda Adams, Sandra, Patty and Judy Swanek, Mrs. Dean Misko, Mrs. Harold Christensen, Mrs. Henry Adams, Mrs. Ivan Robinson, and Mrs. Christina Velcho. The children played games and enjoyed the birthday cake. The birthday girl received many nice gifts.

ATTENTION Poultrymen:

You'll make MORE MONEY with AMES IN-CROSS Chicks than any other chicken you can raise. Greater profits are GUARANTEED. You'll get 4 to 6 more eggs per month per bird from your AMES IN-CROSS hen — about a pound MORE MEAT per hen than on light breeds. In addition you save from 1 to 1 pound of feed per dozen eggs. AMES IN-CROSS chicks are INbred and CROSS-bred to assure superior bird. Experienced poultry raisers have found less broodiness, better livability, longer laying periods and a higher grade on eggs with AMES IN-CROSS. You can't help making MORE MONEY with America's No. 1 Business Hen.

Roy L. Durheim, Tyler, Minnesota, says: "My Ames In-Cross pullets started laying at 4 months, 10 days and in less than 5 months were in 50% production."

Christmas Seals in Mail Friday, Early Return Hoped for

A total of 1800 envelopes filled with 100 Christmas seals each were put in the mail here Friday. Each seal bears not only the picture of Santa Claus, but also bears the sign of the double red cross, which tells the story at this and every Christmas time. The sale of seals to combat tuberculosis in Nebraska and also to further the cause for good health is under the direction in Valley county of Katherine Helzer. The members of the Ord high school service club stuffed the envelopes. The names were taken from the tax files.

The slogan for this year is "be-fore you forget it", or explained by Miss Helzer, that many people plan to send in their dollar for the seals as soon as they receive the envelope, but sometimes misplace the envelope or put the matter off for one reason or another. It is hoped this year that the money will come in early.

It is said that $185,000 is the least amount needed to put into operation the 1952 anti-tuberculosis program of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association, and its affiliated county associations and Christmas Seal Committee.

The money received from the sale of Christmas Seals is used for research, the need of which cannot be over emphasized. Another use is to furnish the means for a tuberculosis workshop for nurses. The plan was used last year and will be repeated this year.

More hospital beds for the tuberculous are needed and some of the seal money will go for that. There are not enough beds in the Kearney hospital to care for the known cases, particularly with the addition of new cases being discovered by the mobile X-ray unit, admission X-ray films in hospitals and tuberculosis testing.

For many years Christmas Seal funds have purchased chest X-ray films when necessary. Whenever possible the individual takes care of the cost of his own chest X-ray films but upon other occasions, Christmas Seal funds pay for the needed films.

Christmas Seal purchases are helping outstanding trained scientists their efforts to speed the day when tuberculosis can really be conquered.

Ord Soldiers Train as Medical Technicians

Two Ord men, Pvt. Paul W. Petka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Petka, and Pvt. Leonard L. Shokoski, son of Mrs. Anna Dubas of Route 1, are on leave after completing basic training at the medical replacement training center at Fort Meade, Md., last Saturday.

They will take the medical technician's course at the medical service school at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

The first eight weeks of the 16-week course covered basic military training necessary for all soldiers. This included weapons and combat training designed to enable the medical soldier to defend himself and his patients if the need should arise.

The remainder of their training was spent in individual and fundamental subjects of the army medical service including emergency medical treatment, evacuation of casualties, military sanitation and disease prevention.

'52 Costs To Be Same; State Livestock Production To Drop

1. The cost of living will be about the same.
2. Nebraska's livestock production will drop ten percent.

Those were the main points brought out by Mrs. Clara Leopold and Richard Ford, extension workers from the University of Nebraska, who spoke at an Outlook conference in Broken Bow, Tuesday.

County agents from Valley, Greeley, Lincoln, Dawson, Sherman, and Custer counties; home demonstration agents from Custer, Lincoln, Dawson and Buffalo counties, and veterans' instructors from several counties made up the audience.

Purpose of the conference was to acquaint residents of this area—through their county agents and instructors—with what to expect in the way of farm prices, the cost of living, scarcity of materials, etc. for next year.

Mrs. Leopold recently attended a National Outlook conference in Washington, D. C. Her speech Tuesday was on reports of what was learned in Washington.

Her predictions were based on the assumption that the United States' international situation would remain about the same and that there would be no severe drought or crop failure to upset the nation's agricultural balance.

They pointed out that if the United States became involved in an all-out war, conditions would change radically.

Speaking of the cost of living, Mrs. Leopold said that food prices should hold steady. She said that there was little hope for lower family living costs.

Mrs. Leopold said that there would be an ample supply of food. "The only difficulty," she said, "will be paying for it."

The clothing situation is a question mark, she said. Although there seems to be an ample supply, prices soared to an all-time high this year, she added.

Old keepsakes are treasured articles in Lukes' sisters home. pieces fit for collectors, and quite valuable.

They still have some of the wedding dishes belonging to their parents, which includes a butter dish and matching sugar bowl.

Another butter dish they have is made of silver, with a dome shaped cover. The interesting thing about this dish is the circular rimmed glass that fits over the bottom of the dish. The glass holds the butter in underneath is a place for cracked ice.

The sisters still have the old chest their parents used when they came to America in 1861. It has its own special place and use in their home today.

In the family, was a cousin, whose husband was at one time United States consul in Trieste. The cousin was an artist and some of the treasures in the Lukes home are some exquisite paintings she did.

Among other pieces are a large bowl and vase, covered with roses in glowing colors. A bowl is on one side and the painting progresses until a nice bouquet of roses can be seen.

They have several figurines that came from Europe, brought by members of their family.

Some of the pictures on their walls are copies of old masters, made by the cousin Emma, who also made the vases.

One of their greatest treasures is the flag that was over the consulate in Trieste when their cousin's husband was consul there in 1906. This United States flag has been displayed for many times.

Visit Aged Aunt

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Covey and family spent the week end in Lincoln, guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Robinson. On Saturday all went to Omaha where they visited an aunt of Mr. Covey who was celebrating her 96th birthday. An article and picture of this aged lady was seen in the evening World-Herald of Saturday.

300 HEAD OF CATTLE
125 head of calves, 20 of these are hand-fed, Shorthorn and Hereford cross.
105 head of mixed yearling steers and heifers
20 head of coming 2-year-old heifers
10 cows with calves by side
30 head of cutter and fat cows
9 head of milk cows
3 young breeding bulls, whitefaces
4 heavy bologna bulls

200 HEAD OF HOGS
175 head of weanling pigs and heavy feeder shoats
25 head of breeding boars. We actually sold 43 head last week, but they had to be good to bring a premium.
8 HEAD OF HORSES

There is a growing demand for good, well broke, matched teams.
Miscellaneous Sale Starts at 12:45

Funeral Rites for Marvin Pedrick, 19, Killed in Crash

A truck-motocycle collision at 7:45 p. m. near LaMea, Tex., Wednesday evening, caused the death Friday, Nov. 28, of Marvin Dean Pedrick, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pedrick of Arcadia.

Word was received by the parents early Thursday morning and they left immediately for LaMea. They returned home Sunday evening.

Careless driving by the driver of the truck and faulty brakes caused the fatal crash. Marvin received severe head injuries and did not regain consciousness before his death at 9:25 a. m. Friday.

The young man was returning from a motorcycle tour of the west, began October 2, for a visit with his parents, before entering the service. He had enlisted in the navy while in California.

The remains arrived in Ansley Monday night and were taken to the Spooner Mortuary in Sargent.

Funeral services were held at the Arcadia Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 21, with Rev. C. W. Buehler officiating.

Marvin was born at Sargent on February 8, 1932. He received most of his education in the Sargent schools, coming to Arcadia about three years ago and graduating from Arcadia high school with the class of 1950.

He is survived by his parents, one sister, Karen, three brothers, Ellwyn, Reed and Roland, also many other relatives.

Observe Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lybarger celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday, Nov. 18, at their home near Arcadia.

At 2:30 in the afternoon their many friends and relatives gathered at the home. A short program of readings and songs which fitted the occasion was given including a very nice talk given by Rev. Clay, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Arcadia.

Center piece of the table was a wedding cake baked by Mrs. Clay. The cake was trimmed with silver and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Lunch was served the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lybarger, Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Wilbur Anderson, Miss Erma and June Anderson and Miss Doris Lybarger.

There were 40 guests including the following relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lybarger, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lybarger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lybarger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lybarger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lybarger all of Arcadia, T. J. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Ashbough and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Anderson, Erma, June and Harold all of Ainsworth.

Tool Your Own Horn

Whether the horn is on your auto or whether it is merely a figure of speech, it is a smart idea to tool your own horn. There are times and places when the rules specify that you tool your auto horn. By all means tool it at those times, and leave it alone at such places as ball games, band concerts and following a wedding couple around town. The modern man who carries a statement often enough to make everybody believe it is correct. If you have the right kind of an idea, do not hide your light under a bushel—perhaps a thimble will be big enough.

In any case, anything worth doing is worth talking about. There is a school of thought that feels that a man should do his work and let the public do the talking about it. The fact is, if your work is worth while, you have a perfect right to talk about it, and other people expect you to talk about it. If you don't, they figure there must be something wrong with it. Look at the people around you, and you will find that the people who are getting somewhere are not afraid to talk about themselves and their work. They do not need to brag, but they call the attention of the public to the work they are doing, and it is all the more appreciated.

Modesty is a fine thing, but it is remarkable that the great men of history have all been perfectly willing to tell the world about themselves. Hitler's idea was to repeat a statement often enough to make everybody believe it is correct. If you have the right kind of an idea, do not hide your light under a bushel—perhaps a thimble will be big enough.

"You know, Bill, my future almost went up in smoke!"

"Remember that fire on Commerce Street that burned out my shop. Every cent I had was in it. But my fire insurance put me right back in business."

Fire insurance is good business. It establishes your credit to start you in business and helps keep you in business by repaying fire losses.

Fire insurance also safeguards your community through building laws and inspection services, educates your children in fire prevention. It is an essential basis for credit in our free enterprise system, vital to industrial expansion. That's why, in these critical times, fire insurance is everybody's business.

Suppose Your Home Burned Down!

Would your fire insurance rebuild it at today's higher costs... would it cover your furniture and other belongings? Too little insurance can be costly. For your protection let me check your policies now!

Teddy Roosevelt
It is now 50 years since the hand of an assassin struck down William McKinley and put Theodore Roosevelt into the office of the president of the United States. He was not the first man who advanced from the office of vice-president through the death of his predecessor, but he was the best that this country has known.

Teddy was one of our youngest presidents, and he was also one of the most popular. He was the last president in one characteristic, that he required absolute honesty in government, and, so far as he was able to do so, he discharged from office those whose record would not stand investigation. Fifty years ago an office was a job and not a sinecure.

He was not the only honest president the nation has had, but he was an example of what a real life himself, but he required honesty of those employed under him. A record number of men were kicked out of office during his term in the office, and the result was that he was reelected in 1904 by one of the greatest pluralities ever given a president of the United States.

Teddy Roosevelt was the apostle of the strenuous life, and he gave the world an example of what he meant in his everyday life. He believed that the way to success as a nation was the same as that of the individual, long hours and hard work. He put in more actual time working at his job than any president ever did, and he thrived on it.

Teddy was the author of the famous statement: "Speak softly and carry a big stick." He lived by that axiom, and made the United States respected as it never has been since his day. It is too bad that we do not have men in high places today who believe in the strenuous life who not only speak softly but who carry a "big stick," and who are not afraid to use it when the need arises.

Juggernaut
Some time soon, perhaps before this is printed, the United States will have reached a new record. It is a record which should cause us to hide our heads in shame, and yet only a very few will even give it a second thought. It will mean that to most of us than if some popular football hero ran back a kickoff for a touchdown. That record will be the millionth person killed in highway accidents since the automobile began its juggernaut trip down the highways of time.

From the trend of this editorial we are not contending that the automobile is not here to stay, or that it such be replaced by the horse. While the automobile, when in the hands of the timid and incompetent drivers, is a vicious and terrible killer, it—the automobile—has saved more lives than it has killed. Reasonable high speed is a necessity of our times. This plunging along highways at 30 to 40 miles per hour won't "hack" it these days. The world today is more alive and vibrant than it ever has been. Babies are born at the age of 30 today, so to speak. It's get up and go, go, go!

Yes, reasonable high speed with sanity, and within the law, are a necessity of our times. And old "mossback" who chattered up a fine modern highway by driving 30 to 40 miles per hour, are a deadly menace and should be ruled off the highways.

Recently the millionth displaced person arrived in the United States and quite a hullabaloo was made over the event. He was no different from any of the others who made the trip before him, but he was a certain one, and so he was given an ovation that had been accumulating as the others came, and it was made quite an affair. The millionth auto accident victim will doubtless get plenty of publicity, but he will not be here to enjoy it.

Ward's Cookin' Column
Judge Ellisworth Ball tells one on Toot Harris, but it is nothing to some of the stories Toot could tell on the Judge if he were so inclined. It seems that, in the good old days when people had horses and the horses had to have hay to eat, Charley Hunt brought a load of hay to town, left it down near the Blue barn or the Yellow barn or some such place and came up town, bringing a good bunch of said hay with him under his left arm to show the buying public the quality of the goods he had for sale. He was standing talking to a number of people about the hay when Toot happened along, stopped for a moment and Charley immediately walked around in front. Whether Toot was to blame or not is beside the point, but Charley suddenly discovered that his hay was on fire and he went through some quick sleight-of-hand in getting rid of it. Next week this column will gladly give space for Toot to tell one on Ellisworth.

Happened to listen in on the announcer of a college football game Friday afternoon. It may be the prerogative of a woman to change her mind, but no woman I ever heard of could change her mind like that announcer did. His wife went something like "Snoozowski bust right through the center of the line and made it a first down on the 40—no the ball is on the 41—now the referee puts it down on the 38, where it's second down and eleven for Goober college. But there's a red flag down on the field and he's stepping off eleven yards against Goober for illegal use of the hands. The ball is put in play on the 32—there is a fumble in the backfield and Skillbooch breaks through and recovers for Brombooch college on the Goober 48. No, the ball is recovered by Srb and it's a first down for Goober." That wasn't exactly the way it went, but the announcer was never certain at any time during the game just where the ball was or which team had it. A football game is exciting enough at any time without the excitement and mistakes by the announcer.

Last week we had one of those spells of weather that show what Nebraska can do in that line when so inclined. We had a rain at North Loup, probably elsewhere, Monday night and the wind blew up in true March fashion Tuesday. It blew from the northwest Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There were occasional snow squalls during that time, and it was plenty cold most of those days. Back 50 years or more ago we had storms like that in March, and some of them lasted a full week. I recall having to try to farm one spring when we had three of them. I was discing cornstalks when the first one came, and it got so cold that ground froze. I had to quit work until it thawed out again. In those days the main agricultural implement we rode was the disc, and we usually used it in the early spring when we would have preferred to walk. Then in the hot weather we would walk behind the cultivator laying by corn and walk in the stubble fields shocking grain. The tractor farmers have the world by the tail, and I hope they appreciate it.

It seems that people never get ready to have a job done until the weather is unfit to do the work. That seems to be the case this year. The summer went hitthly along without any great demand for sign work and I had plenty of time then, and also the inclination to work. Now that winter is upon us there are a number of signs in the offing, a fellow can do a sign job in the winter, but I have found from my own experience that such jobs are usually ready to be done over again in the spring. The same goes for house painting, especially finish coat. White lead paint must be thoroughly dry before a freeze. If it is not, the coat will freeze and wrinkle, ruining the job. A first coat, especially on a house that needs a badly, in such a bad idea, to be followed by a finish coat in the spring.

special this and that have so cluttered our lives we know when we waken just any morning that we are facing a day dedicated to some special interest or maybe as many as a dozen special interests. These special days are not as bad as the special drives, which put a crimp in our pocketbooks, but they are becoming an increasing source of irritation. We should have at least one day in the year for our very own, one day dedicated to no clique in particular.

I recently read a book that I think every voter in the United States should read, and I am recommending it for what it is, the best satire on the federal government that I have ever read. It is written by Pat Frank and is called "Mr. Adam." He handles a rather difficult subject in a way that could offend nobody, and could even be enjoyed by people whom it satirizes. Through an atom bomb explosion only one man in the world was left with the ability to produce progeny. The way the federal government develops departments, bureaus, services, councils and committees to cope with the multiplicity of the governmental agencies that have sprung up since 1932. It is really more humor than satire, and, once the reader gets into it, he will not want to put it down until it is finished. It will shock some people, but the story behind it makes the book well worth the reading.

At last, after nearly six months of waiting, it seems that the traveling public may soon have the use of Highway 11 without restrictions. Meanwhile motorists have been traveling on the highway anyway and all because it has taken entirely too long and has kept the whole road torn up too long. The American people like to obey the laws, when laws are reasonable, but when they are deprived of the entire road between Elba and North Loup all the time instead of just part of it, and deprived of it three times as long as it should have taken, even the best of us feel like breaking the laws. Let us hope that, any contract that makes with regards to roads in the future be made with restrictions in favor of the public. If this had been done with Highway 11 the public would not have found it necessary to travel thousands of miles farther than necessary all summer.

More ament the highway. They took down the barrier that stood on the street in front of our ranch the other day. It has stood there for the past five or six months, but it didn't mean much. There was room to get past both sides, and everybody seemed to take pleasure in driving the forbidden way. Mark Twain said that the way to make a boy covet a thing is to make it difficult to attain. On that basis, I guess most drivers are boys and that barrier made them all the more anxious to go the way they were warned not to go. The passageway north of the barrier got so pitted with holes that most people slowed down to a reasonable speed while going past, but there are a few who never drove past the Methodist church less than 40 miles per hour, and they kept right on driving that way after the barrier was put in. It probably did their cars no good, but they got where they were going sooner.

It seems that people never get ready to have a job done until the weather is unfit to do the work. That seems to be the case this year. The summer went hitthly along without any great demand for sign work and I had plenty of time then, and also the inclination to work. Something Different Barbara Lukes called me the other day to ask if I had noticed the great improvement at the cemetery, so I purposely took a swing in that direction. I found she had something to talk about.

Throwing the three cemeteries together, and erecting smaller but adequate entrance pillars has made it look much better than it has in years. The open, unified look is pleasing.

And Guy Burrows and his helper appear to have the whole place beautifully kept. It is truly ready for winter.

Ord's James Ollis is to be honored at a banquet in Hastings on the evening of Dec. 6, having been chosen one of the outstanding leaders in this Presbyterian church.

Since only 12 or 14 men were chosen for these awards, from a three-state area, Mr. Ollis is indeed honored.

Ord Methodists are smiling gently, particularly Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tolen and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Auble, for they just happened to be the Ord couples consulted when the plans were perfected for the very fine series of lectures, which go with the banquets and awards.

Hastings College has so many friends in this community.

Two Ord poetry writers had their names and samples of their work in the Winter-Herald magazine section Sunday. I hope you noticed?

The Quiz' own Mvra Thorngate Barber was one of them, and Elva Faus setska, who now lives at Grand Island, was another.

I liked their work, and I feel sure you will like them, if you'll look them up.

—Aren't Ord's new Christmas lamphashes pretty? Our community really sparkles.

But you know, I wish the stores wouldn't start selling us Christmas in September. It doesn't seem fitting to me.

It's a wonderful, magical season, but some of the bloom seems to go off when it is commercialized so early.

Every once in a while someone finds a unique method of helping a neighbor rise with his own bootstraps, and such a man is Rotarian George Olinger of Denver.

Mr. Olinger is the mortician who employs Orville Sowl, or did at one time.

An older man, he is filling some of his well-earned leisure in an interesting way; he collects motes he considers worthwhile. Then he has them printed on little slips of paper and mails them far and wide.

He doesn't mail any ordinary ones, and he has dozens of different ones, so you're in no danger of getting the same one twice. He is constantly adding to his collection, in fact he requests you to drop him a line whenever you "catch" a good one.

One that came from him a few days ago reads: "It is Amazing... how few of the people killed or injured in Sunday auto accidents happen to be on their way to church."

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nash Raise Rabbits for Hobby and Income

Three of the Nash Rabbit Breeds.

Two years ago, two girls received at Easter time, the gift of a little bunny. Doubtless many other girls and boys received the same kind of a gift at the same time, but it is doubtful if other such rabbits were the beginning of a new and interesting project as was this particular rabbit. For this white bunny came from the John Haskell hutch and the two recipients were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nash. And now the whole Nash family have a project that is most intriguing and profitable, although they do confess that it takes time.

A visit to the Nash rabbitry Friday afternoon, proved to be most enjoyable and also brought to the raising and care of rabbits, and also the realization that rabbits can be and are most interesting.

The Nash's raise three breeds, New Zealand Whites, Blue Viennas and Dutch. And because they are an intelligent family and like to do things differently, they have given the names of opera characters to the New Zealand Whites, fairy tale people to the Dutch variety, and Shakespearean names to the Vienna Blues. The strange thing about it is that every rabbit in the breeding herd has a name and what is more the family remember each name.

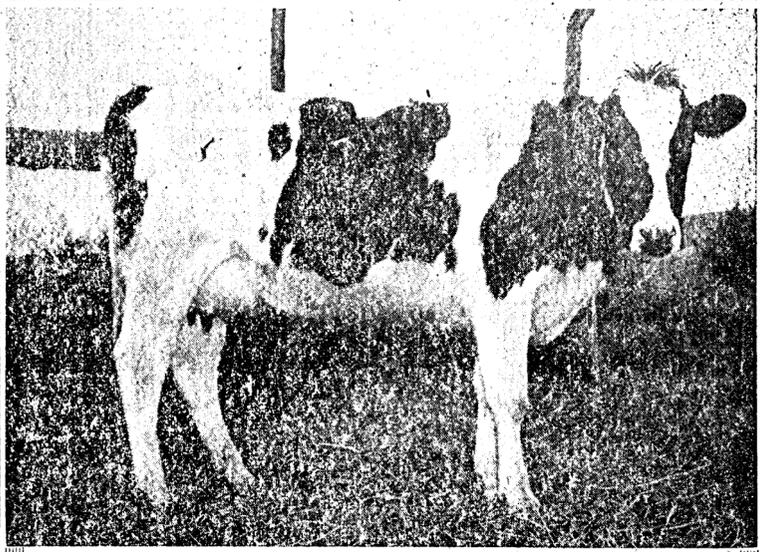

In the yard at the Nash home are many hutches, all made of wire mesh, with a nesting box in each cage and covered against cold. These cages are up about 18 inches from the ground, since the animals would dig out if next to the ground and besides would get very dirty. Each hutch has plenty of hay bedding and also fresh water and food. Small spaces have been cut into each box to allow the rabbits a place to get into the box or into the cage.

The Blue Viennas are as the name implies of a bluish cast, which show blue-purple or gray as the sun strikes them. This is an old breed and the start of the Nash group was purchased in Baxter, Iowa. They are raised for meat, which is delicious, and for fur, the family have had no malformed they have been too warm and some few have not been properly cared for by the mother. In rare instances another doe will take over the infant rabbits left by the death of the mother, but only if something strong has been placed on her nose so she can smell nothing else. Heat is harder on rabbits than cold, and the Nash's have lost some because they got too warm.

All of the rabbits, big and little, are great pets of the whole family. They do not seem to be afraid of any of the members and will allow themselves to be picked up and stroked without trembling.

The raising of rabbits, Mrs. Nash thinks, is more than a hobby, it is an interesting and growing work. She says the study

All we ask is Test it 2 ways

1. Road Test a Mercury for Proof of Performance

2. Budget Test a Mercury for Proof of Value

We ask little of you. We ask you first to get into a Mercury and to drive it.

True, we can tell you here of a Mercury's performance. We can describe its handling, its roadability, its balance. We can try to explain all this by detailing its new-type springing, wide-view visibility, supersafety brakes, famous high-compression prize-winning V-8 engine.

We can put the words together until we run out of space and it won't tell you half as much as just a few minutes behind the wheel. We ask you to sit there soon. Then—we ask you to try it on your budget. We believe you'll join the big move to Mercury—in a big hurry!

3-WAY CHOICE INCLUDING MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE! For "the drive of your life!" Mercury offers a triple choice in dependable transmissions, Merc-O-Matic Drive, the new simpler, smoother, more efficient automatic transmission—or thrifty Touch-O-Matic Overdrive are optional at extra cost. There's also silent ease standard transmission.

Does it have a down-to-earth first price? Mercury's price tag is one you can understand—a big dollar's worth for every dollar invested.

Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its more miles-per-gallon by winning officially sponsored economy tests.

Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys ever built for use in the U.S. are still on the road, according to the latest official annual registration figures.

Will trade-in value stay high? Mercurys keep their value; used car market reports consistently prove it.

Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the rest of the story. Drop in today and see.

Obituary

Charles Waggoner
Charles La Fayette Waggoner was born in Cass county, Nebr., on March 31, 1897, and died at his home in Comstock Nov. 12, 1951, at the age of 72 years and seven months.

When he was five years old, he moved with his folks to Colorado where he lived for 11 years. The rest of his life was spent in Nebraska, his home being in Comstock for the past 12 years.

On Sept. 14, 1921, he was united in marriage to Mrs. Minnie Fowler and to this union one daughter was born, Mrs. Velina Stewart of Sargent.

He was preceded in death by two sisters and one brother, and leaves to mourn his passing, his wife and daughter, one step daughter, Mrs. Eunice Wagner of Comstock; three grandchildren, two sisters, Mary Ludwig of Omaha and Mrs. Laura Drury, and one brother, Ed Waggoner of Loup City.

Mr. Waggoner was quite ill for over a year preceding his death, during which time he was cared for by his wife.

He was uncompromising in his suffering and took great interest in his grandchildren. He failed rapidly after the passing of his grandson, Carl, some two years ago.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 15, from the Methodist church in Comstock, conducted by the Rev. Merle Zook. Singers were Mrs. Richard Stone and Mrs. George Fisher, with Mrs. Wm. Higgins at the piano. Pallbearers were J. A. Ochsner, Oscar Nelson, Frank Visek, Elmer Lindell, Frank Nunn and Leslie Shepperd. Interment was in the Douglas Grove cemetery.

Friends and relatives from out of town who attended the services were Henry and Emma Ludwig, Paul Baker and Edward Lawler of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Desel and Wm. Newman of North Loup, Ed Waggoner and Walter Grossenclaus of Loup City, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Stewart and family, Mrs. Claude Montanye and Mrs. Whitmus of Sargent.

Your Tavern Keeper Deserves Your Praise

The tavern keeper in your community is to be commended for his efforts to reach a still higher level of tavern operation.

His efforts are multiplied by the hundreds of others throughout the state who constantly seek to improve and modernize their places of business.

For more than 12 years, they have earnestly cooperated with the brewing industry's educational program aimed at encouraging approved tavern operation.

Today, Nebraska tavernmen have the reputation of operating places which rank high among the nation's finest—places where citizens may relax in pleasant surroundings.

Nebraskans appreciate these sincere efforts, and extend a vote of appreciation for the progress made so far, knowing that even higher goals are set for the months ahead.

FORD TRUCKS LAST LONGER

The Life Expectancy of a FORD Truck is:

- 5.9% longer than Truck "B"
- 3.3% longer than Truck "C"
- 5.9% longer than Truck "D"
- 15.4% longer than Truck "E"

We base our findings on the application of sound and accepted actuarial methods to 7,218,000 truck registrations. Wolfe, Corcoran and Linder, Life Insurance Actuaries, New York, N. Y.

Whatever you haul, there's a longer-lasting 1951 Ford Truck to do the job. Over 180 models, from 95-h.p. Pickups to 145-h.p. Big Jobs. Two fine cabs, 5-STAR and 5-STAR EXTRA shown (slight added cost).

New truck-life study for 1951 just released shows Ford Trucks last up to 15.4% longer than 4 other truck sales leaders!

• Yes, you can bank on Ford's long life and performance savings. And it stands to reason you're money ahead, when the truck you buy gives you extra miles of service!

SAVE MONEY EVERY MILE!

You can bank on low Ford running costs, too. The Ford Truck POWER PILOR (standard equipment) saves you money every mile . . . gives you the most power from the least gas! Its performance was proved by over 5,500 drivers in the nationwide Ford Truck Economy Run!

Availability of equipment, accessories and trim as illustrated is dependent upon material supply conditions.

Card of Thanks -

We wish to thank everyone who assisted in the picking of our pop corn, the ladies who helped furnish and prepared the dinner, and the Eberharts, Mills Hill and Cresces who sent out treats. I also wish to thank all who sent cards and letters while I was in hospital.
